Will It Really Look Good on Your Resume?

BY ROGER W. HEINEKEN
(Emporia State '78)

One of the notable quotes bouncing off the walls of ivy covered halls on all of our campuses is "It will look good on my resume." It has become the college motto of the 1980s. I truly hope all Phi Deltas realize how hollow and image-mongering that phrase is.

The statement is milk-toast and non-macho. If you joined Phi Delta Theta and/or stood for office in your chapter only to benefit your resume, I pity you and your silly self-centered values.

Phi Delta Theta is a meat and potatoes fraternity—

HEINEKEN a fraternity with philosophical and practical substance. Our Grand Old Fraternity will nourish the heart, mind, and soul of each member who wants "more than a mere campus interlude." The young college man spends four years living the intense Phi Delt experience but it will take the remainder of his life to gauge how valuable Phi Delta Theta truly is. It is a fraternity for life. It's glow and afterglow. Phi Delta Theta will stick to your ribs.

Now, back to our quote. Let us say you are called for an interview because Phi Delta Theta looked good on your resume. What are you going to be able to tell an interviewer about that experience?

You could say, "I was a marginal member just looking for a mere campus interlude and something good to put on my resume." These sound better to me, "I learned to manage a $100,000 budget and deal with delinquent accounts"; and "I gained insight into the morale of a diverse group of men"; or "I was able to develop time management and goal setting skills"; or simply, "I matured and built significant friendships."

You must know what you wanted to get from the fraternity experience. It is paramount that you are able to articulate your personal gain—long before you type the capital P of Phi on that good looking resume of yours. My guess is that when you really sit down and assess how you have developed skills through the fraternity experience you will be pleasantly surprised and proud to type that capital "P."

I am a chapter adviser and I see as one of my prime roles that of educator/evaluation catalyst, not only for the chapter as a whole but for individual members. Evaluation is the follow through that is often undervalued and forgotten. I work to help members be actively introspective. A Brother in the Bond has four years to get the most from his fraternity experience—only four years. Wasted opportunity is a crime.

All new members ought to be asked what they feel they bring to the fraternity; i.e., scholarship, athletic ability, prior leadership experience, etc., and what skills they feel need improvement; i.e., public speaking, social poise, scholarship, etc. Each chapter must develop a method and format to encourage individual and peer evaluation. This kind of exercise can be quite revealing and rewarding for all involved.

Chapters will benefit enormously if they encourage self-evaluation:

For the Rushee:

Asking a rushee what his skills are gives the chapter better information about the candidate. It initiates conversation about leadership opportunities and organizational structure. This kind of conversation appeals to the motivated student and lets him know what the chapter values.

For the new member:

Asking the first year student to look back and identify positive changes that have occurred through his fraternity membership will help develop personal insight; strengthen his commitment to the chapter; help the young man articulate and affirm to parents and friends outside the chapter the value of his membership; and help the new member strategize what leadership he needs yet to experience.

For the Senior Phi:

He will be able to articulate the substance of his fraternity experience for potential employers. He will look nostalgically at his fleeting four years. He will be a better role model for underclassmen. He will have transmitted the fraternity by giving much to his chapter.

For the Alumnus:

Retrospection will keep loyalty alive, sustain active interest in the chapter's programs, and give sound reason to financially support his chapter and fraternity.

Phi Delta Theta is a "workshop in brains and emotion where a young college man may serve in four years an apprenticeship to life." It can be just that for any Phi who wants it. The wisdom of our Founding Fathers is as vital today as it was during that Christmas interim in 1848. The Bond and Principles are as basic as air and water. Embracing the fraternity's ideals is character building, living them is challenging and sustaining them is an ever binding obligation. A resume is two-dimensional but the Phi it represents must be well-rounded and dynamic to meet the world's challenge in the next few decades.

I cringe when I hear "It would look good on my resume." It's a turn off. My pet peeve. If Phi Delta Theta "looks good" on your resume it is only because legions of Phi Deltas contributed to a time-honored reputation of excellence in all walks of life. You must do your part to transmit that reputation to those who follow. Let us all keep Morrison's "good ship Phi" riding high on the college waters and welcomed in every career port. Phi Delta Theta Fraternity is yours and mine in the Bond.

A Tough Man for A Tough Job

C. J. "Pete" Silas (Georgia Tech '53) pointed with pride to a spot in the River Tees in north-eastern England. "The plant will be located right there—under that water," Silas told the Phillips Petroleum board of directors.

"And they looked at me as if I weren't quite all there."

Indeed, the site of what would become Europe's largest crude oil terminal was under water at high tide. To raise the level of the land by 15 feet, 420 million cubic feet of mud and silt would have to be dredged from the river bottom.

And delicate negotiations with the property owners—the Church of England and the British Royal family—were required to secure the land needed for the facility.

The four-year process of turning this unlikely spot of real estate into an ultramodern crude oil processing and terminal facility was just one of many complex projects Silas oversaw as managing director of the Europe-Africa division in the late 1960s and through the mid-1970s.

Step by step, the obstacles were overcome, and the most far-flung energy production and transportation facility in Europe took its final shape. In the process, Silas gained the respect of industry and political leaders in Norway, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, Belgium and France.

He received the Norwegian government's Royal Norwegian St. Olav's Order, recognizing his contributions to Norway's energy and allied industries.

Ekofisk was his finest hour. In his words: an experience of a lifetime.

Return to Headquarters

In 1976 Silas returned to corporate headquarters in Bartlesville as vice president, gas and gas liquids, and two years later was elevated to senior vice president of natural resources. By 1980 he was an executive vice president and in 1982, at the age of 49, he became president and chief operating officer. He was the youngest man since Boots Adams to hold the job.

Silas, a chemical engineer, joined Phillips in October 1953 after a brilliant career as a scholar and basketball player at Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech).

Silas knew then that he would be entering the U.S. Army the following January, so he had not informed the Phillips 66ers basketball team that he was working for Phillips. But his boss, L. E. Fitzjarrald, broke the secret, George Durham, publicist for the basketball team, recalls.

Phillips Basketball

"Mr. Fitzjarrald called Bud Browning (the coach) and told him there was a tall guy working for him by the name of Pete Silas and he played basketball in college."

The 6-foot-6-inch Silas joined the team immediately, went on an 18-game road trip, returned to Bartlesville, went into the Army and became a member of the U.S. team that won the 1955 Pan-American games.

"That's all the basketball I wanted," Silas says with no regrets. "When I came back to Phillips the only question on my mind was would I stay in the production department or go into chemicals?"

He returned as a plastics engineer in the chemicals department and started his rapid rise through the corporate ranks.

As a result of the many assignments abroad, his trademark became "international experience"; his forte, making the most of difficult situations.

A New Style

Insiders say that years of haggling with foreign businessmen and governments helped him develop a business style long on gentle, but shrewd, persuasion. "Mr. Silas doesn't have to bang on tables to negotiate," says Toni Rotzetter, manager of Phillip's world-wide specialty chemical group and a co-worker. "He can win an argument with a smile and a joke."

He will need these characteristics to guide Phillips through a very difficult period. Some feel it is the most critical phase of the company's long history. Phillips recently had to fend off raids by Mesa Petroleum Company Chairman T. Boone Pickens, Jr. and New York financier Carl Icahn to take over the company. Silas played a key role in the battle.

He is now faced with bringing the company through an elaborate recapitalization that was engineered to stay independent. It has nearly tripled its debt to about $7.3 billion and this left it with a harrowing debt-to-capitalization ratio of about 80%.

Of this new challenge Silas says, "I'm ready." His past performance with the company would tend to indicate that he is.

Visible

In Bartlesville, Oklahoma, home of Phillips, Silas is a very visible figure. He is on the boards of the area chamber of commerce, Blue Stem Regional Medical Development Foundation, Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation, National Junior Achievement and the National Boys Clubs of America. He is a board member of the American Petroleum Institute and a member of the executive committee of the Institute of Gas Technology.

He is also a director of the First National Bank in Bartlesville and the First National Bank and Trust Company of Tulsa. He is also a trustee of the Georgia Tech Foundation, Inc.

He and his wife Theodosea, have four children, Karla, Peter, Michael and James. ■

Phis To Meet in Toronto in '86

WHAT: Phi Delta Theta's 66th Biennial Convention

WHEN: June 12-15, 1986

WHERE: The Royal York Hotel
Toronto, Ontario

WHO: Phis and their families

When the Huron Indians congregated in the area several hundred years ago, they decided they would call the place "Toronto." The translation: place of meetings.

So it will be for members of Phi Delta Theta and their families when they gather at The Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto come June of 1986 for the Fraternity's Biennial Convention.

Toronto is a city of renovated neighborhoods and glittering landmark skyscrapers. Thanks to people-minded planning, Metro Toronto mixes the historic and the modern in a distinctive architectural blend. Tall bank towers dominate the skyline. The gleaming Royal Bank of Canada Building contains a quarter million dollars worth of gold dust in the window glass. The world's tallest free-standing structure, the 1,815 foot Canadian National Tower, overpowers the skyline. Functioning as a radio and TV antenna, it contains a restaurant, disco and two observation decks. The Eaton Centre, a multi-tiered, downtown shopping mall, is a feature which attracts local citizens and visitors alike.

On the edge of downtown Toronto, the waterfront has a lifestyle of its own. Concerts, art galleries, movies, dancing, sailing, water slides, antique market, theatres, fine dining and great shopping all prevail. Popular among walkers and runners alike, the breeze off the lake makes both activities enjoyable. Toronto is Canada's largest inland harbor and a key in the Great Lakes shipping routes that move ore and grain out of the heart of the continent. Lake Ontario is host to freighters and ocean-going ships, as well as sailboats, rowing shells and motor-powered boats of every description.

Toronto's entertainment scene rates rave reviews. More than 80 performing arts companies play in spaces ranging from glass and concrete showplaces to venerable Edwardian playhouses. Less grand, but showing equal style, are the dozens of theatres, converted stables, fire halls and factories, hidden away in downtown laneways. Diversity is the hallmark of Canada's dramatic world.

Great stores are not far away from The Royal York. The downtown area yields several miles of varied shopping experiences. Starting at Union Station, a network of underground malls winds its way uptown beneath soaring office towers, culminating in a sunny, glass-roofed shoppers' paradise at Dundas and Yonge. Another collection of weather-proof shops runs from Bloor and Yonge, almost to Avenue Road and is the gateway to Yorkville. Here, and in renovated neighborhoods across Toronto, you'll find charming boutiques and specialty stores you never imagined, together with restaurants that echo the surrounding mood. Bloor street is one of the most concentrated luxury shopping and dining areas in Canada. It is known for its high-fashion stores, movie theatres, trendy restaurants and a major museum.

Toronto boasts an efficient, clean, safe public transit system, which combines subways, streetcars and buses to take you wherever you want to go. Each of the eight stations on one of the subway lines features an artistic theme, developed by contemporary Canadian artists, working with glass, ceramics, aluminum, neon and other materials. A call to the Toronto Transit Commission will bring information on exactly how to travel anywhere in and around the metropolis.

The number one tourist destination in Canada, Toronto is located halfway between New York City and Chicago. Sixty percent of the U.S. population is within two hours flying time of the city. Members of the Toronto Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club look forward to welcoming you to the city they love. Include the Convention in your vacation plans or make a special trip to enjoy a fraternal brotherhood in one of the world's most exciting cities.

Vanderbilt Phi Waiting for Acting 'Break'

When Greg Webb's (Vanderbilt '81) neighbors in Murfreesboro, Tennessee first stood him up on their front porch at age four to do his Elvis Presley impersonation they were sure he was headed for Nashville and future stardom. They were right, of course, but the route was a little more circuitous than the thirty miles due west to the country music capital.

Greg grew up in Murfreesboro, a college town east of Nashville, and, like most other boys, was active in sports. A broken wrist while playing football in his sophomore year in high school enabled him to pursue other interests. The one activity that appealed most to him was theatre. He joined the drama club and chalked up "Macbeth" as his first taste of work on the boards.

When his injured wrist healed he returned to athletics, but continued with theatre, too, appearing in his junior class production of "South Pacific" and his senior class presentation of "Paint Your Wagon." His interests also included politics and student government. He served as senior class vice-president and was the winner of the Sons of the American Revolution Medal given to the outstanding student of 1977 at Oakland High School.

During the summer after his graduation Greg worked in summer stock at the Rosecranz Amphitheatre in Murfreesboro, starring as Jesus in "Godspell" and appearing in several other original productions during the season.

In the Fall of 1977 Greg entered Vanderbilt University on a pre-law curriculum and for three and a half years concentrated solely on his studies, student government and Phi Delt activities. As he entered his final semester of college, however, he realized that his first love was really acting. During those last months at Vanderbilt, Greg appeared in their productions of "A Month in the Country" and "The Rivals."

Upon graduation in 1981, Greg decided to move to Los Angeles and break into show business. With his parents' support, if not their enthusiasm, Greg headed west.

Arriving in Los Angeles in the Fall of 1981, Greg did what all new actors do: He got his pictures and resumes; got an agent; started acting classes; and, most importantly, got a job at the Daily News circulation department so he could eat and pay the rent.

It didn't take long for Greg's first break to come along. He did a number of industrial films and in the Summer of 1982 landed a role in Paramount's "The Lords of Discipline," starring David Keith. Following three months of filming it was back to the Daily News and more rounds of auditions.

In the Spring of 1983 Greg was introduced to "The Waltons" creator, Earl Hamner. Several meetings later Greg was signed to star as Rome Hawley in Lorimar's "Boone," a series about a young Tennessee boy's desire to make it big in Nashville as a country singer. The show was canceled after 13 episodes.

In 1984 Greg appeared in a CBS Movie of the Week, "The Baron and the Kid" in which he played "Billy Joe" opposite Johnny Cash.

Greg has appeared in various other plays and small film roles. Like so many young aspiring actors he is hoping for that "big break." Up to this point it has not come and the frustration is apparent.

Though he is actively pursuing an acting career, Greg still has the desire to continue his education on the graduate level, perhaps even attend law school.

Currently single and living in Burbank, CA, his hobbies include writing music, playing guitar and banjo, reading, politics and the typical Tennessee pastimes of square dancing and calling, and Chinese cooking. ■

Yablonsky's Rise A Typical Success Story

Dennis Yablonsky's (Cincinnati '75) rise to the top at Cincom, a worldwide computer software company based in Cincinnati, is a typical American success story.

He joined the company in 1975, took a 13-week training program, spent six months writing computer programs using Cincom products and was off to his first assignment in Philadelphia as a salesman.

In 1976 he was sent to open an office for the company in Buffalo, NY. He says this experience helped him learn how the company functioned. In 1978 he came back to Cincinnati as branch sales manager. A year later he was named district sales manager, based in Manhattan. Here he was responsible for the East coast. Nine months later he was back in Cincinnati as national sales manager, responsible for all US operations.

The company then decided to enter the international market and Yablonsky was off to Canada, Western Europe and Southeast Asia. About 40% of the company's revenues now come from abroad.

His title during this time was vice president of marketing and sales. In October, 1984, he was named president and chief executive officer at the age of 32.

It is interesting to note that there are four other Phi Deltis employed by Cincom. Rick Neumann (Cincinnati '71), is a senior marketing sales representative out of the Cincinnati office and was the number one performer out of 190 active sales people at Cincom last year.

Brian Bish (Cincinnati '77) is currently the manager of technical support for Cincom in the United States. Jim Greiner (Miami-Ohio '71) works for Cincom as an education sales representative in Cincinnati. Bob Scarborough (Western Ontario '72) works as the company's national market resource manager for Canada, based in Toronto.

Yablonsky is very outspoken about his involvement with Phi Delta Theta. "I believe the fraternal system provides an excellent foundation for preparing young men for the business world, and I have spoken to various groups at the University of Cincinnati about that very subject," he said.

The Cincom president came from Pittsburgh to the University of Cincinnati to study chemical engineering but switched after two years to industrial management because "a pure technical degree did not fit my needs."

He was involved in the university's co-op program which permits a student to spend three months in school and then work three months in business or industry. He did his work at Tresler Oil Company as an internal auditor and at Mosler Safe Company as an analyst.

He feels these on-the-job experiences prepared him well for his initial experience at Cincom.

Today the company will do about $100 million of business and Yablonsky says the goal is to grow about 35% a year. "We spend double the industry average on research and development," he said. He predicts that the software business will be the largest contributor to gross national product by the year 2000.

He has the reputation as a workaholic but he doubts that. "I work hard but I also enjoy homelife," he said. "This is a fast-paced business and you need some time off to just relax."

It would appear that he hasn't relaxed all that much in the past 10 years. ■

Southwest Missouri State Installed

BY P. GLEN SMITH
(Tennessee Tech '78)

The Missouri Epsilon chapter of Phi Delta Theta was installed at Southwest Missouri State University (SMSU) in Springfield, Missouri on Saturday, April 27, 1985.

Brothers David Turner (Minnesota '70), Member-at-Large, General Council of Phi Delta Theta, and Robert (Bob) A. Biggs (Georgia Southern '76), Director of Chapter Services, General Headquarters of Phi Delta Theta, directed the ceremonies. On Friday, April 26, 1985, 16 of the 46 colony members were initiated into Phi Delta Theta.

The installation of Missouri Epsilon marked the realization of an exciting dream which began in early Fall of 1983. Brother Don R. Handley (Missouri '36), a long time resident of Springfield, was approached by Brother Harry Gerlach (Miami U '30), then member of the Phi Delta Theta Survey Commission, concerning the prospects of starting a chapter of Phi Delta Theta at SMSU. Brother Handley agreed to assist in this endeavor and proceeded to contact the SMSU Administration. Brothers

Handley and Gerlach met with the Interfraternity Council at SMSU in late Fall of 1983 and gave a presentation, generally outlining the benefits of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. The Interfraternity Council extended Phi Delta Theta an invitation to colonize in February of 1984.

At this point, Brother Handley contacted Brother P. Glen Smith (Tennessee Tech '78), a recent migrate to Springfield and former chapter consultant (1978-80), requesting his assistance. They decided that the first step in colonization was to inform the alumni in the Springfield region of this opportunity and marshal their support. With the assistance of General Headquarters in Oxford, Ohio, a letter was sent to area alumni informing them of the plans to colonize at SMSU.

