Pennsylvania Lambda Installed

BY MICHAEL A. LAURA

Whenever a young college man is lucky enough to be pledged into Phi Delta Theta, as a Phikeia, he takes a very special oath. It is the last line of this oath, "I will strive in all ways to transmit the Fraternity to those who may follow after, not only not less but greater than it was transmitted to me," that has special meaning to the brothers of Phi Delta Theta's newest chapter, Pennsylvania Lambda. Without Brother Dino Bello's (Ohio '55) dedication to this thought the chapter at Indiana University of Pennsylvania may never have had the chance to flourish.

The idea to start a chapter at IUP began in the spring of 1983. After much work and many correspondences with General Headquarters a Phi Delta Theta Local was formed. Then on Nov. 12, 1983 the members of the local were granted their colony charter. The colony members then set their sites on gaining their chapter charter and being initiated as Brothers of Phi Delta Theta. To help the colony members along their way Brother Bob Schafer (Clemson '80) acted as pledge educator. Throughout the following year the colony members worked extremely hard to establish themselves on campus and in the community. Activities included such things as getting four members elected to student government. The Colony's IFC representative was in charge of Greek Week activities on campus. The Colony placed third overall in Greek Week, while taking a first in the chariot race and a third in the Greek Sing. The Colony did well scholastically also, having the third highest grade point average among the 21 fraternities on campus. The Colony was quite active in the community. It raised over $400 for the American Cancer Society, collected over $8,000 in pledges for the university during a Phone-a-thon, and participated in many other community activities as well.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania was first established as a Normal School in 1875. In December of 1965 Indiana was designated as Indiana University of Pennsylvania. The current enrollment is slightly over 12,500 students and the campus covers 137 acres. Recently IUP was listed by Fortune 500 magazine as one of the top 50 small colleges in the nation. Currently there are 21 fraternities and 16 sororities on campus.

On Sept. 14, 1984, 47 colony members were initiated into Phi Delta Theta. The initiation ceremony was conducted by C.T. Bray, treasurer of the General Council; Robert A. Biggs, director of chapter services; Howard Womsley, province president of Upsilon Pro-

Reynolds Honored By Florida Gamma

Last spring Florida Gamma at Florida State honored one of its more illustrious alumni, Buddy Reynolds ('57), with an "Outstanding Alumni Award." Buddy is better known to most people as Burt.

Harry W. Massey (Florida State '55), long-time friend and Burt's big brother as a Phikeia, accepted the award on his behalf at the Florida State Founders Day celebration on April 12.

"He has always been an outstanding person—a self starter—a natural born winner," said Massey, who played quarterback at Florida State while Reynolds was a running back. "I especially remember an 80-yard touchdown run he made as a freshman against Auburn. Auburn was a national power and we were just getting into big-time football then. It was really something.

"Buddy pledged his freshman year, but was seriously injured in a car accident on Christmas Eve that wrecked his knees and ended his football career," Massey continued. "After that he went to Palm Beach Junior College where he first got interested in acting. He was initiated by Florida Gamma when he returned briefly to Florida State.

Basically Shy

"I would say that Buddy is basically a shy person. He really tries to avoid the spotlight when he is home in Jupiter, Florida, where he opened The Burt Reynolds Dinner Theatre. The theatre has become a very successful operation.

"He has been very supportive of Florida State and Florida Gamma through the years. He has created a one million dollar endowed chair at Florida State called the Burt Reynolds Chair in Professional and Regional Theatre. It has been called the richest and most eminent theatre chair in the country.

"He has been an outstanding person and we are all very proud of his accomplishments."

Universal's "Stick" marks Reynolds' 40th motion picture as an actor and the fourth he has directed.

"I hope that my ultimate recognition is as a good film director," says Reynolds, who is one of entertainment's most popular actors. "My immediate goal," he adds, "is to direct a picture in which I don't appear."

Prior to directing "Stick," in which he plays the title role, he directed and starred in three highly successful pictures, "Gator," "The End" and "Sharky's Machine."

The secret of Burt Reynolds' success was never better explained than by Frank Sinatra. When Reynolds was announced as The Friar's Club 1981 Entertainer of The Year, Sinatra said, "In honoring Burt Reynolds, we pay tribute to Everyman. Burt's that kind of guy. He is the one the ladies like to dance with and their husbands like to drink with. He is the larger than life actor of our times. He is gifted, talented, naughty and nice."

Popularity Polls

Reynolds reached the upper rungs of the popularity polls almost a decade ago. When the Quigley Publications annual survey found him to be America's most popular star for the fifth consecutive year, he broke a record previously held by Bing Crosby. He has six times been honored with People's Choice Awards as Favorite All-Round Male Entertainer and Favorite Motion Picture Actor. U.S. Film Distributors have repeatedly named him the top money-making star and the National Association of Theatre Owners (NATO) has judged him Male Star Of The Year time after time.

He was the Variety Clubs International Entertainer Of The Year in 1981. The festivities were broadcast by CBS-TV, an event that generated resources to launch the Burt Reynolds-Variety Heart Center at Egleston Hospital for Children in Atlanta, Georgia. The Atlanta Variety Club had earlier named him Man Of The Year.

In 1982, he became the first Honorary Big Brother in the history of the Big Brothers/Big Sisters national organization. In 1980, Seventeen Magazine announced that teenage girls voted him number one on their list of fantasy fathers. National surveys conducted for both the 1981 and 1982 World Almanac And Book Of Facts among junior high school students placed him at the very top of their list of "famous or important living persons you most admire. In other words, who is your number-one hero?"

In 1980, he was honored at the University Of California At Los Angeles (UCLA) with the Charles Chaplin Award for Film Excellence for his "contributions to the art of filmmaking."

"To be honest," Reynolds confesses, "I've never understood the recognition, but I never tire of it. Each honor is very special and always comes as a complete surprise. I know I'm supposed to store them in a closet and pretend they mean very little to me. But I like to look at them!" One room of his Spanish-style home in Holmby Hills, California, displays each symbol of recognition the actor-director has received.

Growing Up

Growing up in Florida, "Buddy" Reynolds seemed a long shot for a roomful of awards reflecting a successful career in the arts.

Burton Leon Reynolds was born February 11, near Waycross, Georgia, to Mr. and Mrs. Burt Reynolds, Sr. "The name Burton has been in our family for decades," explains the elder Reynolds, son of a forestry teacher and a Cherokee woman who met and married on an Indian reservation. The star's mother, Fern, worked as a registered nurse and ran a small general store while her husband worked as Chief of Police in the small South Florida community of Riviera Beach.

The future film idol's first attempt at acting was in the interest of self-protection. He admits, "Italians were the majority in our Riviera Beach neighborhood, so I pretended to come from an Italian family. I avoided lots of fights that way."

'Palm Beach Junior College was my first exposure to actors. I thought they were just plain silly.'

A high school football star, he was being considered for a West Point appointment, an effort spearheaded by his father. The senior Reynolds recalls, "There weren't any girls at West Point in those days, so Bud decided on Florida State University."

At FSU, in Tallahassee, Burt played football for the Seminoles, being named All-Florida and All-Southern Conference running halfback. Fired with a decision to make a career of professional ball, he was being scouted by several major teams. Then came the automobile accident on Christmas Eve that ended his football career.

Exposure To Acting

brief period. He encountered such a frightening abundance of James Dean and Marlon Brando clones that he soon returned to the relative calm of South Florida. "It was my initial exposure to actors. I thought they were plain silly."

Enrolling at Palm Beach Junior College, his interest in the arts was stimulated by Watson B. Duncan, III, an English literature teacher who was also the institution's drama instructor. Reynolds acknowledges, "Dr. Duncan laid the foundation for whatever I have accomplished. He awakened my mind. Amazingly, he made English lit the most exciting subject. One day he informed me I was going to be in his next stage production. I told him, 'You're a nice man, but you're crazy!' But the next day, I showed up as the auditions ended. He was there alone. He handed me a script and I managed to mumble a few words. He told me I had the part.

"He saw a part of me that even I didn't know existed. He understood that I was lost without the ability to play ball. He knew I needed an outlet. He didn't see me as some dumb jock, and I'll always be grateful. That's why I'm forever trying to turn athletes into actors. I know what they go through. I detest stereotyping, whether with professions, race or sex. It is absolutely destructive."

Burt Reynolds' first starring performance in the Palm Beach Junior College production of "Outward Bound" won him the Florida Drama Desk Award and a scholarship to the Hyde Park Playhouse in New York State. It was his first brush with true professionals. He acted with Jocelyn Brando in "Bus Stop," Turhan Bey and Gloria Vanderbilt in "The Spa," Sylvia Sidney in "Anniversary Waltz" and Shepperd Strudwick in "Affairs Of State."

Playhouse visitor Joanne Woodward is credited with furthering his fledgling career. "I can't imagine what she saw in me, but she made a few calls and helped secure my first agent."

Stage Debut

The young hopeful's professional stage debut was with Charlton Heston in a 1956 revival of "Mr. Roberts," directed by John Forsythe at New York City Center Theatre. To support himself, he worked in Manhattan as a dockhand, dancehall bouncer, body guard and dish washer, among other odd jobs. His live TV debut consisted of flying through a glass window for a Sunday religious program. His first real acting assignment was in an episode of the popular "M Squad" series. According to the story, he got the role because, when asked for film footage on himself, he sent the only film he had—home movies as a baby!

Television

As the Sixties approached and live TV in New York dwindled, the robust young actor moved to Los Angeles, California. He soon landed a seven-year television contract with Universal and was assigned the supporting role of river pilot Ben Frazer in the "Riverboat" adventure series.

"I got the axe at the end of the first season," he laughs. "Clint Eastwood, David Janssen and I were fired the same time. They said Clint's Adam's apple was too big, that David's ears stuck out and that I had no talent. I told Clint and David I was the lucky one. I might be able to cure my deficiency someday!"

In 1961, he made both his

Broadway and motion picture debuts. He returned to New York for the stage production "Look, We've Come Through," directed by Jose Quintero. His movie bow was in "Angel Baby" with George Hamilton and Mercedes McCambridge.

In 1962, he joined the cast of the top-rated "Gunsmoke" series as half-breed blacksmith Quint Asper. He remained with the show until 1965. "Everyone urged me not to give up that regular income. But I preferred the loss of security to being stereotyped in Indian roles."

Reynolds has been quoted as saying, "The good stuff began in 1972." After over a decade learning his craft, he starred in "Deliverance," an artistic and financial success released that year. It marked a substantial turning point in his career as he demonstrated a powerful dramatic range as a macho outdoorsman on a tragic outing with three friends.

Cosmo Centerfold

Around the same time, Cosmopolitan Magazine published its controversial Burt Reynolds centerfold. Though tame by current standards, it was the first of its kind and brought teams of publicity in such major publications as Time and Newsweek. As his notoriety soared, the impact of his work in "Deliverance" was diluted and talk of an Academy Award nomination was forgotten. He had agreed to pose for the magazine layout only as a heartfelt putdown of "centerfold mentality" and to parody the male macho image. "I thought it would be amusing and might get a point across," he has often said, "but it got out of control."

An activity the rising star found more enjoyable and rewarding was taking to the television talk show circuit. He credits visits with Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, David Frost and Merv Griffin with creating the foundation for much of the success that followed. "I was so bored watching leading men on those shows acting like royalty, speaking three octaves lower than normal and talking about their new films as though they were life-saving miracles. The pretense was unbearable. It seemed logical that it would be refreshing to have a guest walk out and admit he just made a real turkey. It seemed possible that one could be both honest and entertaining, while not taking any of it too seriously."

The supposition was correct. Each appearance earned him an expanded following. Along the way, he set a new style for talk show guests with irreverence as the cornerstone.

The informal TV format introduced a totally different Burt Reynolds to home viewers than the one they had previously known. In 1966-67, he was "Hawk," an Indian police detective stationed in Manhattan. In 1969, he was "Dan August," a small city police lieutenant. He was able to reveal more of his true identity in the early Seventies, when he hosted and co-produced a limited series called "The Burt Reynolds Late Show."

Screen Career Continues

His big-screen career continued with "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Sex," "Shamus," "White Lightning" and "The Man Who Loved Cat Dancing." He then tackled "The Longest Yard" and scored with one of the top money-makers of 1974-75. He filmed "W. W. And The Dixie Dancekings" in Nashville, traveled to Mexico for "Lucky Lady," challenged himself by going musical for "At Long Last Love," and starred in "Hustle."

He starred in the 1976 trend-setting "Gator," another turning point in his career. It marked his bow as a motion picture director. He subsequently acted in "Silent Movie" and "Nickelodeon." Then came "Smokey And The Bandit," one of the top-grossing movie block-busters in history, having long ago passed the quarter-of-a-billion-dollar mark.

After starring in "Semi-Tough," he repeated the dual challenge of acting and directing with "The End," an off-beat, profitable comedy in which he directed Joanne Woodward, Dom DeLuise, Sally Field, Strother Martin, David Steinberg, Robby Benson, Carl Reiner, Norman Fell, Myrna Loy, Kristy McNichol and Pat O'Brien.

He portrayed a veteran Hollywood stunt man in "Hooper," another major money-maker, then struck a desperately-desired change-of-pace in the 1979 release "Starting Over." It brought him high critical praise and earned Academy Award nominations for his two leading ladies, Candice Bergen and Jill Clayburgh.

He went to England to film "Rough Cut," then reprised the legendary "Bandit" role in "Smokey And The Bandit II," which enjoyed the most successful opening weekend in film annals. Next came "The Cannonball Run," one of the biggest worldwide movie successes of 1981.

Generally engaged in overlapping projects, he was starring in "Paternity" while preparing his third feature as an actor-director. It was "Sharky's Machine," a top attraction of the 1981 Christmas season.

While still putting the finishing touches on "Sharky's Machine," Reynolds teamed with Dolly Parton for the Universal blockbuster "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas." He then joined Goldie Hawn in "Best Friends" and Loni Anderson in "Stroker Ace." Next, he acted with Julie Andrews in "The Man Who Loved Women" and then headed an all-star cast, which includes Dom DeLuise, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Jamie Farr, Marilu Henner, Telly Savalas, Frank Sinatra, and Shirley MacLaine, for "The Cannonball Run Part II."

"Burt Reynolds is the perfect movie star," said an article in the Wall Street Journal. William Goldman, in his recent book Adventures Of The Screen Trade had equal praise for the actor's magnetism, while another writer termed him "a serious professional behind a flip facade." On the subject, Reynolds, himself says, "Being a movie star is dirty work, but somebody's got to do it."

Directing

It is not acting, however, that is Burt Reynolds' first professional love. "Directing is my passion. I find it a thrilling experience. When I act, I'm exhausted at the end of the day. But when I direct, I'm so filled with energy and enthusiasm that I really resent the day coming to an end. We each have particular abilities, and I think that directing utilizes more of mine than acting does. There's a real rush to the realization that you will get either the blame or credit for the end result. When I'm directing myself, sometimes I've been known to forget my closeups. You get so involved with the entire canvas. Being given a movie to direct is truly like being handed the world's biggest erector set."

In 1981, the actor-director became Dr. Burt Reynolds when he was honored as Doctor of Humane Letters at Florida State University. It was only the 60th honorary degree conferred in the 123-year history of F.S.U.

Six miles down Indiantown Road from his theatre is the BR Horse Ranch. Boasting a fine selection of Arabian and Appaloosa horses, it also has two busy stores and is a top area tourist attraction as well as a working ranch. Its owner has said, "If my career vanished tomorrow, the only two things it would really hurt to part with would be the ranch and the theatre." His parents live on the ranch in a house used in the early 1920's as a hideout for Al Capone's "business associates."

An avid sports enthusiast, Burt Reynolds is an owner of the Tampa Bay Bandits of the new United States Football League.

His 1984 schedule also calls for him to at last team with long-time friend Clint Eastwood for a Warner Bros. film tentatively titled "City Heat." ■

Martin Promotes Free Enterprise

NOTE: The following is an address by William F. Martin (Oklahoma '38), retired chairman of the board and CEO of Phillips Petroleum Company, presented to the Phi Delta Theta General Convention this summer in New Orleans at the Free Enterprise Luncheon. Martin was the recipient of the Nance-Millett Award as an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the free enterprise system.

First, let me express my appreciation for inviting me to your 65th Convention. I have looked forward to being here with distinguished alums and our staff and actives coming from across U.S. and Canada. I am deeply impressed with the enthusiasm that is so apparent—the dedication and the voluntary efforts being put forth by alums and actives alike on behalf of Phi Delta Theta. I know you are the backbone of our great fraternity.

It seems almost required in situations like this that the older person—namely me—is supposed to give you—the younger boys—a whole lot of advice. After all, I've been around 45 to 50 years longer than the rest of you—I must have learned something worth passing on.

Well, I have learned a lot. And one of the most important things I've learned is that people like to make up their own minds. Most of us are willing to listen to advice, but taking it is something else.

With that in mind, I'm going to keep the advice to a minimum, and just give you some observations of mine in a couple of areas. First, I'd like to make some personal observations about our fraternity, of which I am very proud.

Secondly—because of the nature of this luncheon—I want to offer a few of my thoughts about our economic system. All of us are participants in this system as consumers. . . and soon most of you will be participants as producers. You may be already.

Value of Fraternity Life

There is an obvious common denominator between fraternity life and our business system. . . people. Unless you plan to be a solitary inventor working out of your garage, it's hard to accomplish your economic goals without working with other people.

I shall always be grateful for my experiences at Oklahoma Alpha. I learned what real friendship is all about. I learned the importance of teamwork and unity of action in accomplishing common goals. It was at Oklahoma Alpha that I learned how important it is to get along with others. . . even though the opinions, values and lifestyles of some of my brothers were different than mine. I learned how important it is to control emotions and consider viewpoints of others—and how unproductive it is to reflect outward resentment and non-constructive personal criticism when things don't go your way.

And I gained a real appreciation of the need for discipline. All of my life the rules of behavior had always been imposed on me from the outside. And I didn't especially like that. So my natural inclination was to think. . . the less rules, the better. In a fraternity, however, I had a chance to help determine what kind of rules we wanted, and how many. I discovered for the first time that some degree of discipline. . . even regimentation. . . is essential for the welfare of the group. . . even if that regimentation placed certain limitations on my personal freedom or affected my personal objectives.

In short, fraternity life helped me prepare for what was to come and I am indebted to my good brothers for the things they taught me—for helping me develop as a man.

Now as I have grown older I look back to the days of my active fraternity life and afterward as I continued relationship with our fraternity, with fond memories and appreciation for the opportunity to serve under our common bond—which should be required reading at chapter meetings several times each year.

Problems

I don't mind telling you that a few years ago I was deeply disturbed about what was happening at my own house at OU. . . and in the greek system generally. This was back in the '60s, and I and another alum helped raise funds to keep the house at OU going. I visited the campus many times and what I found really bothered me. This was a time when the idea of the "me" generation was all in vogue. It was affecting every college campus I guess. The house at OU was falling apart. . . both physically and from the standpoint of membership. The House was in trouble because each member was going his own way without regard for the welfare of the group. The Bond of brotherhood was breaking apart.

Looking back now, I suspect it was a learning experience for everyone in the house at that time. They were discovering what I regard as the central theme of fraternity—that is—that the individual is important, but he can accomplish little without the help of others.

Now let's step back for a larger view of people interacting and working together as we see it at work in our economic system—our competitive enterprise system. I don't call it "the free enterprise system." We don't have a truly free economy. Over the years it has become increasingly regulated—some of it because business didn't perform in a responsible manner... some of it because politicians and regulators acted in an irresponsible manner. I think the move toward deregulation of the airline and trucking industries, and in other businesses, is a hopeful sign. Nevertheless, the general level of regulation is greater now than ever before. That's just a fact of life.

Let me point out that what I am about to say is my personal opinion. I haven't consulted any economists, or economic professors, or social psychologists. What I am about to say reflects my own experience.

One thing my experience has taught me is that our economic system works. It works so well that the United States, with five percent of the world's population, can produce 30 percent of the free world's goods and services. It works so well that the American farmers feed everyone in this country plus one out of every 10 persons in a foreign land.

These accomplishments can be compared with those of the most tightly controlled economic system in the world—the Soviet Union. Despite its elaborate 5-and 10-year plans to stimulate agricultural production, the USSR has never been able to feed its own people. Despite its massive and sophisticated war machine, it cannot produce enough refrigerators to meet consumer demand—even at prices that amount to a year's wages for most workers.

But this, of course, does not answer the question of why our system works well. It does not explain the factors behind its undeniable achievements.

Some of you may be familiar with the book In Search of Excellence. The book examines some of the best managed companies in the country, and it pinpoints those qualities of excellence that have made these companies successful.

'One thing my experience has taught me is that our economic system works... compared with the most tightly controlled economic system in the world—the Soviet Union.'

I think that same kind of approach can be taken as we examine the American economic system and compare it to alternative systems that exist around the world. What are the qualities of excellence that set our system apart from the others?

Diversity

One of the key qualities of excellence in our system is that it encourages diversity. It is an open system that allows any producer to compete who can muster the imagination and capital needed to attract the consumer's dollar. It is a system that says there is no one right way to be successful.

Open up an issue of the Wall Street Journal and you will find maybe a dozen or more advertisements for personal computers. Each firm has its own approach to the market. It might stress the flexibility of its system, or its advanced technology or its price.

Or drive down the street. You think all service stations are just alike? Take a closer look. One station may stress self service and speed. Another may emphasize services like oil changes and car washes. A third may be built around the convenience approach—fill your tank, buy your groceries and make a rest stop. . . all at one place.

The point is, that diversity is one of our system's greatest strengths. The open market is the most effective mechanism ever devised to sort out the best products and services to do the job. . . to meet the market need.

And who does that sorting out? It is, of course, we the consumer. This leads me to what I regard as the second great quality of excellence within our economic system. Consumers are in charge. No government planners are determining how many Firebird automobiles should run off the assembly line this month. No bureaucrat in Washington is judging whether it is more important to produce heart valves than vacation homes. The market—consumers voting with their dollars—make those decisions day-by-day, minute-by-minute. And they make those decisions infinitely better than any mastermind in a marble tower.

A while back, a book came out on economics. I remember the title because in one word it caught the essence of our market system. That word was: choice.

Choice

Choice is what political and economic freedom is all about. Have you ever walked into a store. . . maybe a country store in some out-of-the-way place. . . to buy some razor blades or a can of deodorant and found only one brand on the shelf? How did you feel? Maybe it was no big deal. . . but still you felt a little deprived. Now scale that up a few times and apply the same experience to buying a stereo, or an automobile or personal computer, and you can get a feel for the absence of economic choice.

When there is no choice, you realize you are no longer in control. Someone, somewhere has decided what's best for you. And that goes down pretty hard. As I said earlier, people basically like to make up their own minds. . . to vote their dollars in the ways they want. And that is exactly what our system allows them to do.

I've talked about the system from the perspective of the consumer. Now let's look at how an open market affects producers. . . keeping in mind that most of you in this room will soon be a part of the productive segment of the economy. . . if you aren't already.

The diversity that our system allows provides a nearly ideal climate for creativity and innovation. It works without a blueprint, without the restrictions of master plans. It encourages the pursuit of every possible and reasonable way to get from here to there.

For the individual producer this means the greatest possible opportunity to display his or her individual initiative. It means a chance to bring to bear the full weight of their education, experience and creativity to meet a market need.

A few years ago, Time magazine ran a lengthy essay on the future of capitalism. And it concluded this way: "For all its blemishes and needed reforms, capitalism alone holds out the most creative and dynamic force that any civilization has ever discovered: the power of the free, ambitious individual.

Last year 60,000 new ideas were patented in the United States, 600,000 new businesses were started, 300,000 new concepts were recognized in employee suggestion plans around the country. Those are some rough measures of our system's ability to stimulate creative approaches to solving problems and meeting consumer demands.

Success Not Guaranteed

I think it is important to note, however, that success is not guaranteed in our system. What is provided and protected is the opportunity to succeed. The system provides the opportunity to win. . . and the chance to fail.

I've heard people say that something must be wrong with our system because we still have poverty in this country. . . or because thousands of businesses shut their doors every month. . . or because some people can't find jobs. I'm not suggesting that we should be unsympathetic to human hardship. The fact that 30 percent of the Federal Budget goes to Social Security, Medicare and other transfer payment programs suggests that our country is attuned to the needs of all its people. . . regardless of their economic situation.

Nevertheless, we must recognize that our economic system guarantees only equality of opportunity. . . not equality of wealth. Some people are rewarded more than others... some companies receive significantly greater earnings than others... based on genius, hard work, or just plain luck. That is the reality of our system... and is, in fact, the system's driving force. Take away the prospect of extraordinary rewards for extraordinary efforts, and you have stripped the system of its vitality.

The prospect of reward is a powerful incentive that is even recognized in communist countries. We've read numerous times about how the private plots of soviet farmers are two or three times as productive as the communal farm.

And just last month, the prime minister of the Peoples Republic of China announced that market concepts would be introduced into the Chinese economy. The objective, according to the prime minister, is to encourage innovation and productivity by allowing enterprises to retain a part of what they earn.

In our own country, we have found that when price controls and profit ceilings have been imposed in the past, the result has been economic stagnation. Take away the incentive to win, and you've taken away the incentive to progress.

To summarize then, I see three great qualities of excellence in our system:

Its power to generate diverse approaches and products to meet market needs;

Its focus on the consumer as the ultimate decision-maker;

And, its incentive to the individual producer to do his or her very best.

But let's face it. Our system has its faults and abuses. We see them every day. For example, there are companies that have reaped economic rewards at the expense of stockholders or at the sacrifice of product safety or environmental protection. There are entire industries that continue to seek the security blanket of government protection and special treatment... rather than confront the hard realities of the open market.

On the other side of the coin, there are some politicians who believe that lambasting business is a great way to win votes... and taxation of corporations is a great way to raise money, invisible to the consumer who ultimately pays. They seem to believe that if business isn't regulated at every turn, it will exploit employees, pollute the environment and rip off the consumer.

System Not Perfect

My answer to these people is this: yes, our system is not perfect. But like democracy, it is only a poor system... until it is compared with all the others.

The qualities of excellence within our system can be refined and enlarged. But they cannot be taken for granted. They must be protected or they will be chipped away by indifference and abuse.

I have often thought about my father's early experience in business. He was an immigrant. He came to this country from Germany around the turn of the century. He came here seeking freedom and a new way of life. And when he arrived in southern Kansas near the small town of Halstead, he had only three dollars... his total wealth.

He worked on farms initially to make a living. After he saved a little money, he and a partner got into the grain business in northern Oklahoma. I can remember quite a lot about his work in the grain business, because during the summer months in the 1930s, I worked there too.

He bought and sold and stored wheat mostly... and some corn. He worked long hours—particularly in the summer months. It was not unusual for him to work from six in the morning until 10 at night. And the modest amount of money he made he reinvested... to make new jobs and serve his customers better.

I didn't think much about it then. I had other interests—girls mostly, and certain sports.

But now I realize what my father was doing. In his own small way he was building a part of America.

Sure, times have changed. The world is a more complicated place than it was in my father's time. But the opportunity to succeed still drives our economy... and still brings out the best in us.

I wish you the best of luck, brothers, as you begin to build your part of America. ■

Fifth Circuit Jurist Praised

"Their gain is our loss," proclaimed The Dallas Morning News in 1981 following the nomination of Will Garwood (Texas '55) to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals following his loss at the polls in the 1980 race for a spot on the Texas Supreme Court.

Garwood, a Republican, had been appointed to the Texas Supreme Court by former Governor Bill Clements in 1979 and was seeking his first elective term in the 1980 election. The Morning News attributed his loss to too much straight-ticket Democratic voting in many areas of the state and bemoaned the fact that "hundreds of thousands who voted against Will Garwood cannot have had any notion who he was."

The newspaper described him as a "wonderfully qualified jurist, having served with distinction on the Texas Supreme Court, where his distinguished father, W. St. John Garwood (Texas '21) preceded him by some years." The elder Garwood was Associate Justice of the Texas Supreme Court for 11 years.

In investiture ceremonies held Nov. 9, 1981 in Austin, Garwood was sworn in by his father and presented his commission by Joe R. Greenhill (Texas '36), then chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

The Dallas newspaper predicted that Garwood, "unlike too many of the Fifth Circuit Court," was a man of restraint and prudence. "Don't expect to see him writing new law by the library-full, as a lot of modern federal judges like to do," the paper states. "He can be seen as a serious candidate for one of the vacancies sure to turn up on the U.S. Supreme Court before Ronald Reagan's term expires."

The new Fifth Circuit judge practiced civil law in Austin for the past 20 years prior to his 1979 appointment to the Texas Supreme Court. He is a partner in the Austin firm of Graves, Dougherty Hearon Moody and Garwood.

He ranked first in class each year at the University of Texas School of Law, receiving his LLB, with honors, in 1955. His undergraduate work was completed (BA 1952) at Princeton University, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

At Texas he was a member of Texas Beta, the Order of the Coif, Chancellors (Grand Chancellor), Texas Law Review (Associate Editor), and Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

He served as a law clerk from 1955 to 1956 to Judge John R. Brown, U.S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit and then was with the Judge Advocate General's Corps, U.S. Army, 1956-1959.

Judge Garwood has served as president of Child and Family Service of Austin and St. Andrew's Episcopal School, and as director or trustee of the Community Council of Austin and Travis County. He has also served United Way, Human Opportunities Corporation, Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center, Medical Dental Referral Service and the Salvation Army.

Born in Houston in 1931 he is married to the former Merle C. Haffler of Lexington, KY. Their two children are William L. Garwood, Jr. and Mary Elliott Garwood.

The moral of the Garwood story, according to the Morning News, is plain. "If thoroughly excellent judicial prospects are not to be brushed aside, Texas must change the way it chooses its judges. Either we should appoint our judges on the basis of merit (retaining the voters' right to turn an appointee out of office), or, less efficaciously, we should start electing judges without the ballot's mentioning their party affiliation... if we don't want to go on losing our Garwoods." ■

Alioto Named Harmon-Rice Winner

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
Scroll Sports Editor

Richard Alioto (Allegheny '84), a four-year wrestling letterman and an NCAA Division III qualifier for the National Championships for the past three years who graduated Magna Cum Laude and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, edged the defending Harmon-Rice Award winner Lance McIlhenny (SMU '84) by one point to capture the 1983-84 award.

McIlhenny edged Tell Bruner (Centre '86) by a point to finish second in the closest Harmon-Rice balloting in the history of the award. Alioto scored 23 points, McIlhenny 22 and Bruner 21.

Alioto placed second or third in the 134-lb. division of the President's Athletic Conference in 1982, 1983 and 1984. He was voted the "Outstanding Freshman Wrestler" in 1980-81 and co-captain of the wrestling team both his junior and senior years. He was voted by the coaches and teaching staff at Allegheny as co-recipient of the "Outstanding Male Athlete of the Year" for 1983-84.

Each of his four years he was selected as an Alden Scholar, which means he carried a 3.8 gpa or better. His chapter Participation included awards chairman, public relations chairman, community service project chairman and big brother. He participated in chapter intramurals in seven sports. He was a student judicial advisor in 1982-83-84; resident advisor for the Freshman Hall in 1982-83 and resident director of the Freshman Hall Dormitory in 1983-84.

McIlhenny, winner of the award last year, was a unanimous All-Phi football selection the past two years as well as an All-Southwest Conference quarterback. He had a career total offense of 3,516 yards and led the Mustangs the past three seasons to a 34-4-1 record. He served as chapter chaplain and participated in the chapter's Casino Party and St. Paul Fitness Festival. He also served as social chairman. He maintained a 2.7 gpa and will graduate on schedule even though he played football four years.

Bruner carries a 4 pt. gpa as a biology major and through his junior year he has never received a grade of less than A. He is a starter in both football and basketball.

In football he was an All-Conference defensive back and his basketball team was 10-0 in conference play winning the championship. He was selected over all upperclassmen for the Tom Bartlet Award as a varsity player with the highest gpa each of the past two years. He was also selected for the school's highest academic honor, the Richard Watson Memorial Award. ■

APPOINTMENTS - MEETINGS - ANNOUNCEMENTS

Loving Chosen Adviser of the Year

BY CHRISTOPHER L. JOHNSTON
(DePauw '83)

"His dedication is immense; from rush to graduation and beyond, Mr. Loving is constantly showing his concern for his Phi Delta Theta brothers."

Those words, from Lou Gervolino, the past president of Florida Beta at Rollins College best summarize the holistic approach taken by this year's recipient of the Samuel V. Stone Outstanding Chapter Adviser award, Brother James William (Bill) Loving, Jr. (Rollins '79).

In the words of another chapter member, "not only does he participate in events organized by us but in fact organizes those of his own. Frequently inviting actives and pledges out to his home for both meetings and social function, Bill Loving extends his commitment to Phi Delta Theta well into his free time. I and many of my brothers take advantage of his counsel in academic and school related matters, feeling free to visit him in his office often when Fraternity business is not the express purpose."

Loving becomes the second consecutive recipient of this award whose association with Phi Delta Theta began after his undergraduate days. His initiation came some five or more years after he accepted the role of adviser to Florida Beta. In the year of his initiation, (1979) the chapter had just received its second Kansas City Trophy. The chapter earned this award mostly, say observers in the fraternity and in the school, because of the dedication and proactive approach taken by him toward the chapter.

Born in Bowling Green, KY,

Loving received his B.A. from Baylor University and a graduate degree from Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. Since 1965, he has worked in college administration. Moving to Florida in 1968, he helped open Florida Technological University, now the University of Central Florida. In 1970, he was named Director of Student Aid at Rollins College, a position he presently holds.

He took on the role as adviser to Florida Beta shortly after his arrival at Rollins. It was not until the installation of Florida Theta at the University of Tampa in 1979 that Loving took on the colors of Azure and Argent.

He is known at Rollins not only as an excellent counsellor to the men of Florida Beta, but also as the Rollins community's strongest advocate of the fraternity system. Says David Lord, comptroller of the college and former IFC adviser, "He truly believes in what fraternities can do for young men, and he advocates this belief on campus. Bill is a real strength to the fraternity system."

