A Message From the President . . .

BY T. GLEN CARY
(Texas Tech '56)
President, General Council

The General Council is still concerned with those members in some chapters who derive sadistic pleasure from hazing pledges. These "cowards" like to take advantage of their membership status and show the pledges what "big shots" they are. The officers of each chapter must restrain these overgrown baby boys!

All forms of hazing and undignified treatment of pledges are illegal. This means any form of physical or mental hazing is illegal. Any dehumanizing practice is illegal. By that, we mean actions taken or situations created intentionally, whether on or off fraternity premises, to produce mental or physical discomfort, harassment or ridicule is illegal and shall be discontinued.

The officers of each chapter must accept the responsibility of their leadership and restrain by whatever means may be necessary those sadistic cowards who haze pledges or treat them in an undignified manner!

The president of each chapter must assume the primary responsibility. Therefore, as the chief leader within your chapter you must guarantee that all pledges of Phi Delta Theta are treated with respect and that all forms of physical and/or mental hazing are discontinued in your chapter.

If you feel inadequate in assuming this responsibility, you should contact General Headquarters immediately! Otherwise, we must assume that you can and will fulfill your responsibility as the chief leader in your chapter!

We know that the vast majority of our chapters no longer, or in some cases never have been, guilty of mistreating pledges, but we also know that we still have a few chapters who do violate our laws and policies with respect to hazing and pre-initiation activities.

Our records show that generally, with only a few exceptions, those chapters that treat pledges with dignity and who have discontinued all forms of mental and physical hazing are among the best chapters in Phi Delta Theta.

Our records also show, that with few exceptions, those chapters that still practice some form of hazing and still treat pledges like second-class citizens are among the worst chapters in Phi Delta Theta.

This is most serious. We shall eliminate all forms of hazing in Phi Delta Theta! We sincerely hope that we can do this without getting tough. However, if we must get tough to achieve our objectives, we will.

The loss of life from hazing will crush a family, destroy any form of morale in a chapter and kill the Greek System. Dehumanizing activities can be almost as bad. They do nothing to give the pledge self-confidence or to teach him that brotherhood is a form of love. To the contrary they put members in the posture of being seen as immature, cruel and stupid misfits who get their kicks from taking unfair advantage of their pledges.

Our adversaries are our own weaknesses. Our weapons are our purpose and our example. The battleground is our own chapter houses. We have only to conquer our own weaknesses to win and hold the admiration of all.

My own experience as a pledge is still vivid in my memory. Unfortunately, I pledged in an era when hazing was rampant, when physical abuse was accepted practice. But to this day, I do not respect anyone who paddled me. As a member I never paddled a pledge or treated one in an un-

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity
63rd Biennial Convention
June 21-29, 1980

Cincinnati: Queen City of the West

BY ROBERT J. MILLER
Executive Vice President

The history of Cincinnati dates back to 1788 and is as illustrious as any city worthy of its name. It is not history so much as the present that makes Cincinnati an exciting city. The past and the present all come together in a downtown area that is vital and alive and brimming with energy.

Phis and their families can be a part of this bustling scene when they attend Phi Delta Theta's 63rd Biennial Convention on June 21-24, 1980. A full program of activities has been planned to please everyone: undergraduates, alumni, wives and children.

The past can be seen in the heart of the city in the Tyler Davidson Fountain, yet, there she stands surveying a new Fountain Square that is the "living room" of the city. This is the bustling open plaza where you can relax and enjoy the sunshine, occasionally hear the Cincinnati Symphony while you "brown bag" it at noon, hear strolling musicians, watch acrobats or a little theater group or just mingle in the congenial atmosphere of Fountain Square.

The past can also be seen at the Public Landing when the Delta Queen steams into port under the first suspension bridge built to cross the Ohio River. Again the present blends with the past as right on the riverfront is the home of the country's first major league baseball team, The Cincinnati Reds. The Riverfront Stadium, not yet a decade old, stands at the edge of downtown and is linked to it by a pedestrian walkway making the trip to and from the center of the city a quick one.

Other second level pedestrian Skywalks link most major downtown buildings, department stores, hotels, cinemas, banks and restaurants with the Convention-

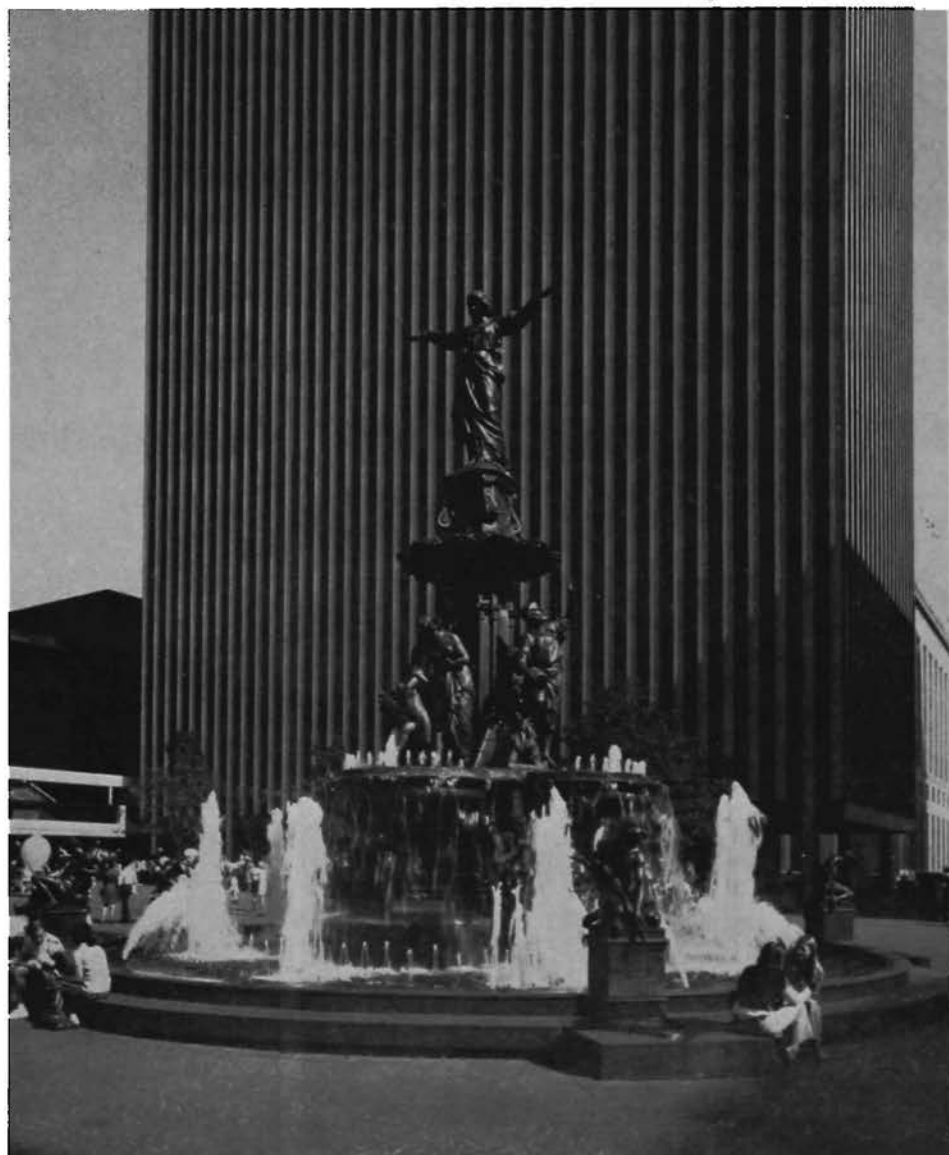

Exposition Center. In fact, the Skywalk offers a direct link to Phi Delta Theta's host hotel, Stouffer's Cincinnati Towers. The hotel has just recently been expanded by the addition of a new 32-story tower capped off by The Top of the Crown, a revolving bi-level restaurant and lounge offering a panoramic view of the city.

On Mt. Adams, one of Cincinnati's famous hilltops, you can visit the Krohn Conservatory with its showhouse of orchids, palms, cacti, and seasonal displays of flowers. The Playhouse in the Park has a repertory theater group who have a high reputation for quality. The Art Museum and the Natural History Museum are all part of the Eden Park scene. While in Mt. Adams, have lunch at Rookwood Pottery. Eat in one of the kilns that was once used to fire the famous art pottery of the late 1800s. Some fine examples of that pottery are on display but right now Rookwood is famous for its "burghers" (One of the ways that the German heritage shows through). Each is named for a famous Cincinnati such as the Erkenbrecher-burgher and the McGuffey-burgher.

The richness of Cincinnati's past and the desire of its people to preserve that past while at the same time pushing forward to even fuller richness makes Cincinnati truly the "Queen City". Sir Winston Churchill called her "America's most beautiful inland city". Cincinnatians would not argue with Sir Winston. ■

TYLER DAVIDSON FOUNTAIN: The Tyler Davidson Fountain stands in the middle of Cincinnati's Fountain Square, an open plaza in the downtown area that frequently features the Cincinnati Symphony and little theater groups among others.

CONVENTION SITE: Stouffer's Cincinnati Towers will be the host hotel for Phi Delta Theta's 63rd Biennial Convention. The hotel has just recently been expanded by the addition of a new 32-story tower capped off by The Top of the Crown, a revolving bi-level restaurant and lounge offering a panoramic view of the city.

Kansas, Tech, GMI Cop CSD Awards

Kansas, Texas Tech and General Motors Institute have won the top community service awards in the fraternity for the 1978-79 academic year.

Kansas and Tech were named co-winners of the Paul C. Beam Trophy given for the most outstanding one day or individual service project while GMI took home their fourth Lubbock Trophy in five years for being involved in the most significant continuing community service program carried out over an extended period.

The fourth annual Phi Delta Theta Easter Seals Basketball Tournament was the event that Kansas won with while Texas Tech's project was a Halloween "House of Horror."

Kansas Tournament

Nineteen fraternities from six universities and ten Kansas sororities participated in the basketball tourney. An additional pleasure was that five other Phi Delta chapters participated in the event. Following the tournament witnessed by hundreds of spectators the Phi Deltas presented the Easter Seals Foundation with a $3,000 check.

Tech's Horror House

Tech's "House of Horrors" took over 100 hours of activity but produced $4,200. The Phis turned their Lodge over to the March of Dimes and then spent three weeks building sets and performing for frightened and entertained children and adults.

GMI Projects

General Motors spent over 1,315 man hours in 1978-79 community projects. GMI, well known to local charity organizations in Flint, sponsored several events in connection with the Muscular Dystrophy Association, particularly the Anyotrophive Lateral (Lou Gehrig disease). Other projects included a Halloween Party for C.F. Kids, a Christmas Party and a Miniature Golf Tournament for local charities.

Brothers used their talents through skits, pantomime and entertainment for various groups. Successful projects included a Dance Marathon, an Easter Seals Carnival, Cystic Fibrosis home visitations and blood drives.

Runners-Up

Second runner-up to Kansas and Texas Tech was Tennessee while third runner-up was Maryland. Ranking high among the finishers for strong efforts were Arkansas, Florida, Northwestern, South Carolina, Richmond and Wisconsin.

In Lubbock Trophy competition Florida secured the first runner-up spot with Texas Tech and Arkansas receiving second and third runner-up, respectively. Auburn, Kearney State and Richmond were also listed as Honorable Mention.

Beam Trophy Projects

Camp Ocsee, a YMCA-sponsored facility was cleaned up and repaired by 55 brothers at Tennessee over a weekend. Maryland co-sponsored with Alpha Omicron Pi the third annual Phi Delta Theta Arthritis Tennis Marathon. With help from local businessmen and pledges a total of $5,000 was raised. The tournament, besides men and women's singles and doubles was highlighted by a guest appearance by Jeanne Evert.

Lubbock Trophy Activities

Florida spent 3,300 man hours participating in Slugfest, a boxing tournament, a mock kidnapping of the Gator head football coach and other drives. The kidnapping incident brought good statewide publicity.

Tech sponsored an unusual intramural event, a rodeo entitled, "The Stompede", and donated the proceeds to a local orphanage. Other activities included blood drives, walkathons, and assistance of the Junior League of Lubbock and the Lubbock Campfire Girls.

Arkansas brothers won first place in both the Muscular Dystrophy and the Arkansas Diabetes Association drives. Over $4,200 was turned over to the ADA through the effort of the Phi Deltas. ■

Franklin's West Captures Harmon-Rice

Doug West (Franklin '79), winner of four varsity letters in basketball and golf, has been named winner of the 1978-79 Harmon-Rice trophy.

West scored three firsts and three thirds for 24 ballot points to edge Keith Dare (Ashland '79), football player who tallied 20 points, and Mike Weitzman (Northwestern '79), football and wrestling who received 18 points.

West was on the Dean's Honor List with a 3.3 gpa on a 4 point system and he graduated with a double major in mathematics and pre-optometry. He is now attending the Indiana School of Optometry.

He served his chapter as pledge trainer, historian and was on the executive board. He was chairman of the community service project and his chapter's nominee for Franklin's Greek "Man of the Year" award. He has been involved in many school service projects and, in particular, those in the area of admissions and fund raising.

West received Franklin's coveted W.N.B. Nelp Award which is given to a senior athlete who earns eight varsity letters and excels in scholarship. The past two seasons his Franklin basketball team qualified for the NAIA national tourney. As a junior and senior he averaged 15 points per contest and 7.5 rebounds per game. This past season he hit 86% of his free throws to rank in the top ten nationally.

The Harmon-Rice winner holds three school basketball records including field goals and free throw percentages. In one game he hit 10 of 10 from the field and 7 of 7 from the free throw line.

In golf West has been on the NAIA All-District team for the past two seasons and during his four years he has always played the number one position except when he was a freshman when he occasionally was number two.

Dare was a football All-American defensive lineman at Ashland where he had a 3.38 gpa on a 4 point system, graduating 97 in a class of 338. He received the Bronson Memorial Award for athletics and scholarship at the Ohio school.

He served his chapter as warden, chaplain, house manager and intramural director plus serving as a member of the house improvement, by-laws revision and community service committees. This past spring he served as a physical education instructor and spring football coach.

Dare was named to the Eastman Kodak All-American and UPI All-American second team. During the past season he had 130 tackles in 10 games with 11 quarterback sacks.

Mike Weitzman, a Northwestern football and wrestling star, compiled a 3.2 gpa in addition to competing in two Big 10 sports. He was named to the Big 10 All-Academic team and is now attending the Northwestern School of Management.

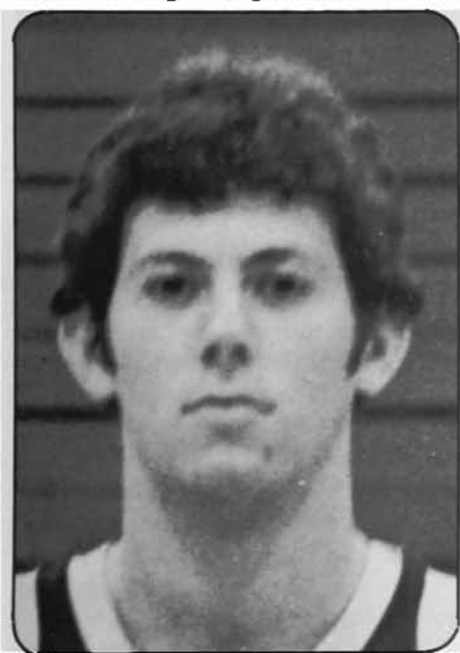

He held many chapter offices including vice president and was a leader in the chapter's CSD project for Easter Seals in 1975-76-77. He served as chairman in 1978.

He was a starting lineman the past three years and, although he was injured in the third game last fall, he was still elected to the academic team and nominated for an NCAA post-graduate scholarship. He achieved even greater success in wrestling with a first and second place the past two years in the Big 10.

In 1978 he was in international competition as a member of the U.S.A. Macabiah team. He won the gold medal in freestyle and silver in Greco-Roman.

Others scoring ballot points were Richard Bader (Clemson '79), an outstanding swimmer in NCAA and AAU competition; John Prittle (Butler '79), another swimmer who was president of Indiana Gamma; Mark Waldman (SMU '79), who graduated "Cum Laude" in anthropology and was the leading scorer on the SMU track team as a shot putter; and Kyle Rich (Rollins '79) All-Phi and All-Sunshine Conference basketball selection who amassed 1,003 points through his junior year and will be a strong Harmon-Rice candidate next year. ■

Courter Tenth Phi Delt in Congress

James Andrew Courter (Colgate '63) has become the tenth Phi elected to the U.S. House of Representatives (see Scroll, Summer, 1979, page 58).

He is a Republican from Hackettstown, New Jersey, serving that state's 13th Congressional District. He is a partner in the Hackettstown law firm of Courter, Kobert and Hare.

Born and educated in Montclair, N.J., he received a B.A. from Colgate in 1963 and a J.D. from Duke University Law School in 1966. That same year he was admitted to the Washington, D.C. Bar and then entered the Peace Corps where he was in Venezuela from 1967 to 1969.

While at Colgate, Courter was a member of Junior Honor Society, president of Senior Honor Society, won seven varsity letters and was named Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

In 1969 he became assistant corporation counsel for Washington, D.C. and then joined Union County Legal Services back in New Jersey in 1970. He was admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1971 and then became first assistant to the Warren County Prosecutor in 1973 where he served four years.

Courter also served as the planning board attorney from Green Township, Sussex County, N.J., and served on the Sussex-Warren Advisory Board of the Garden State National Bank.

He is a member of the National District Attorney's Association, County Prosecutors Association of New Jersey, Assistant Prosecutors Association of New Jersey, Trial Attorneys of New Jersey, New Jersey Institute of Municipal Attorneys and the New Jersey Federation of Planning Council of Cooperative Office Education Program for Hackettstown High School.

A Rotarian, he served as president of the Hackettstown Rotary Club. He belongs to the U.S. Capitol Historical Society, the board of directors of the Warren County Legal Services, the Civic Advisory Council of Hackettstown Community Hospital, the United Methodist Church and the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

The New Jersey Congressman has been active in fundraising activities for the American Heart Association, the Red Cross and the Hackettstown Community Hospital.

He is married to the former

Carmen McCalmen and they have two daughters, Donica Lee and Katrina Janis.

Apparently Courter got his first taste of the national political scene in 1964 when he served as an assistant sergeant-at-arms for New Jersey at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco. He must have liked the taste. ■

Ben Harrison Assigned to Ben Harrison?

Everyone has heard the stories about how the U.S. Army will take a trained engineer and put him in a clerk typist job. Or how about the cook that they assigned to drive a truck.

This time tradition has been broken.

On July 12 the new commander at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis assumed his new position. He is none other than Major General Benjamin Harrison (Mississippi '51).