A dinner meeting was held in late February, 1984, attended by 32 interested alumni. The group approved of a colony at SMSU and steps were taken to re-activate an alumni club. The Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club was organized and chartered in March of 1984. The Alumni Club has 42 active members. Officers were elected and committees appointed including a colonization committee and housing committee.

The alumni club contacted member of the Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, the freshmen honorary society at SMSU, seeking potential colony members. Membership in Phi Eta Sigma requires a 3.5 g.p.a. A rush function was held in April of 1984 and three freshmen were designated to spearhead the operation on campus. During the summer of 1984, a letter was sent to 1,200 SMSU incoming freshmen and transfer students. Numerous calls were made to these students and personal interviews set up.

The Fall, 1984, rush week was critical to our efforts. Numerous publications were printed in the school newspaper and a local rush pamphlet was utilized. General Headquarters sent Consultant John Clark (Miami U '83) to organize the program. Over a period of three weeks, the alumni and Brother Clark interviewed approximately 120 perspective members. Our goal was to obtain men exhibiting high academics, sound morals and a desire to make Phi Delta Theta the leader among fraternities at SMSU in all areas of fraternal life. At the conclusion of our rush period, we had 36 members, the largest and best all-around pledge class on campus.

The group petitioned the General Council of Phi Delta Theta for colony status. Colony status was granted to Missouri Epsilon Colony on Sept. 21, 1984. The General Council appointed Brother P. Glen Smith as Colony Coordinator and Brother Bill Doran (Westminster '78) was designated as Alumni Colony Coordinator by the Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club. During our spring, 1985 rush activities, we obtained 19 additional members, once again, the largest and best all-around pledge class on campus.

Founded in 1829, Springfield, Missouri, the "Queen City of the Ozarks", is situated in the Southwest area of Missouri in the center of the Ozarks Mountain region within 60 minutes drive to famous Ozarks recreation areas and attractions. Springfield is the third largest metropolitan area in Missouri with a city population of over 134,000 and a metropolitan population over 233,000. Springfield's industrial base is highly diversified including more than 250 manufacturing and industrial firms.

Southwest Missouri State University celebrated its 80th anniversary this year. Originally commissioned as the Springfield State Normal School on September 7, 1905, it opened with an enrollment of 543 in June of 1906. After WWI, the Normal School got a new name, Southwest Missouri State Teacher's College (STC). In 1945, STC, founded primarily as a training facility for future teachers, was renamed Southwest Missouri State College (SMS) as an appropriate recognition of the increasing enrollment of students planning careers outside the educational professions.

In 1971, the Missouri State Legislature authorized the elevation of SMS to Southwest Missouri State University (SMSU). SMSU is a multi-purpose university, occupying over 125 acres on the main campus, with an enrollment of more than 15,000 students, the second largest in the state. SMSU offers academic programs on both the undergraduate and graduate levels, with a choice of more than 1605 courses in 34 separate departments, and with majors or minors available from some 70 plus academic areas. There are nine classroom buildings, an administration building, a student union, a newly constructed library and fountain complex, a laboratory school, a radio station KSMU, a health center, bookstore, a multi-purpose recreational complex seating more than 9,000, a stadium, 8 residence halls to house more than 3,000 students, and two dining areas, in addition to many educational, technical, research, and fine arts areas.

Besides SMSU, Springfield has several other prominent educational institutions. There are two privately owned liberal arts and science colleges: Drury College, founded by the Congregational Church in 1873, and Evangel College, established by the Assemblies of God Church in 1955. In addition, there are three bible colleges in Springfield: Central Bible College, founded 1922; Baptist Bible College, founded 1950, and the Assemblies of God Graduate School, founded in 1973.

Even prior to the colonization of Missouri Epsilon, SMSU has acknowledged the contributions of members of Phi Delta Theta. Brother Andrew (Andy) J. McDonald (Kansas '23), for whom SMSU's McDonald Sports Arena was named, had an extensive and successful career at SMSU and was inducted into the U.S. Golf Hall of Fame in 1983. Brother McDonald still resides in Springfield and is very supportive of Phi Delta Theta.

Initiation for the members of Missouri Epsilon was held at Messiah Lutheran Church in Springfield. The following Phi alumni officiated at the initiation ceremonies: Brother Turner—President; Brother Joe Acuff (Westminster '32)—Vice President; Brother Gary Powell (SMU-Missouri '76)—Secretary; Brother Biggs—Warden;

Brother Dick Dorr (Illinois '65)—Chaplain, and Brother Michael J. Clarke (South Dakota '37)—Historian. Other members of the Ozarks Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club and numerous brothers from Missouri Alpha at University of Missouri in Columbia, Missouri, and Missouri Beta at Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri, were present and participated. Those members initiated were: Steve R. Taraszka ('87); Daniel M. Gieseke ('87); Rick A. Franklin ('88); Daniel P. McKinney ('87); Barry P. Adams ('87); John S. Conroy ('85); Scott A. Ferguson ('86); Mark A. Holman ('87); Mark D. Rygelski ('85); John A. Jones ('85); Todd Murdock ('86); Greg F. Newport ('86); Steve W. Moore ('87); Kenneth W. Hoffman ('86); Christopher J. Schaeffer ('86), and Ralph K. Manley ('85). Brother Manley, an Assistant Professor at SMSU, joins Missouri Epsilon as Faculty Adviser.

Saturday morning, the brothers, pledges, alumni and visiting dignitaries were treated to a pancake and sausage breakfast at the chapter house, sponsored by the Ozarks Alumni Club. It was a great start, since this was to be an exciting and busy day for both alumni and undergraduates.

At 2:30 p.m., Saturday afternoon, Missouri Epsilon was formally installed as a chapter of Phi Delta Theta at St. James Episcopal Church. Approximately 180 people attended the installation, including undergraduates, alumni, wives, parents and guests. A highlight of the installation ceremony was the re-enactment of the Fraternity's founding on December 26, 1848. The re-enactment was narrated by Brother Biggs with the following Phi alumni playing the parts of the founders: Oliver J. Samuel (Kansas '46), Province President, Mu West—Robert Morrison; Bill Doran (Westminster '78)—John McMillian Wilson; David Yancey (Arkansas '69)—John Wolfe Lindley; Bob Biggs—Robert Thompson Drake; Dick Dorr (Illinois '65)—Andrew Watts

Rogers, and; Dr. Donald K. Back (Westminster '57)—Ardivan Walker Rodgers. Midway through the ceremonies, with accompaniment by the church organ, the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon rose from their seats and serenaded the audience with their renditions of "Warrior Greeks of Old" and "Eternal Praise". Then came the moment we had all waited for, Brother Steve Taraszka, Bond No. 1 and Past President of Missouri Epsilon Colony (1984-85), and Brother Dan Gieseke, Bond No. 2 and the President of Missouri Epsilon (1985-86), received the charter from Brother Turner on behalf of the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon.

Immediately following the installation, a reception was held at the church hosted by the wives of Phi alumni and special guests of the chapter. During the reception, Brother Biggs presented a slide show produced and narrated by Brother Turner concerning the international fraternity and Missouri Epsilon made its own special slide presentation.

An installation banquet and awards ceremony was held that evening at Hilton Inn of the Ozarks in Springfield. Approximately 106 undergraduates, alumni, and guests attended the banquet. The keynote speaker that evening was Brother David Turner. Other speakers included Brothers Oliver J. Samuel (Kansas '46), Province President, Mu West, Steve Taraszka, Dan Gieseke, as well as Dr. Earle Doman, Assistant Vice President of Student Affairs for SMSU.

Brother P. Glen Smith, Missouri Epsilon Chapter Adviser, presented the chapter's first two awards, Best Pledge, Fall, 1984, and Phi of the Year, 1984-85. The Best Pledge award went to Brother Steve Taraszka for his efforts in Missouri Epsilon's colonization and leadership in transmitting the concepts of the fraternity to others. Brother Rick Franklin (SW Missouri State '88), Bond No. 3, was named Phi of the Year in recognition of his efforts in exemplifying the 3 principles of the fraternity, Friendship, Sound Learning and Rectitude. Brother Franklin serves the chapter as Community Service Chairman.

Finally, Brother Bill Doran, Alumni Club Chapter Coordinator, and Brother Smith were presented with special recognition and appreciation awards for their guidance as advisers and contributions to the colonization and installation of Missouri Epsilon.

School Year

The 1984-85 school year was a tremendous success for the brothers and pledges of Missouri Epsilon. Certainly, both alumni and undergraduates had much to celebrate. The chapter maintains a 2.75 g.p.a. requirement for initiation and has a scholarship average well above the all men's average at SMSU. During the Fall of 1984, the chapter's cumulative g.p.a. was 2.89, well above the all greek average of 2.39, the all men's average of 2.55, and the all student average of 2.66. Six members made the Dean's List and 2 members made the President's list. Our 2.89 g.p.a. was not only the highest g.p.a. on campus, but it marked the first time a colony captured this important honor. Dr. Earle Doman, Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs, gave this news release, "the men associated with Phi Delta Theta have demonstrated a genuine commitment to one of the highest priorities of fraternity life. They should be extremely proud of their accomplishments and recognize that they serve as an inspiration to all our fraternities."

During this year, Missouri Epsilon participated in almost every intramural and several SMSU varsity level sports. On the intramural level, we placed No. 1 in fleet football and made the playoffs in volleyball and basketball. On the varsity level, we had members on the following SMSU teams: baseball, swimming, racquetball, rugby, rifle and backgammon. Numerous members hold national, conference, or school records and titles for their outstanding contributions in these sports.

The chapter also had a strong Community Service program: sponsoring a Cystic Fibrosis door-to-door collection; constructing and manning a "Haunted House" for the Boy's Club; co-sponsoring with Sigma Kappa Sorority a party at a local nursing home; participating in the SMSU nationwide telephone campaign; providing coaches and assistants for the Special Olympic Track and Field events, and repairing and cleaning-up local community housing. In addition, several brothers have volunteered as big brothers with the Big Brothers organization.

SMSU has a young, but growing greek system. Beginning in 1947, there are presently 14 fraternities besides Phi Delta Theta, including Alpha Gamma Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Upsilon, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Pi, Sigma Tau Gamma, and Tau Kappa Epsilon. As of Fall, 1984, there were 732 fraternity men with an average chapter size of 49. There are six sororities at SMSU, including Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Kappa, and Sigma Sigma Sigma. With a total of 572 sorority members, the average chapter size is 95. SMSU has both an Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council.

Missouri Epsilon often speaks of goals and challenges. Just as in life after college, individual and organizational success during college depends on the goals we set and accomplish. Although Missouri Epsilon's history is filled with success, we are not content with dwelling on the past. We look, instead, to continued growth, success and accomplishments while setting our goals high.

SARASOTA—PALM BEACH

Never before in the history of the Phi Delt Alumni Club of Palm Beach, on the east coast of Florida, or the Sarasota Alumni Club, on the west coast, has there been a joint gathering such as took place June 25, 1985 in Palm Beach. The meeting was made even more memorable by the fact that the four visiting Phi Delt from Sarasota flew 183 miles by private plane just to attend a two-hour luncheon.

The precedent-setting meeting came about as the result of a dream by Bro. Jack Thomas, or "Cactus Jack" as he was known at his alma-mater, Emory University, to bring his brother, Russell Thomas, also a Phi Delt alumnus of Emory University, and some of the members of his Sarasota Club to the east coast to unite with the Palm Beach Phi Delt.

The dream became a reality when Russell Thomas, a former circuit court judge and prominent businessman from Sarasota, who also has a pilot's license and private plane, flew himself and three of his Phi Brothers, Ed Minor, Paul Woodmansee and Bob Kimbrough, to Palm Beach for a most-eventful afternoon of good food and much reminiscing.

Before leaving that afternoon to return to Sarasota, the four visiting Phi Delt commented that they'd had a "marvelous experience" visiting with their fraternity brothers in Palm Beach and hoped this would be the first of many get-togethers.

The luncheon, which boasted a record turnout of Palm Beach Phis proved that the brotherhood is still a strong force in the lives of all those who attended. Among some of the 24 in attendance were Hank Massey, Jr., president of the Palm Beach Chapter; H. Richard Walker, vice-president; Paul Bennett, treasurer; Frank Wright; Harry Massey, Sr.; Mike Massey; Doyle Rogers and Ed Sobey.

ST. JOSEPH MO

The Annual Founders Day Dinner was celebrated March 21 at the St. Joseph Country Club. Over 35 Phi alumni attended and represented their respective chapters: Missouri Alpha, Missouri Gamma, Missouri Beta, New York Epsilon, Kansas Gamma, Illinois Beta, Colorado Alpha, Ohio Theta, North Carolina Alpha, Kansas Alpha, New Hampshire Alpha, Colorado Beta, and Texas Zeta.

A brief business meeting was held following the dinner at which time the club paid tribute to deceased Brother Francis E. "Luke" Lucas, Missouri Alpha 1928, who passed away this year.

HOUSTON: Enjoying the Houston Founders Day banquet were (top) Tom Capo, Terry DeLasalle, and Dave Jackson; (middle) Gaines Mathews, Cline Young and Mark Hobson and (bottom) Donald Duncan, David Holland and Bill Ross.

Also during the business meeting, the brothers elected the following officers for the 1985-86 year: president, James K. Akard; vice-president, Gregory C. Lucas; secretary, Frederick J. Marston; treasurer, Richard E. Paul.

Following a discussion of upcoming social activities, the meeting was adjourned.—Frederick J. Marston

WASHINGTON ALPHA

At Washington Alpha's Founder's Day Banquet held on April 1, 1985, the Washington Phikeia Foundation, owner of the Washington Alpha Chapter House, announced plans for a major fund-raising campaign to provide sufficient funds for renovation of the Chapter House.

Led by the campaign's honorary chairman, W. Hunter Simpson, (Washington '49), president and chief executive officer of Physio Control Corporation, and J. Brewster Bede, DDS, (Washington '71), currently serving as vice president of Washington Phikeia Foundation, the fund-raising program commenced in September 1985 and will conclude by January, 1986. Construction is scheduled to commence in June, 1986.

In preparation for the fund-raising campaign and construction program, Washington Phikeia Foundation retained Wright Forssen Associates Ken Forssen (Washington '60) to prepare a conditions survey report on the Chapter House. Because of the high maintenance costs associated with the existing facility and the numerous improvements necessary to maintain the high standards and quality associated with the Washington Alpha chapter, the trustees of Washington Phikeia Foundation determined that a major renovation project was necessary if the Chapter was to continue to occupy the Chapter House. While some bank financing is available, it is hoped that the majority of the funds required can be obtained through donations from Phi Delt alums.

The fund-raising committee is composed of Washington Alpha alums led by Simpson and Bede. If you are interested in participating in this very important program for Washington Alpha, please contact

Edward C. Schumacher, 4903 Fremont Avenue North, Seattle, Washington 98103, telephone no. 206-633-5153.

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE DAVID D. BANTA LIBRARY

Ovid H. Bell (Davidson '39). This Large Crowd of Witnesses. The Ovid Bell Press, Inc., Fulton, Missouri, 1985. 77 pp. Given by author.

This Large Crowd of Witnesses is the sesqui-centennial (150 years) history of the First Presbyterian Church in Fulton Missouri. The history starts on Friday, June 14, 1835 when four men and nine women, after listening to a sermon in Fulton, by the Reverend R. L. McAfee, organized the first Presbyterian Church in Fulton and continues through until 1985.

This history has double qualifications for entry into the library, as it contains the centennial address of the author's father, Ovid Bell (Westminster '96), delivered in 1935.

Herman Belz (Northwestern '36). Lincoln and the Constitution: The Dictatorship Question Reconsidered. Louis A. Warren. Lincoln Library and Museum, Fort Wayne, Indiana, 1984. 31 pp. Given by author.

The Dictatorship Question Reconsidered is the published text of the Seventh Annual R. Gerald McMurtry Lecture delivered in Fort Wayne, Indiana, on May 10, 1984. The lecture series is sponsored by the Louis A. Warren Lincoln Library and Museum, and honors Dr. R. Gerald McMurtry (Centre '29), the second director of the Library and Museum. Each year, a distinguished Lincoln scholar is invited to Fort Wayne to present his paper on some aspect of the Abraham Lincoln theme.

Dr. Belz concludes that President Lincoln's actions, in regard to the Constitution, were not the acts of a dictator, whether benevolent or otherwise, but of a constitutionalist faithful to the purpose for which the union and the Constitution were created and ordained.

Brother Belz has written several books concerning the Civil War era and the United States Constitution. His status as one of the foremost authorities on the history of the American Constitution is symbolized by his co-authorship of the sixth edition of the American Constitution: Its Origins and Development, the standard academic text on the subject. Brother Belz has earned numerous awards, fellowships, and prizes, including a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship.

Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr. (Ohio Wesleyan '31). Exploring The Moon Through Binoculars. McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York, New York, 1984. 211 pp. Given by author.

The moon is yours, and Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr., a noted astronomer, invites you to stake your claim now.

A do-it-yourself space program, this month-long guided tour enables you to have, from the outset, a more detailed look at the moon than either Copernicus or Galileo ever had!

All you need is a small telescope or a pair of binoculars, access to the sky, and the capacity to be thrilled. Because, as this exciting new book proves, it is simply not true that you need high-powered, high-priced equipment in order to observe the moon in full and fascinating detail.

Beginning a day or two after the new moon and continuing night by night until the day before the next moon, Dr. Cherrington presents the most arresting features of the moonscape. He focuses his binoculars on the high-contrast strip along the terminator which separates the bright section of the moon from the dark portion. This unique method enables you to find the objects discussed (from gigantic lunar seas to crater rills) quickly and easily, and assures you of seeing them under optimum conditions.

In addition to seven full pages of photos of the whole moon—considered the finest ever taken—there are 52 other illustrations. A gazetteer of all lunar features visible through a pair of 7 x 50 or 7 x 50 binoculars is a further highlight of this inviting, easy-to-understand text.

A professor of astronomy at Hood College in Frederick, Maryland, Brother Cherrington is a contributor to the New York Times Magazine and various scientific journals, including, Astro Physical Journal and Science Digest.

Dr. Cherrington's companion volume to Exploring the Moon is Exploring the Moon Through Binoculars and Small Telescopes. Both books are recent additions to the Banta Memorial Library.