Complimenting his unparalleled respect as a college administrator, Loving is one of Central Florida's most noted photography critics. Having studied with the internationally acclaimed photographers Ansel Adams and Andre Kertesz, he presented an exhibit of contemporary photographic art this spring on the Rollins campus. Says Gervolino, "Once again his endeavors were in the spirit of Florida Beta".

The position of chapter adviser is the most important volunteer position in the hierarchy of Phi Delta Theta. It is unfortunate we only recognize one of the many outstanding advisers with the Stone Award. However, several other advisers were named as runners-up to Loving. These men, in addition to their duties as advisers, have participated in Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences, served on house corporations, and helped with IFCs and Alumni clubs. Special commendation goes to these five excellent advisers: Dwight Nelson, Indiana Epsilon at Hanover College, 14 years; Stan Gilson, California Zeta at California State University-Northridge, 8 years; Richard Owens, Montana Alpha at the University of Montana, 7 years; Michael Twigg, Maryland Alpha at the University of Maryland, 6 years; and Tom Arnett, Utah Alpha at the University of Utah, 2 years.

New Phi Delt Directory Calls Now Underway

Many Phi Delt alumni have already received telephone calls from the Harris Publishing Company, publishers of the fraternity's official alumni directory. The purpose of the telephone contact is to verify the information which the alumni provided on the directory questionnaires and the current information held on alumni records.

At the same time, the telephone representatives of the publishing company are inviting alumni to purchase personal copies of the directory.

The directory is to be released in the spring. Alumni will be listed alphabetically, geographically, and by chapter. Each listing will contain name, class year, chapter, residence address and phone number and business or professional information when available.

If you are interested in ordering a copy and have not heard from the publisher you may contact the publisher direct at the following address: Doreen Luff, Customer Service Representative, Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc., 3 Barker Avenue, White Plains, NY 10601.

CORRECTION

In the Summer issue it was incorrectly reported on page 96 (Recent Additions To The David D. Banta Library) that D. C. Bass & Sons Construction Company, 1893-1968 was given by the author's daughter, Mrs. Guy L. Berry. The book was given to the library of Jesse D. Davis (Oklahoma '30) of Tulsa. He later arranged for Mrs. Berry to give the library a copy of the First 75 Years of the D. C. Bass and Sons Construction Company, 1893-1968.

INITIATION: Present for the initiation of Dr. William Schrader were Dr. Irwin Hyatt (Emory '57), Dr. George Beggs (Emory '59), Dr. Conyers Thompson (Emory '59), R. Walter Ashmore (Emory '57), Jerry Huie (Emory '59), Tom Thompson (Emory '57), Ben Cheek (Emory '59), Dr. Joe Caskin (Emory '57), Dr. and Mrs. Schraeder, John Malone (Emory '58), Dr. Phil Benton (Emory '57), Carl T. ## Pledgeship of 26 Years Ends

Dr. William Schraeder of Springfield, Illinois, ended a pledgeship of 26 years this past March when he was initiated into the Georgia Beta Chapter at Emory University of Atlanta.

Dr. Schraeder met Dr. Phil Benton (Emory '57) at an orthopedic course in Tampa last February. After discussing their experiences in Phi Delta Theta, Schraeder admitted that he had completed all of his required pledge activities but had never been initiated as he was forced to leave Emory after one year. This news prompted Benton to contact General Headquarters about the possibility of conducting a special initiation for Schraeder. The ceremony was held while Dr. Schraeder was in Atlanta for a medical convention.

The afternoon began with Schraeder's arrival by limosine and a rousing welcome from the alumni and active brothers assembled. Following the ceremony, everyone enjoyed a catered reception. The active brothers and alumni sang "Tell Me Why" to Mrs. Schraeder and exchanged stories and songs well into the evening. Dr. Schraeder expressed heartfelt gratitude and claimed that he had a better appreciation of certain aspects of the ceremony that most likely would have been lost on him at the age of eighteen. Dr. George P. Cuttino (Swarthmore '35), faculty adviser for the chapter, stated that the event elevated alumni spirit more than any other he had known.—

Community Service Expanded

Expansion of the fraternity's community service and philanthropy programs was developed during the September General Council meeting in Canada.

As a result A. Cline Young of Houston has replaced Brian Dunn as Community Service Chairman and Dunn has been tabbed to head a new position, Philanthropic Projects Chairman.

Young's title has been changed from Community Service Day Chairman to Community Service Chairman reflecting the movement within the fraternity to emphasize community service projects throughout the year. There will, of course, still be a Community Service Day.

The Council also decided to adopt the fight against amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's disease) as its international philanthropic effort. Dunn will head up that effort.

NEWSFRONTS

The Colby College Board of Trustees withdrew recognition of all Greek organizations at Colby this past May. With little undergraduate interest and lack of general alumni support, the General Council suspended the charter of Maine Alpha in June. An attempt was made on behalf of all Greek organizations at Colby to challenge the action by the board but the effort was not successful.

Merle E. Lancaster (Mrs. Henry) retired this summer from the staff of Phi Delta Theta General Headquarters after more than 25 years service.

Starting in September, 1934, just out of high school, she was employed by then Executive Secretary Arthur R. Priest. A break in her service occurred after her marriage to Henry Lancaster and she again returned to work in 1953 during the tenure of Executive Secretary Paul C. Beam. She continued to work until 1961 when she and her husband went into business in Oxford.

Again in 1973, after the sale of the business, Executive Vice President Robert J. Miller persuaded her to again return to work, where she continued until her retirement.

A luncheon was held in her honor in June with the headquarters staff in attendance. Also present was Harry M. Gerlach, who was a member of the headquarters staff when she was first employed.

RETIREMENT: Mrs. Merle Lancaster (seated) is shown with Harry M. Gerlach, Survey Commission member, and Robert J. Miller, executive vice president. Mrs. Lancaster retired in August after 25 years of service on the headquarters staff. Gerlach was a member of the staff when she first was employed in September, 1934.

TORONTO CSD: Ron Lillie, chaplain of Ontario Alpha at Toronto, Alfredo Griffin, shortstop for the Toronto Blue Jays, and ALS chapter representatives are recognized prior to the June 1 game between Toronto and the New York Yankees (Top Right). Griffin was given the "Iron Man Award" from the ALS Society recognizing an individual who best represents the finer features of Lou Gehrig's baseball abilities. Phi Deltis were at the game soliciting donations to raise money for ALS.

PHI WEDDING: When David J. Wood (Auburn '76) and Jennifer Purefoy were married Aug. 6, 1983 in Pollard, AL, all of the men of the wedding party were Phi Deltis. They include John S. Hornsby (Auburn '75); Hugh C. Wood (Auburn '80), the brother; David J. Wood, an ordained Presbyterian minister who performed the ceremony; Richard J. Wood (Auburn '38), the father; and Dr. James J. Diffie (Auburn '75).

PHIS IN SPORTS

SPORTS SHORTS

JOE CASTIGLIONE (Maryland '79) has been promoted to assistant athletic director at the University of Missouri. He will oversee marketing and communications... DR. DONALD R. ERNST (Penn State '33) participated in seven outdoor track meets from May through July. He finished first in the Stroh's one-mile walk on May 19 in New Bloomfield, PA. He finished first in the 70 and over age group in both the 100-yard dash and the 3,200 meter race on May 20 at the Western Pennsylvania Track Club in Washington, PA. In the Western Pennsylvania Open on June 9 he placed first in the 3,200 meter walk and third in the 100-yard dash. On June 24 he won both the 100-meter dash and the 1,500 meter walk in the 70 and over category in the Senior Olympics. He won the 100 meter dash on June 30 in the Central Pennsylvania Masters meet. He placed first in the 100 meter dash and second in the 1½ mile walk in the 65 and over age group at the Regional Tri-County Senior Games at Hershey on July 12. Finally, he won the one mile walk and the 100 meter dash in the 70 and over group at the Philadelphia Masters meet held at Temple on July 21...

PETE DESJARDINS (Stanford '31) was the subject of an article in The Miami Herald on July 8. He won two gold medals in diving at the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, only the second man in history to win both the springboard and platform diving events before Greg Louganis did it in the summer games at Los Angeles. In the platform event it was first announced that he had finished second and that Farid Simailka of Egypt had won. But during the Egyptian anthem a tabulation error was discovered and the proceedings stopped. DESJARDINS had already returned to the ship which served as the team's home when the error was discovered.

ADDITIONS TO HONOR ROLL

Two late additions to the All-Sports Honor Roll published in the Fall issue of The Scroll include Peter Lund (San Diego '85) and Bruce Nakamusav (San Diego '85). Lund set a school record by hurling the javelin 194 feet. Nakamusav was an NCAA Division II-All-American in golf.

HONORED: Robert J. Mills (Ohio '49) (second from right) was honored at a retirement testimonial June 6 at Solon, Ohio. Visiting with him following the dinner are Zip Zednick, an Ohio end who caught many of his passes; Harry Lackey, who coached him in both football and basketball at Athens High School; Mills and Bob Wren (Ohio '43), his college baseball coach.

Mills Honored At Retirement

Robert J. Mills (Ohio '49) was honored at a retirement testimonial June 6 at Solon, Ohio where he completed a 31-year coaching-teaching career.

Mills was quarterback on the OU football team 1947-49 and played in the outfield for Bobcat baseball coach Bob Wren (Ohio '43).

This were much in evidence at the testimonial. Wren and Ritter Collett (Ohio '42) spoke on the program. Ernie Kish (Ohio '41) who played in the majors with the Philadelphia A's and Bob Coe (Ohio '41) were in the audience.

Mills started his coaching career at Strongsville, also in the Cleveland area where one of his early quarterbacks was Sal Bando, better known as the slugging third baseman of the Oakland A's in their three consecutive world series triumphs 1972-73-74. He coached football, baseball and served as athletic director at Solon.

CORRECTION

In the summer issue on page 90 it was reported that William "Tippy" Dye (Ohio State '37), a former member of the All-Phi Basketball Board, was deceased. He is still very much alive living in Port Charlotte, FL. The Scroll has received numerous phone calls and letters about this which does indicate that such details are read by many alumni. We apologize to "Tippy."—Dr. John Davis, Jr.

Football Selections Changed

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
Sports Editor

Since the inception of the All-Phi football ballot nearly 40 years ago, there have been different honorary teams between the All Phi (Division I & Division II) football schools and Little All Phi (NAIA, Div. III & Div. IV) football schools.

However, in the past eight to ten years there has been a void of candidates for the All-Phi team from such powerful schools as Auburn, Duke, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Ohio State, Purdue, Tennessee, TCU, Texas, USC and UCLA.

In the last five years there has been a decline in Phi Delt football players from Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, Penn State, Illinois, Colorado, Clemson and California. This has forced the ballot to contain athletes from small colleges such as Lawrence, Ripon, Hanover, Puget Sound etc.

We have continued in the past 10 years to recognize the smaller schools with a Little All-Phi football team. However, with the 1984 edition all schools will be thrown together for an All-Phi team and the Little All-Phi will be eliminated. This was done on the basketball ballot several years ago. The chapters of all schools were thrown together and it is called the All-Phi basketball team.

This change has been necessary and justified with the decline of Phi Delt players from Division I schools. It will also eliminate a couple of letters in the past two years from alumni who have questioned how we distinguished between Little All Phi and All Phi Team candidates.—
John Davis, Jr., Sports Editor.

Council Adopts Insurance Program

BY RUSTY RICHARDSON
Director of Alumni Services

Responding to numerous requests from chapters and house corporations for assistance in the area of insurance protection, the General Council commissioned James R. Favor and Company to conduct a detailed survey, during the summer and fall of 1984, to determine the state of the Fraternity's property and liability insurance coverages. The results of the survey, based upon information obtained from 96 per cent of the fraternity's chapters and/or house corporations, have now been released. Some of the highlights are as follows:

Type of Insurance	# of Chapters With Known Risk	% of Chapters With Coverage	% of Chapters Uninsured
Boiler and Machinery	93	30	70
Contents	159	58	42
Directors and Officers	159	1	99
Extra Expense	159	6	94
Fidelity Bond	159	100*	0

General Liability	159	70	30
Hired and Non-owned Auto	159	35	65
Loss of Rents	129	30	70
Property	129	72	28
Umbrella Liability	159	11	89
Workers' Compensation	77	62	38

*Covered under General Fraternity Policy

After reviewing the exposures, as well as considering that broader protection and certain cost advantages could be afforded through the development of a comprehensive international insurance program, the General Council elected to proceed with the development and subsequent implementation of such a program. The effective date for this program was established as February 15, 1985.

The premiums for this program have been determined in the following manner:

1) Liability coverages—X number of dollars per undergraduate member and pledge is billed to each chapter. In this way, a smaller chapter is not penalized by having to pay an unproportionate amount of the total premium cost. Likewise, many larger chapters can enjoy cost savings as opposed to their previous premiums.

2) Property coverages—Initially, these premiums have been based on the best information available from the house corporation, previous insurance agent, or chapter. Every house corporation was then consulted on the specific amount of desired coverage. Appraisals of all structures will be used to obtain updated information for future premiums.

This important program, one of the first of its kind, was developed to guarantee that every chapter and house corporation could obtain superior insurance protection at affordable rates. James R. Favor and Company, a leader in the field of fraternity insurance, will serve as the insurance program representative. ■

McKenzie Enters Chapter Grand

Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie (Georgia '45), 64, died Dec. 24, 1984 at Georgia Baptist Medical Center in Atlanta after a long illness.

Judge McKenzie, who had spent 23 years as judge of the Fulton County Superior Court bench, was president of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta from 1962 to 1964.

He was first elected to the council as a member-at-large in 1956. He served as treasurer from 1958 to 1962 and then president. After completing his term in 1962 he was asked by the council to finish out the term of Hayward S. Biggers (Lawrence '31) when Biggers died in July, 1965. He served until the election at the Convention in 1966.

Initiated into Georgia Alpha on Jan. 13, 1943, he served as president of his chapter and then president of Epsilon Province, from 1949 to 1956. Active at most Phi Delta Theta conventions, he served as toastmaster at the 1984 Convention in New Orleans.

JUDGE MCKENZIE, 1984

McKenzie was born in Blytheville, AR., and graduated from Sidney Lanier High School in Montgomery, AL. Following graduation from Georgia he then graduated with honors from the Georgia Law School in 1944. He then practiced law in Atlanta until 1956 when Gov. Ernest Vandiver (Georgia '40) appointed him to the Fulton court.

He ruled on numerous important cases while on the bench. It was McKenzie who issued the 1966 temporary injunction ordering the Milwaukee Braves to play in Atlanta, and the 1966 order ruling that the Braves' contract with the new Atlanta Stadium was valid; an opposing order in Wisconsin had ordered the team to play there in 1966.

McKenzie validated the $18 million in bonds issued in 1964 to build the stadium.

He rejected Wayne Williams' request for bond in July, 1981. Williams was later found guilty on two counts of murder in 1982, in connection with the missing and murdered children cases in Atlanta. He was one of the authors of a 1948 resolution in the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce calling for the "unmasking" of Ku Klux Klan members on Atlanta streets. The Atlanta City Council later adopted a city ordinance "unmasking" the Klan by forbidding the wearing of masks on city streets. He was the Atlanta Jaycees' "Man of the Year" in 1949.

McKenzie served on Phi Delta Theta's General Council during a difficult period. This was the period when the "Membership Clause" was debated at almost every Convention. He supported the changes made at both the 1966 and the 1968 Conventions.

The judge was a former chairman of the National Conference of State Trial Judges and instructor at the State Trial Judges College in Reno, NV. He was president of Atlanta's Catholic Social Services in 1956 and Georgia coordinator of President Kennedy's "Food for Peace" program in 1961.

He was a member of the Atlanta, Georgia and American bar associations, the American Judicature Society and the American Law Institute.

McKenzie, in a 1962 Law Day speech said that a trial judge "is the most terribly alone man in the world."

"In the exercise of judicial discretion and judgment, a trial judge must be guided solely by the dictates of his conscience, the evidence before him, the law applicable and his oath... He must see that the guilty are punished but at the same time that the innocent are protected."

"Phi Delta Theta owes Judge McKenzie a great debt of gratitude," said Bob Miller, executive vice president. "He, like so many other volunteers, loved our fraternity and gave freely of his time and talents to make it better."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Mundy McKenzie of Atlanta, two sons and two daughters.

Wacker Backers Turn TCU Upside Down

He has turned Texas Christian University and Fort Worth, Texas, upside down.

He has taken a team from a 1-8-2 record in 1983, their 17th losing season in 18 years, to an 8-3 nationally ranked team in 1984—topped off by an Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

He has been named Coach of the Year in college football for 1984.

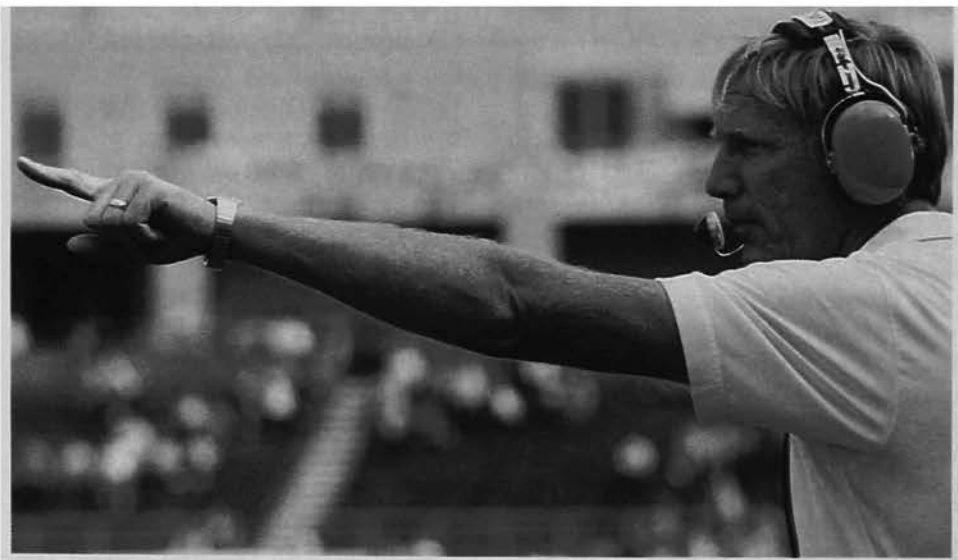

He is Jim Wacker (Valparaiso '59) and he has made "Wacker Backers" out of everyone in the Southwest Conference with his enthusiasm and "can do" attitude.

Success is not new to Wacker. He came to TCU in November, 1982 after four years at Southwest Texas State where his Bobcats won 33 of their last 35 ballgames and three straight league titles. Included in that span were back-to-back NCAA Division II national titles (1981 and 1982), a perfect 14-0 mark for the Bobcats in '82 and the honor of being named to every Coach of the Year award the same year.

Wacker has had ballclubs in the national playoffs (NAIA and NCAA Division II) six times and has already won four national crowns (two at Texas Lutheran in 1974 and 1975 and the two at SWT). He owns a career coaching record of 113 wins, 44 losses and 3 ties—that's a winning percentage of .720—in 14 seasons. He has suffered through only two losing seasons in his coaching career, the second one being his first year at TCU.

Over the past 10 years the TCU Horned Frogs averaged 1.5 victories per season. But Wacker energy has quickly transformed into "TCUbelieevable"—his favorite expression.

He has done it with hard work and enthusiasm. "I want people to think of my players as great players," he said in a recent interview. "My assistants do all the hard work and I just stay out of their way."

Not so say his coaches and players. "The man's a genius with X's and O's," says an assistant. "He did a great job in '83 when we were losing," says fifth-year senior center Mike Flynn. "He simply wouldn't let us get down. I'm not a great center but he sure has me believing that I am."

Wacker's enthusiasm and selling ability enabled him to put together two very good recruiting campaigns. But these players are yet to come. He has won at TCU in 1984 with players who were already there.

On the sidelines he yells, jumps up and down, throws clipboards and generally goes wild. He has transmitted this spirit to his players and, for the first time in almost two decades, the Frogs are playing with the zest that characterized great TCU teams of the past that featured names like Jim Swink (TCU '57) and former Dallas Cowboy great Bob Lilly.

"He is a man of tremendous principle and conviction," says Dr. William E. Tucker, chancellor of TCU and the man who hired him. One of the first things he did following his initial recruiting effort at TCU was to write all his fellow coaches in the Southwest Conference and urge them to get together to clean up recruiting practices.

The response was very very negative. There are still hard feelings about this letter from the "rookie coach" today. "I'm going to stand for what I think is right, and if they don't like it, the heck with 'em," Wacker replied.

Wacker believes that football must also be fun. He is determined to have fun. So determined that he gets emotionally involved with every facet of the program. It is like a religion to him. TCU followers are certainly having much more fun today than they have had in a long time and attendance at Amon Carter Stadium attests to that.

On Nov. 17 his Frogs had a chance to win the Southwest Conference championship and a trip to the Cotton Bowl when they played Texas before the first sell-out at Amon Carter since 1957. But they lost to Texas 44-23. Wacker's reaction the following day? "This is a great day," he said. "We got beat by a better team yesterday, but today's another day." Sounds like a quote from Gone With the Wind.

The loss was a disappointment but it didn't put a damper on the 1984 season for Frog fans. They know that Jim Wacker is for real. He is "unbelieevable." •

Gardner Bucks Reagan Landslide

In the November Ronald Reagan landslide, a Democrat, W. Booth Gardner (Washington-Seattle '58) scored a major upset in winning the governorship of Washington while in other areas Phis lost some ground.

William F. Winter (Mississippi '44), former governor of Mississippi, ran for the U.S. Senate from that state and lost, leaving only one other Phi governor, Mark White (Baylor '62), the Democrat governor of Texas.

The number of Phis in the U.S. Senate remains unchanged with Sam Nunn, Jr. (Georgia Tech '60), Georgia Democrat, and J. Bennett Johnston (Washington and Lee '54), Louisiana Democrat, both winning re-election. Dennis W. DeConcini (Arizona '50), Arizona Democrat, was not up for election.

There are now six Phis in the House, three less than the last two years. Barber Conable (Cornell '43), Rep. from New York's 30th District, retired and Jim McNulty (Arizona '50), Demo. from Arizona's 5th district, lost his bid for re-election.

Those who won re-election include James T. Broyhill (North Carolina '50), Rep. from North Carolina's 10 district; Berkley Bedell (Iowa '44), Rep. from Iowa's 6th district; D. Douglas Barnard (Mercer '43), Demo. from Georgia's 10th district; Wyche Fowler (Davison '62), Demo from Georgia's 5th district; James Andrew Courter (Colgate '63), Rep. from New Jersey's 13th district and James C. Slattery (Washburn '70), Demo. from Kansas's 2nd district.

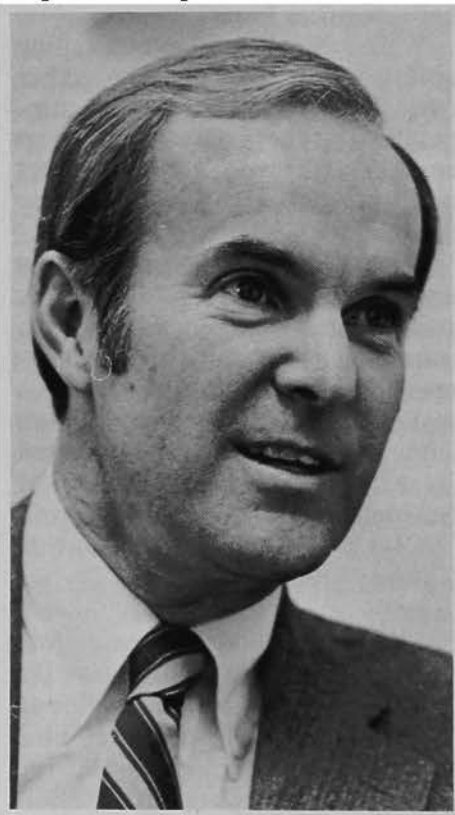

Still very much involved in the Reagan White House are James A. Baker III (Texas '57), newly named Secretary of the Treasury, and T. Kenneth Cribb, Jr. (Washington and Lee '70), Assistant Counselor to President Reagan.

In Canada, Gerald A. Regan (Dalhousie '52) was elected Canadian Secretary of State and Minister for Fitness and Amateur Sports.

Gardner, heir to a Weyerhaeuser lumber fortune, traveled through the state and accused Republican incumbent Governor John Spellman of creating "buck passing commissions to deal with fiscal problems." In the end Spellman lost the endorsement of the Teamsters and was unseated.

The new governor served as a state senator from 1970 to 1973 and was serving as Pierce County Executive in Tacoma when he jumped into the Democratic party primary race for governor.

As County executive "he voluntarily walked into a government best known for its corruption, mismanagement and patronage. In the spring of 1981, Pierce County was $4.7 million in the red. By the end of this year (1983) Gardner expects a surplus of $1 million...

GARDNER

Even his most vocal critics concede he's a master administrator." (Peter Callaghan, The Everett Herald, July 24, 1983)

While serving in the state senate he was chairman of the education, manufacturing and development, and commerce and regulatory agencies committee. He sponsored bills to include the legislature in open meeting law requirements; help the unemployed learn job-hunting skills; help workers displaced by new technology; require interest on delinquent taxes to go to public schools; expand property tax exemptions for needy senior citizens; and help create new jobs with an industrial mortgage insurance program. He had a special interest in education programs for the disadvantaged.

Born in Tacoma, Gardner received a B.A. in business from the University of Washington in 1958 and an M.B.A. from Harvard in 1963. In 1966 he was assistant to the dean of the Harvard School of Business Administration and from 1967 to 1972 he was director of the school of business and economics, University of Puget Sound.

He co-founded the Central Area Youth Association of Seattle, which provides athletic, social adjustment and educational activities for minority and economically disadvantaged youths.

He is a trustee or board member of the Central City Learning Center of Tacoma; Washington Commission for the Humanities; Seattle Mental Health Institute; Troubleshooters (advocacy for developmentally disabled); Private Industry Council (job training and retraining programs); and University of Puget Sound Board of Trustees.

He and his wife, Jean, have two children. Doug is currently a business major at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma. Gail is currently an economics major at Dartmouth College. ■

Texas Theta Honors Frank Heflin

BY GARY CULP

Texas Theta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity at West Texas State University celebrated its 20th anniversary with a reunion of chapter initiates on August 10 and 11. The reunion was held at the Sheraton Hotel in Amarillo and attended by more than 250 people.

Activities crammed into the two days included a stag All-Phi get-together and ladies reception on Friday night followed on Saturday by a family picnic at noon and cocktail reception and dance that night. This from as far away as Oregon, Ohio, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, and Alabama returned to enjoy the festivities.

At the reunion, Frank Heflin (Franklin '48) was honored by the chapter for having served 20 years as its chapter adviser. Assisted by several local Phi Delta Theta alumni, Heflin organized Phi Kappa Delta as a local fraternity at WTSU in 1963 with one goal in mind—to become a chapter of Phi Delta Theta National Fraternity. That goal was realized in August 1964 at the General Convention in Pasadena when the chapter received its charter.

Had the chapter not received a Phi Delta Theta charter, it would have disbanded. Since then, Heflin has been instrumental in making the chapter the largest and strongest fraternity on the WTSU campus. More than 750 men at WTSU have signed the Bond of Phi Delta Theta since 1964. Also, he was one of the founders of the Monning House Corporation of Phi Delta Theta, which received $175,000 in pledges at the Reunion for building a new Phi Delta Theta Lodge north of the WTSU campus.

Heflin is currently an assistant professor of history at WTSU and came there as an instructor in history in 1957 after receiving an M.S. in history at Vanderbilt University in 1957 and a B.A. from Franklin College in Indiana in 1948. At Franklin, he became a member of Phi Delta Theta in 1942 before joining the Army Air Corps where he served for 3½ years during World War II.

In 1974, Heflin was selected as the Outstanding Chapter Advisor in Phi Delta Theta and in 1975 was presented the Faculty Excellence Award from the WTSU Alumni Association Phoenix Club. Among other awards at the Reunion, Heflin and his wife, Pat, were presented with a seven-day trip to the Bahamas.

It truly was a great time for all the Texas Theta members who attended. In fact, so much fun was had that many have requested that a Silver Anniversary reunion be held in 1989. That's still five years away, but if you attended the 20th reunion, you know how much fun it was and won't miss the next one. If you didn't attend in 1984, do not miss the one in 1989. So that addresses can be kept current, please send address changes to Gary Culp, 3403 Harmony, Amarillo, Texas 79109. ■

FOUNDERS: Four of the five founders of Texas Theta visit with Frank Heflin (Franklin '48) at their 20-year reunion. They are Tom Ford (West Texas '65), Bill Neslage (West Texas '65), Heflin, Gary Hackley (West Texas '65) and Doug Tanner (West Texas '64). The fifth founder was Terry Niemeier (West Texas '66).

HEFLIN HONORED: Frank Heflin (Franklin '48), with his wife Pat, was honored by Texas Theta for 20 years of service in August.

Garvey Selected '84 Gehrig Winner

The Iron man of the National League has earned Phi Delta Theta's award in memory of baseball's most durable Iron Man.

Steve Garvey, veteran first baseman of the National League champion San Diego Padres, is the 30th recipient of the fraternity's Lou Gehrig Memorial Award.

Gehrig's enduring nickname is Iron Horse of the Yankees and mentioned on his Hall of Fame plaque in Cooperstown in tribute to his having played in 2,130 consecutive games.

A dislocated thumb ended Garvey's 1983 season on July 29 and halted his consecutive game streak at 1,207, the National League record. He had broken the old record held by Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs in Steve's second game as a Padre in April of 1983.

That amazing durability is far from Garvey's major feat in a career that will enter its 15th full season in 1985. He has batted over .300 in seven of his seasons and has topped the 2,000 hit and the 1,000 RBI plateaus.

Although his 1984 statistics were slightly below his usual high level, he enjoyed the kind of a one-night surge that puts him in the legend category. In the fourth game of the NL championship series, he drove in five runs as the Padres scored a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs enroute to the first Padre pennant.

He capped a four-hit performance with the game-winning two-run home run in the ninth off hard-throwing Lee Smith, the ace of the Chicago bullpen.

"Steve has that rare ability to come across as dignified in uniform," said Ritter Collett (Ohio '42), chairman of the selection committee. "He's always been something of an elder statesman long before he was 30."

"The respect everyone in baseball had for him was enhanced by the class he showed in handling two traumatic experiences that hit him in short order. One was his highly publicized divorce and then he was maneuvered into free agency by the Dodgers," Collett added.

The Padres signed him to a long term contract Dec. 21, 1982 after he went through the re-entry draft. He was hurt by the fact the Dodgers considered him expendable but he avoided any recrimination in the daily interviews he was going through at the time.

Evidence of Garvey's community service in his years with the Dodgers can be found in that a junior high school is named in his honor in a Los Angeles suburb.

He became quickly involved with a number of charitable causes when he moved to San Diego and is honorary chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

"I'm very pleased to have won this award and I'm flattered to be compared with Lou Gehrig," Garvey said.

"Lou achieved so much in his career and was so highly regarded that most ball players would be admirers of his ability and stature as a man. I've also been involved in some work with the ALS society."

Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis is known as the Lou Gehrig disease. It killed him in 1941 at age 38. There is still no known cure for the debilitating disease which attacks and slowly destroys muscle and motor control of all body functions.

Garvey grew up in Tampa, Fla. and his first association with a major league club came about when he accompanied his father, a Greyhound bus driver, on chartered runs to transport the Dodgers from their plane to Florida west coast parks where they played exhibitions.

Eventually, the Dodgers requested the elder Garvey for all their charter runs and young Steve wore a Dodger uniform for the first time as a bat boy.

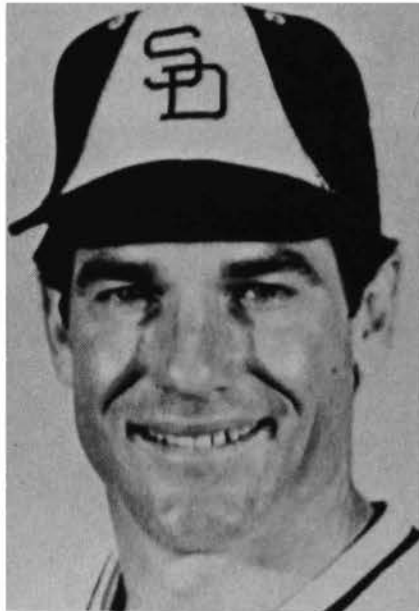

He was drafted by the Minnesota Twins in 1968 when he graduated from high school but did not sign, accepting a football scholarship at Michigan State where he was a standout defensive back as well as a baseball All-American.

When the Dodgers drafted him in 1968, he quickly signed and was on his way to the big leagues. He returned to MSU and earned a degree in education in 1971.

As for his hitting consistency, in six of the seven seasons (1974-1980) he was over 200 hits per year. He is eighth on the all-time list in 200-hit seasons and all seven men ahead of him including Gehrig are Hall of Famers.