You know, of course, that Fort Harrison is named for former President Benjamin Harrison (Miami-Ohio 1852).

If this weren't enough, General Harrison's wife is named Carolyn while President Harrison's wife was named Caroline. There is no relationship however.

The new commander is not exactly your typical Army general. "I think I am informal, casual in the way I do business," he said. He has been known to greet a soldier outside his office with a "howdy."

Nothing about this man is typical. He tested out of high school and enrolled at Arkansas State College at the age of 16, transferred to Ole Miss and after a year and a half of higher education, joined the Army as a private at 17.

No general in the Army today has logged as much time as an enlisted man as Harrison. He was a sergeant by the time he was 20, reached Brig. General by 1973 and Major General four years later.

His commands have spanned the globe, his awards and decorations are numerous, he has attended four military schools as well as four colleges where he has earned two masters degrees.

Harrison, after his original enlistment in 1946, went back to Ole Miss after his discharge in 1949 and finished a degree in psychology. "I had no idea at the time of a military career," he stated. "It wasn't until 1957 that I decided to make the Army my career." This was after he re-enlisted, this time as a second lieutenant, during the Korean War in 1951.

While working his way through the ranks he became a pilot, served in Iceland, Germany and two tours in Vietnam, attended Harvard and Auburn, worked for Secretaries of Defense Robert McNamara and Clark Clifford, earned master's degrees in business administration and educational psychology and picked up two Silver Stars to go with numerous other medals.

His MBA was earned at Auburn in 1968 while his MA in counseling and educational psychology was from the University of Missouri, Kansas City in 1963. He also has completed an advanced management program at Harvard.

"I have been kidded constantly about this assignment," he said. "I've been to Indianapolis several times over the years. When I was courting my wife, back in 1951, I was temporarily assigned here and she visited me often."

The 49-year-old general likes to play golf and tennis. It is not uncommon to see him dressed in tennis attire at his office. But his new assignment has kept him off the courts and golf courses lately. He has also been unable to sample Indiana fishing or hunting yet.

"I was in the combat arms business for 27 years, so this is quite different for me," he said. "It's not as much fun, but I recognize the importance of it. I do have an appropriate background for the job."

His most recent assignment before this one involved serving as the chairman of the Review of Education and Training for Officers, a study group in the office of the Chief of Staff. The group conducted a comprehensive examination of officer education and training requirements from pre-commissioning through career completion.

General Harrison and his wife have two children, Benjamin L. Harrison, II, and Laura L. Harrison. ■

He is currently the creator and executive producer of "WKRP In Cincinnati."

Time for Reflection

As the 10th anniversary of his historic walk on the moon came and went it was a time for reflection for Neil A. Armstrong (Purdue '55). Now a full professor of aerospace engineering at the University of Cincinnati, Armstrong once was quoted as saying he realizes he could make a million dollars in personal appearances on the outside but "I just want to be a university professor and be permitted to be my research."

He refused to consent to individual interviews as July 20, 1979 approached, but rather held one mass press conference on the Cincinnati campus. He obviously prefers the seclusion of teaching and living with his wife and three sons on their farm in Ohio.

Ohio State Phi Aids Chapter Management

BY ROBIN BELL
(Ohio State '28)

Managing a fraternity is Free Enterprise in action. Each chapter has all the problems of a large or small company. They have much competition. They can prosper and they can fail.

Business and professional people all over America are concerned about the lack of Economic Literacy and teaching of the American Economic System — The Free Enterprise, Free Market, Competitive, Capitalistic Way, and the many advantages and opportunities it makes possible for everyone.

Over the years I have become involved in several educational programs designed to reach as many students as possible.

Elementary School Students

The Free Enterprise Committee of Columbus Rotary Club initiated and financed a special credit hour course for Elementary School Teachers of Central Ohio at Ohio State University. It was called the Economic Literacy Workshop. The elementary teachers designed their own programs for their students of economics and industrial arts. Many of them formed companies and conducted all the functions of organizing themselves, marketing, production, budgeting and financing. The kids were extremely enthusiastic and the teachers say it helped get the students more interested in reading, writing, and arithmetic. Business people participate in the teachers training as well as in the elementary school class programs.

Center for Economic Education

This teacher training program was so successful that the University is continuing it and has also made a similar course a part of the regular undergraduate curriculum of the College of Education.

To broaden this concept the Central Ohio Center for Economic Education is now operating at Ohio State University. It will provide source material and training for all teachers in the area. The program is coordinated with the various school districts and is financed by the business community. An important objective is to recruit people who will participate in the training and classroom programs.

Junior High Students

Another effective and ongoing program is called "Project Business." This is a part of "Junior Achievement." However, it is held in the school classroom. A person from industry is requested to become a "consultant" and conduct one class a week for 18 weeks in the regular economics or social studies class. He is provided suggestions for his classes or he can improvise.

The teachers and the students like this program very much. However, the consultants are the most enthusiastic of all. There will be 100 consultants operating in Central Ohio. You can do this total consultation job or offer to help in some of the class sessions.

High School Students

Columbus Rotary has conducted "Camp Enterprise" for Columbus area upcoming seniors for 12 years. About 100 to 130 boys and girls attend a three day camp where 70 to 80 businessmen talk to them about the American way of doing business and explain the responsibility of the businessman to his community, etc. It is now considered an honor to be selected to attend. Here again you can get something like this started in your area and participate in many ways.

Of course Junior Achievement has been operating with high school students for many years and is highly regarded by everyone involved.

How about College Students?

Here are thousands of students about to become a part of the business community. Here are many of our next leaders and most of them have had no business exposure, training or responsibility.

Fraternities and sororities provide a natural, built-in business training and experience opportunity. All we have to do is take advantage of it by offering to help the chapters. Every chapter has serious leadership and management problems. They need our help. Every student wants to know how his bill is figured and how to get it reduced. They also are eager to learn more about making a living because they get closer to it every day. They will run for office and take responsibility when they believe it will help them get a better job.

If you are saying, "Yes, I want to help, but how do I go about it?", perhaps some of my experiences will give you ideas. My first shocking experience was 23 years ago when my own chapter and its alumni had already decided to close the doors and give up. The house expansion program for 58 occupants was half completed but there was no more money, with a $150,000 mortgage. The chapter size was down to 35 men and no pledges. I got excited and made a great speech about brotherhood and that we could lick this problem if we all worked together. They immediately made me president of the House Company and told me to go lick it — and we did. Since then the rent revenue from the chapter has paid off $250,000 of mortgages and the house has had 65 to 70 people live in with an overall chapter size of 120 to 130.

How this was accomplished is the story of the birth of my book Instant Executives.

Initial Stage

My first get-together with the chapter set the stage. I had no new ideas on how to attack the problem but one of the actives asked how a company or a business person would go about bringing back a sick operation. This, I knew something about. I said the first thing we would do is find out how sick we were and what caused the bad condition. We would evaluate things and determine our strengths and our weaknesses, and then establish practical goals to correct the problems. Then we would organize and place responsibility for performance. Along with all this we would keep score all the time so we would know how things were going while we still had time to revise the program if necessary. The chapter said that didn't sound very difficult and wanted to get started.

The obvious big problem was to complete the house, which we did by grinding out some tax deductible donations and a special loan from national headquarters which we could not have gotten without a realistic budget of chapter expenses and income. It came down to pledging 50 new men immediately and having at least 65 people living in and everyone eating at least part of their meals at the house.

The big accomplishment was getting everybody pumped up and doing their share of selling and pledging new members. This was done by showing them and explaining to them how the budget was estimated and how many hundred dollars a year it would save each of them.

We had to help them make budgets and we had to train them how to sell. We gave them suggestions on how to organize the people and write job descriptions and responsibilities. We convinced them that if someone was not getting his job done, he had to be helped or replaced.

Branching Out

During the troubled sixties and seventies at all schools many chapters were in very serious financial condition. The Ohio State University administration asked me to see if I could help some of them. I was anxious to try this same business approach again. Without exception it turned every chapter around. Following these experiences I was asked to compile a manual that everyone could study. Rather than have a cut and dried manual we decided to write it in conversational style. The students appreciated that too. We called it Instant Executives because it describes what we are actually doing; taking a very young inexperienced, untrained person and instantly making him an executive.

The most rewarding and encouraging thing about this Management and Leadership Training program is the letters and comments I get from people now out in the business world thanking us for their fraternity experience and what they learned that has helped them in their work. Some have ordered copies of "Instant Executives" for use in their companies training programs.

So it is a fact. Here is a built-in Free Enterprise training opportunity for you to make a significant contribution to American Youth. They will welcome your efforts — and you will quickly learn that today's Greeks are fantastic people. Working with them will keep you young and give you a great feeling of accomplishment. ■ dignified manner, and I fought to eliminate hazing in my chapter long before the Fraternity outlawed it.

Pledges did dread to get my signature, because I required them to know so many facts about Phi Delta Theta and the university before I gave it that they sometimes would study several hours to prepare for their appointment with me. Even today many of those who pledged during that period thank me for requiring them to learn so much about Phi Delta Theta and for requiring them to be able to communicate their definition for friendship, sound learning and rectitude. If they didn't have any idea what it meant they did not get my signature, so they got a definition.

I had the respect of our pledges because I treated them with respect, bolstered their self-confidence by telling them how great they were and required them to spend their time learning things that would benefit them and not waste their time and mine by shining my shoes, washing my car, and running my errands. I wanted to be their friend when they needed it most.

I did sometimes require certain pledges to shine their own shoes or wash their own cars. I taught several how to tie the right kind of knot in their tie and demonstrated to some who seemed to be extremely bashful how to make a date. I taught a few how to prepare for quizzes and how to study.

Teaching brotherhood is a very tough job. It cannot be taught unless it is demonstrated. You can not expect a pledge to perform well or achieve in an atmosphere of yelling and apparent confusion and ill will. If a pledge is treated like a second-class citizen he will perform like one. If he is treated with respect and given encouragement, he will project self-confidence and be an achiever.

In other words, the worst thing you can do is treat a pledge like a servant or second-class citizen. What we must do is treat our "pledges" as junior members. We need to prepare them for leadership. We need to help them become better scholars and to perfect their natural abilities in athletics, etc.

In other words, the atmosphere we create should be positive and constructive. It should not be negative and destructive. ■

Funds from the sale will be used to reduce the present mortgage, renovate the exterior of the house and held for the purchase of a possible future building site.

The Board has been working closely with active chapter to improve rush procedures, chapter size, and general chapter operation. The Alumni Board is extremely pleased with the attitude, enthusiasm, and working relationship displayed by the actives of Hio Epsilon. —Howard Stockton.

KANSAS CITY

The Kansas City Alumni of Phi Delta Theta has seen a busy 1979 in which alumni from the surrounding area have participated in a number of events.

Our "Fourth Annual Gin Rummy Tournament" began the year in February as the alumni club sponsored an evening of cards, sandwiches and drink.

On Thursday, March 15, alumni celebrated Founder's Day at the Carriage Club of Kansas City. Highlights of this gathering included the Golden Legion Awards, presented by Jamie Senter to Eugene B. Mangelsdorf (Kansas State '32), Emmett L. Roach (Penn '32), and John D.M. Bennett (Miami-Ohio '31). Undergraduate awards were presented by Chris Kirley to various winners from the local chapters which include: University of Missouri Columbia, University of Kansas - Lawrence, Kansas State University - Manhattan, Westminster College - Fulton, Washburn University - Topeka, and Emporia State Teachers' College - Emporia. Other awards included the Golf and Tennis Tournament winners from the summer of 1978 and the Claycomb Memorial Cup.

Highlight of Founder's Day was a presentation of Kansas City's Phi-of-the-Year Award by Bruce McClelland to Mike Harper (Washburn '63).

Election of the new officers for 1979 concluded the evening's activities and the new officers are Steve Panknin (Westminster '73), president; Jamie Senter (Missouri '75), vice president; George Morris, Jr. (Westminster '73), treasurer; Edward Lindner (Missouri '73), secretary. Social chairmen include Chris Kirley (Missouri '73), John Ballard, III (Kansas '73), Dean Graves (Kansas '73), and Dave Graves (Kansas '75).

The combined Golf and Tennis Tournament was held July 17, at Mission Hills Country Club and plans are currently under way for our annual Fall Harvest Party.

We welcome any alumni of Phi Delta Theta currently residing in the Kansas City area to contact any current officer listed for general club information on upcoming events. — Edward A. Lindner

PALM BEACH

The Phi Delta Theta Alumni Association of Palm Beach County, Florida joined together on Aug. 25 to celebrate one of the time honored fraternity traditions, the annual Fall rush party. This from the active chapters around the state were notified early with a request for local rush chairmen and their teams to be primed for action.

The Palm Beaches have always provided strong prospects from the local high schools and some of our young alumni "live wires" were rushed at this yearly function prior to their starting college. Alumni President Burt Moore (Idaho '29) planned this year's rush prior to entering the hospital for abdominal surgery and his vice president, Ron Rountree, (South Florida '71) followed through with the game plan.

Rushes, active brothers and alumni began arriving early in the afternoon at the Palm Beach Shores private beach front pavilion provided by Past President Guy C. Hill (Emory '68). The warm sunny day, wide sandy beach, pretty girls and rolling ocean set the scene for a great preview of fraternity life for rushes. Active brothers with their college insider's sophistication teamed well with the slightly embellished stories from the alums recalling their own college days to fan the enthusiasm of the young men beginning their college adventure. Plenty of cool liquid refreshment followed by a complete cook out, all free-of-charge to the alums and their guests underlined the bond of Phi Delta Theta shared over the age and regional collection.

Those whose schedules permitted were invited to a house party at Paul (Univ. of the South '77) and Dale (Florida '78) Hedrick's, which was stupendous with about 150 merrymakers flowing through the open house. This sharing and cooperation shown by Phi Delt brothers gives rushes the true perspective of Fraternity for Life.

John F. (Cactus Jack) Thomas, Jr. (Emory '43), William Cummings (Miami '68), Dale Hedrick (Florida '78) and Hank Massey (Florida '78) met with some specific rushes later on the next week at a local restaurant to provide some additional low key reinforcement and answer specific questions. This follow up is encouraged in other teams, as well, for valuable individual attention.

Planning has begun for the annual Holiday Toast which has been one of the nicest and best attended functions for alumni brothers and their ladies over the years. Any Phis in the area can get particulars from the local officers if they're not on our official roster. This posh affair gives everyone a chance to dress up and join in holiday cheer in one of many beautiful spots at a reasonable group fee.

A Message From the President . . .

BY T. GLEN CARY
(Texas Tech '56)
President, General Council

Like all organizations and corporations, Phi Delta Theta is a victim of inflation. Our costs of operating continue to increase in relation to inflation while our income tends to remain level. Over a period of time, this constitutes a serious problem in managing our finances and maintaining services.

Our primary sources of income are contributions, yield on investments and initiation fees. Initiation fees have not been increased since 1974, so our undergraduates continue to get a bargain.

While doing everything we can to increase contributions and investment income, we are also revitalizing our management system to help meet this challenge.

We want to be certain that everything we do is managed. We have adopted measurable objectives and standards of performance so that we can achieve excellence in all areas.

We are trying to meet the challenge of inflation through better management rather than reduce services and career employees. So far our record in achieving this is very good thanks to our capable headquarters staff, our General Council, and our General Officers.

The performance of our volunteers and career workers is at an all time high. Everyone is cost conscience and economy-minded. Therefore, it is a pleasure to recognize these people for an outstanding performance in 1979.

You can help us with this battle by adjusting your contributions for inflation. If you haven't made a contribution in the past, 1980 is a great time to start.

Financing our fraternity is not an overwhelming job if everyone will do his part. So I encourage you to think of Phi Delta Theta when you make contributions to those causes that are near and dear to your heart in 1980. I can assure you that you will be happy with the results of your support!

Phi everywhere have been generous to their fraternity. We certainly thank each of you for your financial support. With your help we cannot fail — without it, we cannot succeed. ■

LAWRENCE J. BURKE

November, 1978. He then combined it with his own Mariah magazine which he began in the spring, 1976.

The 36-year-old publisher now heads up a multi-million dollar communications empire containing a promotion agency, a display company, a radio-television production unit and a book publishing firm.

That's quite a climb for a young man who spent two years working for IBM before impulsively handing in his resignation one morning and spending the next four and one-half years roaming around Europe, Africa and Asia pursuing the great adventures of life.

"I decided to resign from living a life of domestic unrest," he said. "After spending an hour in a traffic jam looking down a smog-covered metropolis (Denver) I handed in my resignation."

He headed for Europe, drifted to the Middle East, and eventually reached North Africa in need of money. During this period he once trekked across the Sahara leading a convoy of three-ton trucks loaded with passengers and scotch. "I found out that Johnny Walker Red was selling for $2 a bottle in the Spanish free port of Coute and $22 a bottle south of the Sahara," he recalled.

Upon returning to the real world in 1973 he went to work as marketing director for a family owned subsidiary that manufactures a graphic arts reproduction process and spent the next year and a half developing markets and distributorships internationally.

It was during this period of time that the idea for Mariah Magazine took hold. "I became obsessed with its potential through a close personal association I have with Mariah's editorial concept," he said.

He got his first exposure to wilderness when he was eight. The day school let out, he boarded a train for Colorado where he stayed with a Navaho rancher. For four years he spent the summer in the mountains. "We made long pack trips from Colorado to Wyoming," he recalled, "foraging for food along the way. The feeling of freedom stayed with me."

The lead story in that first issue told of a raft trip down Ethiopia's Omo River. Since then Mariah has taken its readers climbing on K2 in the Himalayas, the world's second highest mountain; diving off the coast of Belize; and kayaking in the Andes.

The paid circulation went from 45,000 to over 70,000 with a total reading audience of over 300,000 by the Fall, 1977. Advertising grew to almost 40 pages per issue.

When he purchased Outside he had a rate base guarantee of 100,000 circulation. The combined circulation of both magazines would have been in excess of 300,000. Mariah/Outside established a rate base of 200,000 by eliminating duplicate subscriptions, overlapping newsstand sales and allowing certain less profitable subscription groups to expire during 1979. According to Audits and Surveys and Mark Clements Research, Inc., the combined magazine will have a total readership of 880,000.

Plans call for the magazine to become a monthly following a move from six issues in 1979 to nine in 1980. Burke plans to drop the Mariah half of the title this year. "Outside better conveys our image," he stated. "We decided to do it gradually so we wouldn't break the allegiance of our Mariah readers."

The name Mariah came from the Lerner and Loewe song about the wind. Burke chose it because he needed "a name that was poetic and promotable." In addition to reporting on contemporary wilderness travel of all kinds, Mariah also contained articles on explorers of the past and on scientific expeditions that use the techniques of the quiet sports.