Harry C. Griffith (Mississippi '54). Adventure in Discipleship. Zondervan Publishing House, Grand Rapids, Michigan, 1981. 140 pp. Given by author.

Adventure in Discipleship provides specific guidelines for spiritual growth. What does the Christian need to know and to do in his daily life so that he can become a well-rounded, mature Christian? This book supplies practical answers in 40 lessons, each based on a scripture passage.

Adventure in Discipleship is a learner's manual for the new Christian, who may need help in knowing how to follow Jesus. It is a checklist for the Christian of long standing, who will discover areas in his spiritual life which may have been neglected. All Christians need to grow. This book will lead the way to a more mature Christian life.

Howard Hobson (Oregon '26). Shooting Ducks, A History of University of Oregon Basketball. The Press of the Oregon Historical Society, 1984. 249 pp. Given by author.

On the evening of March 27, 1939, collegiate sports fame came to the State of Oregon. On that date, the University of Oregon's famed basketball team, dubbed the "Tall Firs" by Oregonian sportswriter L. H. Gregory, captured the first National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) title, beating the Ohio State Buckeyes in Evanston, Illinois.

The coach of that remarkable team of Oregon-born players was Howard "Hobby" Hobson. Four decades after that great championship season, Hobson was asked to write a history of basketball at the Eugene school. With the same energy and dedication that characterized his playing and coaching, he engaged in the several years' research and writing, the result of which is Shooting Ducks.

Hobson brings a lifetime of knowledge to this history, and he captures the changes in Dr. Naismith's great game as manifested by Oregon's teams. Shooting Ducks chronicles the development of the sport at the University of Oregon from its inception early this century as an obscure winter activity, through the post-war era and into contemporary times. Hobson relates stories about those early and intense competitions among West Coast and Pacific Northwest schools, giving special emphasis to the NCAA Tall Firs championship team.

Basketball fans and students of the hoop sports will find it a fascinating and comprehensive history spiced with many stories and photographs.

Truly one of America's outstanding college basketball coaches, Hobson has helped shape the development of the sport. Brother Hobson's doctoral dissertation on the subject of basketball led to important changes in the game. Author of several books, including, "Scientific Basketball," Hobson belongs to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, has served as a long-time member and former chairman of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee and is the former president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Brother Hobson is still very active in the game. He attends some 50 key contests each year at all levels and serves on numerous committees associated with the game.

Jack E. Holmes (Knox '63). The Mood/Interest Theory of American Foreign Pol- icy. The University Press of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky, 1985. 238 pp. Given by author.

In 1952, Frank L. Klingberg's article on introvert and extrovert American foreign policy moods projected an American turn toward introversion in the late 1960s. After this came to pass, Jack Holmes began to develop a theory of how these moods might work in a more specific sense. His mood/interest theory points to a basic conflict between politico-military interests and the foreign policy moods of the American electorate.

Holmes presents a pioneering account of the overwhelming impact of public moods on foreign policy. Policy-making structures, executive-legislative relations, presidential personality, pragmatism, moralism, elitism, conservatism, international economics, and humanitarianism are related to the mood/interest pattern. Major points are illustrated with examples from 1776 to the present.

Holmes' analysis indicates that American moods are continuing unabated, according to past patterns, so that American foreign policy may undergo some surprising changes in the next decade. One of the author's hopes is that emphasis on the importance of national moods will help avoid future extremes. This book is bold in its assertions and points to major problems in the analysis of American foreign policy. Whether or not the reader agrees with the entire analysis, he or she will be challenged to think about American foreign policy in new and perhaps in revealing ways.

This fresh and broad perspective and the coverage of all the basic topics affecting American foreign policy make the book especially valuable for those who try to educate or mold public opinion.

Brother Holmes is an associate professor of political science at Hope College in Holland, Michigan.

J. Gilbert Mohr (Penn State '37). Fiber Glass. Van Nostrand Reinhold Company, New York, New York. Given by author.

William Pratt. College Days at Old Miami: The Diary of T. C. Hibbett, 1851-1854, 151 pp. Miami University Office of University Publications, Oxford, Ohio. Given by author.

Nineteen hundred and eighty-four may mean the year of Big Brother to fans of George Orwell, but to alumni of Miami University in Ohio, it marks the 175th anniversary of the founding of their college. And among the events that helped them bring back some of their early history is the publishing of the diary of Theophilus Cannon Hibbett (Miami '54), a native of Tennessee who attended Miami from 1851 to 1854 and kept a readable diary record of his college life. This diary, recently unearthed and given to Miami by a member of the Hibbett family, is amazingly legible for all its 130 years of preservation (penmanship was an art in those days); and newly edited and annotated for publication, it provides an engaging glimpse into the history of higher education in the United States, not just of Miami alone.

William Pierce Randel (Denison '31). Centennial—American Life in 1876. Chilton Book Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1969. 474 pp. Given by author.

Here is an analytic portrait of America in the year 1876, the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of the nation. The author records in both his own words and those of contemporary observers—Josiah Gilbert Holland, Jacques Offenbach, Thomas Henry Huxley, and others—the tremendous diversity of the growing nation, offering in rich and minute detail glimpses of every aspect of American life in 1876.

Randel pictures sprawling Centennial America as comprising three great stages of the ongoing frontier process: the securely civilized East, where New England retained its "meetinghouse pattern of church-town government," the Middle States furnished capital and people for the needs of new sections, and the South was struggling to adjust economically and racially to the lingering effects of the Civil War; the frontier, which ran almost due north and south across the waist of the nation; and the wilderness, its vast sweep disturbed only by the outreach of the herdsmen, the extension of the railroad and mining interests, and the presence of Indians.

This book serves as a guide post by showing us clearly, brilliantly, and in-depth what the United States and its people were like one hundred years after Independence.

Brother Randel is an authority on the Hoosier realist Edward Eggleston and is the author of The Ku Klux Klan: A Century of Infamy.

Walter Rosene, Jr. (Iowa State '34). Alabama—Obsolete Notes and Scrip. The Society of Paper Money Collectors, Inc., 1984. 141 pp. Given by author.

Money circulated in a state is part of the history of that state and Alabama is no exception. The purpose of this book is to make available a listing of all known obsolete notes and scrip from the time of settlement in the lands which eventually became the State of Alabama through the time of reconstruction immediately after the Civil War. It is acknowledged that this can not be considered a "complete" list as undiscovered notes appear from time to time.

This is Brother Rosene's second addition to the Banta Memorial Library. His previous book, Bob White Quail, is also in the collection.

NOTE

Jesse Davis (Oklahoma '30) has recently brought to our attention an error in reporting a book which he donated to the David D. Banta Library. The book, Dear Everybody: The Life of Henry B. "Heinie" Bass, was incorrectly listed as a gift from the author, Odie B. Faulk.

Sixty-one Chapters Enter CSD Competition

Historically, Phi Delta Theta has been both actively involved and a leader in the areas of community service and philanthropy. The 1984-85 academic year was no exception as the chapters of Phi Delta Theta exhibited their enthusiasm in many different endeavors involving charities and communities in need.

Thirty-nine chapters participated in community service events and twenty-two more joined the fight against ALS by raising substantial sums of money through various fund-raising events ranging from dance marathons to "Rickshaw" pulling contests.

The single most recognized event was the making of toys for children in local hospitals sponsored by the chapter at M.I.T. The publicity from this creative endeavor was truly amazing as both the Associated Press and United Press International distributed the story nationwide. This remarkable exhibition of creativity and brotherhood by the members of Massachusetts Gamma enabled them to win the Paul C. Beam trophy that is awarded annually for the single most outstanding community service event.

Finishing in a tie for second place in the Beam trophy hunt were Washington Alpha and Kansas Alpha both of whom have won the award before. Washington Alpha sponsored a dance marathon benefitting ALS and was successful in raising over $100,000 for the cause. Kansas Alpha sponsored an annual basketball tournament and raised over $50,000 for

ALS.

The Lubbock trophy was awarded to Arkansas Alpha for their continuing involvement in community service. Each and every brother participated in a wide range of community involved events which encompassed the entire academic year. Michigan Delta finished a close second as they also showed a strong commitment to give to their community when called upon.

One chapter, Nebraska Beta at Kearney State University, deserves special recognition as they came to the rescue of another fraternity after their house had caught on fire. The local newspaper awarded high acclaim for the courageous effort.

Other chapters which received special recognition in the awarding of both the Beam and Lubbock trophies are as follows: Arizona Beta (both categories), Indiana Zeta, Kentucky Alpha, Ohio Alpha, Texas Eta (both categories), Texas Theta, Indiana Delta, and Ohio Mu.

NIC Releases Statement On New Bantam Publication

The National Interfraternity Conference (NIC), in response to the release of a new Bantam Books publication on fraternities, urges readers to use discretion to separate the facts from the stereotyped images presented in "From Here to Fraternity."

The book, released to coincide with the start of the academic year, is promoted as "the first and only comprehensive guide to fraternities and sororities from Alpha to Omega." Actually, Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities was the first in 1879, and the book's 20th edition will be published in 1986.

"From Here to Fraternity" presents some positive and factual material, but the book is disappointing in the sense that it promotes many stereotypical images of college fraternities that are simply not true," said Jonathan J. Brant, executive director of the NIC, an Indianapolis-based federation of 58 men's general college fraternities.

Brant cited some of the names of the book's chapters as examples of fraternity and sorority stereotypes. Included in the book is a chapter on drinking games titled "Fifty Ways to Lose Your Liver" and another titled "Songs, Sex and Slander: Oral Traditions of the Greeks." Brant noted that alcohol and sexual responsibility programs are available in most fraternities.

"We hope people who read the book will keep the author's tongue-in-cheek view of fraternities and sororities in mind, and conduct a personal study of the many benefits of fraternity membership," Brant added.

New Council, Lindley Associates Listed

To date, the 1985 solicitation campaign has produced a total of 55 Council Associates and five John Wolfe Lindley Associates. A Council Associate is a brother who contributes or has had contributed in his name an accumulation of $1,000 to the Loyalty Fund and/or Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation. A John Wolfe Lindley Associate recognizes contributions of $2,500. Contributions to the Foundation are tax deductible and are used to enlarge the endowment for members' services, including scholarships, which totaled over $57,000 in 1984.

CONGRATULATIONS: Bill Perrin (Richmond '53) congratulates George Simons (Richmond '85) following the annual phone-a-thon in which the Virginia Gamma chapter raised over $15,000 for the development office.

THE PHI GRIER

ON CAMPUS

*Dr. Ralph Thompson, Kentucky Theta chapter adviser since their founding 16 years ago, has been named Eastern Kentucky University's "Outstanding Faculty Member" for this past year.

*Soon the West Virginia University's second highest flag flying will be none other than Phi Delta Theta's flag. The Phi Deltas have made plans to erect a flagpole in their yard, which is at the top of the Mountaineer campus. The highest flag continues to be the U.S. flag.

*Dry rush was a tremendous success for Florida Alpha. The chapter pledged 42 new Phikeias as a result of a competitive rush week. This was the first non-alcoholic fall rush week at Florida in a number of years. Brother Greg Norris is IFC president and Rob Fishback is IFC secretary.

*The men of South Carolina Gamma have recently completed a successful rush week resulting in a 25-member pledge class. With changes to a non-alcoholic rush system the Phis planned creative parties to gain them the second highest pledge class at Clemson.

*Indiana Gamma has formally pledged 19 Phikeias bringing the chapter's members from 13 to 32. It was by far the most successful rush conducted by any of the seven fraternities at Butler.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*The Brothers at Indiana are completing the finishing touches on a new computer room and study area. The chapter computer will be connected to the University system and will assist in all computer classes as well as chapter and alumni records.

*Kentucky Epsilon held a summer rush event at the Kentucky Horse Park. The main event was a round robin polo match. The rush event led to a successful fall rush.

SCHOLASTICALLY

*The Phis at Washington and Jefferson College have won "Most Improved Scholastic Standing" in competition with all fraternities.

*Indiana Gamma's alumni have put together its own scholarship fund which will grant three $500 scholarships every year. The scholarships will not be restricted to the chapter, but will be open to all Butler students.

NEWSFRONTS

Rob Martin and Dave Blocker, both licensed rescue workers and members of Phi Delta Theta at Iowa State, have been cited for the assistance they gave police when a second-story outdoor balcony collapsed under the weight of 40 partygoers at the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house on campus on Aug. 26. Blocker and Martin saw the police cars and rushed to lend a hand.

* * *

Alumni have organized a Texas Mu Housing Corporation to assist the chapter with its housing plans for the future. The newly formed corporation, under the leadership of Jerry Watson (Southwest Texas '81), held two meetings this fall.

* * *

The Randall County (Texas) road which will contain the new fraternity house for Texas Theta at West Texas State has officially been named "Phi Delta Lane" by the county commissioners court.

Missouri Delta's chapter at St. Louis University is in the process of obtaining a fraternity house. Local alumni have formed the Missouri Delta House Corporation as an initial effort to acquire a chapter house. Chapter members are attempting to raise money for the project through a variety of fund-raising efforts.

Michael A. Renzi (Lafayette '87) has recently returned from a short-term mission to Mexico, sponsored by the Medical Group Missions program of the Christian Medical Society. He was part of a team of 24 participants, which included physicians, nurses, surgeons, dentists, and other medically oriented personnel as well as a number of general support participants who conducted a clinical-surgical-dental mission in Villa Mainera, Tamaulipas, Mexico. The team treated a total of 1185 patients during the two-week period.

Renzi is a premed student at Lafayette. In addition to helping treat people in the poor farming village for ailments as common as lice and fungus, and as exotic as goiter and leprosy, he and his fellow missionaries also preached the gospel to their patients.

"We wanted to minister to their spiritual needs as well as their physical needs," he said. "We wanted to show them that there was hope beyond the daily suffering." The young missionary is also a starting kicker for the varsity football team at Lafayette and is active in chapter and campus activities.

A new Greek-oriented magazine, Campus Class, delivered its premier issue in November to over 500,000 Greeks in 7,600 chapter houses across the country. Curtis Baldwin, associate publisher, said that Greek students would be involved in the magazine's editorial preparation, thus assuring a high level of reader involvement.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA: The members of California Alpha, in a continuing effort toward house improvement, have designed and built a new deck and fence in their backyard.

Jordan Selected Trautman Winner

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
(Washburn '38)
Scroll Sports Editor

Scott Jordan (Georgia Tech '85), outfielder has become the second repeat winner in fraternity history for the George Trautman Baseball Trophy given annually to Phi Delta Theta's outstanding collegiate baseball player. Another unusual phenomena occurred when Jeff Knecht (Hanover '86), pitcher and designated hitter, was runner-up for the second consecutive year.

Jordan was selected last year as Georgia's "Intercollegiate Player of the Year." This year at the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament he was selected "Most Valuable Player" as he went 11 for 22 with three home runs, nine runs scored and four RBI's. In 1982 he had a batting average of .326; in 1983, .368; in 1984, .408 and in 1985, .416. He was an All-ACC selection in the past two seasons.

Knecht was All Hoosier-Buckeye Collegiate Conference, All-NAIA District and "Most Valuable Player" with six victories and as a designated hitter 49 RBI's as a sophomore. He repeated the same honor this year with 43 RBI's, 8 home runs and 78 total bases.

The other two-time winner was Jeff Peeples, a Vanderbilt pitcher in 1972 and 1973. The first winner was Keith Weber, a Missouri pitcher. The chairman of the George Trautman Trophy Committee since 1972 is Jay Hook (Northwestern '65), a major league pitcher for eight years (1957-1964) and now vice president of Masco Corporation in Taylor, Michigan.

Alcohol Liability Now A Serious Concern

BY C. T. BRAY
Treasurer, General Council

It is an American tradition that a good host provides for his guests good food, good drink and a good time. Tradition has also dictated that the "good drink" should include alcohol.

Indeed, in our society, and, in particular on the college campus, events are actually built around alcohol—the "beer bust," "drink until you drown," "Bourbon Street Nights" and similar functions, have, unfortunately, made alcohol the prime focus of activities.

If members or non-members attending these activities can not "handle their liquor," it is often regarded as a joke. They, as individuals, pay the price, usually with a terrible hangover, and often with embarrassment and lost friends. Whatever their mental and physical reaction to the overuse of alcohol, the responsibility and the liability has both, by tradition and law, been laid at the feet of the drinker.

Over the years, this responsibility for liability for damage and injury caused by intoxicated persons has been expanded to include commercial taverns and lounges serving the intoxicated person.

As states developed liability laws, many legislatures also enacted "dram shop" laws which held bar owners responsible for actions of their customers, if these customers became intoxicated and then caused injury or damage. If this injury or damage involved serving a person who already appears intoxicated, with the knowledge of the server that the person may drive an automobile, then the liability seems to be even more severe.

Now, in a number of areas across the country, this liability has been extended to individuals and groups, that is, the private host. This trend makes it almost certain that fraternities will be liable for serving alcohol to a person who becomes intoxicated and then causes injury or damage.

Current case law findings make it clear that fraternal groups must now, more than ever, be concerned with any activity which includes alcohol either for members or non-members.

Beginning in California in the 1970s and now in many other states and communities, courts are imposing liability penalties against the party's host for damage caused by a person served by that host. The courts in Michigan, Georgia and New Jersey all expanded responsibility for liability to the host.

Serving Minors

The most serious responsibility in this area, and where the courts appear most likely to impose the severest liability against the host, is in cases involving serving a minor. These cases rely both on the liability laws and on the state laws prohibiting the selling or furnishing of alcohol to a minor.

The courts reason that a social host not only incurs liability for damage or injury but because of the violation of the law against serving minors, is guilty of negligence and, in some areas, guilty of a criminal violation.

The courts have not only ruled the host must not "knowingly" serve alcohol to a minor but, recently, courts have ruled that the host must make a "diligent inquiry" to determine if the person is of legal age.

A logical extension of these rulings is that not only may a fraternity sponsoring a party be liable, but the person responsible for the party, be he social chairman, chapter president or chapter adviser, may ultimately share in the liabilities for damages caused by serving a minor.

A very recent Michigan court decision was held that even the minor himself may sue the host and win, for injuries suffered by the minor drinker, after being served by the host.