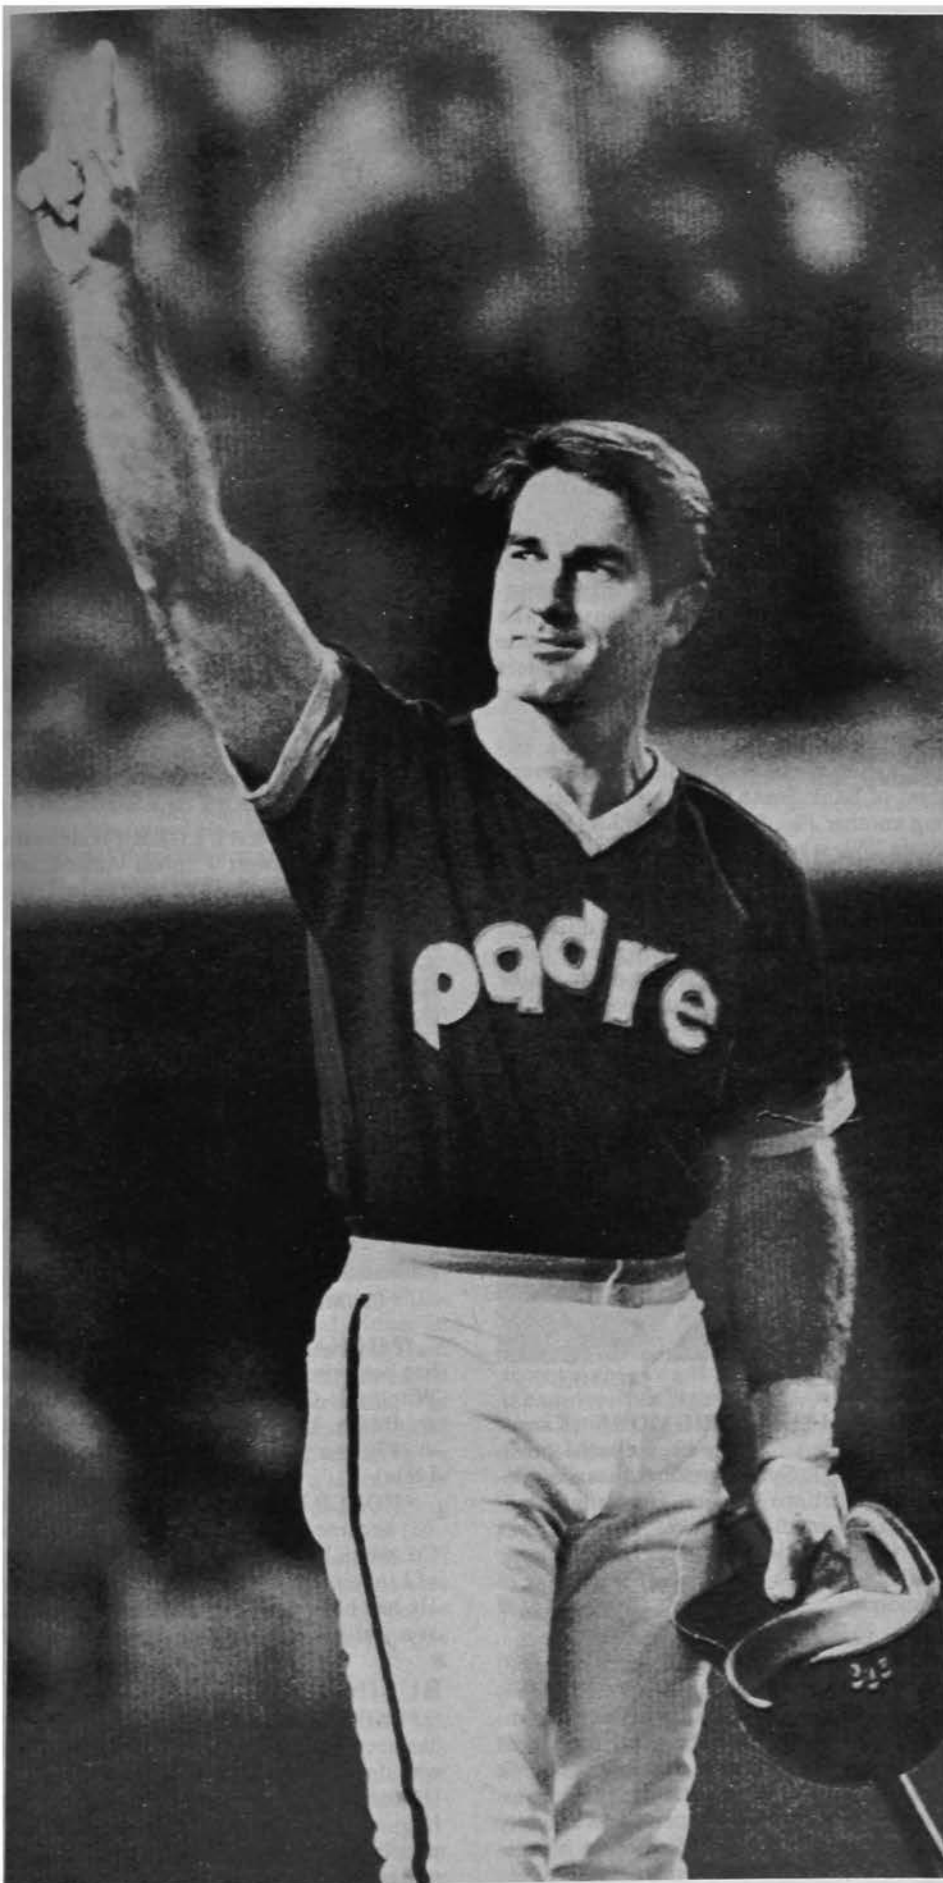

"In addition to everything else, I'm amazed at the company I'm in as a Gehrig award winner," Garvey added. "It's great to be in company with good friends the likes of Mike Schmidt, Pete Rose, and my old teammate Ron Cey."

The award will be formally presented sometime in the 1985 season in Jack Murphy Stadium at a home game of the Padres. ■

MORRIS M. BRYAN, JR. ('41), 65, died Dec. 29 in Jefferson, GA. He assumed the presidency of Jefferson Mills at the age of 29 in 1948 following the death of his father. He became renowned internationally for his work with the American Textile Manufacturers Association and in Georgia for consolidating what had been a disjointed series of four classification state track meets into one Olympic-type event, held at Jefferson. He also became chairman of the Jefferson School in 1948, a position he held until his death. Over a period of 37 years, he gave hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Jefferson school system, which became one of the best in the state. In addition to building the first all-weather track at a high school, the football stadium and dressing facilities, he also built a new library and an astronomy center including both optical and radio telescopes with color television monitors. He also provided housing for targeted teachers, coaches and administrators at nominal or no expense to them. In 1965 he sent shockwaves through the textile industry when he built at a cost of $5 million, the most automated textile plant in the world, incorporating computerized labor-saving ideas that cut the number of human hands steps in the manufacture of corduroy from 17 to six, proving his widely doubted contention that ultra-high speed textile production was possible. ## BARTLESVILLE

On Oct. 18, 14 alumni met in the Community Room at Home Savings and Loan Association. They voted unanimously to reactivate the Bartlesville Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club.

The newly reactivated club held its second function on Dec. 13 at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Any alumni living in the Bartlesville area wishing to obtain information about the club's activities should contact Dan Cheg-widden at 333-7200 or 333-8693.

MARYLAND ALPHA

Maryland Alpha Phis initiated in the period of 1932-1942 held their second annual reunion on Oct. 2-3, 1984 at the Martingham Inn on the Miles River at St. Michaels, MD.

Good fellowship and renewal of friendships were enjoyed by 20 brothers, 10 of whom brought their wives. Regrets were received from 11 Phis.

Attendees from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and New York included Norman Prince, Harry Hess (Bond No. 2), Doug Parks (Bond No. 5), Herb Brill, Buck Rittenhouse, Eric Gibbs, John Woodell, Lou Herrmann, Jack Tunis, Sam Mills, Courtney Lankford, Dick Culp, Bill Mann, Ernie Wooden, John Jacob, Bob Cannon, Joe Mattingly, Art Gambrill, Jim Kirby, and Jim Lewald.

The group resolved to "do it again" in October, 1985—Jim Lewald.

OREGON ALPHA

The Salishan Lodge at Gleneden, Oregon, once again served as the meeting site for a unique group of Oregon Alpha alumni. The meeting, which was held October 7-9, 1984, was attended by 35 Phis and 27 wives, plus the Executive Vice President and his wife.

On the opening evening of the reunion, the Phis and their wives were the guests of Brother Ed Wells in his nearby home. The following day was set aside for golf, tennis, shopping, sightseeing and visiting. The day was concluded with a banquet and informal dancing.

The following morning, the group met for a business lunch, at which time important decisions were made concerning future meetings and financial operations.

The first reunion of this group was held approximately 18 years ago, when the University of Oregon classes of 1924 through 1932 were included. The reunions have been held approximately every 18 months and, in the intervening years, additional classes have been added. The meeting this year, for example, included all Phi Delta Theta alumni from the University of Oregon in the classes of 1924-1939. At the business meeting, it was decided that the classes of 1940 and 1941 would be invited to attend next year.—Robert J. Miller

PHILADELPHIA

At a recent meeting, the board of directors of the Philadelphia Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club elected new officers for two year terms as follows: President Bill Stockwell (Pittsburgh '76), Vice President Jesse R. Pebley (UCLA '60), Secretary E. Spencer Owen (Pennsylvania '28) and Treasurer Maytor H. McKinley (UCLA '60).

Following his election, President Stockwell commented that he looks forward to a activity filled two year term featuring a number of diverse activities for the Alumni Club. Stockwell, one of the founders of the Philadelphia Alumni Club, previously served as province president for the years 1980 and 1981 for the Gamma North Province.

The club enjoyed its Fall party at the exclusive Merion Cricket Club located on Philadelphia's elite Main Line.

The activities included cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, and of course a period of congeniality and camaraderie which is present whenever Phi's gather.

The event was the best attended thus far for the Club and, represents an important first function in the term of Stockwell who commented, "I am both pleased and gratified by the turn-out at this event and, look forward to the next two years of Club functions. We are presently planning our next event as a Japanese Tea House Party scheduled in the Spring of 1985."

PHILADELPHIA: Out-going president, Maytor H. McKinley, turns over the presidency of the Philadelphia Alumni Club to incoming president, Bill Stockwell.

RANCHO SANTA FE

An enthusiastic group of Phis, numbering 27 and representing colleges and universities in 14 states and 19 chapters of Phi Delta Theta, agreed unanimously to reactivate the Rancho Santa Fe (CA.) alumni chapter of the fraternity on Oct. 23, 1984 at The Inn at Rancho Santa Fe.

At the luncheon/business meeting provisional officers planned and conducted the affair, but every Phi present participated in the discussion that led to the reactivating of a charter first granted in 1964 and allowed to become inactive during the late 70s and early 80s. More than 40 Brothers have paid their annual $10 dues.

Two future dates for luncheon meetings at The Inn have been designated: Jan. 15 and April 23, 1985. The Inn at Rancho Santa Fe will be the locale. Brothers interested in attending should contact Duncan Hadden (Washington '70) at The Inn.—D. W. Koppes

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH

The St. Petersburg Beach, Florida's Alumni Club continues to find its most successful function to be their Founder's Day Banquet and Golden Legion Ceremonial. Held this past year at beautiful Lakewood Country Club located within the city of St. Petersburg, an overflow membership along with their ladies enjoyed the ever-present companionship of Phi Delta Theta during a cocktail hour which preceded a luscious menu of New York Strip steak with associated trimmings "a la Lakewood."

Subsequent to our excellent repast, preparation was initiated to proceed with the Golden Legion Ceremonial wherein our alumni club had the privilege of participation as sponsor of the Golden Legion Ceremony in recognition of the following qualified Legionnaire prospects: George C. McNaughton (Washburn '37), Charles Gray Morgan (Georgia Tech '37), Robert Alexander Morgan (Auburn '37), David E. Ponder (Emory '37) and Melvin R. Temmer (Colorado '35).

A most impressive ceremony was concluded with the induction of the aforementioned brothers (with the exception of brother McNaughton, who notified the club he could not attend due to illness but who was assured he would be honored accordingly) who then took their positions in a receiving line to be congratulated by those brothers already members of the Golden Legion and by those brothers anticipating their eligibility.

Of particular interest in this Golden Legion Ceremony was that brothers Charles Morgan and Robert Morgan, who became qualified for the Golden Legion the same year, are not only brothers in the bond but are also brothers by birth. As our knowledgeable chaplain phrased it, "they are male relatives having the same parents." How many times such a situation has presented itself to headquarters would probably require research over and above stipulated job titles.

Of further note is the topic concerning the distance our members traveled in order to return for the ceremony. Beginning with brother William Stephens (Dickinson '26), Daytona Beach, Florida; followed by Harold Sterrett (West Virginia '31), Clayton, Georgia; followed by L. Crozier Wood (Georgia '32), Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; followed by Robert A. Morgan (Auburn '37), New York, New York.

At the conclusion of our gathering, a resolution was offered to express appreciation for the excellent arrangements for this most successful affair to brother John Edward Stambaugh (Louisiana State '41) and his committee.—Dean Meck Hoffmann, II

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH

The annual officer installation banquet scheduled to resume the St. Petersburg Beach, Florida Alumni Club's activities following a dark period during the summer months of June, July and August was held on September 28 at the Bradenton Yacht Club in Palmetto, Florida.

GOLDEN LEGIONNAIRES: Newly initiated Golden Legionnaires and their sponsors at the St. Petersburg Beach Founders Day include Robert Morgan, Richard Davis, Gary Morgan, Joe Ganon, David Ponder, Lew Grafft, Mel Temmer, Norm Beardsley and Howard Stoops.

OFFICERS: Officers of the St. Petersburg Beach Alumni Club include Frederick Holmes Houser, II, warden; William Bridges Askew, treasurer; Dean M. Hoffman, II, reporter; J. Howard Stoops, president; Charles Richard Davis, secretary; Richard Everett Raymond, chaplain; and John E. Stambaugh, historian.

With the exception of several brothers still sojourning elsewhere, a good turnout of dedicated brothers gathered to renew the fellowship which so typifies our club.

In a formal "passing the gavel" ceremony, the following brothers were installed upon whose responsibility rests the continued success of our organization during the coming year: President, Robert V. Green (Duke '32), Vice President, William M. Houser (Mercer '75), Secretary, C. Richard Davis (Union '35), Treasurer, Robert A. Morgan, Jr. (Auburn '37), Chaplain, Norman T. Beardsley (Colgate '24), Historian, John E. Stambaugh (Louisiana State '41), Reporter, Dean M. Hoffman, II (Dickinson '41), and Warden, Fred H. Houser (North Carolina '48).

Subsequent to the installation ceremony, outgoing president J. Howard Stoops presented incoming president Robert Green with the club's case in which were the butt and gavel utilized as appropriate for our functions.

Upon receipt of his "tools" for office, president Green extolled the administration of past president Stoops, concluding such discourse with a presentation to brother Stoops of a wall plaque adorned with a miniature butt and gavel along with a medallion indicating a fraternal bond of brotherhood accompanied by an appropriate inscription as to his tenure in office.

Prior to adjournment, President Green emphasized the planning of the brothers (and their ladies) in accordance with our forthcoming functional activities and accepted a unanimous resolution expressing the club's appreciation for the manner in which the arrangements were managed by brother Bridges Askew (DePauw '41) and his lady Bunbun for a most enjoyable evening.—Dean Hoffman, II

ST. PETERSBURG, FLORIDA

Concluding St. Petersburg Beach's Alumni Club social festivities for their fraternal and social event schedule of 1983-1984 season was the annual boat cruise aboard the "Captain Anderson" for a four (4) hour inland waterway cruise on beautiful Boca Ciega Bay, a body of water separated from the Gulf of Mexico by the key (island) of the City of St. Petersburg Beach. The sailing schedule of the boat enabled our group to enjoy a sunset and moonrise as viewed from the outer decks to supplement a delicious dinner of a choice among five (5) entrees and quality beverages.

Prior to the dinner preparation, all hands participated in a typical Phi Delt "talk session" wherein the main topic centered around attending the 65th Biennial Convention of our fraternity in New Orleans, Louisiana. Our duly elected convention delegate, C. Gray Morgan (Georgia Tech '37), was designated by the club's President, J. Howard Stoops (Purdue '26), to coordinate the necessary planning. Subsequent to our served dinner, the captain's dance band entertained until the boat docked at its berth at Dolphin Village on the bay side of St. Petersburg Beach. As the brothers, their ladies, and their guests disembarked from the boat, a rousing cheer was given in behalf of brother Ord Fink (Syracuse '38) and his lovely wife Amy for their efforts toward, again, making our boat cruise most enjoyable for all those in attendance.—Dean Hoffman, II

SOUTHWEST WASHINGTON

After two years of inactivity the Southwest Washington Alumni Club came alive again with a Founder's Day Dinner the evening of Sept. 20, 1984. An enthusiastic group of 34 Phis were in attendance and the following organizers of this rejuvenation were formally elected the new officers: Patrick D. Sutherland (Washington '45), president; William H. Hammond (Oregon '30), vice president; and John H. Parr (Washington '45), secretary/treasurer.

Brother James M. Dolliver, (Pittsburg '49), Justice of the Washington State Supreme Court, was the master of ceremony for the Golden Legion presentation ritual and awarded Golden Legion pins to the following Brothers: John M. Benedict, (Whitman '34) Albert D. Coffman, (Washington '36); and Philip C. Bayley (Washington '35). They had previously received their certificates from General Headquarters.

As in the past it is planned to have two meetings a year, a Founders Day Dinner in the spring and a golf match and dinner in late summer.—William H. Hammond

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The 100th Anniversary Metropolitan Washington, DC Alumni Club Founders' Day Banquet was held Thursday, April 19, 1984 with nearly 100 Phis and their guests in attendance. The banquet was held at the Kenwood Golf & Country Club in Bethesda, Maryland.

Brother Bob Nixon (Iowa State '58), club president, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and was assisted by club vice president Bill Crawford (Maryland '62).

The banquet's keynote speaker was T. Kenneth Cribb, Jr. (Washington & Lee '70), Assistant Counselor to President Reagan, working directly with Edwin Meese III. Brother Cribb thoroughly entertained the anniversary banquet guests with his humorous views of politicians, both past and present.

Brother Carl Scheid (Chicago '32), past club president and Golden Legionnaire, led the evenings Golden Legionnaire's ceremony recognizing five area men for their 50-plus years as Phis.

Golden Legionnaire inductees honored were: Dr. Harry McAllister (Georgia '36), Ed Martin (Wisconsin '36), R. B. Pilkinton (Mich State '37), Fred Keller (Akron '36) and James Straubel (Lawrence '37).

Dr. F. Jay Pepper (Chicago '60), provided entertainment following the banquet by playing various tunes including some Phi Delt favorites on the piano.

This from the metropolitan Washington, DC area in attendance resembled a "Who's Who" list with respected Phis representing the judiciary, medicine, academia, government, business and the military.

The annual Founders' Day banquet is the major function held each year for club members but there are monthly luncheons held the third Thursday of each month at noon at the Lawyers Club on H Street. Area Phis get together at these luncheons so they can have a chance to meet old Officers for 1984-86 include Cameron Dubes (Iowa State '80), president; Carl Scheid (Chicago '32), 1985 Banquet Chairman (planned for Friday, April 19, 1985); and Col. E. Asa Bates (Williams '30), communications chairman.

MIAMI TRIAD CELEBRATED IN WICHITA

A Miami Triad celebration was staged at Old Cowtown Museum in Wichita, KS on Sept. 29 and was attended by more than 200 members and their wives of Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi.

The group had an old-fashioned pig roast with all the trimmings and then "romped and stomped" to the music of The Dive Kings. Phi Deltos who participated in organizing the affair included Scott Ritchie, John Hageman, Dave Quillen, Craig Haines, Evan Olson, Jordan Haines, Jim Remsburg, Steve Perkins and Maury Breidenthal.

The Miami Triad is planned to be an annual event.

Joining Pinnick in the first team offensive backfield are Rich Bonaccorsi (DePauw '86), Tim Cummings (Northwestern '86) and Dan Abrell (Hanover '86).

Bonaccorsi scored ten touchdowns and had a total offensive mark of 914 yards with 6-4 DePauw. Cummings, a 225 lb. running back, had 523 yards rushing including the Wildcat's longest run of the year against Minnesota. Pinnick's favorite target, wide receiver Abrell, completes the backfield. He ranked second nationally in the NAIA with 62 receptions for 865 yards and 11 touchdowns. He also had 217 yards rushing and two other scores.

The offensive line is paced by ends Todd Hines (Hanover '86), who had 58 receptions for 697 yards and five touchdowns, and repeater Kelly Kennedy (Lawrence '85), who had 28 receptions for 538 yards and three touchdowns.

At tackle are a pair of repeaters. Jack Vandenberghe (Northwestern '85), a 260 lb. four-year starter, and Mike Buchanan (Hanover '85), tri-captain of the fifth ranked Hanover team, were both All-Phi selections last year.

At guards are Campbell and Ernie Andrews (Davidson '85), a 225-pounder who was named his team's best offensive lineman and blocker. He has started every game for the past three years.

At center is repeater Chris Jackson (SMU '85), an All-Southwest Conference performer.

The first team defense is paced by five outstanding linemen. Derk Turner (Baylor '86), a 250-pounder, had 77 tackles, four fumble recoveries and four blocked kicks. His fumble recovery led the Bears to a late-season upset win over Texas. Lee Banks (DePauw '85), a 225 lb. defensive captain, was a four-year starter and had 58 tackles this year.

Dave Korengel (Hanover '85), an All-NAIA District 21 selection, had 94 tackles and nine quarterback sacks. Dan Galante (Lawrence '87), an All-Midwest Conference selection, logged 75 tackles and nine quarterback sacks for the year. Tom Romantic (Case Western Reserve '86), a three-year starter, had 56 tackles this season for his ninth-ranked team that finished with a 9-0 record.

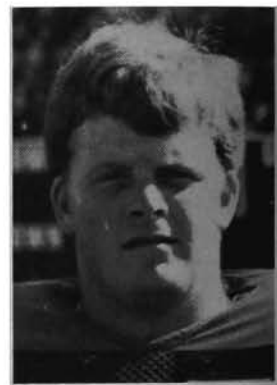

The linebackers are paced by repeater Mark Lee (Arkansas '85), who provided a key fumble recovery against Baylor that led to a 14-7 Razorback win. Mark Deal (Hanover '85), a tri-captain, boasted 122 tackles in '82, 167 in '83 and 135 this year plus two fumble recoveries and two interceptions, one for a touchdown. He was an All-HCC selection with his fifth-ranked Division II team. T. D. Briggs (SMU '86) was the leading tackler for the Mustangs with 88, including four for losses.

The defensive backfield is one of the finest in recent years headed by Bruner. In addition to his 11 interceptions he had 58 tackles and two fumble recoveries.

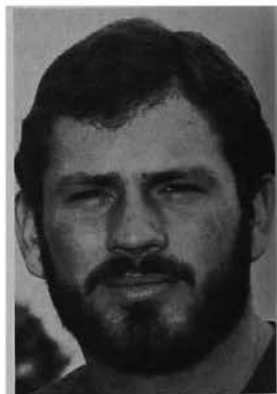

The other pair are Bob Sell (Lawrence '86), an All-Midwest Conference selection who had 59 tackles, two interceptions and one fumble recovery, and Scott Anderson (Northwestern '85), an All-Phi second team

The wide receiver is Mark Baumgarner (Northwestern '87) whose top game was seven receptions against Illinois.

The ends are Bill Rosene (Lawrence '85), a 240-pounder who was All-Phi last year and had 23 pass receptions for 350 yards, and Todd Bowman (Washington-St. Louis '87), who led the Bears with 418 yards in receptions and five touchdowns.

The tackles are Pat Grogan (Lawrence '85), an All-Midwest Conference choice the past two years, and David Dudzinski (Northwestern '86), who started every game for the Wildcats this year.

The guards are Bob Wagner (Hanover '85), a three-year starter and an All-NAIA District 21 selection, and Steve Hofman (Northwestern '87), a 256 lb. starter.

The center is unanimous Phil Leonard (Northwestern '85), a second team choice the past three consecutive years.

The defensive second team line is paced by four sophomores. They are Joe Rivaid (Iowa Wesleyan '87), whose team was 15th ranked in NAIA Division II; Ted Karras (Northwestern '87); Peter Martens (Washington-St. Louis '87), who was team runner-up in tackles with 46 plus four sacks; and Randy Sullivan (Willamette '86), co-captain with 70 tackles. The fifth lineman is Jim Birch (Centre '85), who had 48 tackles and made the second team All-Northwest Conference eleven.

The linebackers are Kit Case (SMU '86), a second team choice last year who had 83 tackles; Miguel Yanges (Gettysburg '86), who led his 8-2 team with 70 tackles and three interceptions; and Steve Templin (Ripon '85), an All-Midwest Conference second team choice.

The defensive backs are unanimous Robb Heidenreich (Hanover '86), an All-District 21 selection who had 68 tackles and five interceptions; Scot Biernat (Valparaiso '86), who had 74 tackles and seven interceptions, including one for a score; Mickey Miller (Missouri '85); and Brian Barr (Gettysburg '86), whose team tied for the CFC title as he logged 49 tackles and four interceptions. Miller and Barr tied for the third defensive back position.

Many dedicated Scroll sports readers will observe that Craig Kennington (SMU '85), an All-Phi selection last year is missing. He was injured in the third game and was out the remainder of the season. A similar injury occurred in the second game of the year to Mark Eberhard (Ashland '85), an outstanding center. Both will probably receive an additional year of eligibility. ■

JOHN HUFNAGEL (Penn State '73), a former All-American and All-Phi football selection who has played his entire pro career in the CFL, hit 3 of 3 as a back-up quarterback for Winnipeg as they won the Grey Cup 47-14 in the Canadian Football League... RON CEY (Washington State '70), a veteran infielder who helped lead the Chicago Cubs to an Eastern Division title in 1984, was a big winner in the attendance clause of his contract giving him an estimated fifty cents for every patron beyond 1.5 million. He picked up about $250,000 in addition to his salary... RALPH MCPHERSON (Texas-Arlington '83), a former All-Phi basketball player, is playing again this year with Albany of the CBA. Last year he averaged 17 points and 8.8 rebounds per contest... JIMMY JORDAN (Florida State '80), an ex-All-Phi football choice who was the fourth leading passer in the USFL in 1983 but missed most of last season with a shoulder injury, has re-signed with the Tampa Bay Bandits and is expected to challenge PHI JOHN REAVES (Florida '72) for the starting job... BUD GRANT (Minnesota '50), who retired last year after 17 seasons as coach of the Minnesota Vikings including four Super Bowl appearances, will return as head coach of the NFL team next year. The Vikings had their worst season ever in 1984 with a 3-13 record.

December "Basketball Shorts"

Tim Mullen (Virginia '85) scored 16 points and handed out 10 assists in leading the Cavaliers over Loyola. He also hit 16 in a win over Randolph-Macon. DETLEF SCHREMPF (Washington-Seattle '85) scored 19 points in a win over Boise State and his several clutch baskets to pace the Huskies to a double-overtime win over Texas Tech.

Four New Province Presidents Appointed

Four new province presidents have been appointed by the General Council and approved by the chapters involved. Three are replacements and one is new as a result of the creation of a new province.

Tony Ambrose (Kentucky '67) replaces Hugh Hines in Eta North. Hines has joined the Survey Commission. Carl Stages (LSU-Baton Rouge '81) replaces Thomas J. Reardon in Theta Province and Roger Pae fills in a vacant spot in Sigma South.

Eta North encompasses the state of Kentucky. Theta includes Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Telephone Contacts By Harris Completed

All telephone contact has been completed by Harris Publishing Company, publishers of Phi Delta Theta's official alumni directory. The purpose of the telephone contact was to verify the information which the alumni provided on the directory questionnaires and the information currently held on the alumni records.

At the same time, the telephone representatives of the publishing company invited alumni to purchase personal copies of the directory.

The directory is tentatively scheduled for release this spring. If you are interested in ordering a copy and have not been contacted, you may contact the publisher direct at the following address: Doreen Luff, Customer Service Representative, Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc., 3 Barker Avenue, White Plains, NY 10601.

Sigma South represents northern Ohio.

Grant Loree (Toronto '70) fills the new post in what will be called Alpha North Province. The old Alpha Province included Eastern Canada and New England. Eastern Canada will now be Alpha North and New England will be Alpha South.

Ambrose is an attorney for Lloyd and McDaniel in Louisville and he also serves as the assistant county attorney for Jefferson County. As an undergraduate he held several chapter offices, including chapter president, vice president and pledgemaster. He has attended five General Conventions and is currently the treasurer of the Lexington Alumni Club.

Stages is the Administrative Assistant for the Governor of Louisiana. He is active in the Knights of Columbus and is an avid coin collector. He was also very active in Louisiana Beta and held several undergraduate offices.

He has attended five Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences and, during the General Convention in New Orleans this past summer, he had an active role. For the past three years he served Louisiana Beta as chapter adviser.

Pae is a manufacturers representative for the women's clothing industry. He is a marketing consultant and a part-time faculty member at Kent State University. In regard to his community work, he has been involved with the Boy Scouts of America, public television and he is a past state vice president for the Ohio Jaycees.

Loree is the vice president of Dominion Securities Pitfield, an investment firm in Toronto. As an undergraduate at Toronto he served as president and rush chairman. For the past 14 years, he has been a member of the alumni board of directors and is currently the board's president. ■

NEWSFRONTS

The Oklahoma Alpha Educational Foundation, Inc. recently awarded eight $200 scholarships to outstanding Phis during the past fall semester. The recipients include David Confer ('86), Bart Crowder ('86), Doug James ('87), Greg Krumme ('86), and Mike Richmond ('85). Also receiving scholarships were OU students Earl Bright, Leslie Claravell and Barry Penney.

Forty-Two Year Pledgeship Ends

The newest Wisconsin-Alpha initiate this fall was activated by brother Phis at the University of Wisconsin after a 42-year pledge term.

Roland Frederick (Wisconsin '45) was formally initiated into Phi Delta Theta on Friday, October 12, 1984, an act he had planned on doing in 1942, having pledged that spring. Yet brother Frederick, who had been active in ROTC, joined up along with the thousands of other college men in the nation's defense during World War II and was unable to realize this goal.

Brother Frederick's activation was the complete ceremony, done just as the Wisconsin Phis have done with their younger candidates, although with a possibly more nostalgic tone. On hand to help in the ceremony were Robert Statz (Wisconsin '43), president of the chapter in 1942, and Dick Kurth (Wisconsin '44), a longtime friend of brother Frederick's, as well as numerous other alumni.

All of the alumni and actives who shared the experience agreed that it seemed to close the gap between young and old, and displayed the fact that Phi Delta Theta is truly a fraternity for life. Many actives were enchanted by the event and the youthful vigor of the long-time Phikeia.

"As soon as it was all done, his expression was just like that of one of our new guys..." one Phi exclaimed, "...which I guess he is."

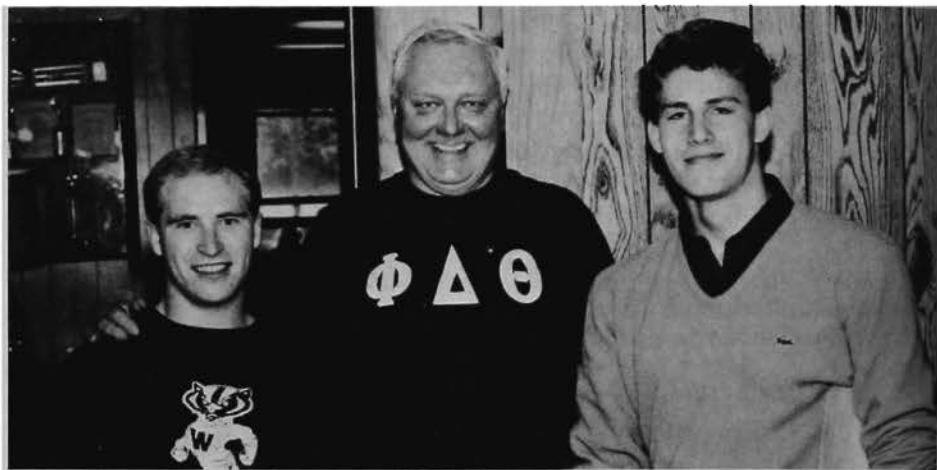

Mr. Frederick joined the Army Air Force in 1942 and was put into active duty early the next year. While stationed in Europe, he flew missions all around the Mediterranean, usually troop carriers. Frederick remembers this interruption of his college days with both sorrow, for lost friends and comrades, and pride.

After the war he resumed his education at Wisconsin and currently lives in Waukesha, Wis., with his wife.

The initiation ceremony was the perfect way to kick off Wisconsin's Homecoming weekend but more importantly signified the binding force which characterizes Phi Delta Theta. The event drew many alumni who hadn't been to our chapter in years. ■

WISCONSIN ALPHA INITIATION: Roland Frederick, 60, center, was initiated by Wisconsin Alpha this fall following his request and that of several alumni. Frederick is flanked by chapter president Tom Clark and Jon Stein, alumni secretary. He pledged in the spring of 1942 but was never initiated due to his involvement in World War II. He has maintained his interest and has been active in alumni meetings in Milwaukee for some time. The initiation took place at Homecoming so a number of alumni could be present.

DESMARAIS HONORED: Gregory S. Desmarais (Northwood Institute '85) was honored by the financial aid, development, admissions and public relations departments of the college at an Awards Program conducted to recognize scholarships winners. Edgar Madden, vice president of academics and dean of the college, congratulates him for winning a 1984 Phi Delta Theta Education Foundation scholarship. He is working toward a BBA in hotel/restaurant management and is currently chapter president.

Order Promotes Education

The Order of Symposiarchs of America was established in 1934 to promote the cause of higher education and the fraternity system. The Order consists of chapters established in cities or towns where there are enough alumni members of general, professional and honorary college fraternities to justify such an organization.

It was on March 17, 1934 that Pearce Wright conceived the idea that resulted in the organization of the Order of Symposiarchs of America. According to his own notes, the organization was officially launched at a meeting in the Neil House, Columbus Ohio, on May 2, 1934, attended by Pearce Wright (Phi Delta Theta, Ohio Wesleyan), Willis H. Liggett (Phi Delta Theta, Ohio Wesleyan), Paul S. Jackson (Phi Gamma Delta, Ohio State), and Sam A. Garey, (Delta Tau Delta, Ohio University). Liggett was elected president; Garey, vice president; and Pearce Wright, secretary-treasurer. The first charter was issued on June 15, 1934 to Columbus as Ohio Alpha No. 1.

Despite the unsettled economic conditions of the 1930's, Pearce Wright had organized 22 chapters by World War II. By the end of that war, there were only three active chapters, all in Ohio. They were Columbus, Athens, and Newark. The job of rebuilding was enormous. But Pearce Wright did it at great personal sacrifice and at his death on September 2, 1965, at age 73, there were 12 chapters in good standing with 400 members.

At the 1966 National Convention, Fred J. Milligan, Sr., Columbus, (Phi Delta Theta, Ohio State University), was elected Executive Secretary and served 12 years, retiring at the 1978 National Convention which elected him Symposiarch of the Year and an Honorary Life Member. His successor is Tim Milligan, Columbus (Phi Delta Theta, Ohio State University), who was elected Executive Secretary at the 1978 National Convention.