Burke and John Askwith, now art director, spent every night for eight months researching and developing a clear idea of what they wanted their magazine to be. He called on several friends to raise $35,000 for an initial market survey of his new idea.

Burke, at long last, is now able to turn his attention to Burke Communication Industries, a company he formed this summer. He serves as president while his father (Robert L.) was named chairman.

It includes a two and one-half minute radio show aired twice daily, five times a week on 125 stations called "Spaces and Places." It also includes Outside Films, a production company currently working on a 13-week documentary TV series about outdoor sports.

He is also involved in book publishing. The first title, "The Great Outside Guide Book," will be available this year. Finally there is Burke Promotional Displays Corp., an advertising display firm which has done point-of-purchase display for such companies as Sears and General Motors. The company was originally called Poster Products, Inc. and was founded by his grandfather (Lawrence J.) over 50 years ago.

Burke's philosophy is as fresh as his magazine. "I recently learned out in Idaho that I can survive on wild onions," he once stated. "I am convinced the Mariah will survive and prosper because of what its underlying philosophy has done for me. Look, publishing a magazine like Mariah is a little like climbing the mountain itself. Getting up to the summit is exhausting but you ought to see the view from the top." ■

If At First You Don't Succeed—

After two unsuccessful bids in 1967 and 1975 William Winter (Mississippi '44) made the third time a charm last November, winning the governorship of Mississippi over Republican Gil Carmichael.

He carried all but two of Mississippi's 82 counties in capturing 61% of the vote. State political observers stated that Winter's vote-getting ability "shattered all the traditional demographics of Mississippi elections."

No stranger to state government, Winter, 56, had spent 25 years in public life. He was a former state legislator, state treasurer, state tax collector and lieutenant governor. He left the lieutenant governor post to run for governor in 1975.

Following that defeat Winter returned to one of the state's largest law firms, Watkins, Pyle, Ludlam, Winter and Stennis in Jackson. He resigned from the firm at the beginning of the campaign.

The new governor has been a very active member of Phi Delta Theta. He was past president of Mississippi Alpha and also a past president of the chapter's house corporation.

"I have no illusions about what the office of governor is all about," said Winter, a serious student of Mississippi history whose writings have turned up in several academic publications. While in law school he was editor of the Ole Miss Law Journal. He has served as chairman of the Mississippi Archives and History Commission.

Winter began his political career in the legislature, moving on to serve as state tax collector and treasurer before winning the lieutenant governor's race in 1971.

Despite the urging of longtime associates and past political foes, he balked at running. He finally reconsidered his decision to stay out of the race and filed two days before the June 6 deadline.

Running on a platform of cleaning up government and attacking the current administration, he finished second to Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy in the first Democratic primary.

However, Winter remarkably picked up considerable support from rural voters, a shift that enabled him to defeat Miss Gandy by 90,000 votes in the Aug. 28 run-off. He carried 56.8 per cent of the votes.

He went into the general election as a heavy favorite to become the state's 58th governor.

Winter lives in Jackson with his wife, Alise. They have three daughters.

Brown Wins in Kentucky

While Winter was winning in Mississippi, another Phi Delt, John Y. Brown (Kentucky '56), won the governorship in Kentucky in his first bid for elective office.

Known for his sales ability, Brown had earlier purchased Colonel Sanders' Kentucky Fried Chicken business for $2 million and later sold it for $21 million in a stock-swap deal. (See Scroll, Spring, 1974, pps. 64-65).

Brown, with his new wife Phyllis George at his side, built up a big lead over Republican Louie Nunn, who served as Kentucky governor from 1967 to 1971, and ended up pulling about 60% of the vote. Miss George was Miss America in 1971 and became a TV personality on the NFL Today on CBS.

Brown, named one of the "Outstanding Young Men of America" in 1965 by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, helped organize two highly successful telethon fund raisers for the Democratic National Committee in 1972 and 1973.

He had earlier served as vice-chairman for John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign for Kentucky in 1960 and served on the governor's economic development commission from 1975-1977.

He was also named as "Louisville's Outstanding Young Man" in 1969 by the Louisville Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was the recipient of the Lion's International "Outstanding American Award" in 1974 and was the youngest person named to the University of Kentucky Hall of Fame.

Phil Niekro Captures Gehrig Award

Knuckle-balling Phil Niekro, whom some of his admirers believe capable of pitching forever, has been voted Phi Delta Theta's Lou Gehrig Memorial Award for 1979.

The veteran Atlanta Braves' righthander will celebrate his 41st birthday April 1, 1980 as he launches what will be his 17th major league season.

Owner of a lifetime record of 218-191, Niekro won 21 games this past season for the last-place Braves.

"I appreciate the Gehrig award for putting me in the select company of the many great players who have won it and the Great Hall of Famer for which it is named," said Niekro.

Niekro has been voted the YMCA's national Brian Piccolo Award for humanitarian services in 1977. He has been active in the Atlanta March of Dimes, Big Brother Association and Empty Stocking Fund.

"Phil is the heart and soul of the Braves," said Ted Turner, the club owner, in announcing Niekro's contract had been extended through the 1982 season. This was last Nov. 1, a few days before the pitcher left for Japan on a tour with a major league All-Star team.

Niekro's character was put to a severe test in the final week of the 1979 season when he started against his brother, Joe Niekro of the Houston Astros. Phil had already won his 20th game and the Astros were still hoping to overtake the Cincinnati Reds in the Western Division race.

Although he was not the winning pitcher, Phil held Houston in check through eight innings and the Braves wound up winning in 10 innings, thus thwarting the Astros and younger brother Joe.

In extending Niekro's contract, Turner put the veteran pitcher into baseball's expanding millionaire's club.

Niekro is the only survivor as an active player of the team that shifted to Atlanta from Milwaukee in 1966. He holds every career pitching record other than saves, the exclusive property of relief pitchers.

His 23 complete games this past season made the third straight year he has led the National League in that category.

A native of Blaine, Ohio, he was a high school teammate of John Havlicek, who carved out a great basketball career at Ohio State and with the Boston Celtics.

Relying heavily on his tricky knuckler, Niekro has never had a sore arm through his long career. But ironically, when he first came up to the Milwaukee Braves in 1964, he was sent back to the minors because the team at that time didn't have a catcher capable of handling that particular pitch.

The remarkable aspect of Niekro's winning 200 games is that for the majority of his years with the Atlanta team, the Braves have been in the second division.

"Phil is one of the best five pitchers in the league," insists Bobby Cox, his current manager.

Ritter Collett, the head of the fraternity's selection committee, says, "Phil is the closest to being a unanimous choice in the 10 years I've headed the committee."

He was the first place choice on nine of the 11 ballots cast. ■

Cincinnati

The city
full of cities

The fabled hills of San Francisco. The festive spirit of Munich. The riverfront flavor of New Orleans. The gourmet restaurants of Paris. The cosmopolitan mood of New York. In Cincinnati you'll find them all, together with one of the nation's finest convention centers, excellent accommodations and a wide range of entertainment and shopping.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity
63rd Biennial Convention
June 21-24, 1980

Cincinnati To Host 63rd Convention

BY BOB MILLER
Executive Vice President

All members of Phi Delta Theta, be they undergraduates or alumni, are invited to attend the Fraternity's 63rd Biennial Convention at Stouffer's Cincinnati Towers on June 21-24, 1980.

Phis from all over the North American Continent will be in attendance and they will be heartily greeted by representatives of the Cincinnati Alumni Club and the Ohio Theta chapter at the University of Cincinnati. This meeting promises to be a fraternal experience worth remembering and Phis of all ages are invited, indeed urged, to attend.

Perhaps one reason for the growing enthusiasm among undergraduate and alumni Phis in the host city is the fact that this will be the first Phi Delta Theta Convention in the "Queen City of the West" since the Fraternity's second convention was held in that city in December of 1856. Indeed, the very first convention was held in Cincinnati in December of 1851 attended by seven delegates representing two of Phi Delta Theta's four chapters.

That first Convention, by the way, had as its secretary a young man by the name of Benjamin Harrison. The chief business of the meeting was a report from the committee on establishing new chapters "at such institutions as would not detract from the acquired reputation of Phi Delta Theta".

So it is that we return to Cincinnati to renew our vows to Phi Delta Theta and plan for the future. Like all fraternity conventions, the duly elected delegates from undergraduate chapters and alumni clubs will join with General Officers to comprise the Supreme Governing Body. To this group falls the responsibility of (a) amending the Code and Fraternity Ritual, (b) electing the members of the General Council who will carry out the business of the Fraternity between meetings and (c) setting policy to guide the members in their daily activities.

In addition to the legislative sessions, ample time has been set aside for smaller group discussions on a half dozen topics of general interest in the Fraternity today. All convention sessions are open to initiated Phis whether or not they are official delegates. In fact, one of the most rewarding of all Convention experiences is the opportunity for young and old Phis from a variety of backgrounds to unite in brotherhood to discuss ways and means to improve the organization.

Of course, a convention is not all work. Among the activities included on the program will be a mass migration to Oxford, Ohio for a tour of the Miami University campus where members and guests may pay homage to the founding site and take a tour of the Fraternity's nerve center, the General Headquarters Building.

President of the General Council, T. Glen Cary (Texas Tech '56), will deliver his State of the Fraternity message at the opening banquet and at following meal functions outstanding chapters and individual Phis will be recognized through the presentation of numerous awards, citations and trophies.

Phi Delta Theta Conventions are looked upon as family affairs. Programs for the ladies and children will be available throughout the Convention. Indeed, family members will be attending Convention meal functions and will also participate in the Oxford tour.

Time is growing short so don't waste a minute in declaring your intention to attend Phi Delta Theta's 63rd Biennial Convention in Cincinnati. Remember — the dates are June 21-24, 1980. Simply fill out the coupon which follows this article and full details concerning Convention registration, hotel facilities and other helpful information will be forwarded.

Please send me information of Phi Delta Theta's 1980 Convention.

AKRON

W. Richard Wright (Akron '37), assistant to the president at the University of Akron, was honored and "roasted" by his friends as part of the Akron annual Love Feast/Founders Day celebration on Dec. 26.

Wright has served the fraternity and his university with distinction for many years and it was an honor well deserved. He has accepted the chairmanship of a committee to reorganize and revitalize the alumni association.

The ZAE Board, under the leadership of Pete Demming, is involved in several renovation projects at the Ohio Epsilon house.—Howard Stockton.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ALPHA

The B.C. Alpha Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta has been very active this year. The housing committee has authorized extensive new furnishings for the chapter house, which was just built last year. Working closely with an ambitious active chapter during Fall Rush resulted in 27 initiates, one of the largest initiation classes ever. Bob Dinkel, General Council member, travelled from Calgary to read the Bond of Phi Delta Theta at the initiation ceremony.

We are pleased to see that Tom Coldicutt, past alumni society president, has been appointed Pi North Province President.

Socially, the Alumni Club had a Christmas cocktail party at the fraternity house for all actives and alumni, has scheduled a summer golf tournament and plans a tremendous Founders Day party in March, this year being the 50th anniversary of the B.C. Alpha chapter. All Phis are encouraged to attend this very special event and will be so notified in a later mailing as to time, place and date.

The Alumni Club President for 1979-80 is Michael Page and the Club address is P.O. Box 35294 Station E, Vancouver, B.C. V6M 4G4. Monthly luncheons are the first Wednesday of the month, noon, at the Keg Lobster House. For more information call (604) 685-1481.

NORTHERN NEVADA ALUMNI

The Northern Nevada Alumni Club has completed another busy and successful year. The big event was again Founder's Day. Brother John Ascuaga (Idaho '51) hosted the evening for both undergraduates and alumni at his Sparks Nugget hotel/casino. Brother Eddie Frazer (Nevada '75) was elected club president for the 1979-1980 term. Other officers elected included Robert Rizzo (Nevada '77) as the new vice-president and Lloyd Dyer (Utah '52) was reelected treasurer.

Charles Fletcher (Nevada '74) was elected President of the housing corporation.

The keynote speaker of the evening was former Past President of the General Council Stan Brown (UCLA-Nebraska '36). Brother Winborn "Mac" MacDonald was awarded the Golden Legion and gave everyone present a very poignant speech on what being a Phi means.

The alumni club has been working closely with the active chapter again this year to improve rush and overall chapter operations. We are all proud of the progress and positive attitude they have displayed. The major goal of the Northern Nevada Alumni Club remains the securing of a new chapter house for Nevada Alpha. Property has been purchased and plans are ongoing for its development. Several activities have been held with the undergraduates including a "Card Night" as well as Homecoming and Christmas Parties.

Several alumni are planning on attending the Tri-Province conference in February along with many of the local undergraduates.

The alumni Club has again introduced monthly luncheons and invites any Phis visiting Reno to stop by and take part with the "Biggest Little Alumni Club in the World"

SANTA CLARA VALLEY

Well we alumni did it again! Beat those San Jose State undergrad Phis in flag football 20-0... and we now lead 2 to 1 in the three year old series! Not bad for some older guys, huh? Of course it didn't hurt that we had acquired some "free agents," like recent graduates Mike Paoletti and Jerry McKinney!

"Good old Phis" Steve Barber and Don DuShane each scored a touchdown from the famous alumni veer slot-back I formation (from the weak side) that we always use. (What?). Wayne Leslie was a great ref.

Our Halloween party was held at the haunted mansion of Dennis Fernandez complete with good food and drink and scary people. Rick Deutsch and date won the best costume prize, wearing, appropriately, "Greek" togas. About 20 people attended including DuShane as a Pi Phi pledge.

A tailgate party was held with the San Jose State undergrads after our football game and prior to the S.J. State-U of Pacific football game. We have developed a strong relationship with this undergrad chapter and will continue to help and support them. They recently initiated additional new members and are growing stronger on campus.

Founder's Day Banquet is scheduled for Thursday, March 20, 1980. Save that day alumni... come on out and share some of the good times with us. Call Bill Reagan, our president, for a pre-recorded message about what this great group is up to next! 295-7034. John Jackson - Reporter

SECOND TRY: The above photo of five Phi Deltas from the University of Idaho celebrating a 50-year reunion last May appeared on the inside back cover of the Winter magazine. Unfortunately, the cutline identified the five as having attended the University of Utah. They include W. Emerson Platt ('28), Arthur W. Ensign, Jr. ('29), Harry E. Jones ('28), William G. Houston Singer, Songwriter Now a Legend

Everyone knows that hooper Gene Kelly made "Singin' in the Rain" popular in the MGM movie. Do you know who recorded the song along with many others that several generations of Americans have romanced to since the 1920s?

Today's teenagers and college students may not have heard of Seger Ellis (Virginia '25). In the 1920s, however, he was the number three recording artist in the country.

Ever heard "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," "S'posin'," "When You're Smiling," "Among My Souvenirs," "Body and Soul," "Three Little Words," "You're Drivin' Me Crazy," "Little White Lies," "Ain't Misbehavin'," "Girl of My Dream," "Nevertheless." Those are a few of the records he introduced.

Today he is retired and lives in Houston with his wife, Pamela. The Public Broadcasting System presented a one-hour documentary about him in 1976 entitled "The Times and Tunes of Seger Ellis."

In the Ellis home today, a visitor would quickly find his or her way to the "Bar Room", where the walls are lined with pictures of Seger with Jimmy Dorsey, Henny Youngman, Duke Ellington, Frank Sinatra, Benny Goodman, Paul Whiteman, Tommy Dorsey, Bing Crosby, Tony Bennett, to name a few.

He was the first recording star to have his actual photograph on his records; the only other two were Whiteman and Ted Lewis. He recorded for several companies, including Decca, MGM, Columbia, Bullet, Okeh, Kapp, Brunswick and RCA.

Sammy Cahn, a young, talented boy Ellis helped (who later won four Academy Awards as a songwriter), wrote in his book, I Should Care, . . . "Seger was as handsome as a Greek God. Women would stop in the streets to stare at him with his Valentino good looks."

For a number of years he had a radio show which was heard throughout the nation. He guested on shows of his contemporaries like Kate Smith and Whiteman.

In 1931 he discovered and owned the world famous Mills Brothers. In the late thirties and forties, he had his own unique band called, "The Choir of Brass," so called by its preponderance of brass over reeds.

In the fifties and sixties, he had the Boulevard Club in Houston, where he played, sang and acted as host. During this period he recorded several of his country and western songs in Nashville under the name of "Harry Houston."

As a pianist, he was the first performer in America, probably in the world, to record a piano solo in the popular field with a microphone for worldwide distribution. The composition was his own, "Prairie Blues," and at one cent a side, his first royalty check in 1926 was $3,500.

Other songs he wrote include "You're All I Want for Christmas," "It's All Over But the Cryin'," "Little Jack Frost, Get Lost," and "What You Don't Know Won't Hurt You."

A few of the artists who have recorded his songs include Crosby, Frankie Laine, Peggy Lee, Eddie Fisher, Frankie Avalon, Pearl Bailey, The Mills Brothers, The Ink Spots, and The Four Freshmen.

His father was a prominent Houston banker; his maternal grandfather, Eugene Pillot, immigrated to Houston from Paris in 1837. When he was a preschooler, he learned to speak primarily French due to his mother's influence.

He is described by Ned Bosnick, TV Producer, as follows: "This man is articulate, with a crisp, clear mind . . . a man with a keen sense of humor . . . a good human being. ■"

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE

DAVID DEMAREE BANTA LIBRARY

Ardery, Philip P. (Kentucky '35), Bomber Pilot, A Memoir of World War II. Lexington: The University Press of Kentucky, 1978. 233 pp. Given by author.

"The sky was full of dying airplances" as American Liberator bombers struggled to return to North Africa after their daring low-level raid on the oil refineries at Ploesti. They had flown more than a thousand miles into enemy territory and inflicted heavy damage on the complex that Winston Churchill called "the taproot of German might." They sustained great losses—53 planes and 446 airmen. But Philip Ardery's plane had come home. He was to take part in many more raids on Hitler's Europe, including one in broad daylight over Berlin. After his combat tour was completed, Ardery volunteered for one more mission: air cover for the D Day invasion of Normandy.

This firsthand account is the only one by the pilot of a heavy bomber to record a personal experience of the air warfare of World War II. Ardery tells in absorbing detail about the training of military pilots in 1940; after his own graduation he was required to serve as an instructor in the drive to expand America's pilot force. He tells of his marriage, literally on the eve of Pearl Harbor, and of the birth of his son not long before he was sent overseas. Throughout, he gives a personal dimension to the horror of world war: he speaks of his own fear, of longing for home, of grief for fallen comrades. His book is a moving and important contribution to the history of our troubled century.

Arnold, Robert H. (Lafayette '37), A Rock and A Fortress. Sarasota: Blue Horizon Press, 1979. 286 pp. Given by author.