Combine these facts with the increase in the amount of dollar damages awarded in drinking liability cases and it becomes very clear that the serving of alcohol to anyone and, in particular to minors, can have extremely damaging financial results. Too, these claims may not be covered by insurance since most companies will not insure against an illegal act, i.e., serving a minor.

Things To Remember

*A chapter serving anyone alcohol, may be responsible for damage or injury caused by that person if he becomes intoxicated.

*If the person served is a minor, not only is there liability for damages, but there may be a criminal violation of the law resulting in fine or jail.

*This liability is not only the chapter's, but may extend to the individuals responsible for the party.

*Since most insurance coverage does not extend to illegal acts, serving a minor can leave a chapter without protection.

Part of being a good host is helping everyone have a good time at social functions. If the functions involve alcohol, great caution must be taken to ensure that you are not only a good host, but a concerned host and a safe host. If you are not, then you may be found to be a guilty host.

In high school I was an All-American, in college a first-round draft pick, but in life I was a first-class failure.

BY JOHN REAVES (Florida '72)
Tampa Bay Bandits Quarterback

Reprinted with permission from Guideposts magazine. Copyright © 1985 by Guideposts Associates, Inc., Carmel, New York 10512.

When I saw the red and blue lights spinning on the police car behind me, I knew I was in trouble again. Though my head was spinning like the colored lights, I managed to pull the Buick Riviera I had borrowed to the side of the road. The cop wheeled his patrol car in behind me.

"What's the problem, officer?" I asked as innocent and sober as I could sound.

"Can I see your driver's license?" he replied. I fumbled to find it, then handed it over. Under the beam of his flashlight he studied the license.

I began to worry. Just nine days earlier while driving my Mercedes through Tampa, my hometown, I had run a red light and smashed into a tow truck. I was knocked unconscious for about half an hour. My car was totaled. When I regained consciousness, the police arrested me for drunk driving and put me in jail till I sobered up.

"Mr. Reaves," the patrolman said at last, "do you know you're driving without your lights on?"

If he only knew.

I was too drunk and full of drugs to know that my car lights were off. But I was still sensible enough to realize, as I was hauled away to jail once more, that my whole life was speeding through the dark without lights—and had been for years.

High School All-American

I had been a high-school All-American at Robinson High in Tampa, and as a sophomore became the starting quarterback for the University of Florida. That was 1969, a year the Gators were not supposed to have much. In the first game of the season, against Houston, one of the top-rated teams in the country, my first pass went 70 yards for a touchdown. I threw four more touchdown passes that day, and we beat Houston, 59-34. It was a spectacular beginning to a spectacularly successful year; we finished 9-1-1 for the season, the best a Florida football team had done up till then.

After that, I got to travel all over and meet people like Howard Cosell, Don Meredith and Joe Namath. I thought I had become a superstar, and I began to pattern my life after what I thought a superstar should be.

I had learned to drink in high school; now I learned to smoke pot. During the off-season that sophomore year, a former player I knew offered me a joint, and we drove around Gainesville one February night, just puffing away. I knew it was wrong. I felt guilty about it. But I also liked it, and I started smoking regularly as an accompaniment to my drinking.

Then things started going downhill. My grades dropped and my performance on the football field suffered. I managed to set an NCAA record for passing yardage, but I knew I was playing with less than a full effort. Even so, the Philadelphia Eagles made me their first-round draft pick in 1972, the year I graduated. I signed a big contract and moved into a nice apartment in Philadelphia. I thought I had it all.

During the off-season, something happened that should have knocked some sense into me. Back home in Tampa I was arrested for possession of marijuana. A cop had seen me with some friends in a parking lot; he drove up and confronted us. I don't remember what I said, but in his statement the policeman reported that I screamed, "My name is John Reaves! I play football for the Philadelphia Eagles! You can't arrest me!"

I was arrested. The charges were later dropped, but the Eagles traded me to Cincinnati for another quarterback, telling me I'd better straighten up.

I decided they were right. I would quit the drugs and alcohol. I decided to get married, too, to Patti, a beautiful girl I'd met at the University of Florida. I thought that was what I needed to settle me down.

Trying to Quit

It worked for a while. I stayed off drugs and drinking. But the frustration I felt with my football career, which wasn't as good as it ought to have been because of my habit, eventually drove me back to drugs.

I got Patti in on it, too. She and I both began drinking, smoking pot and popping pills. Our lives seemed to revolve around our habit.

Every once in a while we'd try to stop. Though nothing seemed to work for me, Patti found something that helped her. Through Claudia Pritchard, the wife of one of my Bengals teammates, Ron Pritchard, Patti became interested in a Bible study group. She started meeting with the group, and the more she got into it, the less she did drugs and drank. Finally she quit them altogether.

Deep down, I knew she was doing the right thing and that I should follow her example. Instead, I resented her absence when I went partying.

Patti tried to help me. She would talk to me. She would leave me messages on the refrigerator with Scripture verses on them. She'd play Christian programs for me over the house intercom.

"What are you trying to pull?" I kept asking her.

After the 1978 season the Cincinnati Bengals released me. The Vikings signed me, but I sat on the bench during the 1979 season without getting to play even one down. I blamed everyone but myself and retreated further into drugs and alcohol, spending as much as $1,000 a week on cocaine.

Rock Bottom

My friends were abandoning me. Not even Patti could stand me anymore. I couldn't blame her. I was a failure as a husband and as a father to our two kids—Layla, who was then five, and David, who was a year old. In early 1980 Patti told me to change or move out. I moved out.

I felt and looked terrible. My nose was always running and my complexion was waxy. I really wanted to quit; and I wanted my family back. Some of my friends kept insisting I go for treatment. I talked to the representative of a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center in Kissimmee, Florida, and finally agreed to go there.

It was a 30-day program, but I walked out after a week. I was powerless to do what I knew I should do.

On July 7, 1980, on the third day of an alcohol and drugs binge, I got into a brawl at a Tampa restaurant and was thrown out by a dozen or more employees.

This time the incident was more than just humiliating. The restaurant owner and several employees filed affidavits saying I was strung out on drugs and that I was dangerous, threatening to kill them and myself. They said I was a threat to the public and to myself and that I needed to be committed.

I got really scared, more than I ever had been. Then I heard that a judge had ordered the police to pick me up and take me to a hospital for psychiatric evaluation. Frantic, I tried to reach a lawyer I knew, a friend who had repeatedly tried to help me when I was belligerently refusing help. Now he refused me.

My brother had a cabin near Clermont, Florida, out in the orange groves about an hour's drive from Tampa, and a friend drove me there to hide.

During the day I sat in the cabin, miserable and depressed, not even bothering to change out of the warm-up suit I was wearing when I left Tampa. At night I couldn't sleep. All I could think about was the total mess I had made of my life. I'd lost my family, my career was slipping away, I was deep in debt, I was a drug addict and an alcoholic, and now I was a fugitive.

Memories of my childhood came back to me. My father had been an alcoholic, so consumed by booze that he died when he was 41. I was nine at the time. Now I wondered if I, at the age of 30, was about to die.

Nowhere Else to Go

Scared and desperate, unable to sleep, I got out of bed early on the third day at the cabin. I felt totally alone, shut off by my friends and family, and by everyone who had helped in the past. With nowhere else to go, I got down on my knees. I looked up in the dim morning light and started praying. I was hoping God hadn't turned away from me too.

"I'm sorry," I said. "Help me in this situation and help me get my family back. I don't want to die and leave my children without a father like my father did. Please help me. Help me to quit. Help me to get my life back in order, and I'll turn it over to You. I promise."

As a young boy, when my mother and grandmother used to take me to church, I had felt maybe God was calling me for something special. But I had also felt a call to sports. Playing quarterback was what I especially liked, and as I grew older, football had become more and more important to me. I sort of crowded God out of my life.

It was going to be different now.

When I got up from my knees, sunlight was streaming into the cabin. I stepped outside for a few minutes, and when I did, I noticed a note that had been left at the front door. My brother must have left it sometime earlier. I nervously read it. It was a message to call the lawyer who had refused to help me just two days earlier.

He had had a change of heart. He had phoned the Vikings' general manager for me, and they had managed to get me a hearing with the judge who had ordered me picked up. The note was a sign, I felt sure, that God had not given up on me; His help was already on the way.

I drove back to Tampa in time to make the hearing. The judge instructed me to take a 650-question test to determine my sanity. I took it and passed.

But the judge and the Vikings still weren't sure I was okay. They wanted some guarantee I wouldn't do something crazy. "I'm a changed man," I told them. "Trust me, I won't let you down."

They insisted I enter the Hazelden Foundation Clinic in Minnesota to go through a six-week rehabilitation program. So I went. The doctors there ran a series of tests on me to see how bad I was hooked. They wanted to find out how much of the drugs my body had absorbed. When the tests were done, one of the nurses came back to me with the results.

A Turning Point

"We don't understand why you're here," she said. "You have no trace of chemicals in your body." Ordinarily, I was told, it takes months for the body to rid itself of those drugs. God had cleansed my body as well as my heart.

That was five years ago, and I haven't touched drugs or alcohol since. I was reunited with my family and spent another year playing football in the NFL before I was released by the Houston Oilers in 1981. My family and I then returned to Tampa, where I went into the real estate business.

Today I have my own real estate company. I've also started a new career in football. The Tampa Bay Bandits of the U.S. Football League decided I was worth a chance and signed me to a contract. The second year with them, 1984, I was voted the team's most valuable player, and at 35 I've completed three seasons as starting quarterback with them.

Life has changed completely for me since the dawn of that day five years ago, and I'm trying to keep the promise I made then. I'm no longer driving blind, headed for disaster. God put me on a different road and turned my lights back on. ■

Dale Murphy Wins Lou Gehrig Honor

More than one writer has wound up throwing his hands in the air and signing off by saying Murphy is too good to be true.

If Dale Murphy had been playing major league baseball in the 1930's, he would have been recognized as the prototype of the image most fans applied to their athletic heroes.

In 1985, Dale Murphy's image is so above that level that sports columnists invariably find themselves frustrated trying to portray an honest picture of the Atlanta Braves slugger.

More than one writer has wound up throwing his hands in the air and signing off by saying Murphy is too good to be true.

But there is a real life Dale Murphy. He's a non-drinking, non-smoking, non-swearing family man blending a macho physique with the disposition of a Saint Francis of Assisi, the most gentle saint in the early Christian tradition.

That is the Dale Murphy who was an almost automatic, and near unanimous choice as the winner of Phi Delta Theta's 1985 Lou Gehrig Memorial Award.

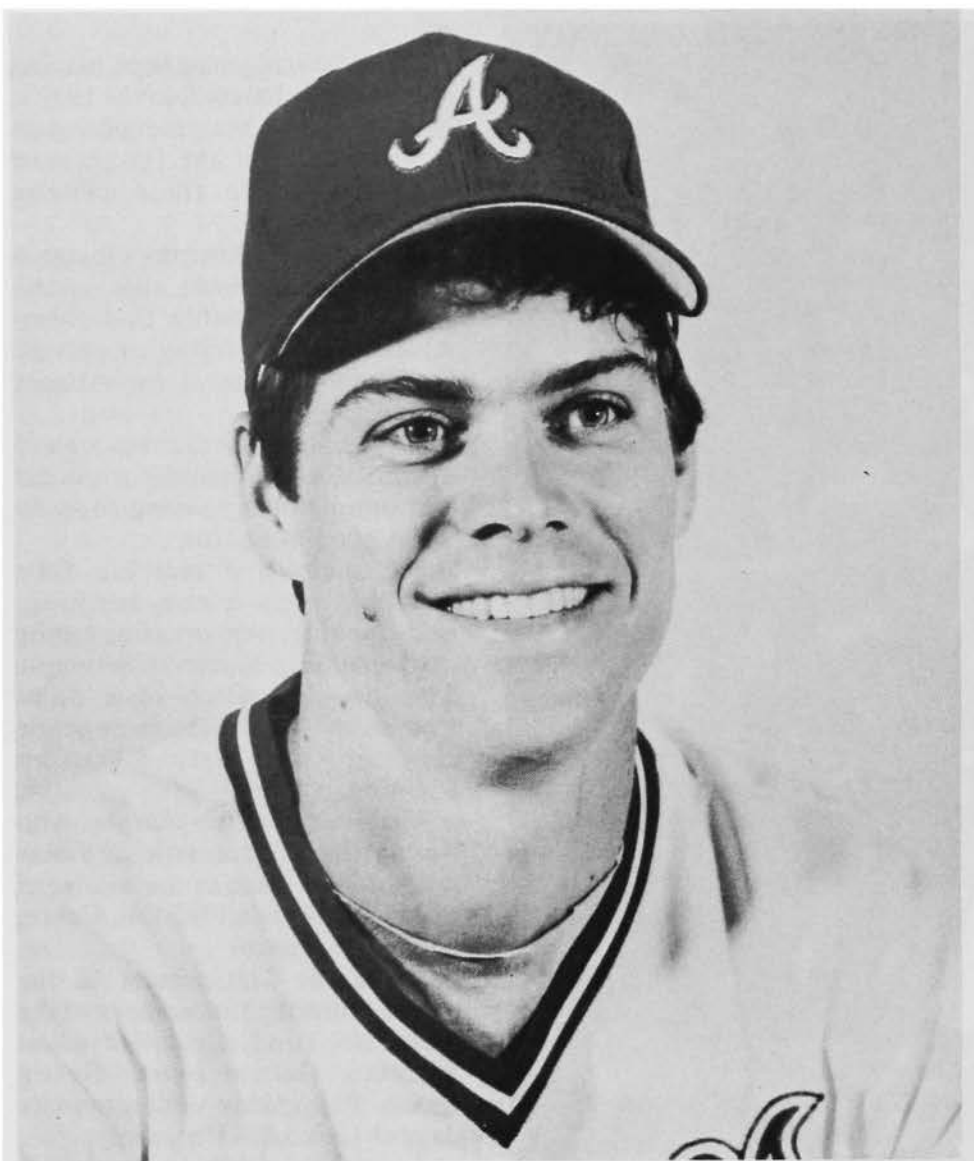

He is the 21st winner of the award honoring the memory of the New York Yankee Iron Horse first baseman. Hall of Famer Gehrig was a Phi in his undergraduate days at Columbia University.

Among the selection committee members casting his vote for Murphy is Ron Cey (Washington State '70), the veteran third baseman of the Chicago Cubs. Winner of the award himself in 1982, Cey joined the selection committee when invited last summer.

"Any award that recognizes my off-field character and activities is very special to me," the 29-year-old, two-time National League MVP said.

"I'm flattered to be considered in the Lou Gehrig mold," Murphy went on. "Many of us in baseball are fortunate enough to win statistical and performance awards. There don't seem to be too many of the other kind.

"We athletes are in a position to be role models for young people whether we want to or not. That responsibility is there and I try to live my life as the best role model I possibly can be. I don't try to force my views on others. But I do feel that the more purposeful life you lead, the more you will enjoy your success."

The cornerstone of Murphy's lifestyle is his role as a proud, active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. He attended Brigham Young University, the school run by the Mormons, as members of his church are generally known.

He is involved in Cystic Fibrosis and Huntington's Disease foundations in the Atlanta area where he resides with his wife Nancy and sons Chad, Travis and Shawn.

In his eight full seasons in the National League, he has established power hitting credentials that will surely carry him into the National Baseball Hall of Fame. But that honor can only come five years after his playing days are over, which perhaps puts it into the 21st Century.

Murphy won the National League home run title in 1985 with 37, after having tied Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt with 36 in 1984. Schmidt was the 1983 Gehrig award winner. Steve Garvey of the San Diego Padres was the 1984 winner.

Dale has shown an amazing consistency in his home run production over the last four seasons having 36, 36, 36 and 37. He drove in more than 100 runs in each of those seasons, his 121 leading the league in 1983.

Murphy was born in Portland, Ore. and his family moved to the San Francisco area for a while, "where Willie Mays was my boyhood idol," he put it.

At that time, Murphy was considered a catcher, but the Braves converted him to the outfield after also trying him at first base. Blessed with speed for his 6-foot-5, 215-pound size, Murphy is also one of the league's better defensive outfielders.

He continues to amaze sports writers with his polite responses, such as "Sir" when being interviewed.

The formal presentation of the Gehrig award will be made early in the 1986 season by an Atlanta area Phi Delta alumni group before a game in Atlanta Stadium.

You can rest assured, Murphy's acceptance will include the phrase, "thank you, SIR."

Marriott Memory Lives On

The business successes of J. Willard Marriott (Utah '25) were duly recorded and repeated in print and on the air at the time of his death on Aug. 13.

But another story, his love of country and his continued efforts to stir a spirit of patriotism throughout this nation should have been told on Sept. 17. On this date Mr. Marriott would have been observing his 85th birthday.

It is significant that John Willard Marriott was born on the anniversary

MARRIOTT of the initial approval of the Constitution of his beloved country in 1787.

Constitution Day and Independence Day were important days in his life. One marks the anniversary of his birth, the other the birthday of the United States of America.

This dedicated American, who ceaselessly toiled to preserve and advance basic, "old-fashioned" patriotism, also perceived the merits of the country's progress in opening new frontiers, such as the space program.

Mr. Marriott provided the impetus for the launching of the Honor America program which had its origin in the "difficult times" of the 1970s when the nation was approaching a dangerous state of polarization between the so-called "hard hats" with their rigid super-loyalty values, and the hippies, yuppies, Weathermen, SDS-ers and similar groups shouting epithets of revolution from the opposite extreme.

Chairman Marriott was the organizing genius in rounding up a bipartisan group of nationally known speakers, religious leaders, entertainers, musicians, legislators and other notables for a massive of patriotism.*

BY JOHN P. COSGROVE,

American Historic & Cultural Society, Inc.

celebration in Washington. The publication U.S. News & World Report noted, "The crowd was estimated at 350,000 to 400,000 designed to praise the nation and its government—rather than to protest its policies."

After that splendid celebration (some say it marked the beginning of the return to patriotism and a renewed spirit to show America's colors), Bill Marriott believed the enterprise should continue as a bipartisan support for the nation's Bicentennial, just six years away. This became another distinguished milestone.