Today, there are 15 active chapters with a total membership of 750. Each chapter is unique but held together by a common thread of fellowship and tradition.—

Four Indiana University Sigma Chi pledges were honored recently by Zeta Beta Tau here for saving the lives of 30 of its members in an early morning fire that swept through its chapter house Oct. 21.

The four Sigma Chis are Tim Norris of Indianapolis, Anthony Accardo of Barrington, IL., James Metzger of Northbrook, IL., and Michael O'Neil of Indianapolis. They were honored at a special meeting of ZBT undergraduates and their parents. The four were introduced by ZBT District Governor Gerald Pollack in an emotionally charged ceremony mixed with tears and a thunderous standing ovation.

The Sigma Chi pledges were enroute to an early breakfast at 4 a.m. when they saw the flames. Though not familiar with the house they rushed through the dark, smoke-filled house alerting and evacuating the sleeping occupants.

TEXAS ETA: When Texas Governor Mark White (Baylor '62) visited Nacogdoches, TX last spring he was welcomed by brother Phis from Texas Eta at Stephen F. Austin.

THE PHI CRIER

SCHOLASTICALLY

*The alumni of Pennsylvania Delta at Allegheny have set up a very good scholarship program for the active chapter. Each year, through the chapter's Educational Foundation, the alumni give over $6,000 in scholarships away to deserving Phis at Allegheny. The fund is also available to offer small loans to financially strapped undergraduates. The fund is maintained by Pennsylvania Delta alumni contributions to the chapter's program.

*Pennsylvania Zeta at the University of Pennsylvania offers a "Surf and Turf" dinner to any brother who achieves a 3 pt. or higher for the previous semester. Last semester the chapter's overall grade point average was over a 3 pt.

*Scholarships of $500 were recently awarded to four members of Pennsylvania Alpha at Lafayette College. Each semester the House Corporation contributes $2,000 in scholarships to the chapter. Need, active involvement in chapter activities and sound scholarship are the criteria for the awards. The recipients this semester were Gary Stevenson ('85), Mark Stifler ('85), Mike Marclano ('86) and Carl Bergstein ('85).

IN THE COMMUNITY

*The brothers of Kentucky Eta were awarded with a plaque for "Outstanding Participation" in the Western Kentucky Special Olympics, sponsored by Phi Mu. The award is based on the percentage of participation by groups at the University. This was the fourth consecutive year the award has gone to Kentucky Eta.

*The brothers of Missouri Gamma answered telephones for the 1984 Jerry Lewis telethon. The telecast from St. Louis was shown on KSDK-TV over the Labor Day weekend.

*After a tornado swept through Statesboro, GA. last spring, the Georgia Epsilon Phis at Georgia Southern College went throughout the surrounding neighborhood assisting residents in clean-up efforts. This was an extension of their neighbor relations campaign which includes giving chapter officer names and numbers to those who might be affected by noise and related inconveniences.

*The brothers of New York Zeta chapter at Colgate invite guests from the community to a formal dinner on a bi-weekly basis. On the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vantine. Mr. Vantine is mayor of Hamilton, NY and owns Vantine Studios, a firm very active in the fraternity composite business.

NEW IDEAS

*The Phis at Pennsylvania Lambda have taken a bold stand on the Indiana University of Pennsylvania campus by voluntarily having one-half of all rush functions as non-alcoholic events. The chapter has also seen twice as many undergraduates show interest in their chapter as compared to other fraternity chapters on campus.

*The Pennsylvania Theta chapter has developed an excellent alumni and faculty relations program. Each week the chapter will invite three main guests. One week it will be three local alumni, and the next week three university officials and/or faculty members will be invited. This has helped to improve the image of Phi Delta Theta in the eyes of the administration as well as the chapter's alumni.

*To solve phone billing problems, the Ohio Eta chapter has contracted with MCI Communications for its long distance calls. MCI supplies each member with an access number, which appears on the phone bill. Using the numbers, the treasurer knows exactly who to bill for the call.

*As an incentive to pay monthly bills, the members who pay on or before the designated deadline have their names placed in a hat for a lottery drawing. The winner receives a small gift either donated or purchased by the chapter. Results have been good so far this year.

*The men at Illinois Beta have developed a very positive alumni program. One of their activities is to write each alumnus a personalized birthday card. The birthday information, received from wives, fraternity records and university records, is processed onto a master list which keeps the actives informed as to when birthdays are upcoming. Currently there are approximately 150 alumni on the birthday list card.

*California Gamma at UCLA has no chapter house. Since communication is a problem without a central meeting place, the men devised a "phone tree." The president notifies the vice president of an event, meeting or other announcement. The vice president notifies six "captains" and each captain has a list of members to call. Since the "tree" has been in use, attendance and participation has improved greatly.

*The Mass Gamma chapter at MIT is using its imagination and skill in its first semester community service project. The chapter, under the supervision of Tony Colonna ('87), is constructing toy trucks, ships and planes made of wood for Christmas time for hospitals, underprivileged children and other civic groups in need.

The project is being funded by the IFC at MIT.

*Phikeias of California Theta at UC Irvine write alumni personal letters as part of their pledge program. Unique to this program is that these men first research their "family tree" finding the "geneological tree" of big brothers. Many favorable comments have come from this project over the years.

*At the New York Beta chapter of Phi Delta Theta at Union College, a unique incentive has been implemented in the area of scholarship. For those achieving over a 3 pt. grade point average, they are treated to dinner at their favorite restaurant. There is a limit of $20 on the amount that they are granted. This incentive proved to be productive as the overall GPA was 3.16. With the success of this incentive, the chapter will continue to implement this in their scholarship program.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*At Utah Alpha the senior class pledges a designated amount before they graduate earmarked for replacement and maintenance of chapter paraphernalia. Slowly, the men have built up a complete, well guarded ritual closet.

*The men of Ohio Theta pledged 32 rushees in fall rush. This is the largest single Ohio Theta pledge class since 1963.

ON CAMPUS

*Phi Delta at Utah Alpha emerged as overall Greek Week champions at the University of Utah's 1984 Greek Week. The Phis, teamed with the women of Delta Delta Delta, had strong showings in all events and took the overall honors after a week of highly competitive activities.

*The Pennsylvania Gamma chapter has recently received recognition from the Washington and Jefferson administration for having the most improved academic ranking, as well as receiving an award for excellent chapter house management.

Doug Krapcho and Dave White, both Vermont Alpha members, currently hold the president and vice-president offices in the IFC at the University of Vermont. They were elected last spring and their terms will run into the spring of 1985.

*The Phis of Manitoba Alpha were victorious at the annual Greek Week competition at the University of Manitoba. Teamed up with the ladies of Alpha Phi, the brothers proved themselves the best at the Tug-O-War, Car Rally and Boat Races.

*By winning both the football and softball titles in intramural sports this fall, Kansas Alpha has taken a wide lead in the race for the sports trophy at the University of Kansas.

ALS Organizations to Merge

Phi Delta Theta's effort to aid the fight against Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis has taken a new focus with the announcement that the National ALS Foundation and the ALS Society of America (ALSSOA) have merged into one organization, to be called the Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) Association.

As one unified, non-profit organization, the ALS Association will draw on the resources and commitment of both original groups to redouble efforts toward finding the cause and the cure of ALS commonly known as Lou Gehrig's disease. Each organization since its inception has been successful in raising hundreds of thousands of dollars toward that end, as well as in increasing public awareness of the disease.

One of the first major efforts of the new organization was to sponsor the 1985 Lou Gehrig Race For Life. Marvin Skegerberg of the United States and Britain's Malcolm Campbell began the three-month long footrace in Los Angeles on April 10. It is slated to end in New York City on July 10, 3,500 miles later.

Along the way a variety of fund-raising activities have taken place. Many Phi Delt chapters were involved in these activities according to Brian Dunn, philanthropic chairman of the fraternity.

ALS is a progressive, neuromuscular disease that, over a course of time, impairs and finally destroys all voluntary muscle function while leaving the mind alert and unaffected. It can affect anyone at any age, and has an incidence four times greater than Muscular Dystrophy and equal to Multiple Sclerosis, both better known diseases.

Lou Gehrig (Columbia '25), "The Iron Man of Baseball", was a Phi Delta Theta brother. He died at 39 from ALS, the disease that will forever be linked to his name.

Although the cause and cure of ALS are presently unknown, the ALS Association is certain that with the appropriate support, scientific investigators will soon find the answer to eliminate the disease. In the interim, information and support services for patients and their families will continue to be provided by the Association, which also conducts an ongoing public awareness campaign to develop an ALS identity nationwide.

Entrepreneurship—Alive at Textron

“Good management is a whole lot like duck hunting. When they fly—shoot.”

B. F. (“Bev”) Dolan (Georgia ’50), outdoorsman and golfer, is the energetic and enthusiastic president and CEO of Textron, Inc., a company well within the Fortune 100. In combination with Avco Corporation purchased earlier this year, its aggregate 1984 revenues were $6.2 billion.

“Management must create opportunity by generating change in the right direction at the right time. We’ve done that with the Avco acquisition. I’m confident we’ll continue to do it,” he says and, anticipating the obvious question, continues.

“Some managers chose the right direction and time by knowing and responding to the challenges—the economy, competition, technology, government, even nature. Others seem to have internal compasses and clocks that say to them ‘this way’ and ‘now’.”

Dolan, while acknowledging that he may “occasionally” be in the second category, says he decided long ago not to rely on talent alone.

“There are many times in life when you run out of talent and have to rely on tenacity.”

For Dolan, tenacity is holding on to personal values, ignoring pessimists, knowing your own business “hands on” and “inside and out” and keeping up with the rapid changes in today’s world.

“When I first started out, about all I had besides some mustering out pay from the Army was tenacity and determination.”

In 1954, after graduation from the University of Georgia and two years of military service, Dolan took half that mustering out pay and started a golf car company in a one-room welding shop in Augusta, Georgia. The company, E-Z-Go, is today the world’s leading manufacturer of golf cars.

Dolan, who at the time was less of a golfer and more of a “tinkerer,” explains why golf cars.

Post World War II

The post-World War II boom had created new lifestyles. Before the war there had been a large number of unemployed who jumped at the chance to make 25 cents caddying eighteen holes. By 1954, most of those unemployed had jobs; the average caddy fee was $3 plus tip; the number of golfers had multiplied (it was the era of Eisenhower and new affluence); and most importantly, the pace of business life had quickened.

Dolan saw those trends continuing. He was aware, also, that seed scientists were hybridizing stronger, more resilient strains of grass which could withstand vehicular traffic. He forecast that, after the initial resistance to the idea, cars on a golf course would be an ordinary sight and that the market for them would expand as the baby-boom generation matured.

Dolan was on target. E-Z-Go became a successful business, so successful that, in 1960, Royal Little (‘founder of the modern conglomerate’) wanted Dolan’s company for Textron.

Dolan sold. “It was a chance for the few of us who had invested in the company to realize our success and to roll it over into new areas. For me, it was also a new challenge—to see if I could do as well with someone else’s money as I had with my own and, over time, prove my theory that a good manager can manage anything.”

He remained president of E-Z-Go (before and after its combination with Polaris Snowmobile) until Textron, in 1976, asked him to transfer his management skills to another company. He became president of Homelite Division, a Charlotte, North Carolina manufacturer of power chain saws, pumps, generators, snow and leaf blowers and lawn and garden equipment.

Three years later, Textron beckoned him to the corporate office in Providence, Rhode Island, as executive vice president-operation. In 1980, he was named president and chief operating officer and a director.

He teamed up with the chairman to develop a new strategy for the company in a worsening U.S. economy. It was the first time Textron had top people who were operations oriented; previous chairmen and presidents had been lawyers, bankers and deal makers.

LANDING CRAFT: Bell Aerospace Textron is a pioneer in air-cushion technology and produces for the U.S. Navy the LCAC-1, an amphibious assault land craft.

GOLF CARS: B. F. Dolan first put his entrepreneurial skills to work by founding E-Z-Go, now the world's leading producer of golf cars.

Restructured

Specifically, their strategy was to restructure Textron as a diversified manufacturing company. In 1980, they outlined the plan: improve profits at each division, redeploy assets when goals are neither reached nor expected to be reached and add new companies in manufacturing businesses that are growing.

Business segments were realigned into seven product groups headed by group vice presidents (a management structure widely emulated by other corporations since its introduction by Textron). The emphasis was on quality and efficiency. Employee training programs were increased. "Quality Circles" were encouraged.

Four years after the plan went into effect, their strategy, with the help of a gradually improving economy, was working. Companies whose problems could not be solved by restructuring, motivation or tighter financial controls had been sold or were on the market. Debt had been cleaned off the balance sheet. Overall profits were rising.

By mid-1984, management had decided to look for a "perfect partner" which would increase the size of the company, and, at the same time, provide better balance between the various industry segments. In August Textron began talking with Avco. By November the negotiations had become serious. An agreement was reached in December, and the acquisition became official in February 1985.

Decisiveness tempered by good manners is the Dolan style. He has been called by a New York securities analyst "the politest manager in America." His graciousness and his Georgia drawl, which has been diminished only slightly by his five years in New England, can be a trap for those who mistakenly equate Southern charm with lack of clear purpose, and disarming even for those who know better.

He's got a real molasses and mulberry tawng," a former Textron director said recently, "but, oh boy, don't let that deceive you. He's a real toughie."

Dolan is amused by all this. He points out that he was raised to be polite, even in the most trying of circumstances, and especially with strangers. He begs off any intention to entrap, but adds, "But I guess I wouldn't mind being disarming every once in awhile."

Tough Choices

Dolan is a believer in "management by walking around." He enjoys walking onto plant floors and getting information first hand. And because he believes in being 'up front' with his people, Dolan is candid. As a result of the Avco acquisition, Textron management will be making some tough choices in the months ahead. There is some $1.4 billion debt associated with the purchase. It will be reduced by selling a substantial chunk of the present Textron. Bell Helicopter and Spencer Kellogg (specialty chemicals) were put on the market first. "We won't hesitate to do what must be done," he says.

For a number of years, Textron's name has been on other well-known products such as Gorham sterling, Speidel watchbands, Bostitch staplers, Sheaffer pens, Jacobsen lawn mowers, Bridgeport machinery, Homelite chain saws and E-Z-Go golf cars.

And Textron will be integrating Avco and establishing the Textron name in association with products and services such as Lycoming engines, Paul Revere Life Insurance and Avco Financial Services.

"Avco's diversification complements our own. We have synergy in aerospace. These are making a difficult job easier," says Dolan.

As Textron proceeds with its long-range plan for redeploying assets and increasing profits and return on equity, balance will be maintained.

"We're not, however, afraid of getting bigger or more broadly diversified. I've heard that some B-school people are saying multi-industry companies have seen their best days. Well, not Textron."

Dolan sees Textron in a pivotal phase of growth and change, an era in the company's life not entirely different from that of the Sixties when expansion and diversification produced signal profits and Wall Street interest.

"I don't think you'd be surprised that we have some things we can't talk about just yet," he says.

No surprise. Not after a conversation with Bev Dolan.

This interview was conducted on March 6 by Dorothy Preslar, Textron's manager of employee and financial communications. Mr. Dolan was also featured in the July issue of Delta Airline's Sky magazine. ■

The Traynors—A North Dakota Tradition

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article written by Sue Berg appeared in the October, 1984 University of North Dakota Alumni Review. It is reprinted here with permission from the North Dakota Alumni Association and Foundation.

BY SUE BERG

The University of North Dakota has several traditions: Homecoming has been held on campus since 1916, Greek life dates to 1909, Founders Day, 1904, and the Traynor family, 1903.

Although other families have had several generations attend UND, few have sent as many students as the Traynors—18 of them spanning three generations. Four Traynors continue the UND and family tradition this fall.

"I was never pressured to attend UND," Paul Traynor, a senior in history and student government senator, said. "My parents did not tell me that I had to attend UND, or that I should attend UND. They asked, 'Where are you going to school?' and I said, 'UND'.

"UND was familiar to me at home. My parents are in touch with their friends from UND, and they always attend Homecoming."

The tradition of Traynors at UND began with Fredrick Traynor, born in 1878. Fred, '03, '04, was a founder of the UND Varsity Bachelor's Club in 1902, which became the Phi Delta Theta social fraternity in 1913. The 1904 Dacotah annual described the Varsity Club as 10 "turned-down, heart-pierced young men" who vowed to lead a life of "one continued round of pleasure." The VBC became a society of student leaders, and received preferential treatment from the faculty, according to a UND history by Louis Geiger, a former UND professor of history.

Since we're on the subject—you guessed it—Phi Delta Theta also is a Traynor tradition. Paul is one of 12 Traynors to join the fraternity.

"It's the longest family tradition among any of the UND Greek organizations and one of the longest in the national Phi Delt organization," Paul said.

Did Paul feel pressure to join Phi Delta Theta?

"As a matter of fact, I was a little surprised that I did join the Phi Deltas," Paul said. "Most members are athletic, and I don't consider myself an athlete. I'm glad I joined. I don't think I would have enjoyed another fraternity as much."

The second Traynor to join and the 33rd initiate of the UND chapter of Phi Delta Theta was Fred's brother, Mack, '14, '16. Fred and Mack, who both earned law degrees from UND, practiced law together in Devils Lake, N.D. (Fred was presented an honorary law degree from UND in 1953.)

Both brothers married and had children. Fred's children are Duane, '32, '34, Fred, Jr., '32, and R. Patrick, '40, all members of Phi Delta Theta, and Phyllis Walter (Traynor), '37.

Mack's two sons, Mack Jr., '46, '47, and John "Jack," '49, '51, also joined Phi Delta Theta. Jack was elected president of the fraternity.

"The campus was crowded with men returning to school on the GI bill," Jack, of Devils Lake, said. "We had four men living in the attic of the Phi Delt house. At $55 a month for board and room, it was a good deal. The fraternities provided housing that was desperately needed."

Jack also was a member of the Order of the Coif, a prestigious law student organization, and joined his father's law firm after graduation. (He was presented a Sioux Award in 1969.) His wife is Kathryn "Jane" (Donovan), '51.

(As with all family histories, this story has many sides. The Donovan name also has a long UND history. Jane's brother and sister graduated from UND. Their grandfather, Edward Ignatious Donovan, was an attending physician on campus in 1981 when the Spanish influenza killed 29 students. The Phi Delt house became the campus hospital.)

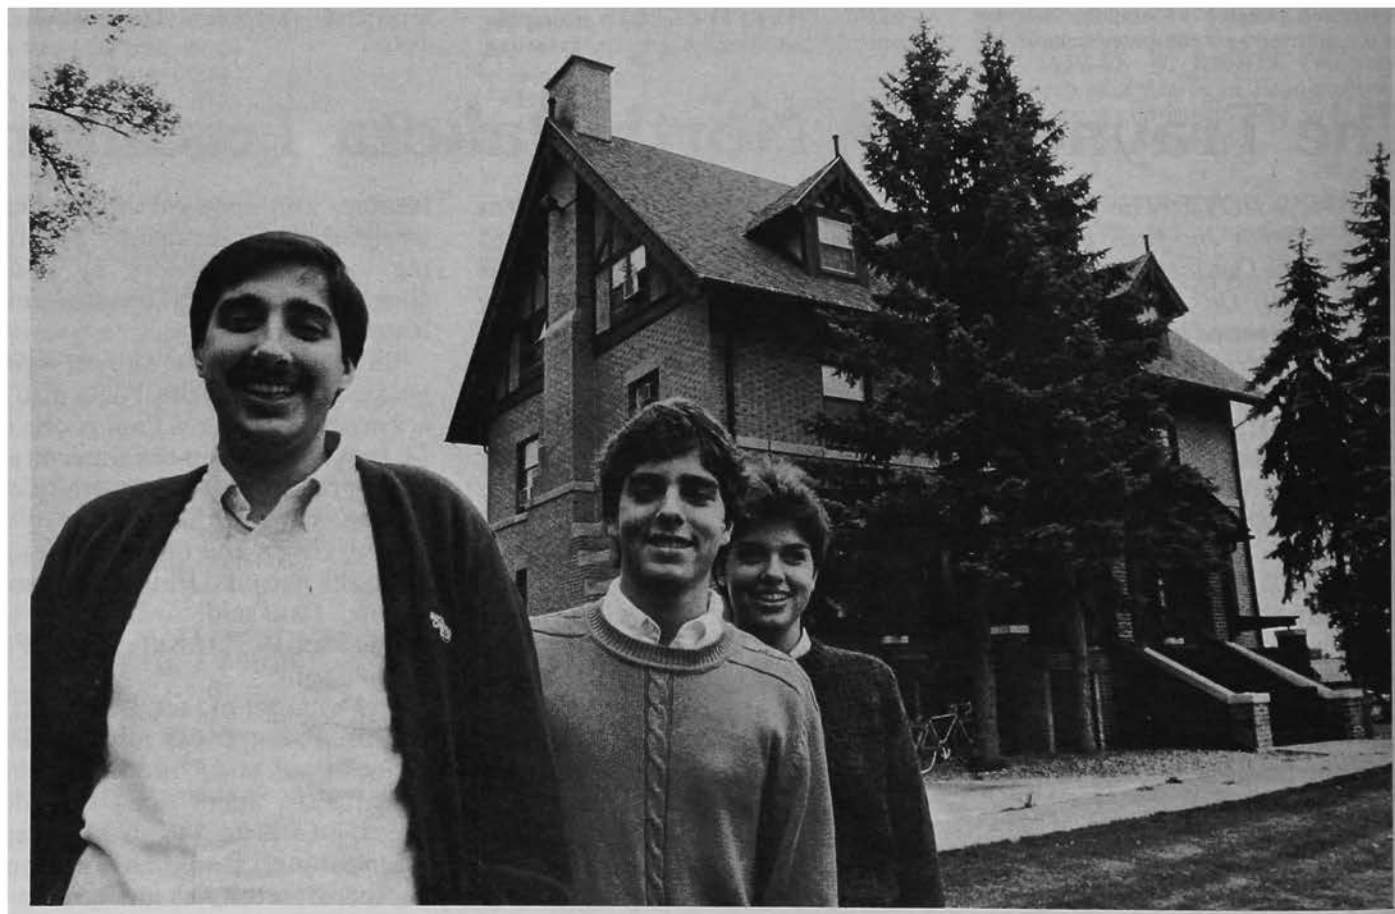

Mack Jr. practices internal medicine at St. Luke's Hospital in Fargo, N.D., and is married to Rita (Roach), '51.

Mack Jr. and Jack each have five children. Mack's children at UND are James, '83, a Phi Delt, who plans to enter medical school; Peggy, a senior in psychology, and Patrick, a freshman who recently pledged with the Phi Delt.

Now for Jack's children. John "Tom" Jr., '77, '80, is the municipal judge in Devils Lake and an associate with the family law firm. Mary Elizabeth "Mimi," '78, '79, is a law student in St. Paul, Minn. Michael, '81, is a UND medical school student, and married to Mary Elizabeth (Deere), '82. (This may sound redundant but Tom and Michael were Phi Delt.) Next fall, Paul plans to enter—right again—law school, another Traynor tradition. ■

THE TRAYNOR TRADITION: Paul, Patrick, and Peggy Traynor stand before the old Phi Delta Theta house at North Dakota. The house is now the home of the University's Continuing Education Division. The fraternity moved into a new building in 1978. Eighteen members of the Traynor family covering three generations have attended UND.

Idaho Phi Still 'Riding the Range'

BY R. STARR FARISH

"I've kissed more beautiful queens than any man I know—and their mothers were pretty good, too," was the way Fran Blomquist (Idaho '28) referred to one phase of his many years as a cowboy, rodeo executive and participant, plus business man.

The "queens" Fran referred to were queens of various rodeos whom he felt "duty bound" to kiss when presenting the winning contestant to an admiring crowd as she received her crown.

Although he's had his breaks and bruises riding the range and bucking broncos in rodeos, Fran, now in his late 70's, looks back on his eventful life with more fond memories than most men his age.

Born and reared on a several hundred acre cattle ranch in Idaho, Blomquist followed his early love of horses and rodeoing before attending the University of Idaho.

After graduating from high school, Fran and his brother corralled and "broke" 70 unruly horses and took them on a slow freight train for a three week trip to Canada where they trained and used them for farm work while growing flax and oats for a year and a half. Fran became active as a breeder of horses and followed the rodeo circuit in the West. Roping calves, wrestling steers and riding Brahma bulls were part of the day's work till he entered Idaho in 1924 and was initiated into Phi Delta Theta in 1925.

The untimely death of his father necessitated Fran's leaving college to return home to run the family ranch in eastern Idaho. Later, the ambition to enter the business world hit Blomquist who started as a clerk at a Safeway grocery store in Twin Falls, Idaho, and eventually became an area manager for that organization in Texas.

But the restless Blomquist felt the call to return to his native Idaho and rodeoing. He moved to Caldwell, Idaho (now pop. 17,000) with his wife Elaine (Delta Gamma, U. of Idaho) in 1939 to become manager and later owner of Troy Laundry and Pantorium Dry Cleaners.

Fran's interest in civic affairs led him to become a city councilman (and council president) for 10 years. He became exalted ruler of the local Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Caldwell Kiwanis Club and Lt. Governor of Kiwanis. He is a member of the Kiwanis Legion of Honor with membership of over 45 years.

Brother Fran's rodeo activities gained national recognition. He was president and board member of the Caldwell Night Rodeo for many years and is now an honorary board member.

Blomquist became a board member, then president, and later was awarded life membership in the International Rodeo Management Association. While attending a board meeting in 1954, Fran originated the idea of cowgirls participating in national rodeos by "running the barrels" on their horses and establishment of a yearly national contest to become Miss Rodeo America. He sold this idea to the Rodeo Cowboys Association of America where it has become a tradition as shown yearly on TV in the National Finals Rodeo.

The election of Miss Rodeo America leads to scholarship awards, promotions, advertising contracts and participation throughout the year in many of the more than 200 rodeos held in the U.S. and Canada.

In 1954 Idaho Governor Smylie appointed Blomquist Idaho's representative to the National Cowboy Hall of Fame Association. In 1960, Fran took a leading role in establishment of the Shrine for that organization, a building known for its beauty and visited by thousands of Oklahoma City tourists yearly. Fran's name is inscribed on this building. Oklahoma Governor Gary made Fran an honorary colonel on his staff in recognition of his work. Brother Blomquist has since become president and was awarded lifetime membership in the National Cowboy Hall of Fame organization.

Blomquist was a charter member of Phi Delta Theta's Helmet Society. In 1968 he was selected for the coveted "Distinguished Citizen" award by the Idaho Statesman newspaper in Boise.

Fran and Elaine have a daughter and four grandchildren. He is a Shriner and an active member and past officer of the Phi Delta Alumni Club in Boise.

Blomquist still loves to "ride the range" on occasion, hunts, fishes and plays golf. He swims regularly at a local athletic club. But when Fran talks about kissing the queens, somehow Elaine just smiles as if to say, "Let him enjoy those memories."

ATLANTA

The Atlanta Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta held its annual Founders Day banquet on the evening of Feb. 21, 1985 at the Lanier Plaza.

Charles R. Yates (Georgia Tech '35) was the Toast Master of the evening.

The first item on the agenda after a delicious meal was the Ward Wight Award which was presented to Georgia Beta at Emory for outstanding scholarship. The Frank Carter Award for all around Chapter Excellence went to Georgia Delta at Georgia Tech and the Mike Irby Award for outstanding graduate went to Doug Arney, (Emory '85).

The distinguished service award was given to four outstanding brothers, three of whom were Golden Legionnaires of the evening. One had received his several years ago. They were:

Charles R. Yates (Georgia Tech '35)—For outstanding community service and over 30 years as president of Georgia Delta House Corporation. Owen M. Roberts Jr., (Georgia '38)—For years of outstanding service as chapter adviser at Georgia. Albert B. Jones, (Georgia '38)—For continuing service with the foundation with regard to the Georgia Alpha house. Tom Flournoy, Jr. (Mercer '38)—Chapter adviser at Mercer for many years. Each brother received a Phi Delta Theta clock as an award.

A memorial service in accordance with the Fraternity ritual was held for the following active members of the Alumni Club who passed into the Chapter Grand in the past year. Morris M. Bryan Jr., (Georgia Delta '41) was eulogized by Dan Yates (Georgia Delta '41). Sam Phillips McKenzie (Georgia '44) past president General Council, was eulogized by Harry V. Lamon (Davidson '54) and William C. Griscom (Emory '45) was eulogized by Frank C. Steinbruegge (Emory '49).

Robert S. Wiggins (Duke '54) acted as president for the memorial service, and David M. Moss, Jr. (Washington '65) served as chaplain.

Brother Howell E. Adams (Vanderbilt '53) conducted the Golden Legion ceremony as usual, and presented certificates and pins to 19 Golden Legionnaires.

A great number of Georgia Alpha brothers from all over the Province turned out to honor their old chapter adviser, Brother Owen M. Roberts for his many years of meritorious service. An overflow capacity crowd of 205 required three additional tables to be set up.

A special award was given to Brother Roberts, which was an all expense paid trip to Scotland for a month for he and his bride.

The following slate of new officers was presented to Bruce Durkee (Virginia '76) immediate past president; C. Duncan Beard, (Georgia '70), president; Joseph F. Switzer (Virginia '77), Jr. vice president; W. Steve Williams (Georgia '79), vice president; John B. Jackson, Jr. (Georgia Tech '45), executive vice president; and J. Lane Nally, (Washington & Lee '74) Executive Sec./Treas. The list of Golden Legionnaires included: Owen M. Roberts, Jr. (Georgia '37), B. English Soloman (Georgia Tech. '38), Albert B. Jones, (Georgia '38), Ernest S. Tharpe (Georgia Tech '38), Addison L. Ayers (Georgia '37), Thomas F. Flournoy, Jr. (Mercer '38), Palmer Lee Martin (Georgia Tech '38), Franklin S. Horne (Georgia '38), Theodore T. Foley (Miami '38), Erwin T. Blackman (Georgia '38), Henry H. Tift, III (Georgia '38), W. Griggs Shaefer, Jr. (Georgia '38), Byron H. Mathews (Georgia '38), Frank J. Brock (Florida '37), Henry Finch (Emory '38), Neil A. Stokes (Georgia '38), Robert Neal (Williams '35), James M. Watts (Mercer '38) and J. Ralph McClelland, Jr. (Davidson '37).

CARTER TROPHY: Thomas M. Body III (Georgia '61) presents the Frank Carter trophy to John Adams (Georgia Tech '85), Georgia Tech president.

IRBY TROPHY: Randy Bryan (Georgia '67) presents the Mike Irby trophy to Doug Arney (Emory '85).

GIFT: Owen M. Roberts (Georgia '35) receives a plane ticket to Scotland from Duncan Beard, Jr. (Georgia '70), who organized the special recognition for Brother Roberts.

WARD WRIGHT TROPHY: Ward Wright, Jr. (Georgia '39) presents the Ward Wright cup to Frank Duhalovich (Emory '85), president of the chapter at Emory.

RECIPIENTS: Recipients of the Atlanta Alumni Club's Distinguished Service awards were Tom Flournoy, Jr. (Mercer '38), Albert Jones (Georgia '38), Owen M. Roberts, Jr. (Georgia '38), Charles R. Yates (Georgia Tech '35).

MEMORIAL SERVICE: Thomas M. Bryan (Georgia Tech '49), David M. Moss (Washington '65) and John B. Jackson, Jr. (Georgia Tech '45), executive vice president visit following the memorial services for Morris M. Bryan, Jr. ('41). Moss acted as chaplain.

SPECIAL AWARD: John B. Jackson, Jr. (Georgia Tech '45) presents a special award to John G. Hiles (Georgia Tech '50), assisted by Butch Bearden (Georgia Tech '28) and Howell E. Adams (Vanderbilt '53).

THREE GENERATIONS: Three generations of Phi Delta Theta were represented at the Atlanta Founders Day. They were Hunter S. Bell Jr. (Auburn '55), Hunter S. Bell (Emory '21) and Hunter S. Bell III (Auburn '84).

APPOINTMENTS - MEETINGS - ANNOUNCEMENTS

Self-Analysis Highlights Officer Meeting

A self-analysis highlighted the annual meeting of the general officers of the fraternity in Point Clear, Alabama, Feb. 16-17.

The self-analysis was the result of a lengthy report of a select committee of general officers appointed by the General Council. Their charge was to study and recommend ways to improve the general fraternity.

They first met last summer during the New Orleans Convention where they delivered an interim report to the Council at the conclusion of the convention. They met again before the end of the summer and delivered their final report on Sept. 1.

The committee was composed of Stanley D. Brown, chairman, Howard Womsley, Charles Poore, Thomas Reardon, Jack Braden and John Poole.

Council Election

The method of electing General Council members was the first topic discussed. The select committee recommended consideration of expanding the number of members to six and lengthening the terms to four-year staggered terms with three new members being elected at each convention. The general consensus was to expand to six but not initiate a four-year term. In fact, the consensus was not to limit terms beyond the two-year current limitation. None of these actions would be taken without a Code change, which requires a three-fourths vote at two General Conventions.

The nominating process was clarified as asked for by the select committee. A search committee is appointed each biennium by the General Council to contact, visit with and verify all interested brothers seeking to run for the GC.

The select committee recommended that the undergraduate chapters should be presented additional information with full explanation as to the opportunity of nominating additional candidates at the convention during the nominating committee meeting or by the petition method.

The select committee further recommended that the nominating committee at the convention should have candidates individually nominated at the meeting of the nominating committee. They have always been individually nominated on the floor of the convention including the New Orleans meeting.

The province president's program was then discussed. The select committee recommended that, where possible, a province president have no more than four chapters. The current average is 4.6 in 35 provinces.

The committee also recommended that it not be a prerequisite for the province president to live in the province he serves and that the Council follow the Code requirement of at least one physical visit to each chapter by the province president every academic year.

The chapter consultants program was the subject of several suggestions. The need for flexibility was emphasized in dealing with problem chapters. The fraternity has added a fifth chapter consultant this year.

The committee felt that more orientation ought to be given to new province presidents. A suggestion was made during the discussion that the orientation be given in the field and not at general headquarters.

Communication

The committee also recommended more and better communication between the General Council and the general officers.

It strongly encouraged the continuation of the General Officers Conference to train new officers and regenerate old ones.