In this saga, the author tells through his main character — John Barry — his true and miraculous story of what he saw, heard, thought, did and said during the 3½ years when his life hung by a thread. From Singapore and Manila, it proceeds to the hinterlands, mountains and jungles of the Philippines. Then on to the surrender of Japanese Commanding General Yamashita. The book culminates in a searching analysis of present U.S. defense needs and strategy in the nuclear age with guidelines for America's future survival and freedom.

A Rock and A Fortress is an inspiring, but unembellished, true war story of survival through Christian faith and positive action. Although the setting is mainly exotically Asian, and at times primitive, there is woven a common web of human destiny that embraces us all. It should be of great interest to all thoughtful persons who want to know more about what the future holds for every American and every American family.

About the Author. Three and a half years after graduating from Lafayette College summa cum laude with a reserve commission in the U.S. Infantry, Arnold was called into the service in 1941 with the first radar company in the United States Army. A few months later he took an American radar company to the Philippines where he was soon enmeshed in a battle for survival with the invading Japanese forces. From this time, his narrative continues to the jungles of Luzon and on to the citadels of power in Manila and Washington.

For his wartime exploits, recorded in this book, Arnold was cited three times by the U.S. Army, commended by General MacArthur and cited by General Krueger for outstanding combat achievement. The Philippine Government cited Arnold five times and the First Congress of the Philippines after World War II passed a joint resolution expressing the profound and heart-felt gratitude of the Filipino people to him for invaluable services to the cause of Philippine Liberation.

Bramlitt, Edward R. (Washington Univ. '29), History of Canaveral District. South Atlantic Division, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, 1971. 130 pp. Given by Harold Cowdin.

Although it is the youngest District of the Corps of Engineers, the Canaveral District has nonetheless had an eventful and exciting history, ties closely and indispensably to the history of America in space, the national development of missilery and the journeys of man to the moon.

This book sets forth the salient facts of our history in the Canaveral District, portrays the unique design and nature of many of the projects involved, and will be a valuable work to those who may in the future become concerned with the activities of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in this area from 1950 through fiscal 1971.

Broyles, Galen E. (Colorado College '26), Some Practical Tips for Marketing and Advertising Students on How To Become Successful Advertising Executives. Student Publications, 1978. 178 pp. Given by author.

This book is written for the benefit of students studying marketing and advertising in a university or college, and for graduates who may be going through training programs with manufacturers, service organizations or advertising agencies.

Burt, Richard L. (Pittsburgh '35), The Pittsburgh Pirates. Virginia Beach: Jordan & Company, Publishers, Inc., 1977. 152 pp. Given by author.

The Pittsburgh Pirates: A Century Old Baseball Tradition is a celebration... a celebration for Pirate fans and all baseball fans alike. For in these pages you'll find many of the greatest names in baseball history... Wagner... Clarke... Traynor... the Waners... Kiner... Clemente and so many, many more.

The record breaking events, the championship seasons and the near misses: it's all here!

Churchill, S. Garton (Ohio Wesleyan '22), Churchill Natural Bidding Style at Contract Bridge. 1979. 743 pp. Given by author.

We hope that we can reach a substantial number of our promising young players with our system. Our chief reason, however, for giving our time and energy to publishing another book on our hobby is that we believe deeply that we have a definite contribution to make to our established experts in the matter of slam bidding—slam bidding by natural methods. It is this most crucial department of the game that, in our international matches, has proved to be the Achilles heel of many of our otherwise great United States teams. The Precision System has been responsible for a decided improvement in what had theretofore been the rather pathetic slam results of the systems in vogue. We believe there is still room for great improvement. S.G.C.

Gaylor, Harry P. (Colorado State '30), Wildfires. Bowie: Robert J. Brady Company, 1974. 319 pp. Given by author.

Ultimately, wildfire prevention and control seek to manage the interaction of man and the four elements of his environment: air, water, earth, and fire. The object of this text is to provide fire fighters with a better understanding of the relationships among these elements.

The term "wildfire" refers to all uncontrolled fires that burn surface vegetation (grass, weeds, grainfields, brush, chaparral, tundra, forest and woodland fuels); often these fires also involve structures. Regardless of the type of vegetation, basic methods of wildfire control remain constant. Techniques, which are applications of these basic methods, vary according to terrain, fuel, fire climate region, equipment, and local custom.

This text has been developed for use by federal, state, municipal, suburban, rural, and wildland protection units, whether their members are paid or serve voluntarily. It is addressed primarily to fire crews and their immediate supervisors. It may be used either as a training manual or as a supplementary reference on the organization, functions, and desired capabilities of a wildfire protection unit. The information in this text has been sifted and selected from material published by the U.S. Forest Service, state forestry services, and other forest protection groups.

Glahe, Fred R. (Purdue '57), Editor, Adam Smith and The Wealth of Nations. Boulder: Colorado Associated University Press, 1978. 172 pp. Given by editor.

The publication of this collection of essays grew out of a series of lectures celebrating the bicentenary of the publication of The Wealth of Nations. These lectures were jointly held at Ohio University and the University of Colorado and were funded by grants from the Earhart Foundation. The essays in this volume by Harry G. Johnson, Joseph J. Spengler, James M. Buchanan, Leonard Billet, Ronald Max Hartwell, and Thomas Sowell derive from the lectures which they presented in this series.

Montana Power Leader Speaks Out

BY J.A. McELWAIN
(Montana '43)
President, Montana Power Company

For more than two years, the American people have indicated their willingness to support a viable national energy policy and have waited in vain for such a policy to be initiated and implemented.

We now are beginning to realize the grave and far-reaching implications of our failure to act on the development of internal programs that can provide us with a long-term supply of domestic energy and relieve us of the economic and political perils of reliance on foreign energy sources.

The sad fact is that, while there is no shortage of long-term energy potential in the United States, the Nation and its leaders have been mired down by indecision, inaction, confusion and conflicting mandates with the result that we face some serious energy crises over the next 10 to 15 years.

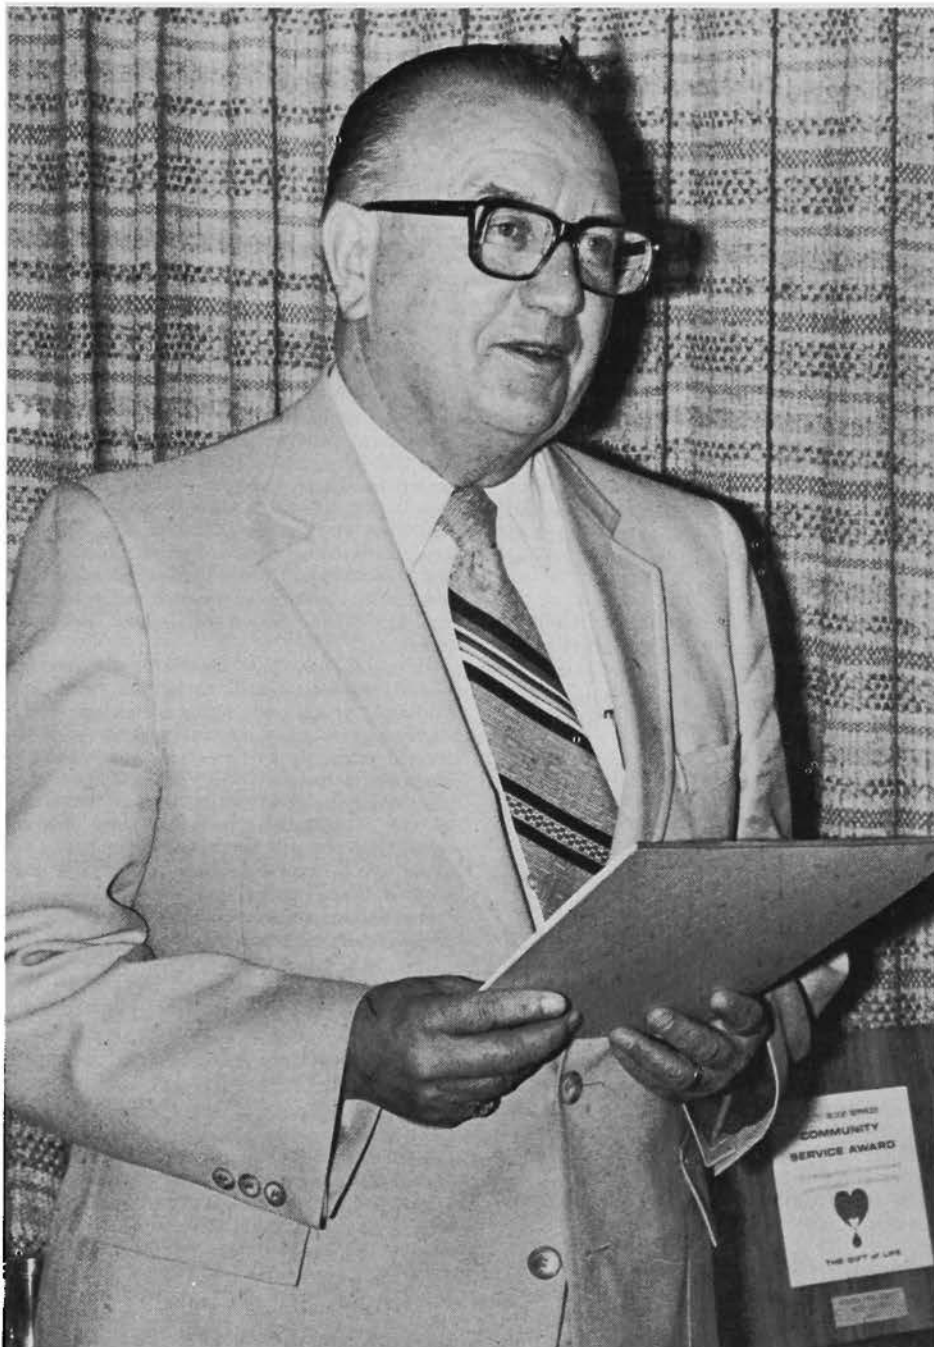

The degree of these crises and the magnitude of their impact on this Nation will depend on the speed and dedication with which we tackle the challenge of action required to turn our long-term potential into useable energy.

We now are at a decision point. We have reached a stage at which we must decide whether we are willing to take the necessary steps to maintain our standard of living and encourage economic growth and productivity through an internalization of our energy sources. The alternative is reliance on foreign energy with its continuing threat of shortages, its constantly-increasing price and, as we have seen in Iran, its accompaniment of political pressure and terrorist activity.

A nation — and a world — without an adequate energy supply faces as many crippling obstacles as one without food or shelter.

Lack of energy destroys our ability to adequately produce food and other needed products, produces widespread unemployment and ultimately leads to massive depression levels.

Energy projects today in the United States are being delayed or rendered uneconomic by environmental and other over-regulation with the result that our economic health is being imperiled. We are being required to invest limited capital resources in non-productive environmental controls instead of investing in new capacity that will return us to economic stability. Regulatory delays and litigation are further impeding us as spiraling inflation adds millions of needless dollars to the cost of facilities.

Our energy problems can be solved by removing the institutional barriers to their solution and by dedicating ourselves to a national policy of internalizing our energy sources.

We must devise rational and consistent policies that will permit the development of our domestic coal, petroleum and nuclear resources in a manner that will protect a quality environment.

We must see rational pricing for energy and we must see governmental encouragement for investment in new technologies, upgraded production facilities and energy development.

We must accept and carry out the principles of energy conservation and the wise use of energy to the end that this facet of our policies alleviates undue strain on capital.

We must break the paralysis in government which has been unable to make decisions necessary to the domestic development of energy sources.

All these things are within our grasp but they cannot be accomplished unless a decision is made to move ahead. That decision must be made now! ■

"We must break the paralysis in government which has been unable to make decisions . . ."

Alumni Profiles

Joe McElwain Came To The Top Step by Step

Joseph A. McElwain (Montana '43) was named president and chief executive officer of Montana Power Company on March 1, 1975. He is currently chairman of the board as well as chief executive officer.

His family roots are deep in Montana soil. His parents ranched in the Helmville area of Montana in the 1870s and moved to Deer Lodge in 1916. After being laid off in the depression of the 1930s his father opened a tavern when he was 15.

By the time he was 18 McElwain was tending bar and attending the University of Montana. He worked two shifts a week in the tavern, two more at Deer Lodge Drug Store, carried a full class load and spent the weekends refereeing high school athletics.

"Bartending gave me great insight into people," he said, "and refereeing helped pay the bills." He continued the officiating well into adulthood.

World War II interrupted his college career and he spent the war years at Fort Benning, Ga. A shoulder injury sustained there disqualified him for combat.

After the war he returned to school and, in 1947, earned his law degree. He joined State Senator Bill Keeley in a Deer Lodge law practice after graduation. He began to develop his law practice and then got into politics, serving as a member of the Montana House of Representatives for three terms, 1949-1955. He became majority floor leader of the House in 1951. Then he was elected to the state senate from 1962-1964 as a Republican.

In 1954 he had represented Montana Power in Washington, D.C. In 1963 he joined the company's legal staff as a full-time attorney. He became assistant to the president in 1965 and vice president in 1967. After serving for five years beginning in 1970 as executive vice president he assumed the presidency in 1975.

He is a past director of the National Association of Electric Companies, First Metals Bank and Trust Company, Pacific Northwest Power Company and Butte Cultural Arts Board.

His memberships include the University of Montana Foundation, the United States Chamber of Commerce's Public Relations Committee, the Montana Public Land Law Review Advisory Committee, and the Business Administration Advisory Council at Montana. He was sent to Germany in June, 1972, as a member of the American Power Study Team by the US Department of the Interior.

McElwain also holds local memberships in the Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America, the Masonic Lodge, Shrine, Elks, Knights of Pythias, Kiwanis Club, the Montana State Bar and the American Bar Association.

He married Mary Cleaver Witt on March 8, 1945, and they have two children, Lee William and Lori Louise (twins).

In this article he expresses one of his great concerns — the indecisiveness on energy matters that he feels promises to paralyze the nation.

Council Plans For Meetings

Plans for the General Officers Conference scheduled for New Orleans in February and the General Convention in Cincinnati, June 21-24 occupied a considerable amount of time during the General Council meeting Nov. 16 at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Marina Hotel.

Another major part of the time was spent discussing a proposed policy for fraternity investments. An investment committee consisting of Council members Bruce Thompson and Bob Dinkel along with Bob Miller, executive vice president, was appointed by President T. Glen Cary to meet with the fraternity's investment counselors and report back at a future GC meeting.

Colony status was granted to California-Berkley during the meeting. California Alpha chapter at Berkley had its charter suspended by the GC on April 13, 1978.

After reviewing province president visitation reports the Council heard a report of the Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences from Bob Biggs, director of chapter services. Nine conferences had been held with four more planned and two not yet confirmed.

Bill Dean, Scroll editor, was present and reported on both the economic aspects and editorial considerations of the magazine. He reported that the magazine should be able to meet its budget for the biennium.

The Council approved the establishment of a trophy to promote free enterprise named for Dr. John D. Millett (DePauw '32) and James J. Nance (Ohio Wesleyan '23).

No progress was reported on a proposed insurance program for fraternity members.

Present for the meeting were Cary; Thompson; Dinkel; Dr. Charles Wicks, reporter; Tal Bray, member-at-large; Miller; Biggs and Dean.

FATHER INITIATES SON: T. Glen Cary (Texas Tech '56), (right) GC president was present at initiation ceremonies on Sept. 16 at Texas Epsilon to initiate his son, Lance (middle) into the chapter. Also present was Rho North Province President John Harding (Texas Tech '37).

Madeline Dyer, former housemother at Oregon State and Willamette, was the subject of a feature story in the Salem, Oregon Statesman Journal on July 22. She was housemother at Willamette for six years and at Oregon State for over 20 years, where three generations of her family were Phi Deltas.

"The Phi Deltas are a wonderful bunch of young men," she said in the article. Mrs. Dyer is 90 years old and has been retired for 10 years but still gets out every afternoon to "enjoy watching people."

Michael Patin (University of Southwestern-Louisiana '80), a cheerleader at Southwestern-Louisiana, was recently named among 20 others to the National Collegiate All-America team chosen by the National Cheerleaders Association. He was honored during pregame festivities before the USL-University of Pacific game, Oct. 13.

THE PHI CRIER

Spring 1980

IN SPORTS

*Knox College Phis have again shown outstanding leadership in the area of campus athletics. Eight varsity team captains are members of Illinois Delta-Zeta.

*The McGill University football team is dominated by Phis. Nine of the 21 chapter members play varsity ball. The chapter as a whole is well-rounded despite having so many football players as their record in campus activities indicate.

*Whitman Phi Deltas have won the intramural football championship 47 out of the last 48 years. During the same 48 years they have lost only five games.

*Sean Tuohy (Ole Miss '82), a sophomore guard from New Orleans, is described by an opposing coach as "one of the finest point guards we've played against." He is averaging five points a game this year but he only shoots about three times per game.

ON CAMPUS

-The IFC at the University of Tennessee, in order to promote good relations with the campus, eats weekly with a Dean, faculty member and/or campus leader. This has proven to be a very effective means of improving communications and understanding among these different areas.

*West Virginia Alpha obtained 22 pledges during fall rush which was the most pledged to any fraternity. It is also a record for the decade. The Phis utilized one-to-one contact to overcome physical barriers due to the location of their chapter house.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*A tradition at Texas Kappa is the Time Capsule. Each semester the pledges must find the capsule by solving clues. The clues are solved by answering questions concerning the local or general fraternity. When the pledges find the capsule, they each sign their names to it and rebury it.

*Participation at meetings and functions have increased at West Texas since the brothers began a "Be a Brother Committee." A certain group of brothers is assigned to bring other brothers to a meeting or a function.

*Accounts Receivable have been lowered tremendously by the payment of dues, fees, and assessments by credit card. Each brother can obtain the credit card through a local bank. If the brother becomes delinquent, he owes the credit card company.

*At West Texas a very attractive chapter house is constructed mainly out of petrified wood. It is unique and adds a bit of class.

*Florida Delta at Miami has a different type of house. They own a suite in the Panhellenic Building. The site has a large living-meeting-party room plus a kitchen. It gives the brothers a big public relations edge with the sororities.

*Each year at Ole Miss the chapter sponsors a team meeting of individuals from Campus Crusade for Christ at a pledge class meeting. The purpose is to discuss the alternative ways of living one's life. The chapter also has one of the longest running Bible studies in the fraternity — seven years. The brothers meet each week, listen to a speaker, read verses and open the group to general conversation.

*The house manager at Vanderbilt had all members sign an agreement to uphold house rules and to adhere to the decisions of the house manager. This allowed for a better understanding of the rules and fines concerning destruction of property.