Marriott Educational Award Established

The Marriott family has established an endowed educational fund in memory of their husband and father as a tribute to his respect for Phi Delta Theta. The family has offered to match all contributions received by the Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation from undergraduates and alumni of the Utah Alpha chapter. Of course, all gifts to the Foundation are tax-deductible.

In 1975, formal government recognition of the bipartisan project was achieved by passage of a joint resolution of Congress establishing the 21 days between Flag Day (June 14) and Independence Day (July 4) as a special period in which to pay homage to our country.

In many communities across the land programs were unfurled to Honor America, sparked by Chairman Marriott's letters to members of Congress, governors and mayors, notes to community leaders and veterans organizations. Source material and feature articles were distributed to the media from Bill Marriott on the historical significance of Flag Day and Independence Day. Films and a stereo record album were produced and distributed to schools.

During the Bicentennial year 1976 the Honor America presentation burgeoned into a booming success. (The organization's official name is the American Historic and Cultural Society, Inc.) A glittering theatrical presentation entitled "Let Freedom Ring Again" with inspirational and patriotic themes was staged in the Concert Hall of the Kennedy Center, Washington.

During the 15 years of Honor America endeavors, Mr. Marriott's admiration for the Constitution constantly grew more steadfast. This celebrated document's bicentennial will be marked with a special observance in 1987.

"Designed to weather the most turbulent storm," he wrote in 1984, "the Constitution has been amended and interpreted, but never discarded. The document's amendments reflect the growth of this nation, and illustrates the ability of a republic to correct its inequities without revolution. We Americans are fortunate in possessing a remarkable instrument of government, and the preservation of its fundamental structure is one of our basic responsibilities."

Bill Marriott never stopped loving his country and the opportunities it provided him, born to a struggling sheep farmer in the Marriott Settlement, Utah. His heart condition may have slowed him, but his heart's desire never faltered in his inspired leadership, never losing the touch nor understanding of his fellow man.

Always forward looking, Bill Marriott's last project was to focus on the efforts of our Space Program, in particular the men and women who participated in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration missions starting with Alan Shepard's May 5, 1961 flight, just twenty-five years ago next year.

He wanted to mark the quarter century by honoring American space missions so that generations to come would be apprised of our efforts to circle the earth, walk on the moon, and to work and live in space so as to inspire today's youths on to more successful adventures to benefit mankind.

The Spirit of '76 was born again in Bill Marriott. We who knew him through the Honor America days were privileged to see and appreciate the spiritual and evangelical side of a great patriot, a most remarkable nephew of our Uncle Sam. ■

FORT LAUDERDALE

Over one hundred Phis, wives and girlfriends attended a party sponsored by the Fort Lauderdale Area Alumni Club on Sept. 21. Social Chairman Rick Forum did a marvelous job and everyone had a tremendous time. The party was at the home of Tom Byrd.

HOUSTON

The Houston Alumni Club held its annual Christmas Party for 1985 at the Manor House which is directly adjacent to the Houstonian Hotel. The Manor House proved to be a beautiful setting for our annual party. This is the one time during the year that the brothers bring their wives or dates along, and let them see what it is we are up to at these parties.

The evening provided not only good fellowship, but also an excellent buffet and open bar. We enjoyed chicken and beef fajitas, tacos and nachos. More than one brother was seen going back through the line a third time, but the supply held up and everyone was able to eat their fill.

We are really looking forward to the coming year and know that the Houston Alumni Club will continue to grow in numbers and provide a forum for each of us to stay in touch on a regular basis. If you are not currently on our mailing list to receive party invitations and would like to be, let us know by calling or writing one of the current officers. Any current members who know of other brothers in town who would enjoy getting together with us should likewise get them on our mailing list. The Alumni Club is a way for good friends to stay in touch with each other. The more members involved, the more rewarding it will be for all of us.—Bob Huntley.

PHILADELPHIA

The Philadelphia Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta joined with the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania to host a fund raising Casino Party for Brother Mark Roesser who has been left a quadriplegic as a result of a tragic accident in June, 1984. Wholeheartedly joining in the effort were a good number of new Phis from the just initiated chapter at Widener College.

Mark graduated from Jacksonville University in 1983 where he was president, public relations officer, rush chairman, scholarship chairman, housing manager and pledge class president of the Florida Zeta Chapter. He was also president of the honorary Greek Leadership Society, vice president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, co-editor of Jacksonville University Freshman Record, a member of the subcommittee on finance, a member of the student affairs committee, a student recruiting representative, a member of the alcohol awareness task force; and a senior senator of the Student Government Association.

Of particular significance to all of those attending, was the fact that Brother Roesser was also able to attend the event with his parents and date, a charming young lady who is also his nurse.

Both alums and active chapter members agreed that it was an extremely rewarding experience having been able to work together for the benefit of one of our Brothers to the extent that in so doing, it erased the difference in ages between the two groups.

The club is urging all our brothers to make contributions for the sole benefit of Brother Roesser.

The money raised will be used in order to renovate his home so that he will be able to reside there rather than in an institution.

As an additional incentive in raising this money, for each $5 contributed the name of the contributor will be entered one time in a drawing which will take place on June 2, 1986, the prize being a choice of one of the handsome Phi Delta Theta watches.

We urge you to contribute to this most worthy cause; and, will genuinely appreciate whatever contributions you are able to make. Checks should be made payable to The Philadelphia Alumni Club and mailed to our Treasurer, Maytor H. McKinley, c/o The Oliver H. Bair Co., 1813 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19083.

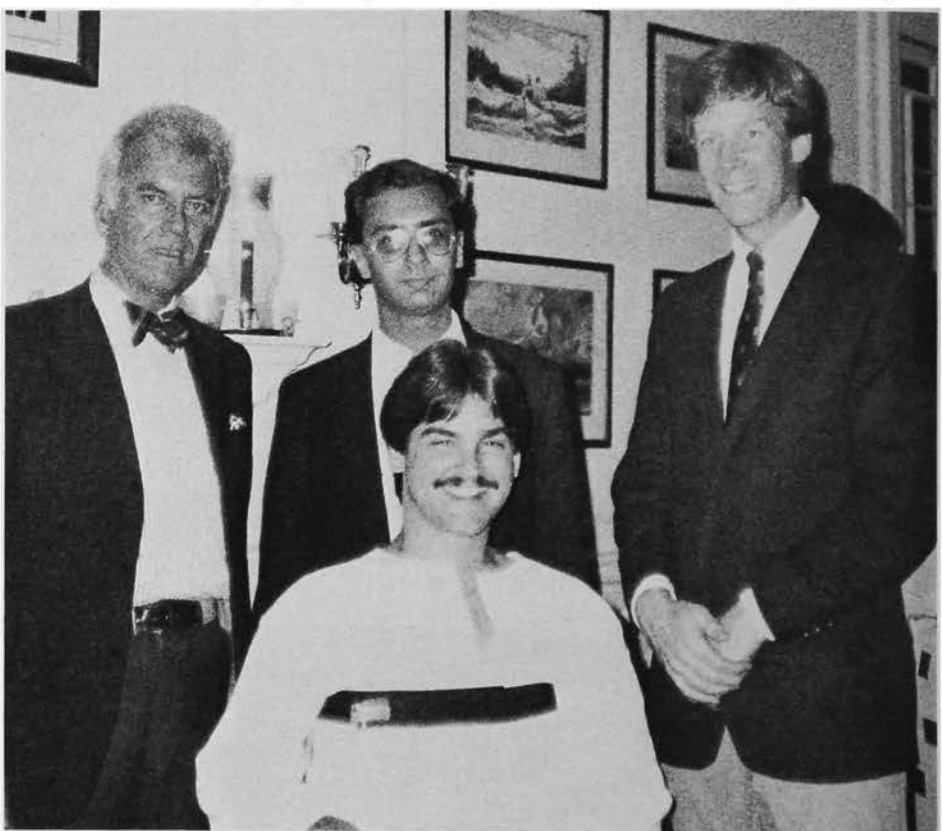

Truly, this is what Phi Delta Theta is all about.

WASHINGTON ALPHA

Phis from the classes of 1940 and 1941 held a reunion Aug. 25-28 at Whistler Village, British Columbia, Canada.

The sun and the moon greeted our arrival and remained with us the full three and-a-half days. But the brightest glows were on the faces of the 51 who gathered from Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California—and those glows preceded the daily attitude adjustment hours.

While many of us had been together over the years, many more were renewing the Bond after 45 to 50 years. By unanimous demand there will be a repeat performance in two or three years.

Al Lomen ('39) received a Phi Delt tie for the Phi who traveled the farthest (Alaska), with John Grant ('41) a close second. Arnie Groth ('41) took gross honors in the golf tournament and Herb Knudson ('41) won lot net. There was a myriad of lesser prizes and the ladies had a full slate of activities.

Hank and Frances Schnebly ('40) won the tennis doubles championship over Paul Sceva ('39) and Haller Peterson, but it took two tie-breaker sets. Sceva took the wind surfing title easily. There were many winners at gondola riding, eating, hiking and shopping.

APPOINTMENTS - MEETINGS - ANNOUNCEMENTS

New Officer Appointments Given

Two new province presidents and two foundation trustees have recently been added to the rolls of the general officers by the General Council.

Beta Province includes the chapters in New York state and Omicron South covers the chapters in southern California.

William K. Block (Colgate '72) has replaced Bob Richardson (Colgate '68) as Beta Province president, while Stanley W. Gilson (California-Northridge '70) has taken over for Don Stewart (Southern California '55) in Omicron South. Kenneth P. Smith (Illinois '38) has become a trustee of the Frank J. R. Mitchell Scroll Fund and Marv Perry (Maryland '53) has become a trustee of the Educational Foundation.

Block is currently the Deputy Commissioner of the New York City Department of Finance. He received his law degree at Albany Law School of Union University, following his graduation from Colgate. He has attended several COAC's, as well as two biennial conventions, while serving as a chapter adviser.

Gilson has also served as a chapter adviser for nine years and has attended several COAC's, as well as the 1984 Convention. As an attorney, he is employed by the California Department of Transportation.

Smith, who lives in the Chicago suburb of Hinsdale, is retired. He formerly was vice president and treasurer, Chicago Extruded Metals Company. He has been a director of that company as well as Tuthill Corporation and Columbia Tool Steel Company. He has also been a member of the Chicago Advisory Board of the Salvation Army and has served as treasurer of the Robert Crown Center for Health Education.

Perry is the president of Marvin

J. Perry & Associates in Kensington, MD. He has served as a chapter consultant, province president and was chairman of the host committee for the biennial convention in Washington, D.C. in 1970.

Tampa Phis Host President

Brothers, Phikeias, and alumni of Florida Theta Chapter at the University of Tampa, combined to conduct the chapter's first community service project of the year, and one of the most ambitious service projects in the chapter's history, by acting as escorts, drivers and advance personnel for President Ronald Reagan's visit to Tampa.

The project which involved over 250 chapter man hours, began when Mike Waldrop ('82), a staff assistant to Tampa Mayor Bob Martinez, was selected to be the city's coordinator for the President's visit.

The visit which was designed to push the President's tax proposal to the senior citizens of the Tampa Bay area, involved Brothers in every area of the visit.

Several Brothers led by Jim McCarthy ('82) were delegated to be the official greeters, meeting both the President's plane and the press and dignitaries' planes at the airport, making sure that everyone was in line to greet President Reagan and making sure that the other dignitaries were at the special conferences held by Reagan during his visit.

Ten other brothers were assigned as drivers in the President's motorcade. As drivers for all the motorcade cars, except the President's car and the secret service cars, these Phis found themselves driving Florida's U.S. Senator Paula Hawkins, and Congressmen Gibbons, Bilarakas, and Ireland, as well as former Secretary of the Treasury (now chief of staff) Donald Regan. As one secret service man said, "these guys drive better than the pros."

Still other members of the chapter were assigned as escorts for the over 30 buses which went to all areas of Tampa Bay to collect senior citizens and drive them to the President's speech, many leaving before dawn to collect their older charges and deliver them in time to hear the President's speech. Coordinated by Jerry Meyer ('83) the Phi escorts were responsible for helping fill the 3,500 seat convention hall for the ceremonies.

In evaluating the visit it was called a "great success" by the President, made possible in large measure by the Phis of Florida Theta. ■

West Texas Phis Break Ground For Lodge

BY GARY CULP

A new era in the history of Texas Theta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity at West Texas State University began Thursday, Aug. 29, 1985, as some 50 Phis gathered for a ground breaking ceremony for a new lodge for the chapter.

This was the culmination of efforts which began as a dream several years ago and grew to a full-fledged fund-raising project at Texas Theta's 20th Anniversary Reunion in August 1984, where $175,000 in pledges were committed.

Since then the project has been expanded through the formation of a corporation, called Texas Theta Partner's Inc., which will own the Lodge and the land on which it sets. The land now is owned by the Monning House Corporation of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. Shares in Texas Theta Partners, Inc., are being sold to generate the required capital to purchase the land from the Monning House corporation and to construct the Lodge.

The site for the new Lodge and where the ground breaking occurred is in an ideal location. It contains 5.6 acres and is located approximately one-half mile north of the WTSU Campus and one-half mile east of U.S. 87 on Hunsley Road. Also, a new by-pass highway around the city of Canyon, Texas, is only about one-half mile to the east.

The exact date to begin construction has not yet been set but will begin as soon as possible. For details, please contact Gary Culp, 3403 Harmony, Amarillo, Texas 79109. ■

Florida Alpha Builds New Wing

On October 12, 1985, Florida Alpha celebrated the dedication of its newly completed wing, and along with it, the dream of many Phis was finally realized. The dedication ceremony was attended by more than 400 Phis and guests.

Brother Hyatt Brown was recognized by the active chapter and the alumni with two plaques for his outstanding dedication to the Florida Alpha Chapter. It was Brother Hyatt Brown who spearheaded the fund raising effort to raise the needed $700,000-plus necessary to complete the new wing. Also, Brother Jimmy Robbins was recognized by the chapter for his part in the architectural design of the new wing.

Brother Jan Smith was responsible for contacting the past presidents of Florida Alpha and putting together a nostalgic presentation reflecting on the history of Florida Alpha. Such presidents as Brothers Paul Singleton, Bill Poe, Jan Smith, Hugh Wilson, and the current President of Florida Alpha's House Corporation Hank Massey gave the crowd much to remember as they recalled moments from the past.

The dedication ceremony was performed by the Treasurer of the General Council, Brother C. T. Bray. Brother Art Sandeen, Vice President of Student Services for University of Florida, gave a rousing speech concerning the chapter's rising scholastic expectations and achievements.

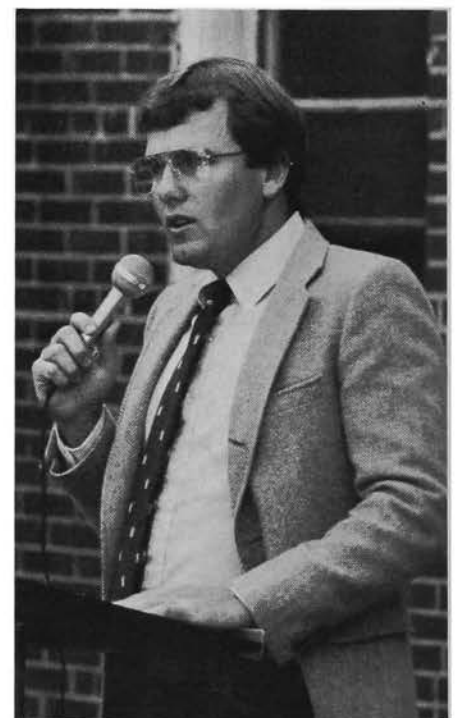

The active chapter, in recognition of their hard work and dedication, renamed the Annual Brother of the Year Award and Phikeia of the Semester Award in the names of Brother Hyatt Brown and Brother Jimmy Robbins, respectively. Although the ceremony lasted longer than expected, the entire event was a huge success.

Current funding for the new wing includes a Palmer Foundation Loan of $100,000, a loan from the Florida Alpha Educational Foundation of $309,005, and a term loan from the Sun Bank of Volusia County for $368,687. The total cost of building and some renovation came to $638,848.92. The chapter also repurchased the chapter house and adjacent parking lost for the sum of $138,844.00.

The chapter also recognized the hard work of the following people: Brother Joe Jenkins, for pro bono legal work and guardian of the funds; Brother Tom Triplett, for his accounting, tax returns and other business-related work; Brothers Tom Fortune and Guy Norris, recent past presidents of Florida Alpha who spent many hours on behalf of the Florida Alpha Educational Foundation; Brother Hank Coleman, who arranged the interim financing of the new wing (Chairman, Sun Bank of Volusia County); and to C.B. Lawrence, the past chapter adviser who helped bring the chapter through some difficult times during the '70s. (C.B. Lawrence recently died and a room was dedicated to him).

Special recognition also went to Brother Chester H. Ferguson for a contribution by his wife to the chapter house. (The dining room was dedicated to brother Ferguson.) Also, rooms in the new chapter house were dedicated to the following people; Bruce, Jimmy, and Joe Robbins, Ed and Tom Triplett, A. Worley Brown, Henry C. Coleman Jr., Cecil Edge, Fred Flipse, Dale Hedrick, Walter McRae, Steve and Bob Powell, James Robinson, Dwight, Paul and Doyle Rogers, Jan E. Smith, and to Hugh Wilson, who requested that the new second floor bathroom be dedicated to him. Brothers Richard Pettigrew, J. Hyatt Brown, and Ralph H. Haben, all past speakers of the House of Representatives of the State of Florida, jointly had a room dedicated in their honor, and likewise is called the "Speaker's Room." Brother Hyatt Brown has recently gone back out on the road to raise funds needed for the second phase of renovation of the old chapter house. ■

FLORIDA ALPHA: Attending the groundbreaking ceremonies were Billy Poe, Hyatt Brown, Mrs. Chester Ferguson and Jimmy Robbins.

FLORIDA ALPHA: The Florida Alpha ceremonies were a family affair for Phikeia Powell Brown and his parents, CiCi Brown and Hyatt Brown.

MIT Wins CSD Beam Trophy

Massachusetts Gamma at MIT has won the Paul C. Beam Trophy, awarded annually for the most outstanding single community service event.