Finally, the Council was encouraged to establish a judicial team of trouble-shooters to relieve itself of burdensome time-consuming activities and to create a speakers pool. This pool could also relieve the Council members of many speaking engagements that are a tremendous drain on their time.

The conference was opened at 7:30 a.m. Feb. 16 by GC President Robert Dinkel. The Bond was read by Ted Lowrie, president of Alpha Province.

John Poole, chairman of the survey commission, reported on the activities of his commission. He stated that the commission's philosophy remained unchanged—"slow deliberate growth into stable institutions with good alumni support."

He passed out a packet of information related to the handling of inquiries. Contained in the packet were standard letters to university officials, questionnaires, pamphlets and a newly written booklet, Guide to Colony Organization.

Poole encouraged province presidents to respond to the inquiries received by the commission giving their reaction to the institutions involved. A new slide presentation was shown to the officers. The presentation will be used in informal settings with colony organizations and in formal presentations to institutions.

The commission has developed a "dream list" of institutions where the fraternity might wish to locate. At the time of the conference there were five colonies. They included University of Southwest Louisiana, Southwest Missouri State University, Rochester Institute of Technology, Widener University and Texas A&M University. Installations at Southwest Louisiana and S.W. Missouri are planned this spring.

Bill Dean, editor of The Scroll, briefly reported on his activities for the biennium. The fall issue, featuring convention coverage, with 40 pages, was the largest in several years. He reported that the average cost per page rose from $519 to $545 in the past two years.

He urged officers to send complete information to the magazine and to send it on time. It was suggested that Dean solicit timely articles from both undergraduates and general officers and he agreed to do so.

Palmer Fund

A. Pearce Leary, a Palmer Fund trustee, reported that the Palmer Fund had loaned 1.7 million dollars for house construction and renovation and that only three house corporations are delinquent at the present time.

He pointed out that the low interest rate had created considerable demand for loans and the trustees feared a shortage of money to loan in the future. It was emphasized in the discussion that the purpose of the fund was "secondary help" to chapters.

Following brunch the conference broke into two sessions. Charles Poore, Psi province president, led a discussion on "Officer Leadership and Chapter Development." Jack Braden, Eta South province president, led the other discussion on "Chapter Programming and Chapter Retreats."

The select committee's report and discussion occupied the entire afternoon and the conference picked up again the following morning.

Bruce Thompson, legal commissioner, made a brief report on the nature of his job, which has been newly created by the GC to deal with various legal problems that occur from time to time.

Edward Whipple, scholarship commissioner, passed out goals and objectives for his scholarship program.

Philanthropic Report

Brian Dunn, philanthropic projects chairman, reported on his new position. The emphasis in his area is the raising of money for an organization or a project. He passed out a press release announcing that the National ALS Foundation and the ALS Society of America (ALS-SOA) have merged into one organization to be called the Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) Association. Phi Delta Theta has been invited to be one of the sponsoring organizations in the "1985 Lou Gehrig Race for Life" by (1) sponsoring a 5K or 10K race to raise money, (2) sponsoring a brother to run part of one day with the national runners and raise funds to enter him or (3) have a Lou Gehrig Race for Life Day to raise funds.

Cline Young, Community Service chairman, discussed the coordination of his efforts with the philanthropic movement while promoting additional community service activities. The emphasis in this program will remain two-fold: (1) a Community Service Day and (2) year-long community service projects. He emphasized publicity about all community service activities by chapters.

COAC: More than 60 officers and advisers from 10 chapters attended the Northwest Tri-Province COAC on Jan 25-27 in Tacoma, WA. hosted by Washington Delta at Puget Sound. Erin J. Hayes (Oregon State '72) and Rick Stockstad (Puget Sound '70), Pi North and Pi South province presidents, were in attendance along with Dr. Charles Wicks (Willamette '47), immediate past president of the GC, and M. Scott Mietchen (Utah '84), the chapter consultant assigned to the COAC.

Stanly D. Brown, housing commissioner, reported on the new insurance program for all chapters adopted by the GC, which went into effect Feb. 15.

William Estes, educational foundation trustee, reported on the activities of the Educational Foundation. Contributions in 1984 were "just over $300,000." Thirty scholarships will be offered this year with the amounts being increased from $1,500 to $1,700. The Priest Scholarship has been increased from $2,000 to $2,200.

He reported the creation of a development advisory council. Roger Cerne, trustee, reported on the plan for development. Cerne is also executive manager of the Case Alumni Association at Case Western Reserve. The plan is to increase the amount in the Educational Foundation to three million dollars by 1989.

He presented objectives adopted by the foundation to ultimately provide support from the foundation to all educational programs of the fraternity. Inherent in these objectives is the fact that Robert J. Miller, executive vice president, will immediately begin to spend 25% of his time with the foundation. Following the 1986 Convention in Toronto, he will devote 50% of his time to the foundation.

Frederick Green, chairman of the Canadian Educational Foundation, reported on the activities of the foundation. The foundation awards $1,200 scholarships to seven undergraduates in the seven Canadian chapters.

Harold Minnich, finance commissioner, reported on the finances of the general fraternity, the Palmer Fund and the Mitchell Fund.

The conference ended at 10:35 a.m. ■

Province Presidents Named

Four more province presidents have recently been appointed by the General Council and approved by their respective chapters. They include Dr. Paul J. Antol, Jr. (Iowa State '75), Lambda; E. Eugene Jernigan (Georgia Southern '78), Chi North; Timothy P. McKissick (VPI '72), Delta North; and Martyn C. Mercer (South Florida '80), Chi South.

Lambda Province includes the chapters in Minnesota and Wisconsin while Chi North covers Southern Alabama and Northern Florida. Delta North Province involves chapters in Virginia and the District of Columbia while the chapters in Southern Florida are located in Chi South.

Dr. Antol currently has a research fellowship for Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN. He is a biomedical engineer in biological systems. He received his Ph.D. in biomedical engineering from Iowa State in May, 1984.

ANTOL

He was a very active undergraduate for Iowa Gamma and held several offices. He has attended two Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences and, for the past four years, has served Iowa Gamma as chapter adviser. He is married and originally is from Des Moines.

Jernigan is a merchandiser for Goldkist in the agri-commodities division in Valdosta, GA. His undergraduate degree is in finance and in 1980 he received his MBA from Valdosta State College.

While an undergraduate at Georgia Epsilon he held several offices, including president. He was a member of the college judicial board and received Dean's List recognition for several terms. He is single and his athletic interests include golf and racquetball.

McKissick is employed as a salesman for the Proctor & Gamble Company in the state of Virginia. He and his wife, the former Raye Wallace, live in Chesterfield, VA.

Mercer is employed by VHA Management Services as a senior associate for the health care consulting company. He majored in biology at South Florida and was named as one of the university's "Ten Outstanding Students" as a senior. He has been chapter adviser for Florida Epsilon during the past two years and has attended a General Convention and two Chapter Officers and Advisers Conferences.

He is married and enjoys swimming, jogging and bike riding.

TWO ROBERT J. MILLERS?: Robert J. Miller, executive vice president of Phi Delta Theta, met Robert J. Miller, a current member of Idaho Alpha, when the former visited the Idaho campus during Homecoming on Oct. 13.

THE PHI CRIER

IN SPORTS

*By winning both the football and softball titles in intramural sports this fall, Kansas Alpha has taken a wide lead in the race for the sports trophy at the University of Kansas.

ON CAMPUS

*Bernie Huelsman (Cincinnati '86) has been elected as the new IFC Rush Chairman for the 1985-86 school year at the University of Cincinnati. He previously served as president of the Ohio Theta chapter.

*Tony Phillips (Ohio State '86) has been elected as the Scarlet Group representative to the IFC executive committee. The group represents the largest fraternity on the Ohio State campus.

*The men of Indiana Zeta recently hosted two separate events in their chapter house. A tour by the board of trustees featured the DePauw Phi Delt house. Also, a faculty and student leader reception was hosted by Indiana Zeta officers and DePauw IFC president, Dan Dunaway (DePauw '86).

*Utah Alpha at the University of Utah has continued to remain well represented on the IFC. Recently two members were appointed to IFC positions. Todd Hatter ('86) was named as the new justice on the Greek Judiciary and Victor Chigas ('86) was tapped as co-chairman for the 1985 Greek Week festivities.

*Oregon Alpha at the University of Oregon is proud of the election of Jay Halverson ('86) to the presidency of the IFC. The IFC governs the actions of the 13 men's fraternities on campus. Other Phis serving as IFC officers are Evan Connell ('86), activities chairman, and Scott Hendrickson ('86), a member of the rush committee.

*The Colorado Alpha fall pledge class has recently been the subject of several newspaper articles praising their work in community services activities. The pledge class cleaned a run-down section of Boulder, which is a popular area for students at the University of Colorado. The work included cleaning of walls, painting and landscaping of surrounding areas.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*The Phi Delt at Miami-Ohio enjoyed a very successful rush this year. The chapter extended 30 bids and received a 100 per cent acceptance of those bids. Now their goal is to initiate all 30.

*The Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter at Washington and Jefferson is the recipient of the Richardson Trophy. This award is given to the chapter in the Upsilon Province which has made the most improvement. The award is furnished by the Pittsburgh Alumni Club and the presentation was made by Howard Womsley, president of Upsilon Province, at a Christmas luncheon in Pittsburgh.

NEW IDEAS

*To prepare the members for rush, the Colorado Beta chapter at Colorado College held a rush workshop this year at the home of Gene DeKoster, province president. Approximately 65 members attended and the chapter pledged 26 rushees.

*Maryland Alpha Phis are handed a copy of the week's executive committee meeting minutes as they enter chapter hall for weekly meetings. A list of activities for the coming week as well as reports of individual officers are included. This makes the meetings run much smoother and brothers have something to refer to during the meeting according to Bob Wooldrige, secretary. It also makes his job easier and saves hours in communicating ideas and projects.

*The Ohio Theta chapter at Cincinnati has developed an outstanding procedure to monitor officer efficiency. An officer review committee has been set up to weekly grade each officer on his performance. Each officer is graded on organization, delegation, weekly goal follow-through and cooperation with the active brothers. Each officer's grades are reported during the weekly chapter meeting. The committee is composed of the president, vice president and an executive council member-at-large.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*As a regular community service project the brothers of the California Eta chapter at California-Davis visit a local cerebral palsy home known as the Hillside House. Usually four visits per quarter are made to the house. The members socialize with the residents, write letters for them and play cards with them. The response from the residents and staff has been very enthusiastic and positive.

*The Phi Delt at Case Western Reserve, in coordination with a local radio and TV station, are supporting a 1984 "Food for Families" holiday food drive. The drive will collect non-perishable food items for distribution through the Cleveland community food bank.

*The Pennsylvania Iota chapter at Pittsburgh is currently involved as an associate group with the volunteers of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. The work so far has entailed 100 volunteer hours of developing a mailing list and numerous hours of envelope stuffing to help finish 1,500 letters asking for donations to help the school continue.

*Members of Arizona Beta at Arizona State recently pledged themselves and their money toward the five-mile "Run for Liberty." Other fall community events include participation in the Phoenix Haunted House, victory in the ASU blood drive, co-sponsorship of the Operation Identification volleyball tournament and cooperation with the Junior League of Phoenix in their annual Gift March.

*Lafayette College Phis recently hosted a function for over 50 disadvantaged children. Together with officials of Northampton County Children and Youth Services, the children were entertained for an afternoon. Food and drinks were served, a magic show was given and brothers and children played various games and exchanged gifts. Michael Renzi, the chapter's community service chairman, says the men plan to host a similar function again soon.

*Brothers of Alberta Alpha at the University of Alberta volunteered seven hours of their time from midnight to 7 a.m. answering telephones for Associated Canadian Travellers Telerama, a non-profit organization designed to help the handicapped and underprivileged. The total amount raised was $700,000.

LAFAYETTE PHIS: Lafayette brothers recently hosted a function for over 50 disadvantaged children. Fred Huff ('86) gives a magic show for the children.

Whipple Named To Fraternity Scholarship Job

Dr. Ed Whipple (Hanover '74), associate dean of student at Texas Tech University, has been named scholarship commissioner for the fraternity by the General Council.

A native of Salem, OR, Whipple received his B.A. in English and French from Willamette, an M.A. in English from Northwestern and a Ph.D. in college student services administration from Oregon State.

WHIPPLE and the Universite' de Catholique de l'ouest, Angers, France.

In 1974 he began teaching high school English and coached women's track at Taft High School in Chicago. In 1975 he taught high school English, French and geography and coached track and swimming at Reedsport High School in Reedsport, OR.

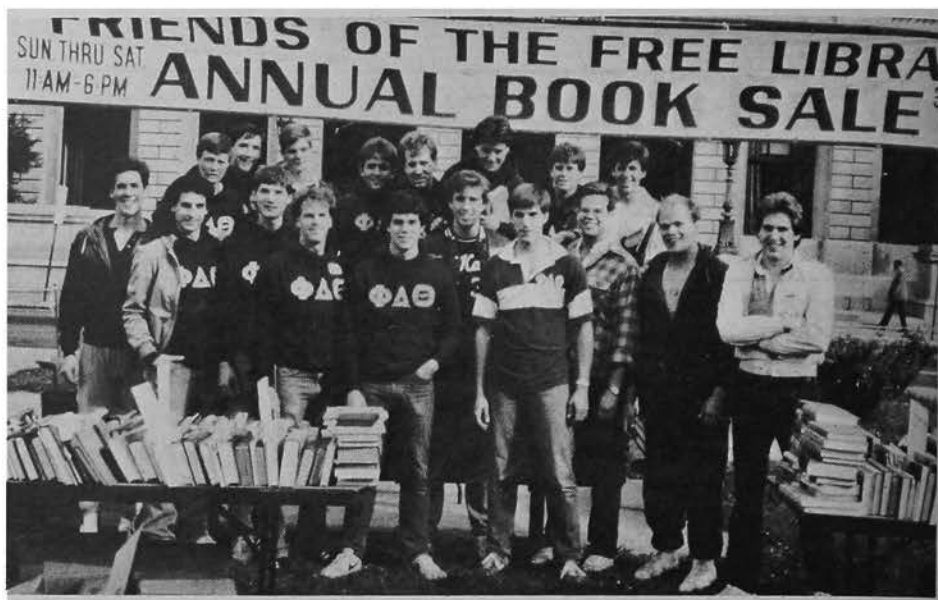

Whipple first entered the student services area while working on his PhD at Oregon State. He worked in residence life, financial aids and the Office of Students Services at the University.

He moved to Iowa State University in 1981 as Greek Affairs Coordinator before coming to his present position at Texas Tech where he is also an assistant professor of Education in 1982.

NEWSFRONTS

Phi Deltas at Baylor won first place overall in the University's annual Homecoming Parade. Their "Haze the Hog" float consisted of a large pirate boat with a bear captain making two hogs walk the plank.

BOOK SALE: Members of Pennsylvania Zeta at the University of Pennsylvania participated in a community service project which involved moving thousands of books for the Philadelphia Free Library's Book Sale in the fall. Members include BACK ROW—Fran McClean, Chad Mellen, Bill O'Leary, Mike D'Amelia, Joe Nutty, Dan Simcox, Pat Whalen and Mark Faraga; SECOND ROW—Doug Parsons, Steve Waldman, John Cross, Steve Adkins, John Hollyer, Nelson Thomson and Jordan Foster; FRONT ROW—Mark McDade, Jim Alpers and Dan Miller.

TEXAS NU COLONY: Mark Hobson, Rho South President; Joe Still, current president of Texas Nu colony; and Howard Young, former president of the General Council, discuss the progress of the Texas Nu colony at Texas A&M University. On Feb. 2, 1985, 39 members of the colony were formally inducted. Their goal is to achieve chapter status by November, 1985.

A total of 510 Phi Deltas were listed in Who's Who in America for 1984 according to the Fraternity Executives Association. The fraternity had the third largest number on the list out of 59 fraternities listed.

The NIC marked its 75th anniversary in 1984 by passing measures dealing with alcohol and hazing at its annual meeting, Nov. 29-Dec. 2, in Louisville, KY.

A resolution on alcohol calls for responsible and lawful alcohol use, as well as non-alcoholic membership recruitment or "dry rush." The delegates approved the report of the law committee, which included a model anti-hazing law to be targeted at states considering adoption of legislation outlawing illegal pre-initiation activities.

Dr. John D. Millett (DePauw '39), former president of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta, was recently presented with an Order of Interfraternity Service Award for outstanding interfraternity leadership by Lambda Chi Alpha.

Pat Mizell (SMU '85), Texas youth coordinator for President Reagan's election campaign, danced with Nancy Reagan while his date danced with the President at the Reagan Inaugural Youth Ball during inaugural ceremonies in Washington, D.C. in January. While he was in Washington, Mizell got the unfortunate news that his apartment in Dallas had burned up in a fire.

RUN FOR LIBERTY: Eleven members of Arizona Beta at Arizona State recently pledged their time and money toward a five-mile Run for Liberty in their community.

WINNERS: Phi Deltas at the University of Kansas have won both the intramural football (top) and softball (bottom) titles to take a wide lead in the race for the sports trophy on that campus.

Three Unanimous Picks Top Team

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
Scroll Sports Editor

For the second consecutive year, three of the top five All-Phi basketball first team selections were unanimous choices. They include Detlef Schrempf (Washington-Seattle '85), Tim Mullen (Virginia '85) and Tom Cowens (Centre '85).

The other two first team choices were Dave Comber (Lawrence '86) and Kevin Lavin (Centre '87).

Schrempf is an All-PAC 10 performer and third team All-American choice of the Basketball Coaches Association. He was the Huskies leading scorer with a 15.8 average. He had a 58.3% shooting average from the field and was also the leading rebounder with an 8 average.

He is the only player in Huskie history to have scored more than 30 points in a game (34 against USC) and grab more than 20 rebounds in a game (21 against Idaho). For his career he scored 1,433 points and got 745 rebounds. He played on the 1984 West German Olympic team.

Mullen is a four-year Cavalier regular. This year he scored 215 points for a 7.4 average plus 61 rebounds and 71 assists. He hit 100% against Richmond (4 for 4) and against VMI (8 of 8). For his career he scored 795 points and a 6.4 average.

Cowens moved up from last year's second team. He led the Colonels in total offense with 413 points for a 17.2 average. He hit 55.1% from the field and got 203 rebounds for an 8.5 average.

He led the Colonels to their third consecutive College Athletic Conference title and their third straight NCAA Division III playoff. He had just over 1,000 career points.

Lavin finished just behind Cowens with a 16.6 average plus a 6.2 rebound average. The point guard led the Colonels in steals with 40 and had a 58.6% shooting average from the field. He hit 81.4% from the free throw line.

Comber was the Vikings second leading scorer and rebounder. He had a 12.8 scoring average with a top game of 22 against Coe and 165 rebounds for a 7.9 average. His top game was 19. All of this was accomplished with a 6-16 team.

The second team consists of Bill Rosene (Lawrence '85), Teel Bruner (Centre '86), Craig McAtee (DePauw '85), Coby DeVary (Centre '86) and Ted Malowski (Lawrence '86).

Rosene, who was also an All-Phi selection in football, lettered in basketball as a freshman and came out again this year when the regular center was injured in pre-season. He led the Vikings in rebounds with 173 for an 8.2 average, third in the Midwest Conference. He had a 5.0 scoring average. He had 13 rebounds against St. Norbert and Lake Forest and over nine rebounds in six other games.

Bruner, a three-year starter, is a unique two-sport starter with 4 point academic credentials. In 24 games he had a 7.6 scoring average plus 106 rebounds and 85 assists.

Devary, a repeater from last year's team, lead the conference champions in team assists with 119 points plus an 11.3 scoring average. Malowski, a three-year starter and captain, carried a 6.6 scoring average. ■

A Report to the Stockholders

BY ROBERT J. MILLER, President
Phi Delta Theta Foundation

The name of the game this year is cumulative giving and the result is a record in both dollar contributions and number of gifts to the Fraternity. The grand total of contributions to four funds, including Loyalty Funds and Educational Foundations in both Canada and the United States, comes to $528,755.35.

A total of 15,239 gifts were made by 9,983 Phis or friends of the Fraternity. The number of donors falls just seven short of setting a new record.

Cumulative Giving

During past years, giving clubs were established at several levels. For example, if a person contrib-of the Helmet Society, etc. The club designation lasted for only one year. In January of each year, the slate was wiped clean (with the exception of the Founders Club which was established as a lifetime designation) and the member was once again placed in a giving club, depending on the amount of his contribution.

All this was changed in January, 1984, with the introduction of cumulative giving. Now, a member may progress through various giving levels, based on the total of all contributions to the Loyalty Fund and/or the Educational Foundation during his lifetime. With the introduction of this program, the first two clubs, which had been established at the $25.00 and $50.00 levels, have been discontinued. Now, once a person reaches the Sword and Shield Society at the $100.00 level, he will then progress to the Argent Association at the $250.00 level and on up the line to the Founders Club, for persons whose accumulated gifts total $10,000.

Founders Club Members Named

1984 produced two new members of the Fraternity's prestigious Founders Club. F. Ross Johnson (Manitoba '52) the first recipient of the Fraternity's Nance-Millett Award in 1982, gained admission to the club with his 1984 gift. Johnson serves as vice chairman and chief executive officer of Nabisco Brands, Inc.

The second new Founders Club member of the year is James P. Devere (UCLA '41). Devere, who operates his own company, is a sporting goods manufacturers' representative.

Matching Gifts

A matching gift is one contributed by a corporation or foundation in response to a financial gift made by an individual to the Fraternity's Education Foundation. Although the usual practice is for the gift to be on a dollar-for-dollar basis, some corporations will donate two for one or even three for one.

Displayed elsewhere with this article is a list of corporations and foundations from which such gifts have been received in the past. No doubt many more sources of matching gifts are available and members are urged to make inquiry to determine if their employers will, in some way, match the gifts they are making to the Foundation.

Memorial Gifts

As in past years, memorial gifts have played an important role in our fund-raising program. A gift in memory of a member who has entered the Chapter Grand or a close friend of the Fraternity who has passed away is an admirable method of paying tribute to a close friend. When such gifts are received, the gift is acknowledged

Future Goals

With the current corpus of the Foundation just over one million dollars, the Fraternity is in a position to present approximately 35 scholarships this year, most of them in the amount of $1,700. The Arthur R. Priest Award will carry a stipend of $2,200 and there will be several scholarships of lesser amounts from the income of designated funds.

It is the goal of the trustees to increase the worth of the Foundation to better than three million dollars so that various educational programs, currently underwritten by the general fraternity (with the help of the Loyalty Fund), may be sponsored by the Foundation. The plan calls for net annual Foundation income on the following basis:

1985-86 .....	250,000
1986-87 .....	350,000
1988-89 .....	500,000

As reported earlier, it can be seen that the 1984 goal has been met. The 1985 campaign is underway and, with the continued faithful support of alumni and friends, the five-year plan will be realized. This is a very exciting time for the Fraternity and the success or failure of the program could well determine the financial future of the brotherhood. ■

Idaho Phi Heads Westin Hotels

In 1985, Westin Hotels received top honors in Travel Holiday Magazine's national travel poll as the number one hotel company in the world for the fifth consecutive year. The magazine has a readership of 2.3 million.

Dwight Call (Idaho '52), current president of the Westin Hotel Company and a member of its board of directors, has spent 28 years with the organization.

As president he is responsible for all activities regarding operations, marketing, personnel and technical services. The company owns 52 hotels housing 29,172 rooms in the United States (25), Canada (6), Mexico (11) and internationally (10). It employs 28,000 people worldwide.

"We focus on a triangle relationship," he said in a recent interview. "It starts with our employees. We try to treat them fairly and do things for them that are appropriate—from hiring to firing. We then try to satisfy our guests. If we do these things in a proper manner, the third part of the triangle, our shareholders, will prosper also.

"Westin Hotels is proud of its reputation in the hospitality industry for the high quality of its hotels, restaurants and its people. We have earned this solid reputation by appealing to discerning travelers ever since our beginning in 1930. Over the years, our guests have relied on us for two features important to them—a consistent excellence in product and in people.

"We are sensitive to the needs and concerns of business and pleasure travelers. And we can assure them that once they have experienced Westin-style hospitality, they can expect to find the same high quality on repeat visits—to the same or another Westin hotel."

Not Just The Biggest

"We have long said, we don't necessarily want to be the biggest, but we do want to be the best. To this end, we do our utmost to maintain highest standards of excellence consistent throughout all our hotels. However, our hotels are not carbon copies of each other. Rather, each Westin hotel or resort assumes its own personality that is as distinctive as the destination or city which surrounds it. Our approach is to give our hotels' management the autonomy to create an individual character unique to the community they serve. This enables our guests to enjoy both a distinctive hotel experience and a uniformity of excellence.

"It is our objective to have the best hotel in the market it serves. This requires an incredible amount of attention to detail. We go to great lengths to pay attention to the little things, but it is worth every bit of effort in order to fulfill our objectives for serving the expectations of the quality-conscious traveler. Recollections of these seemingly small but important guest services and amenities linger with the guest long after he or she is gone, and has a direct relationship to repeat business."

Position of Leadership

"Maintaining a position of leadership requires a commitment to continuing improvement—to stay on the leading edge of innovation and to always look for ways to more effectively and consistently serve our customers.

"We've found, for instance, that food and beverage facilities will often influence customer decisions for hotel selection. To ensure our success in this field, Westin operates a chefs' Culinary Institute, an advanced training program in the culinary arts that is unique in the industry, and a three-year apprenticeship program.

"When describing characteristics which typify the world's truly deluxe hotels, people often speak of excellence in facilities, ambience, cleanliness, the merits and reputation of food and beverage and the quality or variety of amenities. We agree these factors are important, but we also believe the great hotels must have a more dominate trait in common: talented people who are motivated to always strive for excellence in their work."

People Are the Difference

"People are the point of difference between an average stay and an exceptional one. Westin owns or manages more than 50 hotels and resorts worldwide, and we persist in a call for excellence from all of our people. We support our human resources with training programs and the philosophy of promoting from within the company.

"Deluxe or world-class tags may be variously interpreted from one guest to another. To some, excellence may simply mean a courteous staff, a comfortable bed and pleasant surroundings. To others, excellence will be judged by impeccable service, white-glove cleanliness and superb cuisine. At Westin, excellence is the relentless pursuit of all of these—the very best in every respect at all times.

"Put simply, it is our mission to make excellence a tangible reality for our guests. Buildings and facilities, to some extent, can be copied and imitated. But the individual personality of each Westin hotel and the commitment of over 28,000 dedicated employees to fulfill the wishes of our guests has helped create a leadership position for Westin among the world's deluxe hotels."

Reflecting on his days at Idaho Alpha, Call related that "I wish I had done more in the chapter. My fraternity experience gave me insight into human relationships. It gives you the ability to react and interact with a lot of diverse people and still maintain a relationship that is positive."

Call joined Westin Hotels in 1956. In addition to several management positions, he has served as general manager for three of the company's hotels: The Westin Hotel, Calgary in Alberta; The Westin Benson in Portland, Oregon and The Westin Hotel in Chicago.

He was elected as vice president of the company in 1971 and served as operations/project officer. He became senior vice president in 1979 and was in charge of the staff services division. He was named group vice president in 1981, and executive vice president in 1982 with responsibility for the company's worldwide hotel operations.

A graduate of the University of Idaho, Call has a second degree in hotel administration from Washington State University. He has been an active Rotarian since 1961. He and his wife, Beverly Jean, have three children, Lisa, Deborah and Greg. They live in Bellevue, WA. ■

Role of Greek System Examined

BY JAMES H. DAUGHDRILL, JR.,
PRESIDENT
Rhodes College, Memphis, TN
(Davidson '56)

My positive feelings about fraternities and sororities derive from my own good experience in college as a fraternity member and from lifelong friendships formed in that fraternity. Now, after nearly twelve years as a college president, I realized that I had neither identified the ideals of the Greek organizations nor analyzed my present support of the Greek system.

So I wrote to the national headquarters of several fraternities and sororities and asked them, "What is the purpose and role of your sorority or fraternity?"

The answers I received from them were thorough, thoughtful, and articulate. From their replies I compiled eight common reasons for fraternities and sororities, and I obtained permission to quote them without reference to a particular sorority or fraternity.

Sharing Relations

One purpose listed by the national organizations is that of sharing relations. By providing an "extended family relationship, membership makes the adjustment to college easier and quicker. A big sister is a special friend who helps in this early adjustment and is a special person to whom a new student can turn." ... "The Greek institutions provide a sense of belonging and identity for each individual member." ... "Each fraternity and sorority provides close personal friendships, which endure over a lifetime." ... "Fraternity is living and working and enjoying life with one's friends. The four-year experience will be invaluable to the individual in his dealings with people the rest of his life. One learns to be an individual and at the same time relegate his doings to those of society."

Loyalty

A second purpose of fraternities and sororities is increased loyalty to Alma Mater. "The loyalty developed in Greek institutions allows both alumni and undergraduates to work together to renew relationships to the organization and the college." ... "Statistics show that fraternity members are the largest contributors and supporters of their Alma Mater." ... "For the college, fraternities play a significant role in maintaining a sense of identity and friendship for members which translates into loyalty to the institution when they become alumni."

Social Activities

A third purpose of fraternities and sororities is to provide social activities. "The college fraternity often provides a core social activity on campus, provides the driving spirit behind many extra-curricular activities, and gives the institution a sense of spirit." ... "The benefits of the Greek system include sponsoring events for the entire campus."

Service

jects for the betterment of mankind. "The sorority teaches the importance of service to the community and the college. Greeks support numerous and varied philanthropic endeavors, serve as scout leaders, as volunteers in hospitals, nursing homes; sponsor clean-up-paint-ups for parks, homes and often adopt a family." ... "Virtually all national fraternities and sororities support national philanthropic projects. These include cancer research and the National Humanities Center," ... "research grants for a cure for arthritis, and many others."

Intellectual Vitality

A fifth purpose, and one cited by all organizations as one of its most important purposes, is to develop intellectual vitality. "Self-discipline and supervised study are cornerstones of Greek organizations and develop a solid reputation for acceptance on campus. The atmosphere of chapters fosters intellectual ideas." ... "Fraternities and sororities promote high academic standards and achievement by providing programs in time budgeting, how to study, take an exam, etc." ... "Sororities are firmly grounded in the precept that, above all else, commitment to academic work is the essence of the student's role at her selected college. This precept is placed into action through active scholarship programs, ranging from study hours to tutorials, from special help to orientation sessions. Sorority chapters further augment the efforts of the college itself by carefully orienting new pledges and members to resources available through the college, such as the counseling service or college tutorial center. Additional support materials and awards incentive programs are often provided from the national level as well."

Friendships

A sixth purpose for fraternities and sororities is to provide outlets for inter-college associations and friendships. "Greek membership allows undergraduates to share ideas with students on other campuses. Each fraternity and sorority has leadership conferences, both on a regional and national level, to build undergraduate programming and professional guidance for leaders in each chapter." ... "Fraternity membership provides a support system not only during college but beyond through collegiate chapters, alumnae chapters, national publications and networking programs."

Moral and Ethical Growth

A seventh purpose is to provide guidance for moral and ethical growth. "Members learn to take responsibility for conduct and behavior of members and to handle problems which may arise through proper and fair procedures, always providing due process." ... "The fraternity joins with the College in setting reasonable standards for comfort, safety, and acceptable behavior." ... "Anti-social behavior, lack of social discipline and gross social activity under the pretense of boosting college spirit must not be tolerated. Fraternity members should be committed to helping each other become more humane, competent, responsive, mature and committed to the development of awareness and understanding of the individual and the environments in which he lives." ... "Each group has its individual ritual, but all of these rituals have the common thread of high ideals and honor. Sororities systematically challenge members to implement those ideals in everyday life."

Leadership

The eighth purpose stated for fraternities and sororities is to provide opportunities for leadership. "The students involved in a college fraternity enjoy a sense of shared responsibility, self-governance, and financial self-sufficiency." ... "Members learn leadership and followership." ... "Chapter management and organization provide a climate for development of leadership skills and related areas of personal growth. Systematic officer training workshops provide know-how and personal skills. Goal-setting sessions at chapter meetings spill over to personal goal-setting even years after college. Leadership positions in undergraduate chapters increase personal self-confidence and readiness to enter the job market."

Rhodes College has traditionally supported the ideals and purposes of its fraternities and sororities. Former president Charles E. Diehl wrote in 1925, "We recognize that man is a gregarious animal and that it is natural that young men and young women should surround themselves with congenial associates. We believe that properly conducted fraternities and sororities are on the whole beneficial to the student."

Today Rhodes continues its support of fraternities and sororities, and of the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils.

The Greek system ideals were summed up in a letter sent to me by an executive director of one of the national fraternities.

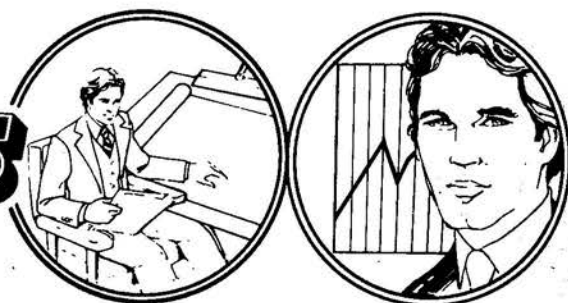

"In a good fraternity, the individual learns to cooperate. He struggles, he fights, he debates, he is constantly frustrated by attitudes he perceives in others. He compromises, he shares, he loves, he is constantly awed by the generosity he perceives in others.

"In a good fraternity, one can learn how other people's minds work. This experience gives a man the skills, wisdom, and perception to deal with life, things that are likely to be great assets in dealing with the awesome challenges ahead."

Let us work to fulfill the high ideals of our fraternities and sororities. ■

ALABAMA ALPHA

The Alumni Association of Alabama Alpha of Phi Delta Theta held its organizational meeting on May 2, 1985 at the Country Club of Birmingham. Over 50 Phis from the University of Alabama attended.

The organization was formed to aid the chapter at Alabama in the areas of academic affairs; chapter leadership; rush activities and finances. President of the club is Ben Beckham, III (Alabama '71).