NEW IDEAS

*In order to encourage better performance on pledge tests and attendance, the brothers at Texas Tech sponsor "Friday Nite Study Sessions" at the library for those that need a little persuasion.

*In order to get better participation in rush, each rush function is delegated to two different brothers at Stephen F. Austin. Rush captains are usually upper classmen, since they should know the ins and outs of rush.

*Since the Baylor chapter does not have a chapter house but still maintains a large membership, the executive council publishes a weekly local newsletter to the brothers. This allows for better communications and attendance. The chapter also has a telephone number, which when called, gives a recorded schedule of events and times for the week.

*New social ideas have been developed at Texas-Arlington in order to increase participation and act as an ice breaker between the brothers and females. The "Under 6 Over 60" party finds brothers dressing either as under six-year olds or over 60. AT the "Unknown Phi" party each brother gives the name of a girl to the social chairman. He sends out invitations to these girls for the event. She doesn't know who her date is until she arrives.

*In order to better the accounting system of the chapter the Texas Kappa treasurer placed all financial records on the school's computer system. At the end of the month, he pushes a button and receives a financial report from the computer, complete with cash disbursements, receipts and accounts receivable.

*The chaplain at West Texas promotes the principles of the fraternity by sponsoring activities, events or talks on one of the three cardinal principles each month. Each month is designated by one of the three. Several chapter pre-initiation week activities have one day per principle; in order to emphasize the basis of the fraternity.

*During a meeting at the University of Richmond chapter an idea arose about a Midnight Masters Golf Classic with the faculty and deans as a social function or as good public relations event.

*In order to raise extra funds for house improvements, actives and Phikeias at Virginia Beta have started the P.D.T. Service. The leader contracts the workers out with the understanding that the worker will divide the monies 50-50 with the chapter.

*Motivation for rush at Kentucky Theta was achieved by awarding $30 to the person that rushed and was responsible for pledging the most people.

*As a fund raising project the brothers at Ole Miss sold "alligator" T-shirts. The alligator was with the tradition of the school-dressed in Rebel clothing. The pledges also made directories of the chapter and sold them to members for a nice profit.

*As a money-making project the chapter at Kentucky Eta sponsored an "arm wrestling" tournament at one of the local pubs. T-shirts were sold and admission charged.

*In order to better acquaint the pledges with the brothers, the pledgemaister has paired the brothers at Tennessee Beta up and each brother team is assigned to one pledge for a week. This operates on a revolving basis.

*As a community service project Mississippi Alpha Phis are organizing a "marathon run" during the spring. The run will vary with distance. T-shirts will be sold and businesses will sponsor groups. Awards will be given and the proceeds will go to a charity.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*Two Florida Delta brothers have unusual jobs while attending school. Porficio delaCruz does the drawings for comic books that are sold in Latin American countries; he also does editorial cartooning and a comic strip for the bi-weekly student newspaper. Andy Menedez is the chief legislative assistant for the Miami area and spends much time commuting to Tallahassee to perform his duties.

*Ed Jenkins, Bond Number One at Louisiana Delta, has been selected as the 1979 "Young Man of the Year" by the Shreveport Jaycees.

*South Dakota Alpha has made a tradition of working with Jerry Lewis during the Labor Day Telethon. Several Phis answered phones all day and night at the phone center. Pledges taken over the phones this year amounted to $1,111.00.

*For its community service project New York Alpha has decided to raise money for the U.S. Olympic cause. The brothers will be having fund raising drives on the Cornell campus. In addition, the chapter will be seeking donations from local businesses in and around Ithaca. The project will climax in early February as the brothers embark on an around-the-clock 271 mile run to the site of the Winter Olympic Games, Lake Placid, New York.

Letter Underscores Fraternity Values

I am writing to you about my late son, Todd Bradley Williams. You will note from the stationary that he was a Phi Delta Theta at DePauw University. He would have started his junior year there, this year.

Last fall, Todd injured his leg. We had him examined by several doctors and they all thought he had pulled ligaments, or something related. It wasn't until November that a bone specialist diagnosed Todd's problem as Osteogenic Sarcoma.

They sent us immediately to Rochester, Minn. to the Mayo Clinic. We were at Mayos two days and they knew right away that Todd would need his right leg amputated above the knee. They told us it was the only way we would have a chance to save his life.

We returned to Minnesota in January. The cancer had spread to his lung. Surgery did not help and they planned chemotherapy. After several trips to Minnesota for these treatments, they told Todd they could not help him and that he didn't have long to live.

He died Sept. 3, 1979. His 20th birthday was Sept. 1.

The purpose of my letter is to tell you what an important part the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity played in the ten month struggle that my son faced. They were faithful to him from the start. They visited him every time he was hospitalized in Terre Haute. They called him long distance while he was in the hospital in Minnesota. They wrote him letters wherever he was. They came weekends during school last spring and one boy came from St. Louis this summer.

Todd loved the fraternity while he was at school. The association with the boys was an experience he told me he would never forget. He felt a part of things. He had worked in the kitchen his first year and had made the baseball team. He had joined the Republican Club and was trying for an office in the fraternity last fall when he was stricken with this terrible disease.

My son did not have time to earn honors at DePauw, but he was the bravest young man I've ever known. He lived a good clean life. We were very proud of him. He admired the boys in his fraternity; they stood up for what they believe. These young people have many problems today. Todd was able to put his back to these problems. He was in ROTC at DePauw and he planned to continue his career as an officer in the Air Force after graduation.

You have a fine organization and I thank you for the experience my son had.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Robert Heidenreich

Little All-Phis Paced By Six Chapters

The 1979 Little All-Phi football team is dominated by two factors—the perennial strong gridiron chapters and several outstanding performers.

The chapters are those at Lawrence, Hanover, Valparaiso, Willamette, Wabash and Puget Sound who together placed 30 individuals on the team.

The performers are Jim Petran (Lawrence '80), who set a new fraternity record for total offense; Bruce Barkwell (Lawrence '80), who set a school career rushing record; Jeff Carter (Hanover '82), who set a single season reception yardage record; Mick Martin (Wabash '80), who became his school's all-time leading receiver; and David Wong (Willamette '81), a first team NAIA All-American defense tackle.

On the offensive team at ends are Carter, a 200-lb. All Hoosier-Buckeye Conference pick with 53 receptions for 951 yards, and Martin, who had 528 yards in receptions with a career yardage total of 1,805—seventh leading receiver in fraternity history.

Also at ends are Brian Fero (Lawrence '80), who had 484 yards; repeater Jim Meyer (Washington-St. Louis '80); Jeff Ropella (Lawrence '82), who had 365 yards in receptions; and Don Slayton (Willamette '82), a second team All-Northwest Conference choice.

The offensive tackles are headed by repeaters Scott Roeper (Lawrence '80), team co-captain and John Cavolo (Gettysburg '80), who has started 32 consecutive games.

Also at tackle are Ken Urbanski (Lawrence '82), an All-Midwest Conference selection; Kelly Wohers (Lawrence '80), a three year starter; Mark Wise (Hanover '80), second team All Hoosier-Buckeye Conference performer and Tim Unglow (Lafayette '80), a three-year starter.

The guards are paced by repeaters Alan Cole (Hanover '80) and Bob Grauman (Case-Western Reserve '80), team co-captain and an All-President conference choice the past two years. Others honored are Derrick Sigmar (Manitoba '82), All-Canadian collegiate selection; Dan Everett (Lafayette '80), a three-year starter; Jamie Lien (Lawrence '80), a three-year starter; Mike Feeny (Colorado College '80); and Kurt Kettle (Puget Sound '80), his team's top offensive lineman.

Anchoring the line at center are a pair of repeaters, Brian Guthrie (Ripon '80), an All-Midwest conference choice, and David Donaldson (Davidson '80), a three-year starter. Greg Edwards (Allegheny '82) rounds out the centers.

The backs carry outstanding credentials. Peteran is the top quarterback. He had 1,492 yards and 18 touchdowns as he led Lawrence to a 9-1 championship year and set new fraternity total career offensive record of 5,947 yards. Teammate Barkwell was All-Midwest Conference with 1,253 yards rushing plus 317 in receptions for a total of 1,570. He now holds the team record for season and career rushing.

Completing the backfield are repeater Ken Biel (Valparaiso '80), an All-Heartland Conference pick with 719 yards rushing and 215 in receptions for a total of 1,037; Cortie Wilson (Valparaiso '80), who had a total offense of 1,033 yards and a career total of 3,417; and Hal Hocking (Lafayette '81), with 899 yards passing and a fine 54.2 completion mark.

The defensive team is paced at end by Bill Simon (Lawrence '80), All-Midwest Conference; Bruce Keim (Lawrence '80); Ken Garland (Willamette '81), team captain and an All-Northwest Conference selection for the third consecutive year; and Troy Bryant (Sewanee '82), who had 19 sacks.

The tackles are paced by Wong; Cliff Vickery (Lawrence '80), team co-captain with 81 tackles and 14 sacks; Mark Seifert (Lawrence '80), with 67 tackles and 11 sacks; Dave Allison (Puget Sound '81), 65 tackles; and Fred Handler (Valparaiso '80), who had 60 tackles.

The nose guards are Jeff Gabrielson (Ripon '80), team co-captain and All-Midwest Conference choice who had 170 tackles (tops in fraternity history); repeater George West (Hanover '80), an All Hoosier-Buckeye Conference selection with 146 tackles; and Mike Weber (Lafayette '80) a three-year started with 66 tackles.

The linebackers are Tom Gavlin (Knox '80), All-Midwest Conference pick along with being team co-captain, "Most Valuable Senior" and MVP defensive player; Bob Potock (Case-Western Reserve '80), who had 10 solo tackles, a fumble recovery and an interception; and James Schmidt (Hanover '82), who logged 130 tackles.

In the backfield are repeaters Steve Leonhard (Valparaiso '80), team captain and an All-Heartland Conference choice, and Tom Weber (Wabash '81), who had seven interceptions.

Others honored are Mike Raine (Puget Sound '81), with seven interceptions; Bill Holowatuk (Valparaiso '80), with 63 tackles; Steve Boyanoski (Lafayette '81), with 57 tackles and four interceptions; Steve Foelker (Ripon '80), with 68 tackles and three interceptions; Erling Riis (Sewanee '81), with 46 tackles; and Chris Schnell (Ripon '81), with four interceptions and 15 punt returns for a 12.9 average. ■

This handsome, newly created ring was developed as the result of a poll of undergraduates and alumni attending the 62nd Biennial Convention at French Lick, Indiana. Signet rings have always been preferred by fraternity men and currently are, by far, the most popular type of ring on the market. Using the signet style, this ring was specially designed by Balfour for Phi Delta Theta.

A Message From the President . . .

BY T. GLEN CARY
(Texas Tech '56)
President, General Council

My term as president of the General Council will expire at the close of our convention in June. For me it will mark the end of 22 years of service to Phi Delta Theta as chapter adviser, province president, survey commissioner and member of the General Council.

It has been said that we get the most from those things we contribute the most to, and that has certainly been my experience in Phi Delta Theta.

I've visited chapters and alumni clubs throughout the United States and Canada and, based on what I've seen, I am really proud to be a Phi!

I have been awed by the enormous amount of work so many of our alumni do for our fraternity. Most of these brothers go unnoticed and unrecognized, but they constitute the backbone of Phi Delta Theta. Many do not hold an official office and most do not seek recognition for the contributions they make.

I have been impressed with the business and professional men who serve the fraternity as volunteers. These are all busy men with families and responsibilities, but they make time for Phi Delta Theta. You find them in the house corporations and the local alumni clubs. You find them serving as chapter advisers, province presidents, commissioners and trustees. Some do not have an official job, but they help their chapters with rush parties and projects. Many make financial contributions to support our scholarship program or our chapter officers and advisers conference. You are great, and it has been both an honor and pleasure to represent you.

I've been extremely impressed with the dedication and efficiency of Bob Miller, Bob Biggs, Bill Dean, our chapter consultants and the other members of our General Headquarters staff.

I'm convinced that the American and Canadian fraternity system, in many ways, is the last vestige of an era of commitment to ideas. It stands as a bulwark in defense of what once were accepted as eternal verities: truth, honor, love, duty, country, friendship, sound learning and rectitude.

By helping the student to help himself, our chapters create an atmosphere favorable to and in support of the maximum opportunities for cultural, spiritual and social growth. By recognizing that the average student does not of himself and without influence come to a balanced maturity out of the classroom any more than he develops in class without instruction, our chapters provide an essential dimension to the undergraduate's education.

We must always be loyal, bold and true, and most of all we must remember that love is stronger than hate, that compassion is superior to bigotry, that understanding is greater than prejudice, and that the dreamer of dreams is superior to the wrecker of hopes.

So long, thanks for the precious memory of your friendship, and may God's blessings be forever with you. ■

Phis Mourn Loss of Jenkins, Smith

The fraternity was saddened early this year when two of its province presidents — Verlin P. Jenkins (Akron '24) and Warren Smith (Maryland '56) — died within the space of a month.

Jenkins, president of Sigma Province, died Jan. 18. Smith, president of Zeta Province, died Feb. 23.

Jenkins had been awarded the fraternity's Legion of Merit award at the French Lick Convention in 1978. He had been an active force for the promotion and development of the fraternity all his life.

He was named to the presidency of Sigma Province in 1956 after having served two years as chapter adviser to Ohio Epsilon at Akron. Sigma Province, one of the largest in the fraternity, serves the areas of Michigan and Northern Ohio. At one time the province had included as many as nine chapters.

Active in alumni work in the Akron area over the years Jenkins provided a "home away from home" for traveling chapter consultants and other Phis. Three new chapters were installed during his tenure — Michigan Delta at General Motors, Ohio Mu at Ashland and Ohio Nu at Youngstown State.

Born in Akron, Jenkins was the former vice president of the Orientental Iron Company in that city. He was one of the founders of the DeWitt-Jenkins Real Estate Company.

He was a three-sport letterman at Akron, playing football, basketball and running track. He was recently named to the A Men Hall of Fame at Akron. After graduation he worked for many years as an official of high school football and basketball games. He served a term as president of the Eastern Ohio Officials Association.

He is survived by a Phi brother, Merle R. Jenkins (Akron '29); a Phi nephew, Merle Ray Jenkins, Jr. (Michigan State '53) and a Phi Grandson, James V. Barrigar (GMI '70).

Smith, a representative of Armco Steel Corp. in Cincinnati, first served as president of Zeta Province from January, 1969 until September, 1972, when he found it necessary to resign for personal reasons. He returned to service as president of that province in February, 1975.

He was consistently on the Azure and Argent list for visiting all the chapters in his province at least twice. During 1978-79 he served as chairman of the important Awards Committee.

Before that he had served as adviser to Ohio Theta at the University of Cincinnati and has been very active in the Cincinnati

Alumni Club. He had been both vice president and president of the club.

At Maryland, where he received a B.A. in political science, he served his chapter as alumni secretary, pledge trainer and rush chairman. He was named Phi of the Year by the chapter in 1956.

Smith had received a kidney transplant several months ago which his body rejected. He had gone back into the hospital for a second transplant. The operation was an apparent success when pancreatitis set in and caused a delay in his recovery. The cause of his death was listed as cardiac arrest. He died the same morning that Bob Miller, executive vice president, read a message from him at the General Officers Conference in New Orleans.

He is survived by a Phi son, Drury (Westminster '81). ■

Houston Phi Named Gardner Winner

Elliott A. Johnson (Chicago '27), who practices law, runs a ranch and serves on the boards of various business, financial, educational and civic institutions, in Houston, has been named winner of the Raymond L. Gardner Award as "Phi of the Year" for 1979.

The award was presented to him at the Houston Alumni Club's Founders Day on March 21. He was nominated by that club.

This award is presented each year by the Seattle Alumni club in memory of Raymond L. Gardner (Washington-Seattle '18), a member of the General Council from 1952 to 1956. It is presented to an alumnus who best exemplified the teachings of the Bond through participation in fraternity affairs, activities in higher education and community service.

Second place went to W.H. Richard Wright (Akron '37), a nominee of the Akron Alumni Club.

Johnson, who has been listed in Who's Who in America for 20 years, moved to Houston in 1936 to join a corporation then named Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation. At retirement in 1968 he was vice president of finance, treasurer and general council. Schlumberger is the fifth largest corporation in America.

Born to pioneer parents in the hill country of western Iowa, Johnson was the youngest to ever graduate from his high school and was the youngest member of Illinois Beta for three years.

He has twice served as president of the Houston Alumni Club and was active in the Chicago Alumni Club before relocating to Texas. He was Chicago's chapter adviser for three years.

He is called the "ramrod" that kept the Houston club alive during World War II and today he is annually called upon to conduct the Golden Legion ceremony, at which he has committed to memory, each Founders Day.

While at Chicago he was house manager, rush captain, president and delegate to the Montreal Convention in 1926. Later, played a leading role in ceremonies that reinstalled Michigan Beta in the early 1930s. He memorized the entire initiation ceremony.

His service to higher education in the Houston area is well documented. He has served on the board of trustees for South Texas Junior College (now University of Houston Downtown College), South Texas College of Law and the University of Houston Foundation. He was personally responsible for raising $1,000,000 of $23,500,000 raised for the 50th anniversary of the University of Houston.

He has been a member of the board of the American Petroleum Institute on two occasions and was appointed to the National Petroleum Council in 1960 by the Secretary of Interior. He has also served as a director and vice president of the national Financial Analysts Federation.

Locally he is a member of the Kiwanis Club and its Foundation as well as the Masonic Lodge. He is active in the Better Business Bureau and the Boy Scouts of America.