The chapter's project was to construct toy trucks, ships, and airplanes made of wood and give them to local hospitals and underprivileged children in time for Christmas. All items were handmade and all of the brothers participated.

This project was publicized nationwide as the Associated Press and United Press International distributed the story across the United States. Perhaps their efforts were described best by the administrator of Emmanuel House who was one of the many recipients of the toys: "Your gifts of self, prayers, and material assistance has brightened the lives of many children... and helped to alleviate the sufferings brought on by poverty and loneliness."

Equally respectable were those brothers of Arkansas Alpha, whose efforts earned their chapter the distinguished Lubbock Trophy, awarded annually to the chapter with the best "year-round" activity in community service. This outstanding chapter engaged in over 26 projects encompassing the entire school year and summer months.

Among their accomplishments were a "trash pickup," a tea for the elderly, "meals on wheels" for senior citizens, and sponsoring starving children locally and throughout the world. In addition, countless hours and thousands of dollars were donated to five different charities.

Finally, other chapters deserve recognition for their continued and outstanding endeavors in community service. They include: Arizona Beta, Texas Theta, Ohio Alpha, Kentucky Alpha-Delta, Indiana Delta, Texas Epsilon, Ohio Mu, Nebraska Beta, Indiana Beta, Michigan Delta, Kansas Alpha, and Washington Alpha. ■

INDIANA LAMBDA COLONY: The new Indiana Lambda colony at the University of Southern Indiana in Evansville, IN, installed 25 men on Oct. 12. USI is the newest institution in the state having received its independence in 1985 from the Indiana State University system.

Texas Gamma Celebrates Centennial

Texas' second-oldest existing Phi Delt chapter will usher in a second century of tradition at Georgetown's Southwestern University during its Centennial celebration the weekend of April 26, 1986. Most of Texas Gamma's 500-plus living initiates are expected to attend a weekend of festivities highlighted by a banquet and dance at the luxurious La Mansion Hotel in nearby Austin.

Howard E. Young (Southwestern '47) is chairman of the alumni Centennial Committee. Young, of Houston, is a past president of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta (1968-70), and has also served the Fraternity as a province president. He has participated in the installation of many of Texas' eleven Phi Delt chapters. Texas Gamma, as a chapter, has itself been extremely involved with the growth of the Fraternity, having assisted with the installation of chapters at Stephen F. Austin State University (Texas Eta), Southwest Texas State University (Texas Mu), and a recent colony at Texas A&M University.

Three other distinguished alumni—E.L. Kurth, Jr. ('31), Al W. McCullin, Jr. ('54) and Dr. John N.R. Score ('45) comprise the Committee's executive council. Notable alumni of the chapter include the Hon. Joseph T. Sneed ('41), United States Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit, and Henry D. Akin ('22), member of the nationally prominent law firm of Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer and Feld.

Members of the 60-strong undergraduate chapter have created special offices filled by capable brothers to oversee the Centennial preparation process. The event has been made the theme for the school year, and all chapter planning takes into account the Centennial event through an expanded management by objectives program. Texas Gamma has twice in the past five years been a recipient of the prestigious Kansas City Trophy, in 1980-81 and 1981-82.

Texas Gamma was installed April 9, 1886 by a delegation from the Texas Beta chapter at the University of Texas. The group's charter application was granted March 20, 1886, after members of the W.W.W. or "Rainbow" Fraternity rejected a proposed merger of that fraternity with Delta Tau Delta. Texas Gamma existed secretly for over a year because of a faculty prohibition against secret societies. This prohibition was lifted in June, 1887, after members of the chapter petitioned the faculty and a tie vote was broken by the regent in favor of fraternities. Today there are four fraternities at Southwestern, which is the state's oldest University, having been chartered by the Republic of Texas in 1840. ■

RECALLING THE PAST: Howard E. Young (Southwestern '47), past president of the General Council (1968-70), spoke at the dedication of a new bedroom wing for the Texas Gamma house at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas in 1964. Young is serving as chairman of the Texas Gamma Centennial Committee, which is planning the chapter's 100th birthday celebration, to be held April 26, 1986.

Sixteen New Contributors Join Advance Giving Clubs

Since the Winter 1985-86 edition of The Scroll went to press, 16 brothers have joined one of the advance giving clubs.

A Council Associate is a brother who contributes or has had contributed in his name an accumulation of $1,000 to the Loyalty Fund and/or Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation. The John Wolfe Lindley and John McMillan Wilson categories recognize contributions of $2,500 and $5,000, respectively. The prestigious Founders Club designation is awarded to those persons who reach the $10,000 level.

Contributions to the Foundation are tax-deductible and are used to enlarge the endowment for members' services, including scholarships, which totaled over $57,000 in 1985.

The University of Southern Louisiana was returned as a Phi Delt chapter with installation ceremonies taking place on April 13, 1985 under the direction of Bill Stitt, reporter of the GC; Carl Stages, Theta Province president; and Bob Biggs, director of Chapter Services.

The night before, 17 men were initiated into Phi Delta Theta in a ceremony performed by various alumni of the chapter along with Stitt, Stages and Biggs.

The charter of Louisiana Gamma had been removed by the General Council in 1981 and a colony had been formed in 1983. The chapter newsletter described the next three years as being "plagued with seemingly endless roadblocks and days of uncertainty" before the decision was made to give the charter back and install the chapter.

A unique alcohol awareness program was hosted by Phi Deltas at Indiana on Oct. 27 as part of Alcohol Awareness Week at Indiana University. The program involved four "human subjects" participating in an experiment that demonstrated the effects of alcohol intoxication. Phis James Underwood and Michael Kenney were two of the four who participated. Special permission was granted by the university to hold this program.

The four subjects were tested for reaction time and hand steadiness and performed simple "field sobriety tests" which included walking a straight line, finger counting and hand to nose coordinations. They were also given a blood alcohol test. These tests were repeated from a state of sobriety and two times afterward following several consumed alcoholic beverages by each.

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE DAVID D. BANTA LIBRARY

Robert L. Steed, (Mercer '58). WILLARD LIVES!, 1981, 138 pp. Mercer University Press, Macon, Georgia. Given by author.

In 1956 Mercer sophomore, Robert L. Steed, was elected as Editor of the Mercer Cluster, a position previously held by journalistic lights as bright as Jack Tarver, former Publisher of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution; Reg Murphy, former editor of The Atlanta Constitution and now editor and publisher of The San Francisco Examiner; and Bert Struby, publisher of The Macon Telegraph and News. Steed's most enduring contribution to the Cluster and to Mercer was his irreverent and satirical column produced under the pseudonym "Willard Clutchmyer." The column was so well received that subsequent Cluster editors continued to call on him as a contributor. Clutchmyer's down-country and sophomore view of campus life harpooned sacred cows such as the Georgia Baptist Convention, compulsory chapel, and prohibitions against dancing on campus, and tickled other chronic undergraduate obsessions such as the quality of dining hall food, the athletic program, relations between Mercer coeds and Wesleyan students, poverty-stricken faculty, overzealous ministerial students and malevolent Deans.

Although the identity of this literary Robin Hood was known only to a few friends and colleagues, it became widely known in 1960 when Blue Key fraternity published a small paperback collection of a number of the columns under the title "The Best of Willard." The slender volume became something of an underground cult hit and Clutchmyer's irreverent view of Mercer in particular and the 1950's in general lived on in the minds of Mercer graduates, students, faculty and administrators.

John R. Whiting, (Ohio '36). On Deck, 1985, 288 pp. Hearts Marine Books, New York, New York.

On Deck brings the sailor up to date. It is an innovative approach to today's on-board seamanship, or "deckmanship" as the author calls it, which has been so radically affected by the many new space-age materials coming through the boating market. With the introduction of this gear, the boat owner has been obliged to change his traditional approach to seamanship to assure safety and proper operation. As Whiting states: "There have been more changes in the past six decades than in the past six centuries."

Filled with information not found in other books on this topic, On Deck's strongest feature is the more than 250 illustrations that grace these pages. They help produce a book that is at once an owner's manual, a reference text, and a guide to new equipment. It is a book that owners of sailboats and powerboats, big or small, have needed for quite a while.

In these pages are details of such materials and equipment as Spectra-900, Kevlar, Mylar, Vel-cro, braided rope, roller-furling retrieval systems, jiffy reefing systems, anchor designs, electrically operated winches, new metals and plastics, and a host of natural and synthetic compounds that are being found on boats today. The author evaluates these items in the context of seamanship, always with an eye on safety and convenience.

On Deck is a book for all boat owners. Its use will instruct you on how to outfit your vessel properly and how to save money, and its many tips on seamanship may just save your boat or your life.

THE PHI CRIER

IN SPORTS

*The Phi Delt of California State-Northridge have won the coveted All-University Sports Trophy for the 1984-85 school year. The chapter has gotten off to a good start to retain this highly sought after recognition.

ON CAMPUS

*Phi Delt at Lafayette co-hosted a very successful non-alcoholic concert on Nov. 13 featuring the Back Street Band, which specializes in Bruce Springsteen songs. It was held in the school gym with soft drinks served. Approximately 300-400 people attended. The school administration had asked each Greek organization to host one non-alcoholic social function per semester.

*California Theta chapter at Irvine has won the university's Humanitarian Award presented by the administration. It recognizes the chapter's outstanding service to the campus and the Irvine community.

*Casey Cummings ('86) was recently named as the 1985 Northwestern University Homecoming King. He currently serves as chapter president and was a 1984 All-Phi football selection.

*Eric Voulgares ('86) has been named as one of three fraternity members at UC-Santa Barbara to serve on the IFC's judicial board. He is currently serving as chapter president.

*Phi of California Eta have won the overall sweepstakes and been declared Greek Week champions on the University of California-Santa Barbara campus. The brothers did well in all events, clinching the victory during the week's Push Car Relays.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*The Penn Iota brothers, in an effort to save money, have made many improvements on their house with only themselves as laborers. Among the work completed was rebuilding two bathrooms.

*The Oklahoma Alpha House Corporation recently completed renovations and improvements to the Phi Delta Theta chapter house at OU. A new roof was put on, as well as the addition of central air conditioning. The driveway, which had been gravel, was paved, and the kitchen was completely renovated. Plans for these improvements had been in the works for several years.

NEW IDEAS

*The Oklahoma Alpha chapter has initiated a new idea that they feel will greatly benefit their rush program. The pledge class now elects, as an additional officer, a pledge class rush chairman. His job is to help organize and recruit the winter pledge class as well as contact high school seniors that will be attending OU. The chapter feels that the pledge class rush chairman will have more in common with entering freshmen and be able to relate well to these rushers.

*The Penn Lambda Phis, in an effort to increase their campus notoriety have made it their goal to have every brother wear some sort of Phi Delt insignia four days a week. To facilitate this goal, the chapter utilized an alumnus who works in a sporting goods store to furnish the apparel.

*To insure the best communication during rush, New York Eta colony has devised an interview system for prospective members. The interview is similar to a job interview format and the colony reports good success.

*California Theta has acquired a credit card account so that members may pay their bills by charging their quarterly assessments. At each chapter meeting the treasurer brings his credit card slips and machine, and has seen a lowering of accounts receivable.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*The city of Ripon, WI, was building new bleachers this fall for Ingalls Field, but was behind schedule and it appeared that Homecoming would have to be moved. The Phi Delt chapter at Ripon stepped in and contributed 80 man-hours to make sure the bleachers would be completed on time. Homecoming was held as scheduled, thanks to Phi Delta Theta.

All-Americans Head '85 Fraternity Team

Hammerstein, Bruner, Barr and Pinnick were the top choices for 1985. Bruner was the '85 Harmon-Rice winner.

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
(Washburn '38)

The 1985 All-Phi team is paced by a quartet of All-American performers including Mike Hammerstein (Michigan '86), Teel Bruner (Centre '86), Brian Barr (Gettysburg '86) and Jon Pinnick (Hanover '87). Bruner was the Harmon-Rice trophy winner last year.

Hammerstein, a 269-lb defensive lineman, was named to the AP and Football Writers All-American teams. Bruner and Barr, defensive backs, were both selected on the Kodak-Football Writers Division III All-American team. Bruner was also named to the first team GTE Academic All-American team. Pinnick, a repeat selection to the NAIA Division II All-American team at quarterback, racked up 3,202 total yards and 28 touchdowns in a nine-game season.

Aside from Pinnick the offensive first team backfield is loaded with talent. Bill Kaiser (Wabash '86) rushed for 1,488 yards and scored ten touchdowns. Paul Martin (Gettysburg '86) rushed for 1,349 yards and scored 13 touchdowns. Todd Hines (Hanover '86), Pinnick's favorite target and a repeat selection at wide receiver, caught 64 passes for 830 yards and 6 scores.

The first team offensive ends are Marc Bumgartner (Northwestern '87), who had 30 receptions for 388 yards and Rick Reed (Duke '86), who caught 20 passes for 232 yards.

At tackles are unanimous Craig Kennington (SMU '86), who had to sit out last year with injuries after being All-Phi the previous year, and Jerry Varner (Willamette '87), who was the 1985 offensive co-captain and captain-elect for 1986.

At guards are Mike Estep (Bowling Green '87), a unanimous All-Mid-American conference selection whose team was 11-0 and won the conference title, and Steve Hofman (Northwestern '87), a two-year starter on the improved Wildcats and a second team choice last year.

Robert Lewis (Gettysburg '86), an All-Conference selection the past two years, edged John Yale (Northwestern '86), who was lost after the first six games due to an injury, in the closest race for any of the first team positions.

The first team defense is led by lineman Hammerstein. Derek Turner (Baylor '86), All-Southwest Conference defensive back and a repeater from last year, boasted 75 tackles including 9 for losses. Dan Galante (Lawrence '87), a three-time All-Midwest Conference selection, had 95 tackles, 10½ quarterback sacks and

All-Phi Team Dedicated to Murray Smith

BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.
Scroll Sports Editor

The 1985 All-Phi football team is dedicated to Murray Smith (Knox '25), one of the greatest contributors to the sports page of The Scroll some 50 years ago. Smith's name to Scroll readers was a household word in 1928 until 1944, some 15 years. He was my predecessor over 40 years ago.

Smith still resides in Des Plaines, Illinois. Brother George Banta, Jr. invited him to lunch one day and asked him to serve as sports editor of The Scroll. He carried on the duties until late 1944.

At Knox he lettered all four years in basketball and three years in tennis serving as captain his senior year. As an undergraduate he held many offices including president of Illinois Delta-Zeta. He was the Knox delegate to the Syracuse Convention in 1936. He later became president of Iota Province at Mackinac Island and served through the Minneapolis Convention in 1940. His highlight as province president was Knox winning the Cleveland Trophy and Northwestern the Harvard Trophy, both schools from his province. He also has two sons and two grandsons who are Phis.

Smith in 1925

His interest in Phi Delta activities went hand in hand with those of Knox College. After graduation he served as class chairman of his 35th, 40th, 45th and 50th class reunions. He also served as president of Chicago Knox Club, Knox Ambassador and general chairman of the Alumni Fund. His career included 10 years as a newspaper editor and 30 years as executive director of the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce.

In 1968 Knox College honored Brother Smith at commencement exercises with the Alumni Achievement Award. It is only fitting that The Scroll of Phi Delta Theta should dedicate this 1985 All-Phi Honorary football team to Murray S. Smith for his outstanding contributions to Scroll sports readers and the entire fraternity.

5 fumble recoveries. Both Turner and Galante were unanimous choices.

Rounding out the defensive linemen are Randy Sullivan (Willamette '86), a unanimous All-Columbia Football League selection, and Jeff Kershaw (S.F. Austin '86), a four-year letterman who started all 11 games with the co-conference champs. Sullivan also had 96 tackles and 8½ quarterback sacks.

The linebackers are paced by a pair of unanimous SMU teammates—Kit Case ('86) and T. D. Briggs ('86). Case, Southwest Conference "Player of the Week" in a 44-14 win over Texas with 14 tackles, had 105 tackles and two pass interceptions. Briggs, an All-Phi selection last year, had 67 tackles. The third linebacker is Miguel Yanes (Gettysburg '86), captain of an unbeaten team with 106 tackles.

The defensive backfield was paced by Bruner and Barr. Bruner, a two-time Academic All-American, finished his career with 20 pass interceptions. Barr led the nation in NCAA Division III with 12 interceptions this year. Completing the backfield is Matt Grimes (California '86), a three-year letterman and two-year starter, who was his team's second leading tackler this year.

The second team offensive backfield consists of Mike Greenfield (Northwestern '88), Tim Cummings (Northwestern '86), Greg Curtis (Lawrence '86) and Tim McGuire (Wabash '86).

Greenfield passed for 2,152 yards. Teammate Cummings, an All-Phi selection last year, had a total

The linebackers are Jay Todd (Case-Western Reserve '87), who was selected as the North Coast Conference "Defensive Player of the Year" and was named All-Conference; Jay Hermann (Wabash '87), who led his 7-2-1 team with 102 tackles and 2 interceptions; Tim Saunders (California-Davis '86); and Brett Sullivan (Willamette '87). Hermann was also a second team academic All-American with a 3.81.

Saunders and Sullivan tied. Saunders was captain of the NCAA Division II's number one team with a 9-1 record. Sullivan, a second team All-Columbia Football League selection, had 101 tackles, 5 fumble recoveries and 4 quarterback sacks.

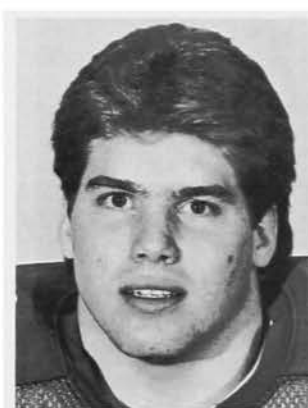

The defensive backs are led by Bob Sell (Lawrence '86), a first team choice last year and an All-Midwest Conference choice for the third consecutive year. He had 52 tackles, 5 interceptions and a 91-yard touchdown punt return. He ranked seven in NCAA Division II punt returns and also scored 32 points as a kicker.

Mark Vincent (SMU '88) and Bob Calamari (Duke '88) round out the backfield.

It is interesting to note that Mike Estep, a unanimous Mid-America Conference offensive guard, and Brian Barr, the Kodak-Football Writers All-American, both missed being unanimous choice by one vote.