This summer, over $30,000 will be spent on refurbishing three areas. One, the upstairs bathroom; two, remodeling the downstairs and third, completely renovating the Phi house basement. Next year more extensive repairs and/or renovations will be undertaken. Any interested Alabama Alpha Phi wishing to help, please write to Ben Beckham, III, 3940 Montclair Road, Suite 500, Birmingham, Alabama 35213.—Henry S. Fowlkes, III

BOSTON

The Boston Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta held its First Annual Founders Day banquet on April 19, 1985 at the Weston Country Club. Judging from the large turnout and the very positive comments from all of the attendees, the function can be called nothing less than a tremendous success.

Bob Miller, executive vice president of Phi Delta Theta, was the keynote speaker. The subject of Bob's speech was the state of the Fraternity and the policies we will be implementing in the future. Bob also offered our new Alumni Club many words of encouragement.

Among the 60 people in attendance were undergraduate representatives from the chapters at the University of Vermont, M.I.T., and New Hampshire College. The President of Vermont Alpha presented Charles Zabriskie (Vermont '53) an award in appreciation of his unselfish efforts to rebuild the chapter.

During the business portion of the meeting, the following officers were elected: Joe Belanger (Ripon '75), president; Rusty Cowper (Florida '82), vice president; Ray Edelman (Syracuse '80), treasurer; Michael Humphrys (Florida '84), secretary. In addition to these officers, a steering committee has been set up to assist the officers and generate ideas.

Several members also discussed getting together for special events. Some of the events in the planning stages include a Golf & Tennis Tournament, a night out at Fenway Park for a Red Sox Game, and a Harbor Cruise on the Charles River. The specifics of these events master of the evening and Alfred G. Crabbe was the master of ceremonies for the Golden Legion Awards. Brother Robert Fitzpatrick, president of Gamma Province, South, was our guest speaker.

The Harrisburg Alumni Club recognized two 50 year Brothers who were ceremoniously inducted into the Golden Legion class of our fraternity. They were Brothers Charles B. Seeley, Jr. (Penn State '38) and Donald J. Wolford (Penn State '38). Both brothers spoke of their long association with the fraternity and were appreciative of the great honor they received.

Brother Wilson president-elect of the club, also spoke highly of the great changes taking place in the Chapters since he has a son who is an undergraduate at Penn State.

The evening ended by the election and installation of the new officers for the year 1985-86. They are: President John B. Wilson (Penn State '58), Vice President Lewis J. Maurer (Penn State '37), Secretary-Treasurer Alfred Gardner Crabbe (Maryland '36) and Reporter Theodore E. Brookhouser (Allegheny '24).—Alfred Gardner Crabbe

HOUSTON

The Houston alumni recently enjoyed their annual Founder's Day observance at the Petroleum Club in downtown Houston. There was an excellent turnout to see several brothers inducted into the Golden Legion. Those inducted were Vance Edwards, James H. Kerr, Jr., John H. Meyers, Erwin Morlan, William M. Pressler and Donald Sabin. Of the six, brothers Kerr, Meyers and Morlan were present.

As always, it was fun hearing the stories passed around by these Phi Dels of fifty years of what their pledge days were like and what the fraternity has meant to them throughout the years.

The new Houston alumni officers for 1985 were also announced. They are as follows: President Mike Conway, Vice President Stephen Brollier, Treasurer Bill Hayes, Social Chairman David Frazier, Secretary Bob Huntley, Membership John Wright and Joe Burgess.

If you live in the Houston area and have not been able to attend one of our functions, let us know how to get in touch with you. We get together three times each year and you can never guess who you might run in to that you have not seen in years. Contact one of the officers listed above for information on our next party.—Bob Huntley

NASHVILLE

On April 10 the Nashville Alumni Club observed Founders Day at the University Club on Vanderbilt University's campus. As always it was a packed house with over 150 alumni and actives enjoying a fine evening.

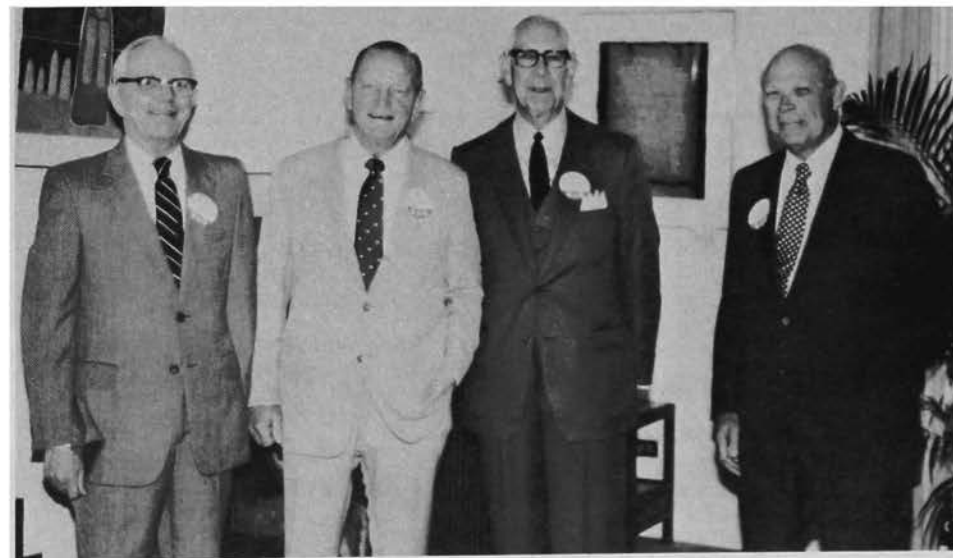

After an excellent meal, Brother Bill Estes (Vanderbilt '55), president of the club, welcomed everyone to the banquet. The status of the renovation and fundraising for the Vanderbilt Chapter house was reviewed by Billy Webb (Vanderbilt '74). Brother Webb reported that over half of the $125,000 required for the project had been raised, the remainder to be paid by alumni and actives on a scheduled basis in future years.

Jack Braden (Vanderbilt '63), Eta Province President, gave us an update on the status of all the Phi Chapters in Tennessee. After Jack's report he began this year's Golden Legion ceremony honoring the following Brothers eligible to receive their Golden Legion certificate this year: Charles M. Anderson, James B. Ragland, David Y. Proctor, Jr., and Merlin W. Troy. Those eligible but unable to attend were Jack A. Custer, John R. Jones, and Victor S. Johnson.

Overton Thompson, (Vanderbilt '37) made this year's presentation of the H. Laird Smith Award, given each year to the alumnus who has best personified the teachings of the Bond. This year's recipient was James A. Webb, Jr. (Vanderbilt '44), one of Nashville's outstanding citizens and businessmen.

The last presentations and introductions of the evening were by the Vanderbilt Chapter actives. President Pen Caldwell introduced the outstanding class of new initiates and next year's officers: President—Rick O'Brien; Vice President—Ken Downey; Social Chairman—Trey Sheridan; Rush Chairmen—Jeff Warren and Brit Stephens; Treasurer—John Streete; and House Manager—Doug Wall. Pen then presented special gifts of appreciation to outgoing Chapter Adviser Mark Aldredge (Vanderbilt '74); and for their work in bringing about the chapter house renovation project, Rob Taylor (Vanderbilt '80) and Billy Webb (Vanderbilt '74). The incoming president, Rick O'Brien, was called on to present the following awards to the actives: Best Pledge—Robert Parrish, John S. Medart Sportmanship Award—Gordon Wilson and Best Senior—Pen Caldwell.

On April 21st the actives and alumni played the 1st Annual Active-Alumni Softball Tournament. A great time was had by all with the alumni claiming close victories in the second and third games after a humiliating loss in game one. Many alumni were seen moving extremely slow on the following Monday—we are thankful this is only an annual event.—John C. Eason

ORANGE COUNTY

The Orange County Alumni Club held their annual Founders Day at the Officer Club of the U.S. Marine Corps Air Station (helicopter) in Tustin, California on March 14, 1985.

About 45 brothers from many universities attended. The festivities started with an informal get together an hour before the prime rib dinner to renew old acquaintances, to meet new Phis, and discuss past and current status.

We were fortunate in having Bob Miller, executive vice president, as an honored guest and speaker.

Also attending as a member of the Orange County Club was past president of the General Council, Doug Phillips.

PHILADELPHIA

The Philadelphia Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club recently hosted its Spring gathering at Kanpai, a Japanese Restaurant located in the Historic Society Hill district of Philadelphia.

Once again, all of those attending thoroughly enjoyed themselves and are looking forward to the Fall Gambling Party presently being planned to benefit Mark Roesser, a young Phi Delt who has been left a quadriplegic as a result of a tragic accident in June, 1984.

Mark graduated from Jacksonville University in 1983 where he was president, public relations officer, rush chairman, scholarship chairman, housing manager, and pledge class president of the Florida Zeta Chapter.

He was also president of the Honorary Greek Leadership Society, vice president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, co-editor of Jacksonville University Freshman Record, a member of the sub-committee on finance, a member of the student affairs committee, a student recruiting representative, a member of the alcohol awareness task force; and, a senior senator of the student government association.

President Stockwell, commented, "Mark has certainly given a great deal to Phi Delta Theta; and, it is now our turn to help Mark. And, we intend to exert every conceivable effort to raise as much money as possible at our forthcoming Gambling Party to accomplish this objective."

PITTSBURGH

The Pittsburgh Alumni Club held its Founder's Day Banquet and Golden Legion Ceremony at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, which is located in the Oakland area of Pittsburgh adjacent to the campus of the University of Pittsburgh.

In attendance were many alumni and their wives along with 17 actives from Upsilon Province. We had 10 actives from the University of Pittsburgh, 4 from Allegheny College and 3 from West Virginia University.

PHILADELPHIA: Club President Bill Stockwell (right) visits with Maytor H. McKinley, past president; Maytor McKinley V; and Chris Dimitri, Kanpai Restaurant owner.

PITTSBURGH: Newly initiated Golden Legionnaires at Pittsburgh include John T. Tierney, Charles W. Wright and John F. Ramsey.

In attendance for the Golden Legion Ceremony were three qualified Golden Legionnaire prospects all from Pennsylvania Iota, the University of Pittsburgh. They were, John F. Ramsey (Pittsburgh '35), John T. Tierney (Pittsburgh '38), and Charles W. Wright (Pittsburgh '38).

Following cocktails and dinner we had a report from presidents of each of the Chapters of Upsilon Province in attendance. These reports were well received by all alumni. Following this report of the Chapters a most impressive Golden Legion Ceremony was conducted by Brother Bob Heister along with the participation of actives from Allegheny College, University of Pittsburgh, and West Virginia University. Unfortunately, Brother Bob Prince (Pittsburgh '38), who for years was the voice of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was unable to attend because he was in Florida for spring training.

Following the Golden Legion Ceremony the meeting was adjourned with a song led by the active chapters.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The Metropolitan Washington, DC Alumni Club held their 101st Founders' Day Banquet on Friday, April 19, 1985 at the Kenwood Golf & Country Club in Bethesda, Maryland.

The banquet's Master of Ceremonies was Robert Taplett (South Dakota '40), retired U.S. Marine Corps Colonel.

Frank Abernathy (Richmond '59), General Council Member At-Large brought brief remarks from the fraternity to the guests who represented over 28 different chapters of Phi Delta Theta.

Following the banquet dinner, Carl Scheid (Chicago '32) conducted the ceremony inducting three distinguished area Phis into the fraternity's Golden Legion. Brothers honored included William Blum, Jr. (Swarthmore '31), George Cleavenger (West Virginia '36) and James Snipes (SMU '38).

Following the Golden Legion ceremony, the guests were entertained by the evening's guest speaker, Robert Hilton, Sr. (Mississippi '48), Retired U.S. Navy Rear Admiral. Brother Hilton shared humorous anecdotes about his military career and shared memories of his days as a brother at Ole Miss.

ST. LOUIS: William Crandall (Washington-St. Louis '61), Phi of the Year for 1985 in St. Louis, visits with previous winners including Walter R. Klostermeier (Washington-St. Louis '49), 1979; Elmer C. Henderson, Jr. (Westminster '35), 1983; and Robert W. Wolters (Washington-St. Louis '51), 1973.

He also broadcast for the Houston Astros after he was fired in 1975 for allegedly ignoring the action on the field in preference to constant storytelling. Following the Oct. 30, 1975 ouster, a downtown parade was attended by about 20,000 protesting the move. Willie Stargell, the popular Pirate outfielder, led the parade and said that PRINCE's ouster was like "the U.S. Steel Building falling down." PRINCE often displayed a plastic Green Weenie good luck charm and once claimed that he didn't care who won the games he broadcast, "as long as we do." He was reinstated to the Pirates broadcasting team in April and the Pirates held a "Bob Prince Night" on May 3. Survivors include a Phi brother, Fred S. (Utah '32), and two Phi cousins, Charles L. (Stanford '39) and Phillip H. (Stanford '45).

Three New Consultants Selected

Three new chapter consultants have joined the headquarters staff and will be visiting chapters this fall. They include Robert Scott Cain III (Arizona '85), Christopher Jan Ernstes (Franklin-Ball State '85) and Thomas Alan Fortune (Florida '84).

Cain received a B.S. in business administration with a major in economics. He received an Arizona Alpha scholarship for five semesters and was on the Dean's List for three semesters graduating with a 3.29 grade point average. He served his chapter as president, pledge trainer, member-at-large and COAC and General Convention delegate. He was also on the student senate and the Greek judicial board. He also attended Claremont McKenna College where he was Class of '85 President.

Jack L. Anson, former executive director of the National Interfraternity Conference, has been named editor for the 20th edition of Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities. The manual, last published in 1977, is considered the only complete reference guide to the North American men's and women's college fraternity system, and is used at libraries, colleges and universities, and offices across the continent.

Junge To Head Province

James J. Junge (Colorado '62) has replaced Gene DeKoster as province president for XI Province, which includes the chapter in Colorado and Wyoming. DeKoster has moved to Seattle.

Junge established his own architectural firm in Boulder in 1960 and today the firm is known as Junge, Reich, Heinz and Magee. He is involved with several other organizations, including the American Institute of Architects, the Urban Land Institute and he has local government interests.

He has attended several General Conventions, including the most recent convention held last summer in New Orleans. He is the son of Emmett Junge, past president of the General Council.

The new province president was initiated at the University of Nebraska and later transferred to the University of Colorado where he graduated with a B.S. degree in architectural engineering.

He is married and has three daughters. His family enjoys outdoor sporting activities, including snow and water skiing.

Nelson Named Adviser of the Year

BY BOB BIGGS
Director of Chapter Services

Dwight Nelson (Hanover '63) is a very special Phi Delta Theta alumnus. Brother Nelson was recently named the winner of the Samuel V. Stone Chapter Adviser of the Year for 1985.

He is held in high regard by those who have known him during his 14 years of dedicated and unselfish service to the Indiana Epsilon chapter at Hanover College.

In 1963 Brother Nelson graduated from Hanover, receiving a degree in mathematics. From Hanover, he went on to Ball State University and received his Masters degree in mathematics. He is presently a teacher of mathematics in the Madison Consolidated School Corporation in Madison, Indiana. Dwight and his wife, Anna, reside in Madison with their three daughters.

The success of his leadership is obvious because of the individual and chapter accomplishments achieved by the men of Indiana Epsilon. Undergraduate members are recognized on the Hanover campus as being campus leaders in honoraries, student organizations, and athletics.

During Brother Nelson's 14 years as chapter adviser, Indiana Epsilon has received 12 Gold Star Awards for Outstanding Excellence; runner-up for the Kansas City Trophy in 1973, 1977, and 1985; and winning the Kansas City Trophy in 1972, 1983, and 1984. This is a superior performance that has been consistently displayed by Indiana Epsilon and it is a direct reflection upon the leadership of Dwight Nelson.

One of Indiana Epsilon's members, Ronald D. Mueller, made the following comment about Brother Nelson, "Last year our chapter was awarded the Kansas City Trophy, largely due to the effort and guidance provided by Dwight. Dwight's regular attendance and contributions to our weekly chapter meetings are indicative of his interest in upholding the excellence our chapter has worked so hard to achieve.

"He is a true believer and promoter of the three basic principles of Phi Delta Theta. Besides being the guiding force in our chapter, he always finds time to maintain the upkeep of our house throughout the summer vacation."

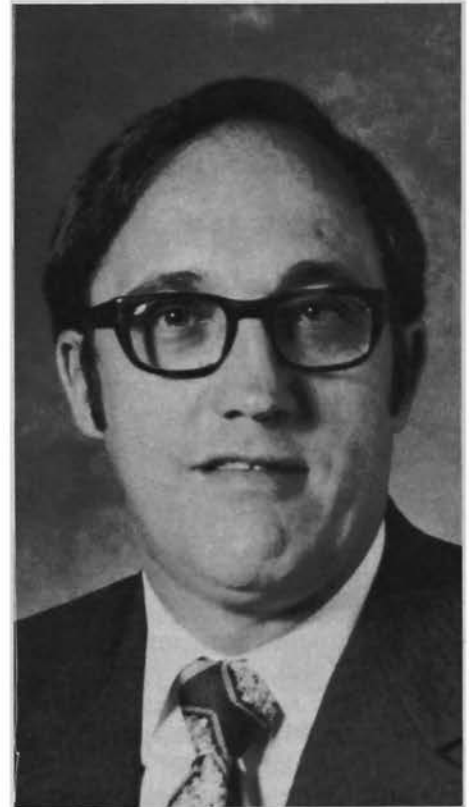

It may be incredible to believe but, during the summer months when the chapter house is vacant, Brother Nelson takes it upon himself to regularly mow the lawn, trim the shrubs, and keep the house always looking presentable. He does not consider this a burden or ask for any form of payment in return.

In addition to Dwight's activities with Phi Delta Theta, he is involved with church activities, referees high school and college basketball games, and spends additional time with his students helping them to grasp various subject matters. Brother Nelson is, indeed, a very special Phi Delta Theta member who is deserving of the Chapter Adviser of the Year Award recognition.

The position of chapter adviser is the most important volunteer position in Phi Delta Theta. It is unfortunate only one alumnus is recognized each year of the many outstanding advisers, however, several other advisers were named as runners-up to Nelson. These men, in addition to their duties as adviser, have participated in Chapter Officers and Advisers Conferences, General Conventions, served on house corporations and helped with IFCs and alumni clubs.

Special commendation goes to these five excellent advisers: Thomas Arnett, Utah Alpha, University of Utah, 5 years; Max Beins, Kansas Gamma, Kansas State University, 1 year; Stanley Gilson, California Zeta, California

State-Northridge, 9 years; Richard Owens, Montana Alpha, University of Montana, 8 years; and James Selman, Arkansas Alpha, University of Arkansas, 5 years. Brother Nelson and his wife will be the guests of the Fraternity at the next General Convention, this June, in Toronto. ■

North Carolina Celebrates 100th!

(North Carolina '53)

One hundred years of North Carolina Beta was observed during the weekend of March 29 and 30, 1985, by more than 350 brothers in the Bond, wives, actives, parents of actives and guests in Chapel Hill, N.C. Many of the brothers of North Carolina Beta who came represented the 20's, 30's, 40's, 50's, 60's, 70's and 80's.

On Friday night, a cocktail buffet was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Page where all alumni, actives, parents and guests got acquainted and many had not seen each other in 35 to 40 years.

On Saturday, a brunch was held at the chapter house which was renovated for the occasion. That evening a cocktail party was held at the "Rotunda" of the Morehead Planetarium on the campus of the University of North Carolina followed by a dinner in the Morehead House. Robert B. (TY) Boyd ('54) was the master of ceremonies and delighted the gathering with his skillful introductions and recognition of special guests such as Ruth B. Tanner, retired house mother from the 40's; Matthew (Reet) Mason, retired house boy, who regaled all with his remarks about past events with the then actives.

Other special guests were Tal Bray, treasurer of the General Council; Frank Abernathy, member of the General Council, and other prominent alumni of the chapter; James T. Broyhill ('50), who is member of the North Carolina Delegation to the House of Representatives; Wade Weatherford, Jr. ('43), former president of the General Council; John G. Medlin ('56), president of Wachovia Bank & Trust Co.; Ralph N. Strayhorn, general counsel of Wachovia Corp.; Mebane M. Pritchett, director of the Morehead Foundation; John A. Poole, chairman of the Survey Commission of Phi Delta Theta; and

The latter has presided over a fund-raising campaign with an active committee that has to date raised over $80,000.00 towards a goal of $100,000.00 to establish a permanent endowment designed to keep-up the chapter house in the future. Over 125 loyal alumni made pledges with the active chapter as well. This kind of success was never achieved before and the North Carolina Beta Foundation has pledged its support to a continued campaign to keep the chapter house one of the most beautiful houses on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

James F. Newsome ('44), Marcus Cherry ('58), Donald Harley ('54), Robert B. Patteson ('57), Randolph L. Worth ('68) and many, many others are some of the foundation members who should receive much credit for the continued success of North Carolina Beta. Of course, there are others that North Carolina Beta takes justifiable pride in all those (to-date 1,384) who have signed the bond of Phi Delta Theta at NC Beta. In that respect, in this loyalty and pride lies her greatest strength for the next 100 years.

After dinner, Saturday night the following made brief remarks about the fraternity and why "We enjoy Life By the Help and Society of Others." Will Hardison ('86), chapter president; Tal Bray; Randy Worth, Sherwood H. Smith (on the fund drive) and Bill Stubbs ('48) surprised the crowd not only by his brief remarks but by giving out mugs with the Phi Delt emblem to all the men and china boxes for the ladies. Special thanks for the evening is to be given to Mebane and Betsy Pritchett and Chuck and Karen Lovelace as hosts and hostesses for the event. Lovelace ('77) is the new chapter adviser and is already at work guiding the actives in their handling of the Chapter finances and responsibilities.

This report would not be complete if I did not share with you my gratitude to my wife "Luke" for her help and patience with me in this project especially her efforts in the renovation and decorating of the house.

NORTH CAROLINA BETA FOUNDATION: Members of the chapter foundation present for the 100th Anniversary celebration included: KNEELING—Boyd, Pritchett, Page, Collier, Patterson and Cherry; STANDING—Lovelace, Nash, Worth, Poole, Strayhorn, Smith and Harley.

Oklahoma State Rebuilds House

BY JOHN MULLINS
Oklahoma Beta

In June of 1983 the chapter house occupied by Oklahoma Beta burned leaving only about 25% of the structure salvageable. Plans for rebuilding and fund raisers followed immediately, and the new facility will be occupied in the Fall semester, 1985.

As part of the renovations in the summer of '83, a section of roof was removed exposing some electrical wiring to the elements. During a drizzle on the morning of Sunday, June 26 there was a short circuit and a fire resulted, the building was gutted; fire fighters succeeded only in containing the blaze and allowing time for the removal of new living room furniture and the most valuable of chapter documents. Only the brick facade and some flooring on the second level were reusable, but the chapter kept heart, gritted its teeth, and prepared for the long task of rebuilding.

In the intervening years much of the chapter lived in the 45 man annex, and the rest occupied an old Mexican style house affectionately referred to as "Bueno" (this lot will be used for parking in accordance with city codes). These living conditions have done much to reduce the chapter to a close knit group of dedicated men eager to return to its position as the top house on campus.

Brothers Rodger C. Coffey (OKB #331) and Robert Cornforth (OKB# 227) were commissioned to design the new structure using whatever could be economically salvaged from the fire. The design finally settled upon by the Oklahoma Beta Building Corporation calls for a 90-man capacity building constructed partially of steel and reinforced concrete and partially of wood. The structure features an insulated chapter room—a first for OKB—, washers and dryers on both of the living floors, an integrated fire/safety system, and about 20,000 square feet of floor space! It will be the largest Greek structure on campus.

Financing has come from many sources. The annex (actually an apartment complex) was sold, insurance has been settled, and several loans have been secured. These assets combined with the value of the remainder of the structure, lot, and donations bring chapter worth to $1,355,000;

$80,000 of this was needed to furnish the house. All of this large amount comes from private donations by alumni; most of which has already been raised by the Building Corp. The active members and pledges of OKB sincerely appreciate this financial help which will provide us with a chapter house of the highest caliber. We also appreciate the often under thanked, over criticized efforts of the OKB Building Corp. and especially its president Tom Butcher.

THE PHI CRIER

ON CAMPUS

*David Barrett (Union '85) has been awarded a Fullbright Scholarship for the 1985-86 academic year. He will be studying at the Institut fur Organische Chemie der Universitat Braunschweig (University of Braunschweig) in West Germany. A student is required to have completed a B.A. or B.S. in addition to proficiency in the written and spoken language of the host country. Selection is based largely on an individual's academic record and recommendations. The Fullbright Scholarship program is one of the most prestigious scholarships available to college students.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*Oregon Alpha plans to begin a program of "fireside" discussions for its members, to be held one weeknight each week. Subjects for discussion might be current events, religion, chapter business or self-improvement. It is hoped that these talks will help the brothers to frankly discuss their feelings and get to know each other better.

*To demonstrate unity to the pledge class, Alberta Alpha assigns the pledges to a work project in the chapter house. During the project, actives slowly join in, a few at a time, until the entire chapter is participating in the work.

NEW IDEAS

*Like many chapters, California Alpha has a formal. Yet, their formal is very unique. The Phis at UC Berkeley have their formal on a boat as they cruise the San Francisco Bay. Not many chapters have the opportunity to view the Golden Gate Bridge during their formal.

*The vice-president of Ohio Beta at Ohio Wesleyan University has set up a monitoring system to help him evaluate each executive officer's performance. At each weekly executive council meeting, a weekly progress report is due to the vice-president from each officer. The officer report includes short term and long term goals accomplished, goals not reached that week (and why) and what is going to be accomplished during the upcoming week.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*On their casino night (Nov. 17, 1984) Arkansas Alpha raised $8,500 for Muscular Dystrophy. This is the most money ever raised for philanthropy by a University of Arkansas Greek organization.

The Giving Clubs—An Explanation Required

BY ROBERT J. MILLER, PRESIDENT
Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation
Anytime a new program is developed, misunderstanding through insufficient communication is apt to occur. Such is the case with the Fraternity's new practice of cumulative giving. The article which follows is an attempt to clarify the Fraternity's program.

The summer 1985 issue of The Scroll contained an article entitled, "A Report to the Stockholders." In addition to listing the names of all donors during the 1984 calendar year, the article described the newly introduced cumulative giving program and explained the various levels of giving which are recognized by various giving clubs.

There is one inconsistency which led to the confusion of many loyal supporters of the Fraternity's solicitation program. All members of the Founders Club, eight in number, were listed in the story. Some of these individuals had become members of the Founders Club in earlier years.

In the other four levels of giving (Robert Morrison Associate, John McMillan Wilson Associate, John Wolfe Lindley Associate, and Council Associate), only those persons who reached that level in 1984 were listed. Persons who had reached one of the categories in prior years were not included in the report. Even so, the person who reached the level of one of these clubs in earlier years received recognition with an appropriate footnote under his chapter listing.

Because we have received so many letters on this subject, we are pleased to list below the names of all Phis who have been recognized by their membership in the top five giving clubs. ■

Now Is The Time For All Good Phis...

BY DWIGHT W. KOPPEL
(Ohio Wesleyan '28)

In memory I can still hear that grand old Phi song as we sang it around the dinner tables at Ohio Beta all those years ago. And when I read a story like the one on the front page of the Los Angeles Times, published in March of this year, I quake at the thought of what the anti-fraternity zealots are trying to do to the fraternity system.

We had better be united—and there is new emphasis on what it requires to be “true to the Bond.”

There is little that is new in the LA Times story. Written by a woman reporter, it interviews the woman director of student housing at Stanford, and refers to a housing shortage on that campus. The article points with aversion at the fine fraternity houses, in the best locations, while some students are without decent lodging. That is the excuse to go on and condemn the fraternity system in general; examples include social clubs at Harvard (where there are no fraternities), two small eastern colleges where supervision of fraternities has been admittedly lacking and some excesses have resulted—and a quotation from one Stanford graduate student to the effect that “when normally decent young men merge into a group, they tend to become arrogant and semi-bestial.”

Let's face it: that ostensibly objective front-page “news story” in one of the nation's mightiest newspapers is a direct and menacing threat to the fraternity system itself. Some of us write to protest, but not enough of us. Many Phis and members of other national fraternities no doubt gritted their teeth, and protested to each other that if dedicated alumni brothers and hard-working actives had the foresight and means to acquire building sites and finance housing for their chapters in favored areas on campus, that scarcely constitutes malfeasance on the part of the fraternity system. And when the Times article, which carried over onto two inside pages, dragged in the old stories about hazing and drinking and wild parties to pad out the general harangue, no doubt every frater-

But, Brother Phi, that won't do it! Bearing in mind that our fealty to the Bond is for life, every man who wears the Sword and Shield in his heart if not on his jacket, must do—and keep on doing, for the threat to college fraternities is constant:

First: every Phi chapter must be keenly aware of the fact that what it does, good or bad, reflects on every Phi everywhere. As individuals, as chapters and as alumni, we have a stern and demanding obligation to behave ourselves—to do credit to our Phi brothers everywhere and of all ages. We are not alone.

Second: with such behavior in hand, with all the credentials of community involvement and campus rectitude on the record, we thereupon have the ongoing obligation—and privilege—to defend, visibly and forcefully, our fraternity and the system of which it is a part, against all detractors wherever and however they surface.

It's a simple and straightforward formula: fraternity men worthy of the trust and respect of their kind will always be above serious criticism to begin with—and will protest vehemently when the system is wrongly maligned.

That's about the only way to get rid of this continuing nitpicking by nonfraternity “journalists” who love to take it out on the Greeks. On rare occasion it is justified; but when it isn't, as in the LA Times article, there should be hell to pay, and you and I and all Phis should provide it! ■

RESOLUTION ON ALCOHOL

WHEREAS, The NIC House of Delegates and its member fraternities are concerned about the increasing consumption and abuse of alcoholic beverages on college campuses, and

WHEREAS, The dangers of misuse of alcohol to individuals, to groups, to the fraternity system and to the campus community are becoming increasingly evident, and,

WHEREAS, An affirmative program to deal with the problems will only be effective by common consent and unified action,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the NIC that the following policies be adopted and be recommended to its member organizations for their adoption:

- 1. That the possession, use, sale and/or consumption of alcoholic beverages on the premises of any chapter or at any entertainment or function of any chapter shall be in compliance with all applicable laws.
- 2. That moderation be encouraged during lawful consumption, and that chapters develop and support programs and those groups and organizations seeking to educate chapter members on alcohol awareness.
- 3. That open parties, meaning those with unrestricted access, where structured around the sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages shall be prohibited.
- 4. That non-alcoholic rush shall be actively promoted on all campuses.
- 5. That there shall be no open solicitation or encouragement of alcoholic consumption by contest or promotions in any chapter.

Garvey Receives Lou Gehrig Award

BY ROBERT E. EUSTICE

Sunday, April 21st, 1985

Jack Murphy Stadium

San Diego, CA

P. A. Announcer:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I would like to direct your attention to the field, for the presentation of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, to the major league baseball player who most exemplifies the character of Lou Gehrig, both on and off the field. To present the award is Bob Eustice, president of the Greater San Diego Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta to the 1984 award winner, Padres' 1st baseman, Steve Garvey."

Bob Eustice (Iowa State '75, '76):

"Thank you and good afternoon! To help me present this award is Alan Shulman, president of our local chapter at UCSD. It gives us a great deal of pleasure to show our appreciation to Steve by giving him this very special award.

As the 30th recipient of the Lou

PRESENTATION: Steve Garvey receives the 1984 Lou Gehrig plaque from Alan Shulman, president of the Phi Delt chapter at University of California-San Diego, and Robert Eustice, president of the Greater San Diego Alumni Club.

Gehrig Award, Steve joins a select group of baseball's finest, including such men as: Alvin Dark, Stan Musial, Gil Hodges, Pete Rose, Henry Aaron, Johnny Bench, and most recently, Ron Cey and Mike Schmidt.

On behalf of Phi Delta Theta brothers and alumni, throughout the country, it is my great personal honor, to present the 1984 Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, to San Diego's own Iron Man, Mr. Steve Garvey."

Steve Garvey:

"Ladies and gentlemen, obviously this is an award that is very special to me. Anytime that Lou Gehrig's name is associated with an award, it is an honor for any baseball player to receive something in his memory. I would like to thank the fraternity, I would like to thank my teammates and organization, and share this with all of you. It is special to me. Thank you."

Although the entire ceremony took just a few minutes, more than three months of planning and "fun" work went into the award presentation, honoring the memory of baseball's most durable Iron Man, Lou Gehrig.

We first heard that our favorite "National League Champion" San Diego Padre, Steve Garvey, had won the prestigious award, back in January. At an enthusiastic alumni luncheon in Rancho Santa Fe, hosted by Deke Koppes (Ohio Wesleyan '28), Steve Fletcher (Oregon '32), and Ed Harloff (North Dakota '49), the word spread quickly. We all hoped that the award could be presented locally at a Padre home game, according to fraternity tradition.

The first step was to contact Bob Biggs, director of chapter services, to get his permission and arrange for Balfour to prepare the plaque and send it to San Diego. Brother Biggs suggested that we contact the Padres, arrange a date, and take "plenty of pictures".

At about the same time, I happened to call another Phi, who I received a letter from over a year ago but had not yet met. His name is Ron Seaver (Syracuse '78) and he just happens to be the promotional director of the Padres.

It must have been fate, because Ron was instrumental in providing all the "internal" support in confirming the date, coordinating the event with the Padre executive office, and in general, helping me work out the many details prior to the event.

After receiving the beautiful plaque from Balfour, we contacted Garvey's vice-president of operations, John Boggs, and set up a meeting with Steve to get acquainted and show him the award. Steve, his father, Joe, and John, all were impressed with the handsome plaque and said they were genuinely looking forward to receiving it formally.

Joe Garvey told me that two of his son's baseball heroes were Lou Gehrig and Gil Hodges. So, this award truly meant a lot to Steve and it would be proudly displayed in their new offices, alongside many of his previous trophies.

Many of the local Phis were also excited about Garvey receiving the award. At our successful and well-attended Founder's Day Banquet, where our guest speaker was executive vice-president Robert J. Miller, over eighty brothers and alumni placed reservations for the Sunday afternoon game against the Dodgers.