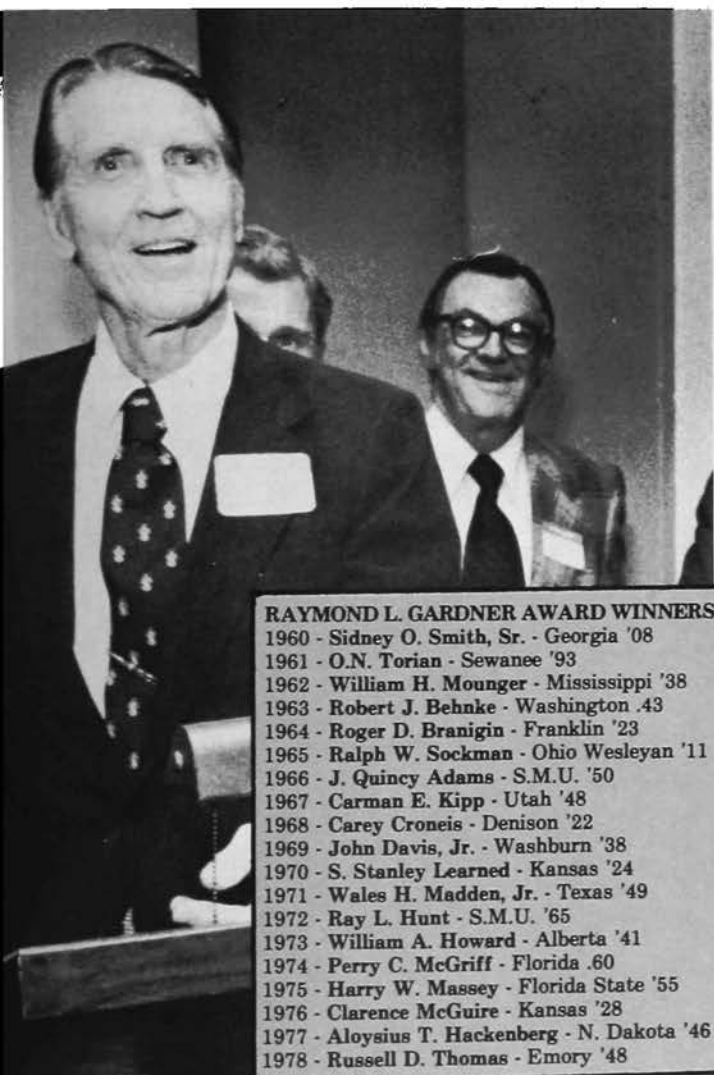

This year honoree has been on the board of deacons of the First Presbyterian Church of Houston where he has also been superintendent of adult Sunday schools. He has served as member or chairman of at least seven different Houston Chamber of Commerce committees.

On his desk he has kept for many years three guiding axioms that fairly well sum up his own philosophy of life.

"True happiness lies not in possession or satiation, but in achievement." Voltaire

"The sum of wisdom is, that the time is never lost that is devoted to work." Emerson

"Don't squander time, for time is the stuff life is made of." Benjamin Franklin ■

MISSOURI ALPHA

The alumni of Missouri Alpha at the University of Missouri-Columbia have begun the new year by undertaking a capital fund drive aimed at the more than 1000 alumni of the Chapter.

The primary goal is to raise $400,000 through the contributions and pledges over a five year period, as well as other items, such as marketable stocks, bonds, securities, and real estate.

The function of the drive is to upgrade the chapter house located at 101 Burnam Road which is in need of renovation, repairs, and installation of some major items such as a new boiler and thermopane windows. There are plans also to install "built in dorm furniture" in the dormitory section of the facility.

The alumni hope that the present expenditures may help avoid getting caught in the inflation and energy crunch, as well as, resolving the present indebtedness so that the chapter can compete better against other fraternities' rush programs as Missouri Alpha is one of the few chapters with a mortgage. Missouri Alpha's larger housebill is becoming increasingly detrimental to our ability to compete with other fraternities in rush on the MU Campus.

William Toler, a vice president at MFA Insurance Company, has been chosen as the General Chairman for the Missouri Alpha Development Fund, the official name of the capital fund drive. Concerned alumni undertook the planning stages of the fund drive last fall with the aid of a Kansas Consulting Firm. Toler will instigate several local kick-off meetings in the Mid-West, and other regional chairmen will do the same in other key locations in the country. The main crux of the fund drive is the personal contact between the fund drive workers and the alumni.

A question and answer leaflet has been previously mailed. The fund drive brochure and the general chairman's letter is forthcoming. General offices for the fund drive are located with James McKinney, Boone County National Bank, Eighth and Broadway, Columbia, Missouri, 65201.

All inquiries about the fund drive should be directed to McKinney.

PALM BEACH

The Christmas Party for the Phi Delta Theta Alumni of Palm Beach County Florida was a absolute smash. We had about twice the turnout we'd planned on and the brothers overflowed into the second reserved section of the posh Stutz Club.

Our hosts very graciously allowed us to take over the entire club and kept the supple of delicious hors d'oeuvres and fresh vegetable dip trays full. There were more flashbulbs popping than a hollywood gala amid backslapping and song singing to keep all of the five senses alive. Brother Jack Thomas (Emory '43) operated a raffle for the entertainment of all who won the miniature bottles of spirits and those who tried to guess when the full size bottles would come up.

President Burt Moore (Idaho '29) presented a plaque of appreciation to past president Arthur G. Wroble (Rollins '70) to the resounding cheers of all. There were 11 past presidents of our alumni chapter present and endless stories and reminiscences. Past "Phi of the Year," Harry Massey (Florida '51), Palm Beach's town manager, and Bob Wyckoff (Florida '44) an executive with Florida Power & Light, and tried to explain why our utilities bills were so high.

Following the "Holiday Toast", all were invited to the dutch treat dinner at the Rain-dancer Steak Restaurant. Between the elegant private disco atmosphere and the subtle pub-style dinner there were many nice memories of the annual Phi Delt Christmas gathering to be savored throughout the year by the brothers and their ladies.—William Roger Cummings

SANTA CLARA VALLEY

The big news around these parts is that the Alum basketball team defeated the San Jose State undergraduates...again! It was the third straight win for the "old guys." The score was 57-50 with the undergrads putting on a spurt at the end and almost catching us.

Dynamite Don DuShane was high scorer for the alums with 11, followed by Rick Deutsch and Gary Vandeweghe (uncle of the UCLA's current All-American Kiki Vandeweghe) with 10 each. The old Phis scored repeatedly on their famous "sneak a man down to the other end early" play.

The refs were partial to their own team as usual.

This sports tradition has really become a great activity for all of us and we'd recommend to other alum clubs to establish such a relationship with a nearby chapter. Our next events are softball and tennis...maybe we'll get TV coverage soon!—John Jackson

Iowa Phi, Wife Prominent Magazine Writers

From the day Henry E. "Hank" Bradshaw (Iowa Wesleyan '31) received a Phikeia button at Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, to the day in 1978 when Brother Mike Huston, son of the late Gayle who was one of Hank's "Sons" in the fraternity, pinned the Golden Legion button on Hank's lapel, his life has been one of adventure and excitement, and still is.

A nationally and internationally known writer and photographer, Hank's notebooks and cameras have taken him around the world. A far cry from working his way through college by writing for newspapers, including the Associated Press and the Des Moines Register & Tribune. It might be said that his athletic ability in football, basketball and track at least partially fitted him for hunting and fishing.

His stories of these sports frequently appear in such magazines as Outdoor Life and Field and Stream. In the travel field, his byline, shared with his wife Vera, may be seen in Good Housekeeping, Travel/Holiday, Ford Times, Vista, Friends, Fodor Guidebooks and numerous others. He stopped counting when his published articles reached 3,000 some years back.

During the Bi-Centennial, as president of the Society of American Travel Writers, Hank visited Poland at that country's invitation, and carried good will messages from national officials and Iowa's governor.

One year, he flew beyond the Arctic Circle to the lonely Tree River of the barren Northwest Territories on assignment for True magazine to do one of the nation's first Arctic Char fishing stories. Another time, he lived on a houseboat for a week on Brazil's jungle rivers, the Araguaia and the Rio des Morts, to fish for peacock bass and the other strange fish of this Amazon territory.

Honors have come: he won the coveted Mark Twain Sweepstakes award for his story on fishing and hunting with Jack and Pat Hemingway, sons of the late Pulitzer-prize winning novelist. More recently, the Pacific Area Travel Association gave him a special award for his article on "Watch a Journey of Giants" — a story about the California Gray Whale.

After being graduated by Iowa Wesleyan College with a degree in English and journalism under his belt, Bradshaw strayed from the things he loved best — writing and photographing — to become district manager for a large national Portland cement company. Unhappy there, he tossed aside a substantial income and a bright future in the cement business, to free-lance and see the world — an almost unheard of venture, especially in the midwest and Iowa. Yet, eastern editors were kind, and encouragement and assignments flourished. He has never been sorry.

Through these years, he has taken the time to be a dedicated leader. As a Phi Delt, he served as chapter president. For two years, he was chairman of the Iowa Wesleyan Alumni Association, giving his time previously as a member of the Board of Directors for some eight years. A Civic Club, the Sertoma, elected him its president. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the Outdoor Writers Association of America. Presently, he is serving on two of Governor Ray's Iowa committees: "Outdoor Recreation and Resources" and "Keep Iowa Clean." He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi.

His interest, support and dedication to girls' athletics in Iowa earned him the Jack North Award, the highest honor the Iowa Girls' High School Athletic Union can give.

Bradshaw sums up his enthusiasm for his chosen occupation with the words of the poet John Ruskin, "When men are rightfully occupied, their amusement grows out of their work."

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE

DAVID DEMAREE BANTA LIBRARY

Jones, William P. (Emory '21), James Joyce and the Common Reader. Norman University of Oklahoma Press, 1970, 170 pp. Given by author.

Since its first appearance in print this book has received acclaim from Joyce scholars and students and, even more importantly, from the readers to whom it was directed, those who, like Dr. Johnson's "common reader," are not specialists but are willing to work to understand any piece of writing that is worth the effort. For such readers this book has proved invaluable in making Joyce's writing intelligible and rewarding.

In these pages Joyce's work is evaluated on the basis not only of his avant garde experimentalism but also of his mastery of such conventional literary forms as the short story, realistic fiction, and comic social satire.

Jones, William P. (Emory '21), From Georgia to Cleveland: An Autobiography, Cleveland: Howard Allen, Publishers, 1979-357 pp. Given by author.

This is, as most autobiographies should be, chronological in order, beginning with the memories of my Georgia childhood and proceeding with my college days and the trip to Japan. Most of it came from my desire to travel to the far corners of the earth, from Japan to China and on around the world. Then came my teaching at Western Reserve University and my marriage to Marian Ginn, daughter of Frank Hadley Ginn, a successful Cleveland lawyer. Then the war intervened. After the war I returned to Western Reserve and later more world travel. W.P.J.

McAleer, Neil (New Mexico '65), Earthlove, A Space Fantasy. San Francisco: Strawberry Hill Press, 1978. 348 pp. Given by author.

A starry night cataclysm propels Mark and Astrella Fielding from their idyll of peace and seclusion aboard the sloop Derwenog into an adventurous and fateful journey in a translucent space bubble. Dubbed Earthlove by a mysterious force, and equipped for their survival in far space, the bubble curves through time approaching the speed of dark.

In their travels to the edge of the universe, Mark and Astrella encounter the Intergalactic Postman; Icy, the Comet Keeper; the Tops and the Bottoms; the Popovers; the Etullops and the Luofs; EF, who holds the secrets of the cosmos; and themselves—in the hidden worlds of space.

Earthlove is a space fantasy for our time—a tale of adventure and cosmic creation.

Montgomery, James W. (Colorado College '31), Liberated Woman. Spokane, Gingko House Publishers, 1974. 134 pp. Given by author.

May Arkwright Hutton, 1860-1915, the rags to riches story of one woman's rise from mining camp cook to millionaire suffragette and political reformer.

Emerging out of the coal mines of Youngstown, Ohio, this illegitimate daughter of a wandering evangelist and herb doctor led forty miners west to the placers of the Idaho Panhandle and succeed in her fierce determination to get rich. When she died, both wire services carried the story which was spread on the pages of hundreds of American papers.

With insight and wit Jim Montgomery has brought to life this incredible woman who came into the gold country of Eagle City and Murray Idaho, as she loved to say "on the hurricane deck of a cayuse pony," a fascinating picture as she weighed close to three hundred pounds at that time. She worked her way up from mining camp cook to millionaire suffragette and hard-nosed political reformer. Though in every sense a real "character", Mrs. Hutton was a gifted natural leader whose accomplishments matched her startling appearance. Oblivious to style she draped her huge body in cascades of feathers, flounces, and furbelows wrapped up in a zebraskin coat. While her fierce tenacity and blunt language frightened petty officials out of their wits, her overflowing love embraced every unwed mother, prostitute, crippled logger, idle miner. She took on unwanted children as her own brood. Independent, unsinkable, unflappable, she was her own woman.

But this book is more than the story of Mrs. Hutton. It is also a true fairy tale of a half dozen broke-but-honest partners, including her beloved husband, who managed to strike it rich in silver and lead and who bravely beat back the giant mining syndicates that tried to force them out. It is stirring American adventure the likes of Horatio Alger, Mark Twain, and O. Henry Read it as an antidote for computeritis, telephonitis, and push-bottonitis. Here is one human being who took on the world by herself and changed it!

Murdock, Michael L. (Maryland '60), Effective Writing For Business and Government. Washington; Transemanatics, Inc. 1978. 116 pp. Given by author.

This book is intended as a guide for the person in business or government who must write letters, memos, reports, or papers. It may also prove useful for the student preparing to enter various fields in business or government. The reader is expected to possess a basic understanding of English and its rules. While the book is not long, it does cover most of those areas that are troublesome to both novice and experienced writers.

Penn, J. Roger (Colorado State '67), and Ken D. Beeler, A Handbook on Staff Development in Student Affairs. Corvallis: Oregon State University Book Stores, Inc., 1979. 63 pp. Given by J. Roger Penn.

A Handbook on Staff Development in Student

Affairs is a practical guide to designing, implementing, and evaluating inservice programs within divisions of student affairs. Regardless of whether you work at a two-year or four-year college, a public or private institution, the same basic principles apply to the provision of staff development, opportunities and activities. The theoretical orientation of the publication is based on organizational development and organizational renewal concepts and principles.

We believe this handbook is valuable as a practical manual for individuals currently involved in or planning staff development programs' practitioners in student affairs and related student services operations; graduate students and faculty members in the fields of college student personnel, counselor education, and higher education; and directors, deans, and chief administrators of student personnel services.

Rose, Richard M. (Wabash '54), The Satyr Candidate. Hicksville: Exposition Press, Inc. 1979. 196 pp. Given by author.

Steve Redman—ex-cop, LaSalle Street lawyer, swinging bachelor—groans as the house phone interrupts a most pleasurable activity. But the voice crackling in his ear brings him fully alert and into action. Steve's wartime buddy, friend, and mentor, Senator Jim Bannister, has run afoul of the City Hall boys and their millionaire patronage pals, the construction biggies. And he is about to be in bad trouble. Steve tries to intervene, but Jim warns him off. When the morning headlines scream "Suicide," Steve smells murder.

Drawing on years of detective experience, Steve sets out to avenge his friend's good name and runs head on into some of Chicago's more unlovable citizens.

The Satyr Candidate comes to a tumultuous climax in a motor home speeding down a runway at O'Hare, on a collision course with a jumbo jet.

Appointments—Meetings—Announcements

New Housing Concept Developed In Florida

A group of Phi Delt alumni in Tampa have made a dream come true for the Florida Epsilon chapter at the University of South Florida.

Disheartened that funds needed for the construction of a chapter house were not available due to the fact that the house corporation was not able to qualify for such a large loan, Tal Bray (South Florida '65), General Council member, and Mike Ward (South Florida '67), chapter adviser, took a new, somewhat unique approach.

As a result of this approach the Phi Delt house at South Florida is a reality. It is an eight unit apartment building, each apartment having two bedrooms and two bathrooms. The apartment building is owned by a limited partnership.

Seventy-five per cent of this partnership consists of Phi Deltas. The house corporation has entered into a ten year lease agreement with the limited partnerships and said agreement gives the house corporation the option to buy the facility after the seventh year of the lease.

Why would the investors undertake such a project? Helping the chapter was a major consideration. However, the tax benefits are very good for these investors. They are able to depreciate the building thereby creating a taxable loss which will be applied to their individual income tax statements.

At the end of the seventh year, if the house corporation exercises its option to purchase there will be enough proceeds from the sale to return to the investor his original investment and sufficient funds to take care of any recapture costs due to the accelerated depreciation of the building.

The house corporation benefits greatly from this arrangement. Not only does the chapter get a new facility but also the right to purchase it at a very good price in the future. The house corporation must keep all apartments fully rented throughout the year and assess the brotherhood a parlor fee in order to meet the obligations of the lease.

"We feel both the investors and the house corporation have a good deal," reports Ward. The house cost $175,000 to construct. The investors borrowed $100,000 and obtained a $30,000 second mortgage loan from the Palmer Fund. They put up the rest themselves.

Construction began in June, 1979, and the house was ready for occupancy when the brothers returned for the fall quarter. The house is currently fully occupied with a waiting list to get in. Plans are currently in the works for a meeting room and recreation facility. It is hoped that construction on that phase will begin in June.

"Having the investors build the structure as a tax shelter was the only way we could fulfill our dream," said Ward. "We now have a new house and we certainly want to thank brothers Dan Curtis (Emory '58), Billy Poe (Florida '53) (an ex-mayor of Tampa), Dick Beard (Emory '67), Jimmy Robbins (Florida '56) and the late Henry S. Baynard."

Educational Foundation Awards Increased

Twenty-eight $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to undergraduate Phis for the year 1980 according to J. Don Mason (Miami-Ohio '35), president of the Educational Foundation Board of Trustees.

In addition, the Arthur R. Priest award will be increased from $1,200 to $1,500 and the O'Dell Scholarship for the University of Iowa student will be $1,000.

The deadline for submitting applications, including transcripts of grades, was April 15. It is anticipated that this year's winners will be announced and recognized at the Cincinnati Convention in June.

Candidates are selected, in ever increasing competition, for scholarship (GPA), chapter services, campus activities, community involvement and need. Related factors such as moral rectitude, leadership and character are considered. These characteristics are reflected in letters of recommendation from school and university officials, chapter officers and province presidents.

A nominee must be currently enrolled in college and will have completed not less than three academic years.

Since 1962, 160 general scholarships, 10 Priest Awards, 4 O'Dell scholarships and 4 Horn (Ohio University) scholarships have been granted, a total of 178. The aggregate total of nearly $95,000 has been awarded since the formation of the Foundation in 1960.

The first two scholarships in 1962 were for $500 each. "The program has experienced steady growth and interest since then," reports Mason.

Since 1970 there has been a noticeable increase in the interest in scholarships on the part of eligible students from over 145 schools and universities. The trustees, in turn, have not only increased the number of grants, but the financial amount of the individual scholarships. Besides the cash benefits in furthering education and encouraging graduate work honor has been accorded to both the students and his immediate chapter.

The purpose of the Foundation is "to provide for the advancement of learning, particularly in colleges and universities in which chapters of Phi Delta Theta are active, through the granting of scholarships, or other aid to deserving students." In addition to the financial aid, recognition plaques are given for display by the chapters.

"With the ever-growing competition, an award winner can refer with distinction to this outstanding recognition with justifiable pride," stated Mason.