Special mention should be given to several offensive and defensive players. Scott Plesha (DePauw '86) had 22 receptions for 305 yards. Jay Poag (Davidson

Legacies Deserve 'Special' Consideration

It is not uncommon at the end of rushing periods for General Headquarters to receive letters of resignation from alumni whose sons have not received bids to pledge Phi Delta Theta.

"Despite the fact that numerous letters of recommendation were received by your chapter, my son was not even contacted by one of your members," writes one father.

"It wouldn't be so bad if you hadn't pledged another boy from our town who has terrible grades but was a football hero. My son was a National Merit Scholar but he was on the second string of the football team," writes another.

How do our rush chairmen answer these letters? Are the statements valid?

The problem of legacies is one that confronts every chapter. But are they really a "problem?" The general fraternity has no rules in its Code dealing with the treatment or mistreatment of legacies. Perhaps it should.

Legacies are special and they deserve special consideration. "Blood is thicker than wine and undergraduates will learn this when they marry and raise a family," recalls one alumnus.

Through the years the great strength of our fraternity has come from alumni support. The chapter houses and lodges occupied by our chapters are but one tangible piece of evidence of that support. There have been periods of history, like the Great Depression, in which our fraternity could not have survived without the support and involvement of our alumni. The sons and brothers of our alumni are special.

What type of special consideration do they deserve?

First, the recommendations written to a chapter about them should be acknowledged twice—once when the recommendations are received and again after rush is concluded.

Second, they deserve priority consideration. They need to be invited to functions and contacted by members. When they attend functions they need to be welcomed and members need to make an extra effort to meet them and visit with them.

Third, they should be given more consideration than the average rushee. The chapter needs to go the extra mile and invite them back to functions even when their status is questioned by various members. All things being equal, the legacy should have the first consideration.

If each chapter would follow these three recommendations two things would probably happen.

1. Chapters would pledge more legacies.

2. Even if the legacy was not offered a bid, the chapter's rush chairman could face the aftermath with a clear conscience, knowing that his chapter had properly met its responsibilities.

One more thing might happen if chapters met their responsibilities toward legacies. Alumni support to build new houses or refurbish old ones might increase.

Chapters should not carelessly throw away the loyalty and devotion of its alumni by rejecting a legacy without proper consideration.

A legacy does not deserve a bid. He deserves priority consideration. After that consideration is given, decision as to whether or not to offer a bid is still in the hands of the chapter. ■

Tech's Gerald Myers A Refreshing Success

A coach who refuses to compromise his integrity won the Southwest Conference Tournament for the second year in a row despite losing all five starters from his '84-'85 team.

At a time when cheating seems to be the rule rather than the exception in college athletics it is refreshing to know that there are still coaches who can be successful without compromising their integrity. One of these is Texas Tech's Gerald Myers (Texas Tech '59).

Bobby Knight of Indiana has called him one of the top four coaches in the nation.

He has become the winningest coach ever in Texas Tech history during his 15½ years as head coach with a record of 275 wins and 170 losses. In that time he has won two Southwest Conference championships and two SWC tournaments, the latest being this past spring.

His 1985-86 Red Raider team came out of nowhere in the final two weeks of the SWC regular season and blew right through the SWC Post-Season Classic field, posting upsets throughout.

This was to have been a rebuilding year for Myers following his 1984-85 SWC title and tournament championship. He lost all five starters from that 23-8 team.

"Nothing could take the place of last year," said Myers, "but this season is just as special because we didn't expect to be here. I've never had a team come farther from the first of the season than this one. I couldn't be prouder of this team for coming back from a losing record and making it to the NCAA playoffs."

The Raiders lost a 70 to 64 thriller in their playoff game to Georgetown.

One of the amazing things about his record at Texas Tech is the fact that he has had only one legitimate "big man" during all this time, a center named Rick Bullock who played on Myers' first SWC championship team in 1973.

Texas Tech plays its game in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum, built in 1965, and in sad need of repair. It is a recruiting liability. Lubbock's isolated location in West Texas makes it hard for Myers to recruit outstanding talent from metropolitan areas like Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Insiders also insist that part of his recruiting problems stem from the fact that he follows the rules. He has never promised a player anything but a chance to play basketball and get an education. If they have their hand out, they have come to the wrong place.

Myers has been criticized by those who say he teaches slowdown, boring basketball. But he basically has the same theories as coaches like Knight and Eddie Sutton of Kentucky, but has a lot less to work with.

He takes the talent he has and makes the most of it—year after year. His teams play a structured offense and tight, fierce man-to-man defense. If he has the fast-break opportunity he will take it. Otherwise, he wants to take the best shot possible. His teams are sound fundamentally and, like their coach, they are well disciplined.

Four years ago Myers kicked three of his better players off the team for violation of team rules. He never looked back. This left him with eight players and he paid the price with a 7-9 SWC record—his worst season and only season below .500.

But those eight players, mostly freshmen and sophomores, grew up and matured. They formed the backbone of last year's championship team.

Myers grew up about 150 miles north of Lubbock in Borger. He was an all-state guard and earned a spot on the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star team in 1955. He went on to become the first Tech athlete to earn All-SWC honors in any sport in 1958 when he was named to the elite squad. He also received honors on the UPI "Little Man's All-America" squad, was All-District VI and All-SWC Tournament. He still holds the Red Raider record for free-throw percentage in a season with 86.9 percent accuracy.

After he graduated he became an assistant high school coach at Lubbock's Monterey High School. After one year as an assistant he was named head coach and compiled a record of 150-53 over the next seven years. Then he spent three years as head coach at Houston Baptist College coming to Tech as an assistant to Bob Bass in 1970. Bass resigned to return to the pro ranks mid-way through the 1971 season and Myers was named head coach.

The 50-year old coach has authored numerous articles for basketball publications around the country and is a frequent speaker and clinician at camps and seminars. He has represented the United States as a coach and teacher of the game on several occasions. In 1976, he was selected to conduct a series of clinics in Germany by the U.S. Air Force and in 1977 he conducted clinics in Peru as part of the Partners of America program. He also was chosen to coach a United States All-Star team on tour in Russia during the summer of 1978. He currently serves as a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches Board of Directors. He is also a member of the All-Phi Basketball Board.

He has had offers to leave Texas Tech. Four years ago he was offered the head basketball job at Iowa State. "He just couldn't bring himself to leave Texas Tech," said former athletic director John Conley.

"Basically, I've been happy here," Myers says. "It gets frustrating not being able to recruit with the big schools but we do OK. All you have to do is get a player out here and he sees how great Tech can be."

It was once said that Gerald Myers has three loves: his wife, his sport and his school. Throughout 23 years of coaching basketball, he's remained true to each. ■

Wright Hobson Named Gardner Winners

W. Richard Wright (Akron '37) and Howard A. Hobson (Oregon '26) are the 1984 and 1985 winners of the Raymond L. Gardner Award, named for a former member of the General Council from Seattle.

BY WILLIAM R. RICHARDSON
Director of Alumni Services

W. Richard Wright (Akron '37) and Howard A. Hobson (Oregon '26) have been named as 1984 and 1985 recipients of the Raymond L. Gardner Award.

The Gardner Award was established by the Seattle Alumni Club in honor of Raymond L. Gardner (Washington '18). He was a Seattle civic and business leader who served as chapter adviser for Washington Alpha, province president, and finally, member of the General Council from 1952 to 1956, when he retired due to ill health.

The award is given annually to an alumnus for his contribution to Phi Delta Theta, higher education and community life, and honors those alumni who have brought prestige to the fraternity through their activities.

W. Richard Wright, the 1984 recipient, has spent a lifetime as a civic, educational and fraternity leader. Although now retired from his post as assistant to the president of the University of Akron, Dick has continued his traditional involvements and efforts for the betterment of every group of which he is a part.

Brother Wright's support of Phi Delta Theta and the fraternity movement clearly demonstrates that Greek life is not a mere campus interlude. As an undergraduate, Brother Wright held numerous offices including that of chapter president for the Ohio Epsilon chapter. In the years following graduation, Dick has served as chapter adviser, faculty adviser, and two different terms on the House Corporation. He is currently helping the House Corporation in their fund raising efforts to renovate the chapter house. Beyond these efforts to help the undergraduates, Dick has also found time to serve two terms as president of the Akron Alumni Club.

Phi Delta Theta is not the only fraternity that has benefited from Brother Wright's promotion of Greek life. His interfraternity work has included serving on the Akron Alumni Interfraternity Council as well as the Faculty Fraternity Advisory Council.

Dick Wright has been referred to as the University of Akron's best ambassador. For over 30 years, Dick has been involved in promoting the University. This involvement has included serving as both area and national fund drive chairman, member of the University of Akron Alumni Board, and two terms as the president of the Alumni Association. His biggest contribution, however, may have come from his efforts working with the state legislature to promote not only the University of Akron but higher education throughout the state.

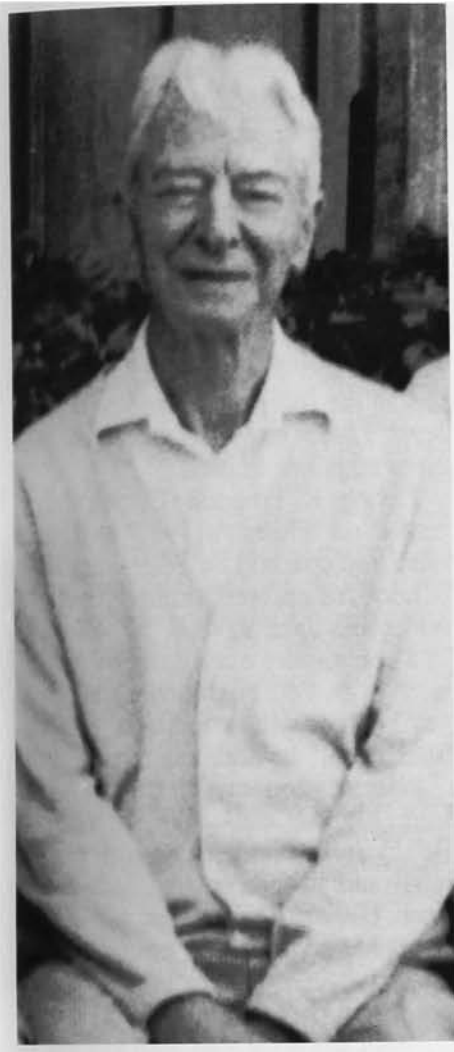

Wright's service to his state and community goes far beyond Phi Delta Theta and the University of Akron. His civic involvements include numerous positions within the First Congregational Church of Akron, past president of the Akron Downtown Kiwanis Club, founder and first president of the Akron Round Table, member of State and Mental Hygiene Association, member of the White House Conference on Libraries for Ohio, and chairman of the All American Soapbox Derbies.

No article about Richard Wright could be complete without mentioning his dedicated efforts to the Youth Services Advisory Board. Appointed by Governor James A. Rhodes, Brother Wright served as the first chairman of the Youth Services Advisory Board. The purpose of this board was to evaluate the services of the State of Ohio relative to its delinquent children and youth. As a result of the leadership demonstrated by Brother Wright and his many hours of public service, the youth services of the State of Ohio were upgraded to the extent that they became models of reform for other states. Because of these efforts Dick Wright was named to the Ohio Commodores Association which is considered Ohio's highest honor.

Howard A. Hobson, the 1985 recipient, is truly a legend in the world of basketball. Following graduation from the University of Oregon in 1926, Hobson went to a series of coaching and teaching positions in Oregon, Washington, and New York. He completed his masters degree at Columbia University before returning to the University of Oregon in 1935 as head coach of basketball and baseball and assistant professor of physical education. He stayed at the University for 12 very successful years, which included taking the Oregon "Tall Firs" to the very first NCAA basketball championship.

Hobson left Oregon in 1947 to become head basketball coach at Yale University. He took Yale to the Ivy League Championship in 1949 and secured the first invitation to an Ivy League school to the NCAA Tournament that same year. While at Yale he completed the requirements for his doctorate at Columbia and published the results of his thesis research as Scientific Basketball, a book which had a profound impact on the game. His teams pioneered intersectional basketball and he was the first basketball coach to win major conference titles on both coasts.

Hobson was named to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame for his contributions to the game. He is a former chairman of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee and the past president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Brother Hobson's achievements however, are certainly not limited to the basketball court. His civic involvements have included serving as director and program chairman of the Rotary Club of Portland (the third largest Rotary Club in the world), member of the Oregon Community Foundation, member of the Oregon Historical Society, Masonic Order Af and Am, member of the Waverly Country Club, and serving on the very first National Fitness Council created by President Eisenhower. Because of these involvements, Brother Hobson was awarded the Opera Watzek Award in 1977. This prestigious annual award given by Lewis and Clark College is presented to outstanding citizens "who have pioneered in their respective fields of endeavor and because of whom the Pacific Northwest, particularly the State of Oregon, has become richer."

Beyond all of his coaching, teaching, and other community involvements, Howard Hobson has maintained an active support for Phi Delta Theta. Following his initiation in 1923, Hobson served his chapter as Interfraternity Council member and chapter president. His work for the Fraternity certainly did not end at the time of graduation. Since that time, Brother Hobson has been involved in numerous alumni club functions, has served 14 years on the fraternity's All-Phi Basketball Board, has co-chaired Oregon Alpha reunions, and has been recognized as a member of the Argent Association for his contributions to the General Fraternity's Loyalty Fund and Educational Foundation. Furthermore, Brother Hobson was instrumental in the efforts to re-establish the Oregon Alpha Chapter after it had been dormant for approximately ten years. Without his dedicated effort, the current chapter might not be in existence today.

Howard Hobson, the coach, athlete, and civic leader continues to unselfishly donate his time and energies to exemplify the teachings of the Bond. ■

A Most 'Unforgettable Character'

Jack Bushman (LSU '40) had an amazing athletic career in high school and college. His story is told by Frank Wright (Florida '26). BY FRANK WRIGHT

When Jack Bushman, a very spirited and talented 18-year-old athlete landed at Louisiana State University in the depression era, there was no Phi Delta Theta chapter at Baton Rouge to rush him.

A Phi Delt he had yearned to be. Attaining exceptional stardom at St. Petersburg (Fla.) High School, Jack was the toast of alumni Phis in a strong Phi Delt town.

A very first-rate Phi chapter 150 miles away at the University of Florida saw a lot of Jack as he often went there for regional and state championship tournaments in basketball and tennis. The undergraduates viewed him as the most outstanding Phikeia prospect in years.

Jack, not knowing that the University of Florida was going to offer him the first full scholarship in the history of the school for basketball and tennis, decided to go to LSU as a "walk-on." Baton Rouge was 850 miles from St. Petersburg, and he hit the LSU campus with $15 in his pocket. He spent the first couple of nights at the "Chicken Farm."

He waited tables at the boarding club for his meals, with the agreement from the athletic director that if he made the team in basketball he would receive a full scholarship. His reason for going to Baton Rouge in lieu of Gainesville was the fact that he felt he should challenge himself in "unchartered waters" and to a place where he only knew one person. This manifested the "driving spirit" in this exceptional young man.

What he found at Baton Rouge was opposition to chartering a Phi Delt chapter. For a dozen or more years, a local group had been thwarted. Determined, irrepressible Jack started a new, strong petitioning group. He was told by some officers of Phi Delta Theta that he could not succeed.

He persevered, though, and by the time the next biennial convention rolled around, Jack's prodigious efforts, boundless energy and enthusiasm and "Phi Delt spirit" really paid off. Ninety-three percent of the convention vote at the Old Point Comfort, VA in 1938 was a resounding "yes."

Thus was born Louisiana Beta. Its founder and charter president was an ecstatic Jack Bushman. His dream of being a Phi Delt was realized—and he was Bond No. 1.

This beginning of "The Jack Bushman Story" is from very close personal experience. I was the young sports publicity director at U of F at the time; also chapter adviser of Florida Alpha, which wanted so very much to pledge the extraordinary young man. I also was a province president of the fraternity and in position to assist Jack in reaching his goal. Before he ever became a Brother in the Bond, he had "Phi Delt Spirit" as exuberant as I had ever known.

One early achievement of Jack's must always be remembered. I wrote the story from the gym after the 1935 State Basketball Championship game. It had never happened before and has not occurred since, but, this night, every sports writer, every coach at the tournament, all the officials, gave Jack a No. 1 ballot vote...an absolutely unanimous decision for the remarkable young forward, which made him the All-State captain.

Later he would be named to St. Pete's all-time basketball team by Jeff Mosher and Pete Norton, sports editors of the Independent and St. Petersburg Times newspapers, which was quite an honor in itself.

George R. Trogdon (Florida '26), a center on Florida's 1927 basketball team and coach at St. Petersburg High School remembers Bushman well. "I remember Jack so well, 54 years ago as a sophomore out for the basketball team at St. Pete High School, and two years later as the captain of the All-State team," he said.

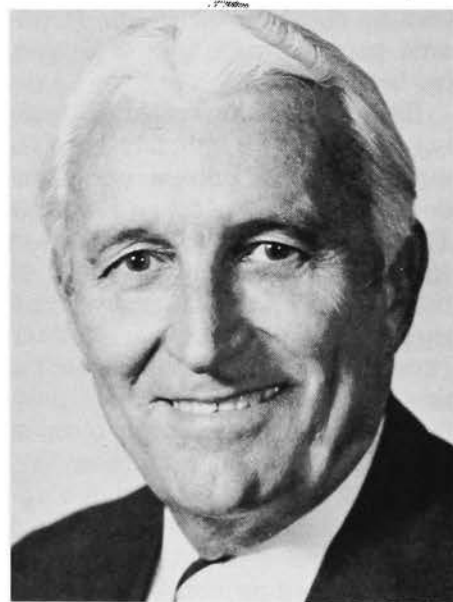

"He was too small to play in college, but he did—and so well. If Bobby Jones had been a tennis player, he would have been like Jack Bushman. He was the greatest kid I ever coached and pound for pound he may well have been the greatest high school basketball player ever!

"Jack has done well with keeping in touch with old friends, and always sees all of the good in people he meets along life's way. I've never known him to notice any bad in any of us. When you talk with Jack it is hard not to begin to think that you are an important person. He is a great one to build up one whose future is behind him. He makes you feel proud to have coached someone like him."