When April 21 finally arrived, 100 excited Phis and friends started the day with a great tailgate party at the stadium. As the game drew closer, our very vocal "cheering section" took their seats. Two of the young Phis somehow managed to hang a large banner saying "Phi Delta Theta" on the right field wall, where no banners are allowed. This day it remained.

As Alan, photographer Joe Butts, and I emerged from the Padre dugout just before the game, we realized that three months of effort was about to pay off. Over 44,515 people witnessed a well-deserving Steve Garvey receive the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award that day, with the fraternity banner proudly displayed for all to see.

Even though the ceremony was over quickly, we will all remember it for a lifetime. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to say, "I'm proud to be a Phi!" ■

Edwinson A 'Legend' In His Time

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was in progress when it was learned that General Edwinson died June 11 in Austin.

Retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Clarence T. "Curly" Edwinson (Washburn '33), 72, died June 11 in Austin ending a brilliant military and athletic career. A former commander of the 42nd Air Division at Bergstrom AFB, he was a former All-American and an Olympic gold medal winner in skeet shooting.

"He was one of the best fighter pilots we've ever had in the Air Force," stated Willie P. McBride, a retired Air Force major general who served with Edwinson. "He could fly anything out of the sky. He was a legend from the first day of World War II until the day he got out."

Edwinson flew 30 combat missions and had more than 13,000 hours of flying time during World War II and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters, the Presidential Unit Citation for the 82nd Fighter Group, and the French Croix de Guerre.

EDWINSON

The 1933 Washburn yearbook described him as "probably the greatest halfback ever to play for Washburn." He climaxed four years of brilliant play by receiving honorable mention on the AP's All-America team. He established a record as the highest scoring collegiate player during four years' eligibility.

WASHBURN VARSITY, 1933

Ernest Bearg (Washburn '11), Washburn coach, said that Edwinson "is one of the best backs in the United States. He is exceptional as a ball carrier, blocker, passer and defensive safety or halfback. In my 17 years of coaching I have had only two backs that could compare with him and those were Red Grange of Illinois and Glen Pressnell of Nebraska." (quotes taken from the 1933 Scroll, Vol. 57, No. 3).

He went into training as a military flier immediately after graduation and began his fighter pilot career. That career is recounted in a book, The Glory and the Splendor, by Marguerite Turner.

In 1951 he took command of the 42nd Air Division at Bergstrom AFB. During the 1952 Olympics at Oslo, Norway, he won the gold medal for skeet shooting. He made 300 straight the day before the competition in practice. The next day he went out and made 300 straight again. They called him the man with the golden gun.

He was promoted to brigadier general Dec. 15, 1953. He left Bergstrom in 1957 to take another post. He retired from the service in 1961 and moved to Austin.

GOLD MEDAL: Edwinson receives the gold medal at the 1952 Olympic games at Oslo, Norway for skeet shooting.

Bruner Takes Harmon-Rice Award

Teel Bruner (Centre '86) an outstanding scholar as well as an exceptional basketball star, earned the Rice-Harmon Trophy for 1984-85 as he edged Chris Brewster (Michigan '86) 27 to 23 points.

Three of the last four years a run-off ballot was necessary while last year was a single point victory for the winner.

Bruner's scholastic achievements have set him apart from all other student-athlete candidates with a 4.0 GPA as a freshman and sophomore and a 3.90 as a junior.

In football he was named to the All-College Conference first team as a sophomore and junior. This past year he was named to the small college All-American first team as a defensive back by both Kodak and Pizza Hut. He was also named to the small college Academic All-American Team.

In basketball he has been a three-year starter. Through a 24-game season this year he had a 7.6 scoring average plus 106 rebounds and was second highest on the team with 85 assists. For the past two years his Centre team has advanced to the finals of the NCAA Division III Tournament.

Next year as a senior he will serve as President of the Inter-Fraternity Council and he will serve as a member of the Student Congress. He has been involved in almost every chapter activity since he was pledged.

As previously mentioned, his scholastic achievements for a double sport athlete are phenomenal. As a sophomore he won the Richard Stanford Watson Memorial Award for the outstanding sophomore plus the Mitchell Young Chamberlin Prize as the sophomore with the highest academic standing. This year as a junior he was the recipient of the John Tyler Scholarship plus the John Howard Duff, Jr. Memorial Award as the outstanding man of the junior class. He also competed successfully against all seniors to win the Tom Bartlett Scholarship given to a varsity football player maintaining the highest academic average. Last year as a sophomore he finished third in the Rice-Harmon balloting.

Chris Brewster (Michigan '86) was the Big-10 three-mile champion and ran the second fastest collegiate time in America. He was also an NCAA finalist in the 10,000 meters. He recorded the second fastest three mile time by a collegiate American as he defeated Olympic Bronze medalist Brian Biemer in the process. He won the 1985 Penn Relays 10,000 meter champion.

He is currently house manager of Michigan Alpha for the spring and summer terms. Through his junior year he maintained a 3.0 GPA in economics and communications. He was inducted into the Order of Omega and the Tribe of Michigauma whose members can not exceed 3% of the University's Greek population. At Michigan this includes a pair of excellent Phis, Tom Harmon ('41) and Bob Ufer ('43).

In a tie for third in the balloting was Bill Kaiser (Wabash '88) sophomore who participated in football and track and Mark Lee (Arkansas '85), a two-time All-Phi linebacker whose chapter failed to submit any credentials. He was named in USA Today as the University of Arkansas "Top Male Scholar-Athlete" with a major in pre-med. Completing the top five in the balloting was Jon Root (Stanford '87), another junior who was an All-American in volleyball as selected by the Coaches and Volleyball News.

SPORTS SHORTS

RUSS POTTS (Maryland '64) has moved his offices of Sports Productions, Inc. from Dallas to Winchester, VA. Sports Productions, Inc. televises sports events across the country and also handles the advertising endorsement contracts for New York Knicks' star Patrick Ewing and former SMU All-American Jon Koncak ... VINCE TOBIN (Missouri '71), who has been on the coaching staff of several NFL teams, has served the last two years with the Baltimore Stars of the USFL as a defensive coordinator. He molded a swarm defense that enabled Baltimore to beat Herschel Walker and the New Jersey Generals 20-17. Walker was limited to 63 yards in the game.

DR. DONALD R. ERNST (Penn State '33) won the 3,000 meter walk, the 50-yard dash and the 100-yard dash on June 1 in the Senior Olympics held at the University of Bridgeport, CT. He also won the 100 meter dash and the two-mile walk on June 8 at Washington and Jefferson College. Finally, he won the 100 meter dash on June 15 at the John Harris Campus of Harrisburg High School, PA.

Will It Really Look Good on Your Resume?

BY ROGER W. HEINEKEN
(Emporia State '78)

One of the notable quotes bouncing off the walls of ivy covered halls on all of our campuses is "It will look good on my resume." It has become the college motto of the 1980s. I truly hope all Phi Deltas realize how hollow and image-mongering that phrase is.

The statement is milk-toast and non-macho. If you joined Phi Delta Theta and/or stood for office in your chapter only to benefit your resume, I pity you and your silly self-centered values.

Phi Delta Theta is a meat and potatoes fraternity—a fraternity with philosophical and practical substance. Our Grand Old Fraternity will nourish the heart, mind, and soul of each member who wants "more than a mere campus interlude." The young college man spends four years living the intense Phi Delt experience but it will take the remainder of his life to gauge how valuable Phi Delta Theta truly is. It is a fraternity for life. It's glow and afterglow. Phi Delta Theta will stick to your ribs.

Now, back to our quote. Let us say you are called for an interview because Phi Delta Theta looked good on your resume. What are you going to be able to tell an interviewer about that experience?

You could say, "I was a marginal member just looking for a mere campus interlude and something good to put on my resume." These sound better to me, "I learned to manage a $100,000 budget and deal with delinquent accounts"; and "I gained insight into the morale of a diverse group of men"; or "I was able to develop time management and goal setting skills"; or simply, "I matured and built significant friendships."

You must know what you wanted to get from the fraternity experience. It is paramount that you are able to articulate your personal gain—long before you type the capital P of Phi on that good looking resume of yours. My guess is that when you really sit down and assess how you have developed skills through the fraternity experience you will be pleasantly surprised and proud to type that capital "P."

I am a chapter adviser and I see as one of my prime roles that of educator/evaluation catalyst, not only for the chapter as a whole but for individual members. Evaluation is the follow through that is often undervalued and forgotten. I work to help members be actively introspective. A Brother in the Bond has four years to get the most from his fraternity experience—only four years. Wasted opportunity is a crime.

All new members ought to be asked what they feel they bring to the fraternity; i.e., scholarship, athletic ability, prior leadership experience, etc., and what skills they feel need improvement; i.e., public speaking, social poise, scholarship, etc. Each chapter must develop a method and format to encourage individual and peer evaluation. This kind of exercise can be quite revealing and rewarding for all involved.

Chapters will benefit enormously if they encourage self-evaluation:

For the Rushee:

Asking a rushee what his skills are gives the chapter better information about the candidate. It initiates conversation about leadership opportunities and organizational structure. This kind of conversation appeals to the motivated student and lets him know what the chapter values.

For the new member:

Asking the first year student to look back and identify positive changes that have occurred through his fraternity membership will help develop personal insight; strengthen his commitment to the chapter; help the young man articulate and affirm to parents and friends outside the chapter the value of his membership; and help the new member strategize what leadership he needs yet to experience.

For the Senior Phi:

He will be able to articulate the substance of his fraternity experience for potential employers. He will look nostalgically at his fleeting four years. He will be a better role model for underclassmen. He will have transmitted the fraternity by giving much to his chapter.

For the Alumnus:

Retrospection will keep loyalty alive, sustain active interest in the chapter's programs, and give sound reason to financially support his chapter and fraternity.

Phi Delta Theta is a "workshop in brains and emotion where a young college man may serve in four years an apprenticeship to life." It can be just that for any Phi who wants it. The wisdom of our Founding Fathers is as vital today as it was during that Christmas interim in 1848. The Bond and Principles are as basic as air and water. Embracing the fraternity's ideals is character building, living them is challenging and sustaining them is an ever binding obligation. A resume is two-dimensional but the Phi it represents must be well-rounded and dynamic to meet the world's challenge in the next few decades.

I cringe when I hear "It would look good on my resume." It's a turn off. My pet peeve. If Phi Delta Theta "looks good" on your resume it is only because legions of Phi Deltas contributed to a time-honored reputation of excellence in all walks of life. You must do your part to transmit that reputation to those who follow. Let us all keep Morrison's "good ship Phi" riding high on the college waters and welcomed in every career port. Phi Delta Theta Fraternity is yours and mine in the Bond.

A Tough Man for A Tough Job

C. J. "Pete" Silas (Georgia Tech '53) pointed with pride to a spot in the River Tees in north-eastern England. "The plant will be located right there—under that water," Silas told the Phillips Petroleum board of directors.

"And they looked at me as if I weren't quite all there."

Indeed, the site of what would become Europe's largest crude oil terminal was under water at high tide. To raise the level of the land by 15 feet, 420 million cubic feet of mud and silt would have to be dredged from the river bottom.

And delicate negotiations with the property owners—the Church of England and the British Royal family—were required to secure the land needed for the facility.

The four-year process of turning this unlikely spot of real estate into an ultramodern crude oil processing and terminal facility was just one of many complex projects Silas oversaw as managing director of the Europe-Africa division in the late 1960s and through the mid-1970s.

Step by step, the obstacles were overcome, and the most far-flung energy production and transportation facility in Europe took its final shape. In the process, Silas gained the respect of industry and political leaders in Norway, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, Belgium and France.

He received the Norwegian government's Royal Norwegian St. Olav's Order, recognizing his contributions to Norway's energy and allied industries.

Return to Headquarters

In 1976 Silas returned to corporate headquarters in Bartlesville as vice president, gas and gas liquids, and two years later was elevated to senior vice president of natural resources. By 1980 he was an executive vice president and in 1982, at the age of 49, he became president and chief operating officer. He was the youngest man since Boots Adams to hold the job.

Silas, a chemical engineer, joined Phillips in October 1953 after a brilliant career as a scholar and basketball player at Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech).

Silas knew then that he would be entering the U.S. Army the following January, so he had not informed the Phillips 66ers basketball team that he was working for Phillips. But his boss, L. E. Fitzjarrald, broke the secret, George Durham, publicist for the basketball team, recalls.

Phillips Basketball

"Mr. Fitzjarrald called Bud Browning (the coach) and told him there was a tall guy working for him by the name of Pete Silas and he played basketball in college."

The 6-foot-6-inch Silas joined the team immediately, went on an 18-game road trip, returned to Bartlesville, went into the Army and became a member of the U.S. team that won the 1955 Pan-American games.

"That's all the basketball I wanted," Silas says with no regrets. "When I came back to Phillips the only question on my mind was would I stay in the production department or go into chemicals?"

He returned as a plastics engineer in the chemicals department and started his rapid rise through the corporate ranks.

As a result of the many assignments abroad, his trademark became "international experience"; his forte, making the most of difficult situations.

A New Style

Insiders say that years of haggling with foreign businessmen and governments helped him develop a business style long on gentle, but shrewd, persuasion. "Mr. Silas doesn't have to bang on tables to negotiate," says Toni Rotzetter, manager of Phillip's world-wide specialty chemical group and a co-worker. "He can win an argument with a smile and a joke."

He will need these characteristics to guide Phillips through a very difficult period. Some feel it is the most critical phase of the company's long history. Phillips recently had to fend off raids by Mesa Petroleum Company Chairman T. Boone Pickens, Jr. and New York financier Carl Icahn to take over the company. Silas played a key role in the battle.

He is now faced with bringing the company through an elaborate recapitalization that was engineered to stay independent. It has nearly tripled its debt to about $7.3 billion and this left it with a harrowing debt-to-capitalization ratio of about 80%.

Of this new challenge Silas says, "I'm ready." His past performance with the company would tend to indicate that he is.

Phis To Meet in Toronto in '86

WHAT: Phi Delta Theta's 66th Biennial Convention

WHEN: June 12-15, 1986

WHERE: The Royal York Hotel
Toronto, Ontario

WHO: Phis and their families

When the Huron Indians congregated in the area several hundred years ago, they decided they would call the place "Toronto." The translation: place of meetings.

So it will be for members of Phi Delta Theta and their families when they gather at The Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto come June of 1986 for the Fraternity's Biennial Convention.

Toronto is a city of renovated neighborhoods and glittering landmark skyscrapers. Thanks to people-minded planning, Metro Toronto mixes the historic and the modern in a distinctive architectural blend. Tall bank towers dominate the skyline. The gleaming Royal Bank of Canada Building contains a quarter million dollars worth of gold dust in the window glass. The world's tallest free-standing structure, the 1,815 foot Canadian National Tower, overpowers the skyline. Functioning as a radio and TV antenna, it contains a restaurant, disco and two observation decks. The Eaton Centre, a multi-tiered, downtown shopping mall, is a feature which attracts local citizens and visitors alike.

On the edge of downtown Toronto, the waterfront has a lifestyle of its own. Concerts, art galleries, movies, dancing, sailing, water slides, antique market, theatres, fine dining and great shopping all prevail. Popular among walkers and runners alike, the breeze off the lake makes both activities enjoyable. Toronto is Canada's largest inland harbor and a key in the Great Lakes shipping routes that move ore and grain out of the heart of the continent. Lake Ontario is host to freighters and ocean-going ships, as well as sailboats, rowing shells and motor-powered boats of every description.

Toronto's entertainment scene rates rave reviews. More than 80 performing arts companies play in spaces ranging from glass and concrete showplaces to venerable Edwardian playhouses. Less grand, but showing equal style, are the dozens of theatres, converted stables, fire halls and factories, hidden away in downtown laneways. Diversity is the hallmark of Canada's dramatic world.

Great stores are not far away from The Royal York. The downtown area yields several miles of varied shopping experiences. Starting at Union Station, a network of underground malls winds its way uptown beneath soaring office towers, culminating in a sunny, glass-roofed shoppers' paradise at Dundas and Yonge. Another collection of weather-proof shops runs from Bloor and Yonge, almost to Avenue Road and is the gateway to Yorkville. Here, and in renovated neighborhoods across Toronto, you'll find charming boutiques and specialty stores you never imagined, together with restaurants that echo the surrounding mood. Bloor street is one of the most concentrated luxury shopping and dining areas in Canada. It is known for its high-fashion stores, movie theatres, trendy restaurants and a major museum.

Toronto boasts an efficient, clean, safe public transit system, which combines subways, streetcars and buses to take you wherever you want to go. Each of the eight stations on one of the subway lines features an artistic theme, developed by contemporary Canadian artists, working with glass, ceramics, aluminum, neon and other materials. A call to the Toronto Transit Commission will bring information on exactly how to travel anywhere in and around the metropolis.

The number one tourist destination in Canada, Toronto is located halfway between New York City and Chicago. Sixty percent of the U.S. population is within two hours flying time of the city. Members of the Toronto Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club look forward to welcoming you to the city they love. Include the Convention in your vacation plans or make a special trip to enjoy a fraternal brotherhood in one of the world's most exciting cities.

Vanderbilt Phi Waiting for Acting 'Break'

When Greg Webb's (Vanderbilt '81) neighbors in Murfreesboro, Tennessee first stood him up on their front porch at age four to do his Elvis Presley impersonation they were sure he was headed for Nashville and future stardom. They were right, of course, but the route was a little more circuitous than the thirty miles due west to the country music capital.

Greg grew up in Murfreesboro, a college town east of Nashville, and, like most other boys, was active in sports. A broken wrist while playing football in his sophomore year in high school enabled him to pursue other interests. The one activity that appealed most to him was theatre. He joined the drama club and chalked up "Macbeth" as his first taste of work on the boards.

When his injured wrist healed he returned to athletics, but continued with theatre, too, appearing in his junior class production of "South Pacific" and his senior class presentation of "Paint Your Wagon." His interests also included politics and student government. He served as senior class vice-president and was the winner of the Sons of the American Revolution Medal given to the outstanding student of 1977 at Oakland High School.

During the summer after his graduation Greg worked in summer stock at the Rosecranz Amphitheatre in Murfreesboro, starring as Jesus in "Godspell" and appearing in several other original productions during the season.

In the Fall of 1977 Greg entered Vanderbilt University on a pre-law curriculum and for three and a half years concentrated solely on his studies, student government and Phi Delta activities. As he entered his final semester of college, however, he realized that his first love was really acting. During those last months at Vanderbilt, Greg appeared in their productions of "A Month in the Country" and "The Rivals."

Upon graduation in 1981, Greg decided to move to Los Angeles and break into show business. With his parents' support, if not their enthusiasm, Greg headed west.

Arriving in Los Angeles in the Fall of 1981, Greg did what all new actors do: He got his pictures and resumes; got an agent; started acting classes; and, most importantly, got a job at the Daily News circulation department so he could eat and pay the rent.

It didn't take long for Greg's first break to come along. He did a number of industrial films and in the Summer of 1982 landed a role in Paramount's "The Lords of Discipline," starring David Keith. Following three months of filming it was back to the Daily News and more rounds of auditions.

In the Spring of 1983 Greg was introduced to "The Waltons" creator, Earl Hamner. Several meetings later Greg was signed to star as Rome Hawley in Lorimar's "Boone," a series about a young Tennessee boy's desire to make it big in Nashville as a country singer. The show was canceled after 13 episodes.

In 1984 Greg appeared in a CBS Movie of the Week, "The Baron and the Kid" in which he played "Billy Joe" opposite Johnny Cash.

Greg has appeared in various other plays and small film roles. Like so many young aspiring actors he is hoping for that "big break." Up to this point it has not come and the frustration is apparent.

Though he is actively pursuing an acting career, Greg still has the desire to continue his education on the graduate level, perhaps even attend law school.

Currently single and living in Burbank, CA, his hobbies include writing music, playing guitar and banjo, reading, politics and the typical Tennessee pastimes of square dancing and calling, and Chinese cooking. ■

Yablonsky's Rise A Typical Success Story

Dennis Yablonsky's (Cincinnati '75) rise to the top at Cincom, a worldwide computer software company based in Cincinnati, is a typical American success story.

He joined the company in 1975, took a 13-week training program, spent six months writing computer programs using Cincom products and was off to his first assignment in Philadelphia as a salesman.

In 1976 he was sent to open an office for the company in Buffalo, NY. He says this experience helped him learn how the company functioned. In 1978 he came back to Cincinnati as branch sales manager. A year later he was named district sales manager, based in Manhattan. Here he was responsible for the East coast. Nine months later he was back in Cincinnati as national sales manager, responsible for all US operations.

The company then decided to enter the international market and Yablonsky was off to Canada, Western Europe and Southeast Asia. About 40% of the company's revenues now come from abroad.

His title during this time was vice president of marketing and sales. In October, 1984, he was named president and chief executive officer at the age of 32.

It is interesting to note that there are four other Phi Deltis employed by Cincom. Rick Neumann (Cincinnati '71), is a senior marketing sales representative out of the Cincinnati office and was the number one performer out of 190 active sales people at Cincom last year.

Brian Bish (Cincinnati '77) is currently the manager of technical support for Cincom in the United States. Jim Greiner (Miami-Ohio '71) works for Cincom as an education sales representative in Cincinnati. Bob Scarborough (Western Ontario '72) works as the company's national market resource manager for Canada, based in Toronto.

Yablonsky is very outspoken about his involvement with Phi Delta Theta. "I believe the fraternal system provides an excellent foundation for preparing young men for the business world, and I have spoken to various groups at the University of Cincinnati about that very subject," he said.

The Cincom president came from Pittsburgh to the University of Cincinnati to study chemical engineering but switched after two years to industrial management because "a pure technical degree did not fit my needs."

He was involved in the university's co-op program which permits a student to spend three months in school and then work three months in business or industry. He did his work at Tresler Oil Company as an internal auditor and at Mosler Safe Company as an analyst.

He feels these on-the-job experiences prepared him well for his initial experience at Cincom.

Today the company will do about $100 million of business and Yablonsky says the goal is to grow about 35% a year. "We spend double the industry average on research and development," he said. He predicts that the software business will be the largest contributor to gross national product by the year 2000.

He has the reputation as a workaholic but he doubts that. "I work hard but I also enjoy homelife," he said. "This is a fast-paced business and you need some time off to just relax."

It would appear that he hasn't relaxed all that much in the past 10 years. ■

Southwest Missouri State Installed

BY P. GLEN SMITH
(Tennessee Tech '78)

The Missouri Epsilon chapter of Phi Delta Theta was installed at Southwest Missouri State University (SMSU) in Springfield, Missouri on Saturday, April 27, 1985.

Brothers David Turner (Minnesota '70), Member-at-Large, General Council of Phi Delta Theta, and Robert (Bob) A. Biggs (Georgia Southern '76), Director of Chapter Services, General Headquarters of Phi Delta Theta, directed the ceremonies. On Friday, April 26, 1985, 16 of the 46 colony members were initiated into Phi Delta Theta.

The installation of Missouri Epsilon marked the realization of an exciting dream which began in early Fall of 1983. Brother Don R. Handley (Missouri '36), a long time resident of Springfield, was approached by Brother Harry Gerlach (Miami U '30), then member of the Phi Delta Theta Survey Commission, concerning the prospects of starting a chapter of Phi Delta Theta at SMSU. Brother Handley agreed to assist in this endeavor and proceeded to contact the SMSU Administration. Brothers

Handley and Gerlach met with the Interfraternity Council at SMSU in late Fall of 1983 and gave a presentation, generally outlining the benefits of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. The Interfraternity Council extended Phi Delta Theta an invitation to colonize in February of 1984.

At this point, Brother Handley contacted Brother P. Glen Smith (Tennessee Tech '78), a recent migrate to Springfield and former chapter consultant (1978-80), requesting his assistance. They decided that the first step in colonization was to inform the alumni in the Springfield region of this opportunity and marshal their support. With the assistance of General Headquarters in Oxford, Ohio, a letter was sent to area alumni informing them of the plans to colonize at SMSU.

A dinner meeting was held in late February, 1984, attended by 32 interested alumni. The group approved of a colony at SMSU and steps were taken to re-activate an alumni club. The Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club was organized and chartered in March of 1984. The Alumni Club has 42 active members. Officers were elected and committees appointed, including a colonization committee and housing committee.

The alumni club contacted member of the Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, the freshmen honorary society at SMSU, seeking potential colony members. Membership in Phi Eta Sigma requires a 3.5 g.p.a. A rush function was held in April of 1984 and three freshmen were designated to spearhead the operation on campus. During the summer of 1984, a letter was sent to 1,200 SMSU incoming freshmen and transfer students. Numerous calls were made to these students and personal interviews set up.

The Fall, 1984, rush week was critical to our efforts. Numerous publications were printed in the school newspaper and a local rush pamphlet was utilized. General Headquarters sent Consultant John Clark (Miami U '83) to organize the program. Over a period of three weeks, the alumni and Brother Clark interviewed approximately 120 perspective members. Our goal was to obtain men exhibiting high academics,

INSTALLATION TEAM: The team that installed Missouri Epsilon included Oliver Samuel (Kansas '46), Mu West province president; Bob Biggs (Georgia Southern '76), director of chapter services; Donald Back (Westminster '57); Fr. David Turner (Minnesota '70), GC member-at-large; sound morals and a desire to make Phi Delta Theta the leader among fraternities at SMSU in all areas of fraternal life. At the conclusion of our rush period, we had 36 members, the largest and best all-around pledge class on campus.

MISSOURI EPSILON: New members and pledges at Missouri Epsilon include KNEELING—David M. Schaeffer ('87), Randy L. Schmucker ('86), Daniel P. McKinney ('86), Steve R. Taraszka ('87), president in 1984-85, Daniel M. Gieseke ('87), current president, William R. Robb ('87), James D. Smashey ('86) and Ted J. Gerard ('86); SECOND ROW—James W. Rupkey ('87), Peter A. Strzelecki ('89), Steve M. Askren ('88), Barry P. Adams ('87), Kenneth W. Hoffman ('86), Scott A. Ferguson ('86), Gary S. Smith ('86), John A. Jones ('86), Matthew G. Mann ('86) and Rick A.

The group petitioned the General Council of Phi Delta Theta for colony status. Colony status was granted to Missouri Epsilon Colony on Sept. 21, 1984. The General Council appointed Brother P. Glen Smith as Colony Coordinator and Brother Bill Doran (Westminster '78) was designated as Alumni Colony Coordinator by the Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club. During our spring, 1985 rush activities, we obtained 19 additional members, once again, the largest and best all-around pledge class on campus.

Founded in 1829, Springfield, Missouri, the "Queen City of the Ozarks", is situated in the Southwest area of Missouri in the center of the Ozarks Mountain region within 60 minutes drive to famous Ozarks recreation areas and attractions. Springfield is the third largest metropolitan area in Missouri with a city population of over 134,000 and a metropolitan population over 233,000. Springfield's industrial base is highly diversified including more than 250 manufacturing and industrial firms.

Southwest Missouri State University celebrated its 80th anniversary this year. Originally commissioned as the Springfield State Normal School on September 7, 1905, it opened with an enrollment of 543 in June of 1906. After WWI, the Normal School got a new name, Southwest Missouri State Teacher's College (STC). In 1945, STC, founded primarily as a training facility for future teachers, was renamed Southwest Missouri State College (SMS) as an appropriate recognition of the increasing enrollment of students planning careers outside the educational professions.

In 1971, the Missouri State Legislature authorized the elevation of SMS to Southwest Missouri State University (SMSU). SMSU is a multi-purpose university, occupying over 125 acres on the main campus, with an enrollment of more than 15,000 students, the second largest in the state. SMSU offers academic programs on both the undergraduate and graduate levels, with a choice of more than 1605 courses in 34 separate departments, and with majors or minors available from some 70 plus academic areas. There are nine classroom buildings, an administration building, a student union, a newly constructed library and fountain complex, a laboratory school, a radio station KSMU, a health center, bookstore, a multi-purpose recreational complex seating more than 9,000, a stadium, 8 residence halls to house more than 3,000 students, and two dining areas, in addition to many educational, technical, research, and fine arts areas.

Besides SMSU, Springfield has several other prominent educational institutions. There are two privately owned liberal arts and science colleges: Drury College, founded by the Congregational Church in 1873, and Evangel College, established by the Assemblies of God Church in 1955. In addition, there are three bible colleges in Springfield: Central Bible College, founded 1922; Baptist Bible College, founded 1950, and the Assemblies of God Graduate School, founded in 1973.

Even prior to the colonization of Missouri Epsilon, SMSU has acknowledged the contributions of members of Phi Delta Theta. Brother Andrew (Andy) J. McDonald (Kansas '23), for whom SMSU's McDonald Sports Arena was named, had an extensive and successful career at SMSU and was inducted into the U.S. Golf Hall of Fame in 1983. Brother McDonald still resides in Springfield and is very supportive of Phi Delta Theta.

Initiation for the members of Missouri Epsilon was held at Messiah Lutheran Church in Springfield. The following Phi alumni officiated at the initiation ceremonies: Brother Turner—President; Brother Joe Acuff (Westminster '32)—Vice President; Brother Gary Powell (SMU-Missouri '76)—Secretary; Brother Biggs—Warden;

Brother Dick Dorr (Illinois '65)—Chaplain, and Brother Michael J. Clarke (South Dakota '37)—Historian. Other members of the Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club and numerous brothers from Missouri Alpha at University of Missouri in Columbia, Missouri, and Missouri Beta at Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri, were present and participated. Those members initiated were: Steve R. Taraszka ('87); Daniel M. Gieseke ('87); Rick A. Franklin ('88); Daniel P. McKinney ('87); Barry P. Adams ('87); John S. Conroy ('85); Scott A. Ferguson ('86); Mark A. Holman ('87); Mark D. Rygelski ('85); John A. Jones ('85); Todd Murdock ('86); Greg F. Newport ('86); Steve W. Moore ('87); Kenneth W. Hoffman ('86); Christopher J. Schaeffer ('86), and Ralph K. Manley ('85). Brother Manley, an Assistant Professor at SMSU, joins Missouri Epsilon as Faculty Adviser.

Saturday morning, the brothers, pledges, alumni and visiting dignitaries were treated to a pancake and sausage breakfast at the chapter house, sponsored by the Ozarks Alumni Club. It was a great start, since this was to be an exciting and busy day for both alumni and undergraduates.

At 2:30 p.m., Saturday afternoon, Missouri Epsilon was formally installed as a chapter of Phi Delta Theta at St. James Episcopal Church. Approximately 180 people attended the installation, including undergraduates, alumni, wives, parents and guests. A highlight of the installation ceremony was the re-enactment of the Fraternity's founding on December 26, 1848. The re-enactment was narrated by Brother Biggs with the following Phi alumni playing the parts of the founders: Oliver J. Samuel (Kansas '46), Province President, Mu West—Robert Morrison; Bill Doran (Westminster '78)—John McMillian Wilson; David Yancey (Arkansas '69)—John Wolfe Lindley; Bob Biggs—Robert Thompson Drake; Dick Dorr (Illinois '65)—Andrew Watts

Rogers, and; Dr. Donald K. Back (Westminster '57)—Ardivan Walker Rodgers. Midway through the ceremonies, with accompaniment by the church organ, the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon rose from their seats and serenaded the audience with their renditions of "Warrior Greeks of Old" and "Eternal Praise". Then came the moment we had all waited for, Brother Steve Taraszka, Bond No. 1 and Past President of Missouri Epsilon Colony (1984-85), and Brother Dan Gieseke, Bond No. 2, and the President of Missouri Epsilon (1985-86), received the charter from Brother Turner on behalf of the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon.

Immediately following the installation, a reception was held at the church hosted by the wives of Phi alumni and special guests of the chapter. During the reception, Brother Biggs presented a slide show produced and narrated by Brother Turner concerning the international fraternity and Missouri Epsilon made its own special slide presentation.

An installation banquet and awards ceremony was held that evening at Hilton Inn of the Ozarks in Springfield. Approximately 106 undergraduates, alumni, and guests attended the banquet. The keynote speaker that evening was Brother David Turner. Other speakers included Brothers Oliver J. Samuel (Kansas '46), Province President, Mu West, Steve Taraszka, Dan Gieseke, as well as Dr. Earle Doman, Assistant Vice President of Student Affairs for SMSU.

Brother P. Glen Smith, Missouri Epsilon Chapter Adviser, presented the chapter's first two awards, Best Pledge, Fall, 1984, and Phi of the Year, 1984-85. The Best Pledge award went to Brother Steve Taraszka for his efforts in Missouri Epsilon's colonization and leadership in transmitting the concepts of the fraternity to others. Brother Rick Franklin (SW Missouri State '88), Bond No. 3, was named Phi of the Year in recognition of his efforts in exemplifying the 3 principles of the fraternity, Friendship, Sound Learning and Rectitude. Brother Franklin serves the chapter as Community Service Chairman.

Finally, Brother Bill Doran, Alumni Club Chapter Coordinator, and Brother Smith were presented with special recognition and appreciation awards for their guidance as advisers and contributions to the colonization and installation of Missouri Epsilon.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING: Carrington Hall, originally constructed in 1907 and renovated in 1968 and 1976, serves as Southwest Missouri State University's Administration Building.

School Year

The 1984-85 school year was a tremendous success for the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon. Certainly, both alumni and undergraduates had much to celebrate. The chapter maintains a 2.75 g.p.a. requirement for initiation and has a scholarship average well above the all men's average at SMSU. During the Fall of 1984, the chapter's cumulative g.p.a. was 2.89, well above the all greek average of 2.39, the all men's average of 2.55, and the all student average of 2.66. Six members made the Dean's List and 2 members made the President's list. Our 2.89 g.p.a. was not only the highest g.p.a. on campus, but it marked the first time a colony captured this important honor. Dr. Earle Doman, Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs, gave this news release, "the men associated with Phi Delta Theta have demonstrated a genuine commitment to one of the highest priorities of fraternity life. They should be extremely proud of their accomplishments and recognize that they serve as an inspiration to all our fraternities."

During this year, Missouri Epsilon participated in almost every intramural and several SMSU varsity level sports. On the intramural level, we placed No. 1 in fleet football and made the playoffs in volleyball and basketball. On the varsity level, we had members on the following SMSU teams: baseball, swimming, racquetball, rugby, rifle and backgammon. Numerous members hold national, conference, or school records and titles for their outstanding contributions in these sports.