Other trustees besides Mason include Harbough Miller (Pittsburgh '23); John Worsham (Texas '51), scholarship committee chairman; J. David Ross (Ohio Wesleyan '60); Lothar Vasholz (Colorado '52), Clifford Sommer (Minnesota '32); and Hal Minnich (Akron '24), treasurer. The president of the General Council is a trustee ex-officio. ■

Scott Crowley Honored

Scott E. Crowley (Iowa State '40), president of Phi Province, was honored with a ten year plaque at the recent General Officers Conference in New Orleans, Feb. 22-24.

He has served as province president since 1969 when the General Council developed a new province composed of the state of Iowa and asked him to fill the position. At that time he was CROWLEY adviser to the chapter at Drake, a post he had held since its installation in 1961.

An active member of the Des Moines Alumni Club, Crowley retired several years ago as commanding officer of the vice bureau for the city of Des Moines Police Department. Since retiring he has been employed as witness coordinator for the office of the county attorney, Polk County, Iowa.

A check of the record shows that he has been on the "Azure and Argent" list for nine years, indicating he has made a minimum of two visits to each chapter in his province each year. The other year he received the "Carnation Cluster" for having made a minimum of three visits to each chapter.

Crowley has been in regular attendance at the Chapter Officers and Advisers Conferences, General Officers Conferences and General Convention.

He and his wife, Reva Ann, have three children, Scott Michael, Paula and Sue Ann.

NEWSFRONTS

Alan Golacinaski (Maryland '72) is reportedly being held hostage at the American Embassy in Tehran. He is a security person for the State Department.

Three Iowa State Phis—Kurt Haglund ('80), Wade Stange ('79) and Lowell Lanert ('80)—all combined in a three credit "individual study" course to investigate energy consumption and savings in an "energy audit" of their respective chapter.

The report consisted of accurate data on energy consumption for Iowa Gamma and was divided into three sections: Continued on next page . . .

Stanley To Head Province

Frank N. Stanley III (Georgia Tech '64), vice president and security analyst with Montag and Caldwell, Inc. in Atlanta, is the new province president of Theta East. The province includes chapters in Alabama and north Georgia.

STANLEY
He graduated from Georgia Tech in 1964 and attended the Emory Graduate Business School in 1965. He served in the U.S. Navy for four years attaining the rank of Lieutenant. In his capacity of Executive Officer of the U.S.S. Rexburg he was awarded the Navy Achievement Medal.

After his naval service he attended the University of Florida where he received a Master of Business Administration. He then joined the Atlantic National Bank in Jacksonville, Florida, where he eventually became an investment officer with the bank's investment advisory subsidiary.

In 1973 he became associated with Montag and Caldwell, an investment counsel firm. He is a chartered financial analyst and a member of the Atlanta Society of Financial Analysts.

Among other offices he held as an undergraduate he was president of Georgia Delta during his senior year.

St. Marie New Consultant

Michael Arthur St. Marie (Idaho '80) is the newest chapter consultant. He began visiting chapters in February.

A Lewiston, Idaho, native, Mike graduated from Idaho in 1980 with a B.S. in Secondary Education. His teaching fields are social studies and Spanish. He was active on campus and in Idaho Alpha. He was a member of Blue Key service honorary and the student senate. He received the ASUI Service Citation for his work as a senator and the ASUI Distinguished Service Citation for his work as chairman of the Student Union Board. He was one of only nine men selected for Silver Lance, an honorary on campus for those who have displayed outstanding participation in various areas of the university.

In his chapter he served as house manager, rush chairman, IFC treasurer, IFC president and chairman of Greek Week in 1979.

He is a Roman Catholic and enjoys kayaking, wood working, handball and backpacking.

Although it is too soon to have an effective follow-up report, substantial energy savings are expected. This report was similar to many professional reports, which in their conclusions, guarantee 20% effectiveness in savings if their suggestions are followed.

BRISCUSO

Ray Briscuso (Alabama '81) was unanimously elected president of the Interfraternity Council at the University of Alabama after serving a year as the secretary-treasurer. He is a junior majoring in marketing from Potomac, Maryland. He is currently maintaining a 3.2 grade point average.

General Headquarters has recently received two new books by Phi authors. The two include Minor Affair An Adventure in Forgery and Detection by Robert G. McMurtry (Centre '29) and Joy Comes With the Morning by William M. Kinaird (Washington & Lee '50).

THE PHI CRIER

IN SPORTS

*Minnesota Alpha is on its way to winning the All-University Intramural trophy again this year. Two out of the last three years the chapter has won this honor. This year the football team placed first among all IM teams, 670 in all. They have also placed first in swimming and second in cross country.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*The brothers of Wisconsin Beta at Lawrence have in their possession a copy of the Bond of Phi Delta Theta written especially for them by Robert Morrison in 1901, just one year before he died.

*Dr. J. Hyde, faculty adviser at Wisconsin Gamma, has recently been initiated into Phi Delta Theta even though he has been a professor on campus since the early 1960s. He is an active adviser who attends all social functions and meetings. He has daily contact with the brothers because he eats most of his meal with them and pays almost daily visits to the house.

*During the past summer the brothers of Wisconsin Alpha added a sunken patio to the front yard of their house, thus giving them an area separate from the general public without using a fence.

*Brett Shockley ('81) of Minnesota Alpha holds the world's record for riding the world's tallest unicycle—51 feet. Brett travels as much as permitted by his class schedule doing unicycle and stilt walking shows around the country.

SCHOLASTICALLY

*Minnesota Alpha has won the IFC scholastic trophy in 1979 for posting the highest cumulative GPA of any fraternity on campus with a 3.14 on a 4 pt. scale.

*The scholarship program of Kansas Alpha contains some important, but often forgotten, material. Two manuals must be read by all pledges. One is how to prepare for tests and how to take them. The other is how to develop good study habits. These manuals were put together by the brothers from various sources. Perhaps this is one of the reasons Kansas Alpha constantly maintains the number one GPA on campus.

Dollars Up — Donors Down in '79

By Robert J. Miller
Executive Vice President

Everything involved with Phi Delta Theta's 1979 solicitation program was up with one exception. The surprise of the year involved the total number of contributors (8,732) for all funds, including two in Canada and two in the United States, which was down.

The members of the General Council are delighted, of course, with the increase of total dollars contributed of almost 12 percent. They are joined by members of the General Headquarters staff in expressing sincere appreciation to all who contributed generously to the four funds.

During the past year, there were more donors recorded in each of the giving clubs (see alumni support box below) than in any previous year. There were also more contributors to the United States Educational Foundation and to the Loyalty and Scholarship Funds of Canada. Only the United States Loyalty Fund registered fewer donors than in prior years (a decrease of 1.7 percent) and this was, of course, recorded in contributors of $25.00 or less.

Even so, total dollar gifts to the United States Loyalty Fund showed a 3 percent increase, while gifts to the United States Educational Foundation were up 37 percent. In Canada, dollar gifts to the Loyalty Fund were up 32 percent, while the Canadian brothers increased their support of the Canadian Scholarship by 59 percent.

Traditionally, the top ten chapters, in terms of number of donors and total dollars contributed, are given special recognition. This year, the list of top ten in number of donors ranks 11 chapters because of a two-way tie for tenth place. The brothers of Miami University have retained their number one position on this tabulation, while number two, Purdue, moved from eighth up to second place this year. Vanderbilt and Cincinnati ranked fourth and ninth, respectively, in 1978, were replaced this year by newcomers, SMU and the University of Washington, both tied for seventh place with 135 contributors each.

total dollars contributed. Dickinson College, a virtual unknown in prior years, jumped to the number one position through the generosity of one alumnus who made a substantial gift in 1979. The 1978 leader, University of Washington, dropped to ninth place, while number nine, Ohio State, and number ten, Vanderbilt, were dropped from the list to be replaced by Georgia Tech in number six place and Dickinson.

The record of leaders by class year has also undergone change. The class of 1930 ranked third in 1978, jumped to first place, again through the generosity of the Dickinson alumnus mentioned above. The class of 1950, in first place last year, dropped to second in 1979. The classes of '38, '51 and '61 were replaced in the top ten category this year by the classes of '32, '53 and '59.

Memorial contributions continue to play a minor, but important, role in the Fraternity's program of financial support. During 1979, 43 gifts were received in memory of 42 individuals, an increase of just one gift over 1978. Each year the Fraternity is the recipient of memorial contributions from non-Phis, honoring the

There was a major shake-up in the top ten chapters in terms of requests of obituary notices that gifts be made to the Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation. Frequently, this message does not get to the Fraternity brothers of the deceased who are scattered around the world. Fraternity officers are attempting to solve this problem of properly notifying interested persons when memorial gifts are requested by the family.

It should be noted that it is never "too late" to make a memorial gift. Several persons make a memorial donation year after year honoring the same individual. Sometimes it is a family member and sometimes a friend. Each time a memorial gift is received, recognition of the donation is sent to the family.

It should be noted that continued support of the Fraternity's two educational funds results in additional scholarships for deserving students. Increases in this program are discussed in a special article appearing on page 75. ■

GENERAL OFFICERS: The expenses of chapter consultants in all province presidents are paid for through contributions to Loyalty Fund. Many non-paid volunteer workers render invaluable service to the fraternity each year. Oliver J. Samuel (left), president of Mu West Province, was honored last year by GC President Glen Cary for ten year of service. His wife Mary Gayle smiled her approval.

Charlie Berry Named To Football Hall of Fame

BY CHADS O. SKINNER
(Ohio Wesleyan '27)

It was a long time coming (eight years after his death in the summer of 1972), but the late Charlie Berry has been given his just reward: selection to the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame.

Charlie, who contributed yeoman service to the fraternity as a member of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award Committee, was one of four gridiron stars chosen posthumously to the Hall of Fame. The others are Calvin Jone, an Iowa guard from 1952 to 1955; Steve Lach, a halfback at Duke from 1939 to 1941; and Dr. Barry Wood, Harvard quarterback from 1929 to 1931.

Berry was chosen for the Hall of Fame accolade for his performance as an end at Lafayette College from 1921 to 1924. In the latter year he was chosen to the last All-America eleven selected by Walter Camp. Also, Charlie was one of the only two All-Americans from Lafayette; the other was Frank Schwab, one of the all-time great guards.

A great deal of Charlie's post-college life was associated with baseball — for many years as an American League umpire and then as special assistant to the president of that league.

Football teams coached by Charlie at Grove City (Pennsylvania) College won two state championships. From 1938 to 1962 he was an official in the National Football League.

As a big league catcher and later as a pitching coach, Charlie spent most of his years with the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Charlie gave distinguished service to the Fraternity as a charter member, and a wheelhorse, of the Lou Gehrig Award Committee, of which he was a member at the time of his death following a cerebral hemorrhage. Because he possessed capacious first-hand knowledge of every player in the big leagues, Charlie was invaluable in counseling the committee on its annual selection and in helping to give the Gehrig Award the prestige it rapidly acquired after its creation in 1955. ■

GEHRIG PRESENTATION: Charlie Berry (Ohio Wesleyan '27) (third from left) was a valuable member of the Lou Gehrig selection committee for years. Here he participates in the presentation of the award to Bobby Richardson, New York Yankee, second baseman, in 1963. Others include Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie, then president of the General Council, Chads O. Skinner (Ohio Wesleyan '27) and Charles Copenhaver (Ohio Wesleyan '35), then pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church of Bronsville, N.Y.

Cary's Speech

Cary expressed his appreciation to a number of volunteers, general officers and staff members who had served with him and for him in his numerous jobs in the fraternity during the past 20 years.

He challenged the delegates to take advantage of the many opportunities the Convention offered them—to make new friends—to gain new information—to secure new ideas.

He urged them to be proud of their fraternity and tell others about that pride. "I believe in happy chapters, and I believe that we cannot have happy chapters unless we are selfless in considering the happiness of others," he said.

"I believe in brotherhood and that our ritual is the difference between a boarding house and brotherhood . . . I believe a good fraternity man must have the vision to see his goals, have the courage to fight for them, the will to maintain them and the ability to translate them into his life.

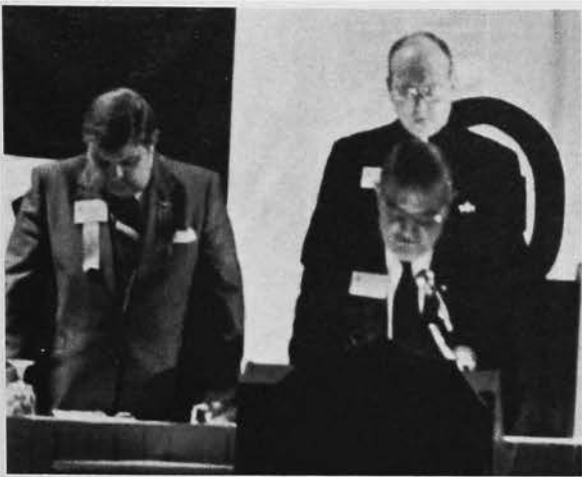

"Let us go down in history as the generation which not only understood what needed to be done but a generation which had the strength, the self-discipline and the resolve to see it through."

Model Initiation

Following the memorial service the Convention moved into its first formal closed session and witnessed a model initiation conducted by members of the Ohio Theta chapter at Cincinnati. The Phikeia who was formally initiated was Greg Robinson (Cincinnati '83).

A report from Vasholz, chairman of the nominating committee, was presented prior to the model initiation.

Second Day

Sunday morning each province president met at breakfast with the chapter delegates from his province prior to the opening session. At that session the delegates heard a treasurer's report from Thompson and a report from Bob Miller (New Mexico '50), executive vice president.

Miller made note of the fact that the first two conventions held by the fraternity were in Cincinnati in 1851 and 1856. He also expressed his appreciation to staff members who had worked for him during the biennium as well as the volunteer workers in the fraternity. He pointed out that province presidents had made 294 visits to 151 chapters and colonies during 1979-80 as compared with 322 visits during 1978-79.

He had special praise for the work of the current General Council during this period stating that "programs have been developed and are developing which will have a profound influence on fraternity for years to come."

Alumni contributions are on the rise according to Miller. As of May 31, 1980 4,981 alumni have given $148,000 with seven months still to go. Of the total $97,000 went to the loyalty funds of the U.S. and Canada while MIGRATION TO MIAMI: Convention delegates and visitors spent one afternoon touring Miami University. Highlights included the Memorial Gates given by the fraternity to celebrate its 125th anniversary in 1973 (upper left), registration of guests in the Alumni Room of GHQ, located in the basement (top right), the David D. Banta Memorial Library (center right), the Memorial Gardens dedicated to Phis who have lost their lives in defense of their countries, (lower right) and the Headquarters Building itself.

WORK AND PLAY: Bob Biggs (Georgia Southern '76), director of chapter services, makes a point during the Chapter Adviser Discussion Group (top left). Biggs was responsible for a considerable amount of Convention planning and execution. Ed Love (Washburn '42) returned to the Convention this year after an absence of several years to provide organ music for all sessions (top middle). Although there was not much controversy there was considerable discussion and parliamentary wrangling on the Convention floor regarding the raising of pledge fees and initiations fees (top right). On Sunday morning the Convention broke into six discussion groups to give delegates and visitors a chance to consider various fraternity problems (middle left). Many delegates visited "The Showboat Majestic" for a little fun and relaxation on Sunday evening (bottom left).

PROVINCE BREAKFASTS: Twice during the Convention each province met for breakfast to discuss the Convention and mutual problems and areas of concern.

$52,000 went to the educational foundations of those two countries.

He finally emphasized the need to develop better communication with housing corporations and to strengthen our programs that encourage alumni participation in the fraternity.

Scott Crowley (Iowa State '40), chairman of the Credentials and Procedures committee, reported briefly on the effort to seat several delinquent chapters and Dinkel, chairman of the Code committee, announced upcoming meetings for his group.

Discussion and Migration

Following the morning session the Convention moved into committee discussions of various topics. The topics included motivation, pledge education, the changing campus scene, chapter priorities, chapter advisers and successful alumni programs.

In the afternoon most of the delegates and visitors made a four-hour "Migration to Miami." They boarded busses and drove to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to visit the birthplace of the fraternity and the General Headquarters Building. Sunday night was free.

Election

The General Council election was the first order of business at the opening session on Monday morning. Nominated for the Council were Ted Lowrie (Butler '71), Stitt, Dinkel, Wicks and Bray.

Lowrie was nominated by Vasholz with seconds by Bob Roberts (Ball St. '74), Chris Cameron (Colby '82), and Frank Goitanich (McGill '82). Stitt was nominated by Millett with seconding speeches by Oliver Samuel (Kansas '46), and Gray Mounger (Mississippi '82).

Code Changes

Bob Dinkel, chairman of the Code Committee, then passed out proposed amendments to the General Statutes. During the session the convention voted to make several changes. They approved a change to Section 105 that would allow the General Council to distribute contributions into the different funds of the fraternity at their discretion.

They also approved making chapter wardens (section 121) responsible for overseeing and assisting with all ritual activity of the chapter. The convention voted to add a new section 125.1, and a new position, that of awards chairman. This person can be elected or appointed and will have the responsibility of coordinating and forwarding chapter awards reports.

Lengthy discussion on additional amendments caused the president to call a special meeting of the convention following the awards luncheon.

Grand Banquet

The Monday evening banquet featured the induction of Dr. John D. Millett into the Golden Legion. The ceremony was narrated by Lothar Vasholz.

The top fraternity awards were also presented following the ceremony. Winners of the prestigious awards were Alberta, Housser Trophy; Tampa, Kansas City Trophy; Mississippi, Founders Trophy; and Kansas, Harvard Trophy.

Finally, Cary named Hal Minnich (Akron '24) as recipient of the Legion of Honor award. Bill Edwards (Akron '49) received the medal for Minnich who was unable to attend due to bad health.

The evening was concluded by the installation of the new General Council and brief remarks by the new president, Bruce Thompson.

Closing Session

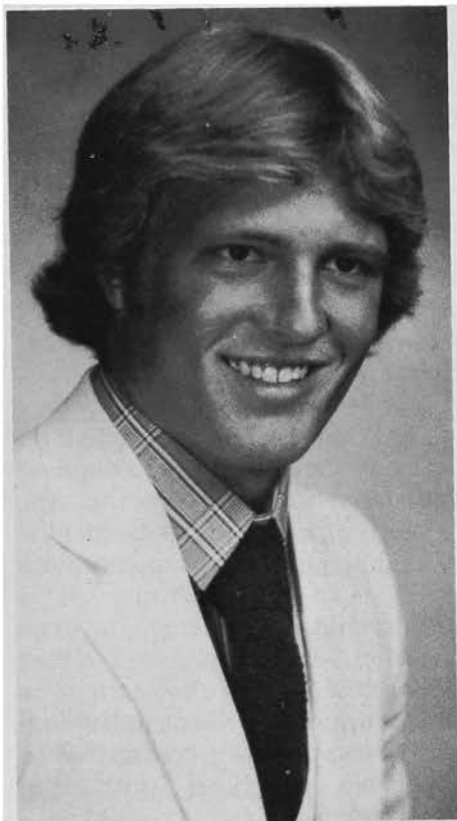

The Convention concluded on Tuesday morning with a couple of additional amendments to the General Statutes and a discussion of hazing. One of the amendments dealt with the forming of a scholarship committee in each chapter. The chapter will either elect a scholarship chairman or he will be appointed. That individual will then appoint a committee to supervise programs promoting scholarship.