The chapter also had a strong Community Service program: sponsoring a Cystic Fibrosis door-to-door collection; constructing and manning a "Haunted House" for the Boy's Club; co-sponsoring with Sigma Kappa Sorority a party at a local nursing home; participating in the SMSU nationwide telephone campaign; providing coaches and assistants for the Special Olympic Track and Field events, and repairing and cleaning-up local community housing. In addition, several brothers have volunteered as big brothers with the Big Brothers organization.

SMSU has a young, but growing greek system. Beginning in 1947, there are presently 14 fraternities besides Phi Delta Theta, including Alpha Gamma Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Upsilon, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Pi, Sigma Tau Gamma, and Tau Kappa Epsilon. As of Fall, 1984, there were 732 fraternity men with an average chapter size of 49. There are six sororities at SMSU, including Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Kappa, and Sigma Sigma Sigma. With a total of 572 sorority members, the average chapter size is 95. SMSU has both an Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council.

Missouri Epsilon often speaks of goals and challenges. Just as in life after college, individual and organizational success during college depends on the goals we set and accomplish. Although Missouri Epsilon's history is filled with success, we are not content with dwelling on the past. We look, instead, to continued growth, success and accomplishments while setting our goals high.

ALUMNI NEWS

ALABAMA ALPHA

With the combined efforts of the Phi Delta Theta Alumni Association of Alabama Alpha, the active chapter and the house corporation, first phase renovations are now complete at the Chapter House.

The basement has been enlarged to include the former chapter room which has now been moved to the upstairs library; renovation and remodeling has been completed on the upstairs bathroom and downstairs bathrooms; all window frames in the house have been replaced; the front yard has been resodded; and, an ornamental iron fence has been installed on the side of the front yard facing 10th Avenue.

The Alumni Association has implemented a "Big Brother" program to assist the Chapter officers of Alabama Alpha. Under this program, alumni members have been appointed to act as an adviser to each Chapter officer and to act as a liaison between the chapter and the university administration.

The Alumni Association and the House Corporation are planning a joint alumni function at the chapter house during Homecoming on Nov. 2, 1985. The Alumni Association is extremely proud of the improvements the chapter has made and we hope all alumni will make arrangements to be at Homecoming.

Those Alabama Alpha Phis interested in joining the Phi Delta Theta Alumni Association of Alabama Alpha should contact Ben Beckham, III, Suite 500, 3940 Montclair Road, Birmingham, Alabama 35213.—Ben F. Beckham, III

BARTLESVILLE

The Bartlesville Phi Delta Theta Alumni Chapter held its Founders Day dinner on May 15th at Hillcrest Country Club.

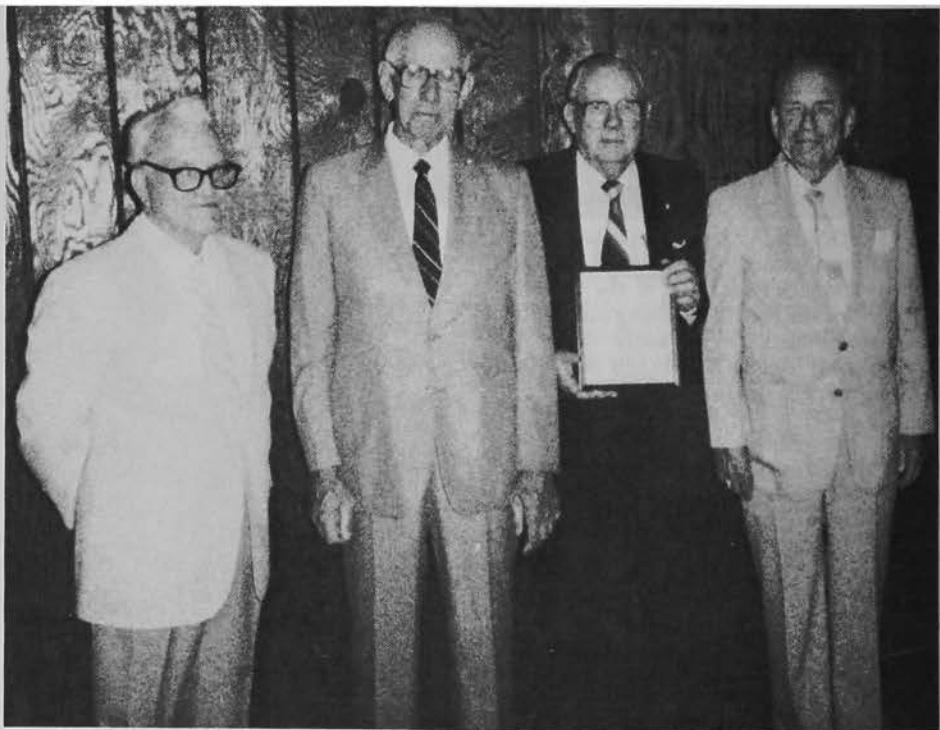

The evening began at 7 p.m. with cocktails followed by dinner at approximately 7:45. One item of business was conducted; that being the presentation of two awards.

Mike Doyle, chapter president and master of ceremonies for the evening, presented Brother William "Bill" Martin (Oklahoma '38) his Golden Legion certificate and pin, honoring him for 50 years membership in Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Brother Claude Trotter (Kansas '37) was also recognized and honored for receiving his Golden Legion certificate in 1984 and was presented a pin. Past Golden Legion recipients in attendance were Brother Warren Felton (Oklahoma '20) and Brother Stanley Learned (Kansas '24). NU Province President Jack Cozier and his lovely wife journeyed from Tulsa to join the Bartlesville Phi's and their spouses.

BARTLESVILLE: Enjoying the Bartlesville Founders Day are Claude Trotter (Kansas '37), Stanley Learned (Kansas '24), Bill Martin (Oklahoma '38), Mike Doyle (Kansas '70), Jack Cozier (Oklahoma State '53), Nu province president, and Warren Felton (Oklahoma '20).

Those in attendance were Don Buelow, Stanley Learned, Warren Felton, Mr. & Mrs. Bob Ferguson, Mr. & Mrs. Dan Chegwiddden, Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Gorman, Mr. & Mrs. Bill Martin, Mr. & Mrs. Stuart Read, Mr. & Mrs. Darby Trotter, Mr. & Mrs. Claude Trotter, Mr. & Mrs. Pete Silas, Mr. & Mrs. Lee DeMartino, Mr. & Mrs. Bob Kuller, Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Heady, Mr. & Mrs. Jim Clark, Mr. & Mrs. Bob French and Mr. & Mrs. Mike Doyle.

The date, time and location of the next alumni meeting will be announced later this summer. Should any alum wish to conduct and/or host a rush activity please feel free to contact Brothers Doyle or Ferguson. The Officers will insure that the brothers are notified and asked to help with the events.

The Founders Day Dinner was a delightful and successful culmination of the Chapter's reactivation efforts. A good time was had by all on May 15. The Bartlesville Phi Delt Alumni Chapter enjoys a healthy degree of enthusiasm and participation from its active members. We welcome new members and extend sincere thanks to participating Phi's for their encouragement and support.—Dan Chegwiddden

DALLAS

On April 10, 1985 we had our Dallas Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club Founders Day Banquet at Northwood Country Club in Dallas.

Golden Legion awards were presented and the featured speaker of the evening was Dave Bliss, SMU head basketball coach. Another prominent Dallas sports figure on hand at this event was Bobby Collins, SMU head football coach. Coach Collins was invited as a special guest of the Alumni Club in order that he could see Chris Jackson (center) and Andrew Campbell (offensive guard) both All Southwest Conference and honorable mention All American, receive the Dallas Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club Texas Phi Athlete of the Year Award, which is presented annually (since 1984) to the outstanding Phi Delt athlete in Texas.

Incidentally every Texas Phi Delt chapter is encouraged to submit nominations to the alumni board, which presently consists of Phis from Arkansas, Texas Tech, SMU, University of Cincinnati. Jackson was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs and Campbell signed as a free agent with the San Francisco Forty-Niners.—Bob Bourdette

HOUSTON

The Houston Alumni Club held its second function of 1985 on September 5th at Las Alamedas. The stag function featured the restaurant's renowned margaritas with cocktails and an excellent Mexican buffet.

DALLAS FOUNDERS DAY: In attendance at the Dallas Alumni Club's Founders Day were Joe Fallon (SMU '80), immediate past president; Quincy Adams (SMU '51), president of the House Corporation; Ron Gardner (Arkansas '78), vice president; Bob Bourdette (Washburn '69), president; Dave Bliss, SMU basketball coach; Chris Jackson (SMU '85); Bobby Collins, SMU football coach; Andrew Campbell (SMU '85); Stewart Henderson (SMU '81); and Rob LaMaster (Texas Tech '79), reporter.

HOUSTON: Others who participated in the Houston Founders Day included (top) Bud Powada, Fred Dexter and Frank Neal; (middle) Dan Walton and Bill Sengelmann.

We were very glad to see a large number of new faces joining the club at this function, as well as the "regulars" who never miss a party.

Our Christmas party is shaping up to be a spectacular event and we hope those alumni who haven't been able to attend any of our previous functions, can do so then.—Bob Huntley

SARASOTA—PALM BEACH

Never before in the history of the Phi Delt Alumni Club of Palm Beach, on the east coast of Florida, or the Sarasota Alumni Club, on the west coast, has there been a joint gathering such as took place June 25, 1985 in Palm Beach. The meeting was made even more memorable by the fact that the four visiting Phi Delt from Sarasota flew 183 miles by private plane just to attend a two-hour luncheon.

The precedent-setting meeting came about as the result of a dream by Bro. Jack Thomas, or "Cactus Jack" as he was known at his alma-mater, Emory University, to bring his brother, Russell Thomas, also a Phi Delt alumnus of Emory University, and some of the members of his Sarasota Club to the east coast to unite with the Palm Beach Phi Delt.

The dream became a reality when Russell Thomas, a former circuit court judge and prominent businessman from Sarasota, who also has a pilot's license and private plane, flew himself and three of his Phi Brothers, Ed Minor, Paul Woodmansee and Bob Kimbrough, to Palm Beach for a most-eventful afternoon of good food and much reminiscing.

Before leaving that afternoon to return to Sarasota, the four visiting Phi Delt commented that they'd had a "marvelous experience" visiting with their fraternity brothers in Palm Beach and hoped this would be the first of many get-togethers.

The luncheon, which boasted a record turnout of Palm Beach Phis proved that the brotherhood is still a strong force in the lives of all those who attended. Among some of the 24 in attendance were Hank Massey, Jr., president of the Palm Beach Chapter; H. Richard Walker, vice-president; Paul Bennett, treasurer; Frank Wright; Harry Massey, Sr.; Mike Massey; Doyle Rogers and Ed Sobey.

ST. JOSEPH MO

The Annual Founders Day Dinner was celebrated March 21 at the St. Joseph Country Club. Over 35 Phi alumni attended and represented their respective chapters: Missouri Alpha, Missouri Gamma, Missouri Beta, New York Epsilon, Kansas Gamma, Illinois Beta, Colorado Alpha, Ohio Theta, North Carolina Alpha, Kansas Alpha, New Hampshire Alpha, Colorado Beta, and Texas Zeta.

A brief business meeting was held following the dinner at which time the club paid tribute to deceased Brother Francis E. "Luke" Lucas, Missouri Alpha 1928, who passed away this year.

HOUSTON: Enjoying the Houston Founders Day banquet were (top) Tom Capo, Terry DeLasalle, and Dave Jackson; (middle) Gaines Mathews, Cline Young and Mark Hobson and (bottom) Donald Duncan, David Holland and Bill Ross.

Also during the business meeting, the brothers elected the following officers for the 1985-86 year: president, James K. Akard; vice-president, Gregory C. Lucas; secretary, Frederick J. Marston; treasurer, Richard E. Paul.

Following a discussion of upcoming social activities, the meeting was adjourned.—Frederick J. Marston

WASHINGTON ALPHA

At Washington Alpha's Founder's Day Banquet held on April 1, 1985, the Washington Phikeia Foundation, owner of the Washington Alpha Chapter House, announced plans for a major fund-raising campaign to provide sufficient funds for renovation of the Chapter House.

Led by the campaign's honorary chairman, W. Hunter Simpson, (Washington '49), president and chief executive officer of Physio Control Corporation, and J. Brewster Bede, DDS, (Washington '71), currently serving as vice president of Washington Phikeia Foundation, the fund-raising program commenced in September 1985 and will conclude by January, 1986. Construction is scheduled to commence in June, 1986.

In preparation for the fund-raising campaign and construction program, Washington Phikeia Foundation retained Wright Forssen Associates Ken Forssen (Washington '60) to prepare a conditions survey report on the Chapter House. Because of the high maintenance costs associated with the existing facility and the numerous improvements necessary to maintain the high standards and quality associated with the Washington Alpha chapter, the trustees of Washington Phikeia Foundation determined that a major renovation project was necessary if the Chapter was to continue to occupy the Chapter House. While some bank financing is available, it is hoped that the majority of the funds required can be obtained through donations from Phi Delt alums.

The fund-raising committee is composed of Washington Alpha alums led by Simpson and Bede. If you are interested in participating in this very important program for Washington Alpha, please contact

Edward C. Schumacher, 4903 Fremont Avenue North, Seattle, Washington 98103, telephone no. 206-633-5153.

SARASOTA-PALM BEACH: (Below) Also attending the Sarasota-Palm Beach Founders Day were Bill Fleming, Dean Barclay, Dave Van Fleet, Carl Hagelin, William Cummings and Frank Wright.

RICHMOND FOUNDERS DAY: Reliving old times at the Richmond Alumni Club's Founders Day activities are William Thornton, Bill Perrin and Rich Davis.

SARASOTA-PALM BEACH: Renewing old times at the Sarasota-Palm Beach Founders Day were Jack Thomas, Russell Thomas, Bob Kimbrough and Doyle Rogers.

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE DAVID D. BANTA LIBRARY

Ovid H. Bell (Davidson '39). This Large Crowd of Witnesses. The Ovid Bell Press, Inc., Fulton, Missouri, 1985. 77 pp. Given by author.

This Large Crowd of Witnesses is the sesquicentennial (150 years) history of the First Presbyterian Church in Fulton Missouri. The history starts on Friday, June 14, 1835 when four men and nine women, after listening to a sermon in Fulton, by the Reverend R. L. McAfee, organized the first Presbyterian Church in Fulton and continues through until 1985.

This history has double qualifications for entry into the library, as it contains the centennial address of the author's father, Ovid Bell (Westminster '96), delivered in 1935.

Herman Belz (Northwestern '36). Lincoln and the Constitution: The Dictatorship Question Reconsidered. Louis A. Warren. Lincoln Library and Museum, Fort Wayne, Indiana, 1984. 31 pp. Given by author.

The Dictatorship Question Reconsidered is the published text of the Seventh Annual R. Gerald McMurtry Lecture delivered in Fort Wayne, Indiana, on May 10, 1984. The lecture series is sponsored by the Louis A. Warren Lincoln Library and Museum, and honors Dr. R. Gerald McMurtry (Centre '29), the second director of the Library and Museum. Each year, a distinguished Lincoln scholar is invited to Fort Wayne to present his paper on some aspect of the Abraham Lincoln theme.

Dr. Belz concludes that President Lincoln's actions, in regard to the Constitution, were not the acts of a dictator, whether benevolent or otherwise, but of a constitutionalist faithful to the purpose for which the union and the Constitution were created and ordained.

Brother Belz has written several books concerning the Civil War era and the United States Constitution. His status as one of the foremost authorities on the history of the American Constitution is symbolized by his co-authorship of the sixth edition of the American Constitution: Its Origins and Development, the standard academic text on the subject. Brother Belz has earned numerous awards, fellowships, and prizes, including a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship.

Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr. (Ohio Wesleyan '31). Exploring The Moon Through Binoculars. McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York, New York, 1984. 211 pp. Given by author.

The moon is yours, and Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr., a noted astronomer, invites you to stake your claim now.

A do-it-yourselfer space program, this month-long guided tour enables you to have, from the outset, a more detailed look at the moon than either Copernicus or Galileo ever had!

All you need is a small telescope or a pair of binoculars, access to the sky, and the capacity to be thrilled. Because, as this exciting new book proves, it is simply not true that you need high-powered, high-priced equipment in order to observe the moon in full and fascinating detail.

Beginning a day or two after the new moon and continuing night by night until the day before the next moon, Dr. Cherrington presents the most arresting features of the moonscape. He focuses his binoculars on the high-contrast strip along the terminator which separates the bright section of the moon from the dark portion. This unique method enables you to find the objects discussed (from gigantic lunar seas to crater rills) quickly and easily, and assures you of seeing them under optimum conditions.

In addition to seven full pages of photos of the whole moon—considered the finest ever taken—there are 52 other illustrations. A gazetteer of all lunar features visible through a pair of 7 x 50 or 7 x 50 binoculars is a further highlight of this inviting, easy-to-understand text.

A professor of astronomy at Hood College in Frederick, Maryland, Brother Cherrington is a contributor to the New York Times Magazine and various scientific journals, including, Astro Physical Journal and Science Digest.

Dr. Cherrington's companion volume to Exploring the Moon is Exploring the Moon Through Binoculars and Small Telescopes. Both books are recent additions to the Banta Memorial Library.

Harry C. Griffith (Mississippi '54). Adventure in Discipleship. Zondervan Publishing House, Grand Rapids, Michigan, 1981. 140 pp. Given by author.

Adventure in Discipleship provides specific guidelines for spiritual growth. What does the Christian need to know and to do in his daily life so that he can become a well-rounded, mature Christian? This book supplies practical answers in 40 lessons, each based on a scripture passage.

Adventure in Discipleship is a learner's manual for the new Christian, who may need help in knowing how to follow Jesus. It is a checklist for the Christian of long standing, who will discover areas in his spiritual life which may have been neglected. All Christians need to grow. This book will lead the way to a more mature Christian life.

Brother Griffith is now the executive director of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer in Winter Park, Florida. Sharing God's Love is Brother Griffith's previous book.

Howard Hobson (Oregon '26). Shooting Ducks, A History of University of Oregon Basketball. The Press of the Oregon Historical Society, 1984. 249 pp. Given by author.

On the evening of March 27, 1939, collegiate sports fame came to the State of Oregon. On that date, the University of Oregon's famed basketball team, dubbed the "Tall Firs" by Oregonian sportswriter L. H. Gregory, captured the first National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) title, beating the Ohio State Buckeyes in Evanston, Illinois.

The coach of that remarkable team of Oregon-born players was Howard "Hobby" Hobson. Four decades after that great championship season, Hobson was asked to write a history of basketball at the Eugene school. With the same energy and dedication that characterized his playing and coaching, he engaged in the several years' research and writing, the result of which is Shooting Ducks.

Hobson brings a lifetime of knowledge to this history, and he captures the changes in Dr. Naismith's great game as manifested by Oregon's teams. Shooting Ducks chronicles the development of the sport at the University of Oregon from its inception early this century as an obscure winter activity, through the post-war era and into contemporary times. Hobson relates stories about those early and intense competitions among West Coast and Pacific Northwest schools, giving special emphasis to the NCAA Tall Firs championship team.

Basketball fans and students of the hoop sports will find it a fascinating and comprehensive history spiced with many stories and photographs.

Truly one of America's outstanding college basketball coaches, Hobson has helped shape the development of the sport. Brother Hobson's doctoral dissertation on the subject of basketball led to important changes in the game. Author of several books, including, "Scientific Basketball," Hobson belongs to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, has served as a long-time member and former chairman of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee and is the former president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Brother Hobson is still very active in the game. He attends some 50 key contests each year at all levels and serves on numerous committees associated with the game.

Jack E. Holmes (Knox '63). The Mood/Interest Theory of American Foreign Pol- icy. The University Press of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky, 1985. 238 pp. Given by author.

In 1952, Frank L. Klingberg's article on introvert and extrovert American foreign policy moods projected an American turn toward introversion in the late 1960s. After this came to pass, Jack Holmes began to develop a theory of how these moods might work in a more specific sense. His mood/interest theory points to a basic conflict between politico-military interests and the foreign policy moods of the American electorate.

Holmes presents a pioneering account of the overwhelming impact of public moods on foreign policy. Policy-making structures, executive-legislative relations, presidential personality, pragmatism, moralism, elitism, conservatism, international economics, and humanitarianism are related to the mood/interest pattern. Major points are illustrated with examples from 1776 to the present.

Holmes' analysis indicates that American moods are continuing unabated, according to past patterns, so that American foreign policy may undergo some surprising changes in the next decade. One of the author's hopes is that emphasis on the importance of national moods will help avoid future extremes. This book is bold in its assertions and points to major problems in the analysis of American foreign policy. Whether or not the reader agrees with the entire analysis, he or she will be challenged to think about American foreign policy in new and perhaps in revealing ways.

This fresh and broad perspective and the coverage of all the basic topics affecting American foreign policy make the book especially valuable for those who try to educate or mold public opinion.

Brother Holmes is an associate professor of political science at Hope College in Holland, Michigan.

J. Gilbert Mohr (Penn State '37). Fiber Glass. Van Nostrand Reinhold Company, New York, New York. Given by author.

Here is the first book to combine both insulation fiber and continuous-filament fiber technology in one volume. It brings you an accurate, factual description of the state of the art in the entire fiber glass industry, with an emphasis on application and product performance.

No matter what your area of specialization—architecture, building construction, engineering, or even medical or communication technology—this authoritative guide contains all the information you need to take full advantage of the many capabilities of fiber glass.

For those concerned with insulation, it covers virtually every aspect of fiber glass, from basic manufacturing methods through intermediate and end products. A wealth of charts, tables, performance parameters and illustrations of product applications help you choose the wool fiber or blown fiber insulation that best suits your needs in buildings, acoustics, pipe and tank insulation, solar heating collection elements, aircraft, marine. Whatever your field, this book will serve as a handy, up-to-the-minute reference source on this rapidly expanding industry.

Brother Mohr has more than 40 years experience in glass and ceramic technology. He is presently a senior research engineer with the Johns-Manville Sales Corp., Process Development Division.

William Pratt. College Days at Old Miami: The Diary of T. C. Hibbett, 1851-1854, 151 pp. Miami University Office of University Publications, Oxford, Ohio. Given by author.

Nineteen hundred and eighty-four may mean the year of Big Brother to fans of George Orwell, but to alumni of Miami University in Ohio, it marks the 175th anniversary of the founding of their college. And among the events that helped them bring back some of their early history is the publishing of the diary of Theophilus Cannon Hibbett (Miami '54), a native of Tennessee who attended Miami from 1851 to 1854 and kept a readable diary record of his college life. This diary, recently unearthed and given to Miami by a member of the Hibbett family, is amazingly legible for all its 130 years of preservation (penmanship was an art in those days); and newly edited and annotated for publication, it provides an engaging glimpse into the history of higher education in the United States, not just of Miami alone.

William Pierce Randel (Denison '31). Centennial—American Life in 1876. Chilton Book Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1969. 474 pp. Given by author.

Here is an analytic portrait of America in the year 1876, the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of the nation. The author records in both his own words and those of contemporary observers—Josiah Gilbert Holland, Jacques Offenbach, Thomas Henry Huxley, and others—the tremendous diversity of the growing nation, offering in rich and minute detail glimpses of every aspect of American life in 1876.

Randel pictures sprawling Centennial America as comprising three great stages of the ongoing frontier process: the securely civilized East, where New England retained its "meetinghouse pattern of church-town government," the Middle States furnished capital and people for the needs of new sections, and the South was struggling to adjust economically and racially to the lingering effects of the Civil War; the frontier, which ran almost due north and south across the waist of the nation; and the wilderness, its vast sweep disturbed only by the outreach of the herdsmen, the extension of the railroad and mining interests, and the presence of Indians.

This book serves as a guide post by showing us clearly, brilliantly, and in-depth what the United States and its people were like one hundred years after Independence.

Brother Randel is an authority on the Hoosier realist Edward Eggleston and is the author of The Ku Klux Klan: A Century of Infamy.

Walter Rosene, Jr. (Iowa State '34). Alabama—Obsolete Notes and Scrip. The Society of Paper Money Collectors, Inc., 1984. 141 pp. Given by author.

Money circulated in a state is part of the history of that state and Alabama is no exception. The purpose of this book is to make available a listing of all known obsolete notes and scrip from the time of settlement in the lands which eventually became the State of Alabama through the time of reconstruction immediately after the Civil War. It is acknowledged that this can not be considered a "complete" list as undiscovered notes appear from time to time.

This is Brother Rosene's second addition to the Banta Memorial Library. His previous book, Bob White Quail, is also in the collection.

NOTE

Jesse Davis (Oklahoma '30) has recently brought to our attention an error in reporting a book which he donated to the David D. Banta Library. The book, Dear Everybody: The Life of Henry B. "Heinie" Bass, was incorrectly listed as a gift from the author, Odie B. Faulk.

Boy, Hot Shoppes and Farrell's chains and the "Great America" amusement parks. He was chairman of President Richard Nixon's inaugural committees in 1968 and 1972, and was a major financial backer of former presidents Eisenhower and Gerald Ford as well as President Reagan. His rise in the corporate world dated to 1927 when he came to D.C. and, with borrowed money, opened up a small A&W root beer stand. He soon expanded into a chain of family oriented restaurants called the Hot Shoppes. In 1957, the business grew to include lodging with the opening of the Marriott Motor Hotel in Washington. After working for 15 to 18 hours daily, he collapsed in 1933 and was told he had a disease of the lymphatic system and just two months to live. He spent six months hunting, fishing and riding in Maine and Florida, then returned to work, his health restored. He was described by President Reagan as "a living example of the American dream."

Sixty-one Chapters Enter CSD Competition

Historically, Phi Delta Theta has been both actively involved and a leader in the areas of community service and philanthropy. The 1984-85 academic year was no exception as the chapters of Phi Delta Theta exhibited their enthusiasm in many different endeavors involving charities and communities in need.

Thirty-nine chapters participated in community service events and twenty-two more joined the fight against ALS by raising substantial sums of money through various fund-raising events ranging from dance marathons to "Rickshaw" pulling contests.

The single most recognized event was the making of toys for children in local hospitals sponsored by the chapter at M.I.T. The publicity from this creative endeavor was truly amazing as both the Associated Press and United Press International distributed the story nationwide. This remarkable exhibition of creativity and brotherhood by the members of Massachusetts Gamma enabled them to win the Paul C. Beam trophy that is awarded annually for the single most outstanding community service event.

Finishing in a tie for second place in the Beam trophy hunt were Washington Alpha and Kansas Alpha both of whom have won the award before. Washington Alpha sponsored a dance marathon benefitting ALS and was successful in raising over $100,000 for the cause. Kansas Alpha sponsored an annual basketball tournament and raised over $50,000 for

ALS.

The Lubbock trophy was awarded to Arkansas Alpha for their continuing involvement in community service. Each and every brother participated in a wide range of community involved events which encompassed the entire academic year. Michigan Delta finished a close second as they also showed a strong commitment to give to their community when called upon.

One chapter, Nebraska Beta at Kearney State University, deserves special recognition as they came to the rescue of another fraternity after their house had caught on fire. The local newspaper awarded high acclaim for the courageous effort.

Other chapters which received special recognition in the awarding of both the Beam and Lubbock trophies are as follows: Arizona Beta (both categories), Indiana Zeta, Kentucky Alpha, Ohio Alpha, Texas Eta (both categories), Texas Theta, Indiana Delta, and Ohio Mu.

NIC Releases Statement On New Bantam Publication

The National Interfraternity Conference (NIC), in response to the release of a new Bantam Books publication on fraternities, urges readers to use discretion to separate the facts from the stereotyped images presented in "From Here to Fraternity."

The book, released to coincide with the start of the academic year, is promoted as "the first and only comprehensive guide to fraternities and sororities from Alpha to Omega." Actually, Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities was the first in 1879, and the book's 20th edition will be published in 1986.

"From Here to Fraternity" presents some positive and factual material, but the book is disappointing in the sense that it promotes many stereotypical images of college fraternities that are simply not true," said Jonathan J. Brant, executive director of the NIC, an Indianapolis-based federation of 58 men's general college fraternities.

Brant cited some of the names of the book's chapters as examples of fraternity and sorority stereotypes. Included in the book is a chapter on drinking games titled "Fifty Ways to Lose Your Liver" and another titled "Songs, Sex and Slander: Oral Traditions of the Greeks." Brant noted that alcohol and sexual responsibility programs are available in most fraternities.

"We hope people who read the book will keep the author's tongue-in-cheek view of fraternities and sororities in mind, and conduct a personal study of the many benefits of fraternity membership," Brant added.

New Council, Lindley Associates Listed

To date, the 1985 solicitation campaign has produced a total of 55 Council Associates and five John Wolfe Lindley Associates. A Council Associate is a brother who contributes or has had contributed in his name an accumulation of $1,000 to the Loyalty Fund and/or Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation. A John Wolfe Lindley Associate recognizes contributions of $2,500. Contributions to the Foundation are tax deductible and are used to enlarge the endowment for members' services, including scholarships, which totaled over $57,000 in 1984.

CONGRATULATIONS: Bill Perrin (Richmond '53) congratulates George Simons (Richmond '85) following the annual phone-a-thon in which the Virginia Gamma chapter raised over $15,000 for the development office.

THE PHI CRIER

ON CAMPUS

*Dr. Ralph Thompson, Kentucky Theta chapter adviser since their founding 16 years ago, has been named Eastern Kentucky University's "Outstanding Faculty Member" for this past year.

*Soon the West Virginia University's second highest flag flying will be none other than Phi Delta Theta's flag. The Phi Dels have made plans to erect a flagpole in their yard, which is at the top of the Mountaineer campus. The highest flag continues to be the U.S. flag.

*Dry rush was a tremendous success for Florida Alpha. The chapter pledged 42 new Phikeias as a result of a competitive rush week. This was the first non-alcoholic fall rush week at Florida in a number of years. Brother Greg Norris is IFC president and Rob Fishback is IFC secretary.

*Indiana Gamma has formally pledged 19 Phikeias bringing the chapter's members from 13 to 32. It was by far the most successful rush conducted by any of the seven fraternities at Butler.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*The Brothers at Indiana are completing the finishing touches on a new computer room and study area. The chapter computer will be connected to the University system and will assist in all computer classes as well as chapter and alumni records.

*Kentucky Epsilon held a summer rush event at the Kentucky Horse Park. The main event was a round robin polo match. The rush event led to a successful fall rush.

SCHOLASTICALLY

*The Phis at Washington and Jefferson College have won "Most Improved Scholastic Standing" in competition with all fraternities.

*Indiana Gamma's alumni have put together its own scholarship fund which will grant three $500 scholarships every year. The scholarships will not be restricted to the chapter, but will be open to all Butler students.

NEWSFRONTS

Rob Martin and Dave Blocker, both licensed rescue workers and members of Phi Delta Theta at Iowa State, have been cited for the assistance they gave police when a second-story outdoor balcony collapsed under the weight of 40 partygoers at the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house on campus on Aug. 26. Blocker and Martin saw the police cars and rushed to lend a hand.

* * *

Alumni have organized a Texas Mu Housing Corporation to assist the chapter with its housing plans for the future. The newly formed corporation, under the leadership of Jerry Watson (Southwest Texas '81), held two meetings this fall.

* * *

The Randall County (Texas) road which will contain the new fraternity house for Texas Theta at West Texas State has officially been named "Phi Delta Lane" by the county commissioners court.

Missouri Delta's chapter at St. Louis University is in the process of obtaining a fraternity house. Local alumni have formed the Missouri Delta House Corporation as an initial effort to acquire a chapter house. Chapter members are attempting to raise money for the project through a variety of fund-raising efforts.

Michael A. Renzi (Lafayette '87) has recently returned from a short-term mission to Mexico, sponsored by the Medical Group Missions program of the Christian Medical Society. He was part of a team of 24 participants, which included physicians, nurses, surgeons, dentists, and other medically oriented personnel as well as a number of general support participants who conducted a clinical-surgical-dental mission in Villa Mainera, Tamaulipas, Mexico. The team treated a total of 1185 patients during the two-week period.

Renzi is a premed student at Lafayette. In addition to helping treat people in the poor farming village for ailments as common as lice and fungus, and as exotic as goiter and leprosy, he and his fellow missionaries also preached the gospel to their patients.

"We wanted to minister to their spiritual needs as well as their physical needs," he said. "We wanted to show them that there was hope beyond the daily suffering." The young missionary is also a starting kicker for the varsity football team at Lafayette and is active in chapter and campus activities.

A new Greek-oriented magazine, Campus Class, delivered its premier issue in November to over 500,000 Greeks in 7,600 chapter houses across the country. Curtis Baldwin, associate publisher, said that Greek students would be involved in the magazine's editorial preparation, thus assuring a high level of reader involvement.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA: The members of California Alpha, in a continuing effort toward house improvement, have designed and built a new deck and fence in their backyard.

Jordan Selected Trautman Winner

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
Scroll Sports Editor

Scott Jordan (Georgia Tech '85), outfielder has become the second repeat winner in fraternity history for the George Trautman Baseball Trophy given annually to Phi Delta Theta's outstanding collegiate baseball player. Another unusual phenomena occurred when Jeff Knecht (Hanover '86), pitcher and designated hitter, was runner-up for the second consecutive year.

Jordan was selected last year as Georgia's "Intercollegiate Player of the Year." This year at the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament he was selected "Most Valuable Player" as he went 11 for 22 with three home runs, nine runs scored and four RBI's. In 1982 he had a batting average of .326; in 1983, .368; in 1984, .408 and in 1985, .416. He was an All-ACC selection in the past two seasons.

Knecht was All Hoosier-Buckeye Collegiate Conference, All-NAIA District and "Most Valuable Player" with six victories and as a designated hitter 49 RBI's as a sophomore. He repeated the same honor this year with 43 RBI's, 8 home runs and 78 total bases.

The other two-time winner was Jeff Peebles, a Vanderbilt pitcher in 1972 and 1973. The first winner was Keith Weber, a Missouri pitcher. The chairman of the George Trautman Trophy Committee since 1972 is Jay Hook (Northwestern '65), a major league pitcher for eight years (1957-1964) and now vice president of Masco Corporation in Taylor, Michigan.