The other change dealt with Section 176, the Badge. The Convention changed the wording dealing with the penalty for improper use of the badge from one year's suspension to up to one year's suspension.

Finally, the delegates were made aware of the General Council intense interest in eliminating hazing from all chapters. The day before each province president had passed out to each delegate a copy of the Council's "Further Plan of Action Re-Hazing and Pre-Initiation Activities." During the Tuesday morning session the document was discussed by various members of the Council. The paper will be re-published in The Scroll for all to read in the future. ■

William Wilson Wins Priest Honor

William Tad Wilson (Kansas '81), a pre-med major, has been named winner of the Arthur R. Priest Award for 1980. The award recognizes the outstanding undergraduate in the fraternity and carries with it a $1,500 scholarship from the Educational Foundation.

In addition, 28 other Educational Foundation scholarships and the O'Dell Scholarship (University of Iowa) of $1,000 each have been announced. Winners are listed elsewhere in this issue.

"The trustees of the Educational Foundation were encouraged by the interest shown in the awards and the caliber of the candidates from the various colleges and universities," remarked J. Don Mason (Miami-Ohio '35), president.

semester. He has recently been selected to both Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa.

In addition to being named the Outstanding Freshman Scholar and holding three scholarships he was selected to be a Summerfield Scholar prior to his freshman year. This is the University's most prestigious academic honor for undergraduates.

"Tad's record has not disappointed us," said David A. Ambler, vice chancellor. "He is heading for medical school and I am confident of his admission and success in the medical profession."

His high grades have also enabled him to join Lambda Sigma (sophomore honorary), the Owl Society (junior men's honorary) and Phi Kappa Phi (national honorary).

The Lawrence, Kansas senior has also found time to devote to Kansas Alpha. He has served as choister, rush chairman, vice president, scholarship chairman and IFC representative. He was named last spring as Rock Chalk director for the upcoming year. Rock Chalk is an annual campus-wide musical production.

"The leadership Tad has given Kansas Alpha, in his three years, has provided this house with a strong foundation to carry on the tradition of Phi Delta Theta," stated A. Scott Ritchie III (Kansas '80), chapter president. "His work as scholarship chairman this year has been the ground work for a stronger more effective pledge study program."

He has still found some spare time to become involved in campus activities. He was freshman class vice-president, and sophomore president. He is senior class president-elect. He belongs to the Pre-Med Society, the German Club and the Honor Student's Association.

This spring he was selected as a Student Ambassador for Exploration '80, a project in which nearly 2,000 high school students spend a day on campus. The Student Ambassadors serve as guides and hosts.

Tad has also been an active Red Cross worker in Lawrence. He is a swimming instructor and teaches C.P.R. He has also worked as a Heart Association volunteer.

Finally, he has been an active participant in chapter intramurals. He has played intramural football three years, softball and volleyball for two years and has competed in wrestling for three years.

Chapter Adviser Michael S. Bates describes Wilson as exemplifying "what Phi Delta Theta really stands for." "His outstanding character, and determination will be invaluable assets for Tad in his future pursuits." ■

Oregon Returns To Good Standing

The Oregon Alpha chapter at the University of Oregon was returned to good standing in ceremonies conducted on May 3, 1980. It was the culmination of one and a half years of rebuilding which brought about this accomplishment.

Originally, Phi Delta Theta was chartered on the Oregon campus on May 30, 1912. During the chapter's 60 years of existence, 1,083 men were initiated. The chapter's charter was suspended in 1970 due to organizational problems at which time the chapter house was closed. The colony moved back into the house during the fall of 1979.

The initiation ceremony for the 36 colony members took place at Gerlinger Hall on the Oregon campus. The presiding president was Charles E. Wicks (Willamette '47) reporter for the General Council. He was assisted by Robert A. Biggs (Georgia Southern '76), director of chapter services; Erin Jr. (Oregon '65) Omicron North Province president; Douglas M. Wilson (Miami '64) alumni commissioner; Kip Leonard (Oregon '70) chapter adviser; and other Oregon Alpha and Eugene alumni.

A banquet commemorating the event was held at the Valley River Inn to honor the new members and the many loyal alumni who gave their overwhelming support to the rebuilding project. Over 25 alumni were in attendance, of which 14 were members of the Golden Legion. The alumnus who traveled the greatest distance for the ceremonies was Vic Wetzel (Oregon '28) who resides in Nampa, Idaho. Brother Roy Bryson (Oregon '25) was the oldest Oregon Alpha initiate present.

The Master of Ceremonies for the dinner was Roger Martin

(Oregon '57). The program for the evening included an address by Howard Hobson (Oregon '26). Brother Hobson was the head basketball coach of the University of Oregon at the time the university won its first national championship in 1939.

Boyd officially welcomed Phi Delta Theta back to the campus. The highlight of the evening was an address by Wicks, who, on behalf of the General Council, returned the Oregon Alpha chapter to the Chapter President Dave Evans.

Several Awards were presented, including special recognition of Richard T. Walters (Ashland '74) for his roll as colony coordinator. A new award was initiated, called the Lombard, Martin, Nosler, Scharph Award, to recognize these four individuals for their unparalleled devotion in the rebuilding of Oregon Alpha.

The University of Oregon is a co-educational campus located in the beautiful Willamette Valley. Presently, there are 15 fraternities and 12 sororities on campus with a total university enrollment of approximately 12,500.

Colony members include: Kurt Zielske, Tim Howorth, and Kelly DeLacy. Spring pledges are: John Doty, Jim Mead, Doug Meer, Doug O'Conner, Tom Kane, Steve Evanson, and Ted Wray. Phis from other chapters now living with the chapter are Sy Woodbury, Tom Hemenway, and Dick Walters. ■

Over 150 Phis and escorts attended the reception, dinner, and dance with some coming from as far away as Toronto and Vancouver. Phis from Calgary showed their interest too. An entire bus load of them arrived on Friday night. It was quite a reunion for many of the out-of-townners. The fraternity was well represented, officially, as Bob Woerner (Tau province president), Bob Dinkel (Member-at-Large on The General Council) and T. Glen Cary (President of The General Council) were all in attendance.

Highlights of the evening included: the Master of Ceremonies job done by brother Al Olson; the highly entertaining speech of brother Cary; the Golden Legion ceremony that saw brothers Creighton Dobson and John Hart honoured for 50 years of membership in Phi Delta Theta; and the terrific sounds of Big Miller and his band. Needless to say, a great time was had by all. In fact many people were reluctant to leave the Alberta Room, at least not without their share of the blue and white flowers that decorated each table.

On the whole the entire weekend was a great success, a tribute to everyone who helped put it together and a tribute to fifty years of friendship, sound learning, and rectitude.—Tom Farnell

MILWAUKEE

The Milwaukee Alumni Club was honored to induct into the Golden Legion Brother Howard M. Packard (Northwestern) at our Founders Day Banquet on March 28, 1980. Brother Packard has had an illustrious business career of thirty years at S.C. Johnson and Son, Inc., culminating with the presidency in 1966. He is the only non-Johnson family member ever to direct this well known growth company.

Brother Packard started his business career with Marshall Field and Company, become Assistant Secretary in 1935. His civilian pursuits were interrupted for a four year tour of duty with the U.S. Navy, where he attained the rank of Lt. Commander, prior to his departure from the service in 1945. He started as treasurer with S.C. Johnson in 1946, and served as financial vice-president, executive vice-president, president, vice-chairman, and chairman of this company. He was elected as Johnson director in 1955, and has continued as a director since his mandatory retirement from active control of the Company in 1976.

While having retired from active Corporate life at S.C. Johnson, Brother Packard is by no means idle. He still serves as a Director of the following: Racine Federated, Inc., Heritage Bank of Racine, Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company, Wisconsin Telephone Company, Universal Foods Corporation, Loewi & Company, Inc. (Investment bankers and brokers), Heritage Bank of Milwaukee, Marshall Field and Company, Kemper Insurance Group, Helix Ltd. Other honors include Beta Gamma Sigma Business Society Director's Table and the Brotherhood Award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Brother Packard and his wife, Josephine have raised two sons and two daughters. He also holds memberships in the Somerset Club of Racine, Rotary Club, Milwaukee Club, Milwaukee Athletic Club, Chicago Club, and the University Clubs of Chicago, Milwaukee, and New York. He is a Mason, and a member of Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

During his acceptance remarks, Brother Packard expressed his pleasure in being recognized for having lived long enough to have been a Phi Delt for fifty years. He felt that the time had passed much too quickly, but that he had treasured his fraternity membership and the bonds of friendship which have lasted through the years.—Howard W. Snyder

Brother Steve Albers was presented as the new alumni club president and spoke of his plans for the coming year . . . it'll be a good one he says!

In our sports world, the undergrads barely beat us in a closely contested softball game 4-3. Ted Montemurro accounted for all our runs with a home run with one man on and a sacrifice fly. We turned the score around in the tennis match winning 4-3 with 3 singles victories and one in doubles. The mighty Alum sports machine rolls on .

Jack Shepman Dies In Cincinnati

Jack E. Shepman (Cincinnati '47), president of the General Council from 1964 to 1966, died suddenly on April 15 in Cincinnati.

Shepman, 56, had been present only five days earlier at the Cincinnati Alumni Club's Founders Day dinner.

He began a long period of service to the fraternity in 1951 when he became chapter adviser at Ohio Theta. He had first pledged that chapter in 1942. After initiation he served as chaplain, rush chairman, assistant treasurer, steward, pledge trainer, reporter and president.

Following the 1950 General Convention in Chicago he was appointed president of Zeta Province where he served for five years and later, due to a change in employment, he moved to Chicago and was appointed president of Iota Province. He held that position for two years until he was elected to the General Council at the 1958 Convention in Asheville, North Carolina.

He was re-elected by the Houston Convention in 1960 and again by the 1962 Convention at Bedford Springs. At the 1964 Convention at the Grand Bahama Island he was elected to the presidency for the 1964-66 Bienium.

Born and educated in Cincinnati, Shepman graduated from the University of Cincinnati in 1947 with a Bachelor of Science in Education. He graduated in the top third of his class.

His university life was interrupted by World War II when he was called into the Army and served two and a-half years, eighteen months of which were in the European Theatre of Operations. He was discharged as a Second Lieutenant (Infantry) and upon joining the Reserves, he was made a First Lieutenant in the Adjutant General's Corps.

After graduation from college in 1947 he taught for one year at the Withrow High School in Cincinnati. He then joined the Crosley Division of AVCO Manufacturing Corporation as director of personnel. He stayed with this company ten years through their merger with Bendix Laundry Division. Before leaving, he held the position of manager of special accounts in the sales department.

In 1957 he became associated with the Norge Sales Corporation, a Division of Borg-Warner Corporation, as manager of sales training. In this position he relocated to Chicago.

Following his association with Norge, he joined the sales training staff of the Motorola Corporation and subsequently, the Admiral Corporation in Chicago. In September, 1977, he returned to Cincinnati where he became associated with a construction firm.

His funeral was conducted at St. John's Church in Cincinnati with many Phis or members of Phi families in attendance. ■

NEWSFRONTS

Michael Dell (Georgia Southern '80) was recently elected to membership in the Phi Kappa Phi honorary academic fraternity. To become a member an individual must be nominated by members of the school's faculty, must have a 3.7 GPA or better and must be in the top 10% of his class.

Paul Andrews (Georgia Southern '80) was recently recognized at his school's Honors Day Program. He was honored for his scholarship in the field of pre-medical studies.

Steve Lynch (Georgia Southern '81) was recognized as one of the five top juniors at Georgia Southern by the Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity. There are 1,100 juniors attending Georgia Southern. He is a computer science major with a 4 pt. GPA.

Seventeen per cent, or six out of thirty brothers, of the Georgia Epsilon chapter at Georgia Southern were named to the Dean's List Winter Quarter, 1980. The chapter was second in grade point average among all fraternities on campus. Georgia Epsilon has not fallen below the number three rank since being put on academic probation in the Fall, 1978.

Westminster to Celebrate 100th Anniversary

In a graveside memorial service in Fulton, Missouri, on Oct. 11, Father Robert Morrison, one of the six founders of Phi Delta Theta, will be honored by the Phi brothers, alumni and actives, gathering from across the nation to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Missouri Beta Chapter at Westminster College.

The 2 p.m. ceremony is one of the many activities planned during a three-day period for the "Celebration of the Century" of one of the oldest chapters west of the Mississippi River and the second oldest active chapter in Missouri.

The Beta chapter was granted a charter on October 27, 1880, after receiving a favorable acceptance vote of the Phi delegates assembled in convention — a rather unusual procedure. The chapter has furnished two Presidents of the General Council: Charles F. (Dog) Lamkin (Westminster '99), President 1910-1912, and Elmer C. (Slick) Henderson (Westminster '93). President 1917-20. Brother Lamkin was an officer in the fraternity for 60 years.

The "Celebration of the Century", a three-day event, begins on Friday, Oct. 10 with a reception at the chapter house. At 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, a special initiation is scheduled for the benefit of all Phis attending the event.

At the luncheon to be held the same day at Robertson Hall, Westminster College, the Golden Legion Award will be presented to the Phis to be honored. The Centennial Banquet that evening will be followed by a dance at the Fulton Country Club.

Sunday activities include church service at the Church of St. Mary Aldermanbury, part of the Winston Churchill Memorial. Special activities are planned for the ladies attending the event.

Father Morrison had an interesting connection with the Beta chapter. An ordained Presbyterian minister, Morrison was also considered an excellent administrator, especially strong in financial matters. In 1879, he accepted an assignment to help Westminster College resolve her financial problems. Through his guidance, the college paid off its debts within two years. In the meantime, Morrison, aided by the Missouri Alpha chapter, encouraged a local group of six men to become Phis and apply for a charter on June 1, 1880. Morrison lived in Fulton until his death.

Two Chosen to Province Posts

William B. Stockwell (Pittsburgh '76), president of the Stockwell Rubber Company, Inc. in Philadelphia, has been appointed as president of Gamma North Province, replacing David J. Morrison.

Gamma North includes chapters in Eastern Pennsylvania, New Hampshire and Delaware.

He is a 1976 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and has since attained a Masters Degree in Business Administration in the area of finance. During his undergraduate days he served as president of his chapter for two years and was elected vice president of the IFC.

In 1974-75 he was named Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Since graduation he has maintained an active interest in the fraternity as an active member of the Pittsburgh Alumni Club and of the Pennsylvania Iota House Corporation. He has undertaken the difficult chore of preparing the aduit for the Pitt chapter on several occasions. The most recent occasion required that he travel to Pittsburgh to accomplish this purpose.

Stockwell is married and resides with his wife in Cherry Hill, New Jersey.

Fr. Turner (Minnesota '70) who had previously served the fraternity as a province president, was named earlier this year as the president of Iota South Province, filling the unexpired term of Tom Priebe.

Iota South includes the chapters in the state of Illinois.

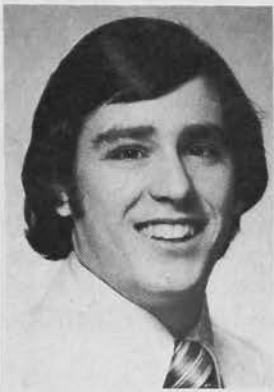

Fr. Turner became a member of the fraternity while serving as house counselor to Minnesota Alpha while completing work on his Ph.D. in educational psychology.

He taught education at Illinois Benedictine College for four years and served as Dean of Academic Services until January, 1978, when his community asked him to assume a temporary assignment as Vice President for Academic Affairs at Saint Martin's College, Lacey, Washington.

This assignment ended in June, 1979, and now he is back at the Abbey, working on a book to be titled Evaluating Teaching Effectiveness with Dr. Larry M. Aleamoni of the University of Arizona.

In addition to his book, he is serving his Benedictine community in various ministerial ways: retreats, conferences and parish ministry.

THE PHI CRIER

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*New York Alpha has a line of engraved plates (one inch by three inches) on the door of each room in its house. Each plate contains the name and date of the brother living in that room. This tradition goes back into the early 1920s.

*Vermont Alpha's chapter house is the only structure in the entire state to be constructed completely of marble.

*Both North Dakota Alpha and Manitoba Alpha have had ice skating rinks in their back yards during the past winter.

NEW IDEAS

*Membership participation at chapter meetings has been improved at California Iota since a system of "rotation" was developed for the literary exercises. Each week a different brother leads the literary exercises which may be the reading of poetry, a thought for the day, a news topic, etc.

*Individual room cleanliness is emphasized by weekly room checks at California Iota. If the room is not clean during inspection, the brother is given another six hours to meet the requirements. If the room does not pass the second inspection then the door is taken off until the room is cleaned.

DAUPHIN COUNTY PHIS: Four Phis employed in the Dauphin County Court House in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania include J. Andrew Smyser (Lehigh '69), a deputy district attorney; Richard B. Wickersham (Dickinson '51), judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County; Joseph H. Kleinfelter (Gettysburg '61), deputy district attorney; and Gaylor Dissinger (Lafayette '68), chief deputy district attorney for the county.

*In order to further the community service efforts of the chapter, brothers at California Theta have volunteered themselves as a city task force. This allows for a continuous source of community involvement.

*During initiation at Cal Theta, as each pledge is initiated he lights a candle. The new initiate's candle is placed with candles around the wall for the other actives, a simple but glowing symbol of brotherhood and unity.

*The test files at Cal Iota are constantly improved by two methods: (1) A Test Party — everyone that enters must bring a test as his ticket. (2) Test Swap — the scholarship chairman from the various sororities and fraternities meet to swap tests not available to others.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*Although only on bond number 80, Nevada Alpha has ten of its members, either alumni or active, working for law enforcement agencies. Police are continually coming to the chapter house, since three are brothers living there.

James Named AD At Maryland

Carl James (Duke '51), formerly athletic director at the University of Maryland, was named the fourth commissioner in the history of the Big Eight Conference. He began his duties July 1.

football and track for the Blue Devils from 1949-51. At Maryland he was the chief administrator of 23 sports, controlled a budget that exceeded $3 million and supervised an athletic staff of 100 people.

The Big Eight, with such football powers as Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri and Colorado, has fielded outstanding programs recently in basketball, track and field, wrestling and gymnastics.