At LSU, he went on to many honors, carving a career of great chapter leadership and campus honor. An inspiration to all around him, he captained both the LSU varsity tennis and basketball teams. He won All-Southeastern Conference laurels in basketball and was number two in tennis in the SEC, as well as the entire South.

He was Student Council President and headed the interfraternity Council, as well as ODK Leadership Society.

The beginning of "The Jack Bushman Story" was when I first knew Jack at age 16 and he was St. Petersburg City Tennis Champion—of all ages. During his high school career, he played at 125 pounds. At LSU, his 5'9" frame carried 150 pounds, which made him the smallest player in the SEC. Always dynamic, mentally sharp and physically quick, he so guarded the Southeast Conference leading scorer, Lefty Chatham of Georgia, at the SEC Basketball Tournament in Knoxville, that he skunked the Georgia star without a single point. No one had ever done that. Another record—18 for 18 at the foul line at that same tourney in a game with Tennessee.

He was second in scoring in the SEC in 1938 to Bonnie "Country" Graham. Many coaches and officials concurred that if Jack had played for a team like Kentucky he would have been an All-American. He more than held his own when he played against Kentucky's All-American. He made the All-Phi teams in both basketball and tennis.

During college, Jack toured the U.S. tennis circuit in the days of such greats as Budge, Kramer, Schroeder, Allison, Van Ryan, Talbert, Bobby Riggs, Poncho Sequera, Don McNeal, Frank A. Parker, Bitsy Grant and Hal Surface. He was Talbert's first doubles partner and they were nationally ranked. Twice, in the South, he was No. 1 in doubles and ranked No. 5 in singles.

Jack did so much for tennis nationally and in the South, that he was elected into the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame—the first tennis person to be so recognized. Will Grimsley, famous national sports writer for the Associated Press, said he had seen Alabama greats honored such as Bear Bryant, Don Hutson, Willie Mays and Joe Louis, but he considered Bushman as deserving as any of them.

Allison Danzig, the brilliant New York Times sports authority, wrote of Bushman as a top tournament attraction in southern tennis for years. Jack made a great name for himself as tournament director and for his long and diversified service to both the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association and the Southern Tennis Association. He was on the Davis Cup Selection Committee and was vice president of the USTA. He founded the prestigious Blue and Gray Invitational Tennis Championship, which is now known as the National Collegiate Team Championships. Twice, he was captain of the U.S. Junior Davis Cup squads and, through many years, was praised for innovative ideas.

For devoted service, he was awarded the prized William P. Jacobs Memorial Trophy Bowl, which had, in the past, gone only to truly prominent tennis stars. His most recent honor came in November, 1984 when he was inducted into the Southern Tennis Hall of Fame in Atlanta along with Gardnar Mulloy and Alex Guerry. He was a former Southern champion and president of the Southern Tennis Association.

Jack cast his business future with Travelers Insurance Co. and became the first in Montgomery, Ala. to be a Million Dollar Round Table life member and charter member of the Travelers Inner Circle. His gregarious manner, sincere concern for all he related to and a capacity for relentless hard work, assured a very successful career.

Only a short time after graduating from LSU, WWII was upon the nation. Jack served well in the Air Force. Today he's a Colonel, USAF, Retired.

Through the years, Jack was into about everything in Montgomery, as an enthusiastic civic participant and leader. It would take too much to enumerate all his interests.

So many have written so much about Jack that, again, it would be impossible to spell out the hundreds of accolades. Jack as "a great person and one who has refreshing, outgoing per-

Jack Bushman is still working hard on behalf of Louisiana Beta.

"Louisiana Beta is once again the outstanding fraternity on the LSU campus, but has absolutely the worst looking house and facilities on the most beautiful lot of all!" he exclaimed in a recent interview.

"We need to raise $300,000 to renovate and expand the house," he continued. This will be hard to do with only 500 alumni.

"Send your contributions to Robert Sutton, president of Louisiana Beta House Corporation, vice president, Louisiana National Bank, P.O. Box 1511, Baton Rouge, LA 70821. Make those checks payable to the LSU Alumni Federation."

sonality and love for people that is constantly being expressed in unselfish interest and assistance" was the sort of tribute paid over and over again.

Ben Chapman, former major league baseball player with the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers and former manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, described Bushman as "one of the best basketball players in the SEC and in the entire country."

"He was the best little man to play the game during his era," Chapman continued. He was the quickest and fastest player in the SEC and could handle the ball with the best of them. He had great hands and feet and was very aggressive. He was a great leader with exceptional perception, and was a coach on the floor. He had the quickest first step in college basketball and I have never seen a player any quicker than he was in all the years I officiated. (Chapman is a retired SEC and NCAA basketball official). He could have played in today's game with and against the big men.

"When I retired from officiating, Jack took over my schedule. He immediately was recognized as one of the best officials in the SEC. He officiated like he played, always in the right place at the right time."

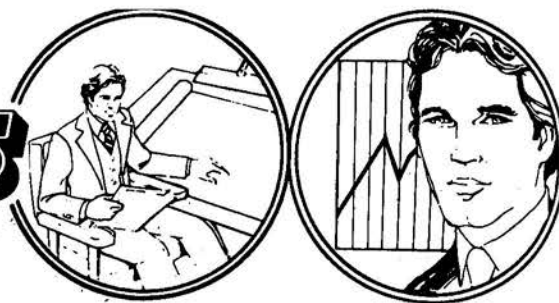

Bushman feels that he "never would have made it in the big leagues in tennis and basketball without the coaching I received in developing a sound base in the fundamentals of the two sports."

"George Trogon was a great fundamentalist and a great coach. Fred K. Stewart, my high school coach, taught me how to be a winner in athletics as well as life, and my mother and daddy taught me about love and concern for others, so I was blessed by learning that when we stop getting better we stop being good!"

In recent years, Jack has enhanced his fundamental religious convictions with a strong and attractive commitment to the Christian faith, done in a way that is without bigotry and allows generous appreciation for folk whose religious views differ from his.

I've not yet written for Readers Digest "My Most Unforgettable Character." When I do, it might well be Jack Bushman.

ALUMNI NEWS

FORT LAUDERDALE

The Phi Delt alumni, led by manager-pitcher Dave Fee, edged the Sigma Chi alumni 12-11 in their annual softball game on Feb. 1.

The Phi Delt had 18 hits to 17 for the Sigs in the seven-inning game. The winners took a 5-0 lead in the bottom of the first. The key hit was John Srofe's two-run double to score Gregg Pangerl and Alan Brady. George Cubas singled to drive in Srofe.

The Phi Delt added five runs in the fifth to take a 12-3 lead. Bruce Quailley has a three-run double during that inning. Sigma Chi, trailing 12-7 in the last inning, scored four runs, but left the tying run on third and the potential winning run at first. Fee was the winning pitcher and drove in both the first and last runs for the Phi Delt.

LUBBOCK

Tio Kleberg ('69), officer and director responsible for the farming ranching and quarter horse operations of the famed King Ranch in South Texas, was the featured speaker at the Lubbock Alumni Club's annual Founders Day on March 6.

Kleberg described his experiences as a pledge and a member of Texas Epsilon and generally discussed what these experiences had meant to him.

He was introduced by Bill Dean ('61), who also gave a report on the current status of the chapter. He is the chapter adviser at Tech.

Others on the program included John Harding ('37), president of Rho North Province, and Gary Phillips ('78), president of the alumni club.

New officers for the club include Gib Weaver ('60), president; Rex Isom ('79), vice president; and Jim Miller ('59), secretary.

The bar-b-que dinner was attended by 100 actives, pledges, and alumni and was under the direction of Jay Beene, alumni secretary.

KEARNEY, NE

The Nebraska Beta Phi Delta Theta Alumni Chapter met for its annual Homecoming meeting and celebration in Kearney on Oct. 19, 1985.

THE VICTORS: Dave Fee, manager of the Fort Lauderdale Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club's softball team, accepts a trophy from Stuart Moore, manager of the Sigma Chi team, after the Phi Delt edged the Sigma Chis 12-11 in their annual softball game.

LUBBOCK: Tio Kleberg (left) ('69) was the featured speaker at the Lubbock Alumni Club's Founders Day. He was introduced by John E. Harding ('37) (right), president of Rho North province.

BUCKHEAD AWARD: Justus C. Martin (North Carolina '46) receives the annual Buckhead Boys award in Atlanta from Marcus Cook (Washington and Lee '51). Martin is president and chief executive officer of the Robinson-Humphrey/American Express in Atlanta.

The alumni chapter meeting was held in the morning at the Ramada Inn in Kearney and was attended by 17 alumni brothers. After the Kearney State homecoming football game, a hospitality suite was set up at the Holiday Inn in Kearney. Many alumni, actives and their wives spent the afternoon and evening at the hospitality suite reminiscing old times.

Several key business items were discussed at the morning Alumni Chapter meeting.

Founders Day for 1986 will be held Saturday, June 21, 1986, in Kearney. The format for Founders Day will be similar to recent Founder's Days with a morning stag golf outing and an evening family bar-b-que. Our past two Founders Days have used this highly successful format. We are looking for even greater alumni participation at our 1986 Founders Day.

Doug Demmel noted a Phi Delt scholarship fund, that very few alumni probably were aware of, had been set up several years ago with the Kearney State Foundation. Alumni chapter members were encouraged to mark their Foundation donations "Phi Delta Theta Scholarship" to build the fund. A committee consisting of Fred Groshans, Greg Hiner and Keith Kilion was set up to identify scholarship qualifying requirements and when it would be awarded. The alumni chapter is very excited about the Phi Delta Theta scholarship, and hopes to award a scholarship to a worthy active chapter brother for the 1986-87 school year.

The alumni/active relationship committee plans several events for 1985-86, including attending active chapter meetings, taking seniors out to dinner to discuss the alumni chapter and providing graduating seniors with employment contacts after graduation. The basic objective of this committee is to improve the alumni/active chapter relationship. All members of this committee live in the Kearney area and include Loren Wiederspan, Larry Dix, Ed Lewis, Bruce Blankenship, Rod Wiederspan, Jim Sajevec and Larry Wiederspan.

The long-range planning committee is beginning work to organize and plan for the 1986-87 Founders Day, during which 20 years of Phi Delta Theta at Kearney State will be celebrated. Members of this committee include Mark Shada, Bruce Blankenship, Terry Sheen, Tim Shada and Tim LaGreca.

Alumni chapter officers were also elected for 1986. New alumni chapter president is Fred Groshans and the vice president will again be Loren Wiederspan. Doug Demmel will again serve as secretary and Larry Dix will remain as treasurer.

Nebraska Beta Phis interested in becoming more involved in, or obtaining additional information about, the Nebraska Beta Phi Delt Alumni Chapter should contact Fred Groshans, 1320 South 32nd Street, Lincoln, Nebraska 68510 or Larry Dix, 1210 East 33rd Street, Kearney, Nebraska 68847.—Douglas M. He said there are 1,100 alums in the greater Oklahoma City area, and the association hopes most will join.

In addition to social functions, Stallings said the association recently helped the Oklahoma University Phi Delta Housing Corporation renovate the OU Phi Delt house. "And the Oklahoma State University Phi Delt, have erected a new house," Stallings added. "And I'd like to see the alumni take an interest in what is going on plus have a good time at our social outings."

Other officers for the alumni association are Jack Mildren ('72), president; Steve Aycock ('72), treasurer; Frank McGuire ('68), program chairman; and the board of directors are Rusty Loeffler ('70), Tommy Moran ('68),

SANTA CLARA
As the active chapter has progressed so has the Santa Clara Alumni Association.

New blood has been pumped into the board and this led to the first annual Cal Iota Summer Picnic in July, production of a newsletter and a yearly calendar of events.

Closer relations and a more active approach by the alumni we feel will allow the Cal Iota chapter to reach new and greater goals.

Recently the alumni continued their dominance over the active chapter on the athletic field.

The undergraduates were stunned on the gridiron by the rushing touchdowns by Mike "Heisman" Tognotti and Jerry McKinney and wrapped up by a stingy alumni defense spearheaded by Paul Parenti, Bill Ogura, and Rich "the Mac Attack" McNeese. The undergraduates wilted under the pressure to lose 13-12. Next up, basketball.

During the upcoming semester the alumni association and active chapter alike will be gearing up for another Founders Day dinner at the TollHouse in Los Gatos. Anybody having any questions should contact the most helpful and gracious Mario Osuna.

Albert W. Bates Honored By Oregon Beta

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity of Oregon State University honored Albert W. "Al" Bates ('29), last Homecoming as its chapter Man of the Year.

Over the years, former newsman Bates, has been one of the best in supplying the Oregon State with news of other alumni, particularly in southern California.

During that time, he has said little of himself, but with his honors this fall came a report in the Oregon Beta Star, the OSU Phi Delt publication, with details of a very interesting, varied career.

After making his mark as a student and football player at San Bernardino High School in southern California, he had a career at Oregon State that included top jobs at the Barometer and The Beaver yearbook. He also worked on the Oregon State Monthly, the OSU alumni publication of the day.

He served as president of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in commerce, and president of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity.

His Sigma Delta Chi chapter brought home the Beckman Trophy for the best all-around chapter in the nation. It was the first time such an award went to any chapter west of Iowa. Interestingly, Bates spent five years after graduation as executive secretary of the prestigious journalism fraternity, which was based in Chicago.

For the next 25 years, Bates worked in different areas for Swift & Company, Castle Cooke public relations in Honolulu, as editorial director for Whitaker & Baxter, Chicago, with an important campaign for the American Medical Association for voluntary health insurance, and 1950-61 as a public relations consultant in New York City and Washington, D.C.

From 1961-72 he was editorial page editor, chief editorial writer and special feature writer for the Orange Coast Daily Pilot, serving half-a-dozen communities. The paper was awarded first prize for best editorial page for 1968 among 159 daily newspapers of all sizes by the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

In his final year before retirement in 1973, he was on special assignment to the Postmaster General, Washington, D.C., to determine communications problems of the U.S. Postal Service and help avoid a crippling postal workers' strike.

As a public relations man, Bates had many interesting experiences. In 1937, he represented Swift & Company as advance man in Hollywood for a tour of the winners of a national contest. But the Chicago agency had failed to arrange for any movie stars for the big opening banquet. He produced Andy Devine and Hal Roach's "Our Gang Comedy" children. He then obtained sheet music so child-star Darla Hood could perform without pay to say thanks for their entertainment earlier at Swift headquarters.

One of his major contributions as a student certainly was his part in bringing about the change in general usage of the college's name from Oregon Agricultural College to Oregon State College.

Bates was campus and Corvallis correspondent for the Portland Oregonian, which had used the news dateline "Oregon Agricultural College" for many years.

Correspondent Bates pointed out to the editors that, actually, the official name was "Oregon State Agricultural College." So, they were not using the correct name at the time. He emphasized that the School of Agriculture was only one of 12 schools in the college and such special mention to one school was unfair to the other 11. He noted other states had changed. For example, it was Washington State College.

The editors agreed and the new dateline became "Oregon State College." Also, any reference to "Oregon Aggies" was dropped and "Oregon State Beavers" became the prevailing nickname. It followed that the OAC Alumnus became the Oregon State Monthly.

Oregon State ties have remained close for Bates. His daughter Lynn Bates Bryan is Oregon State class of '59 as is her husband Michael. They live in Etna, Calif. Everyone was on campus last June for the graduation of son (and grandson) Scott Bryan, '85.

APPOINTMENTS - MEETINGS - ANNOUNCEMENTS

Liability Issue Dominates Meet

The question of liability and liability insurance for the general fraternity and its chapters dominated a two-day General Officers Conference in Atlanta on Feb. 22-23.

Stan Brown, housing commissioner, introduced the topic at the afternoon session on Feb. 22 and discussed the background of the fraternity's liability and house insurance programs. He discussed a housing survey being sent to all house corporations.

Rusty Richardson, director of alumni services, then reported on current developments regarding liability coverage. The cost of the package in 1984-85 was $80,000. This year the cost has jumped to $167,500. This has increased liability coverage per member from $12 to $25. While considering a number of future options the General Council is seriously concerned about the use of alcohol in each chapter in relation to the laws of the state in which the chapter is located.

Future direction dictates that new policies be put in place regarding the use of alcohol. Chapters must conform to the laws of their states or provinces in regard to the use of alcohol or they are not insurable. Considerable time was spent answering questions about the coverage.

Bob Dinkel, president of the GC, opened the morning meeting on Feb. 22 and John Budack, president of Epsilon South, read the Bond.

Billy Stitt, reporter of the council, discussed the activities of the council this biennium. He had previously given each person a written copy of his report.

Tal Bray, treasurer, reported on the finances of the fraternity. The bookkeeping function of the fraternity is now on computer at general headquarters. He reported that the Council was considering asking the General Convention this summer for an increase in initiation fees to cover future costs in the area of liability insurance. A great deal of the increase would be used in supplying each new initiate with a shingle and a badge. The consensus of the general officers was that any initiation fee increase should be supported by showing the Convention exactly where the money was going and why it was justified.

Later, at a special council meeting, it was decided that the shingle and pin would be presented to the Convention as an option only.

Phi Delta Theta's initiation fee is currently at the low end of fees charged by other major fraternities. The fraternity, unlike most of its competition, does not charge annual membership fees after initiation.

John Poole, chairman of the Survey Commission, announced that four chapters had been colonized and installed since his last report a year ago. They include Southwest Missouri State, Rochester Institute of Technology, Texas A&M and Widener University.

Colonies currently exist at the University of Southern Indiana and University of the Pacific. West Chester in Pennsylvania, Marshall University and the University of California-Riverside have invited Phi Delta Theta to colonize.

Phil Young, trustee of the Palmer Fund, reported that the interest rate on first mortgage loans has been raised to 10%. Second mortgage rates will be 8%.

Laird McGregor, chairman of the Educational Foundation, reported on solicitation efforts of the fraternity. Phi Delta Theta has embarked on a cumulative giving program whereby a person is recognized for this total giving.

Bob Biggs, director of chapter services, discussed the leadership workshop to be held at the Toronto Convention. He asked for facilitators for each topic.

Grant Loree, province president of Alpha North which includes Eastern Canada, also discussed activities planned in Toronto this summer.

Following the liability discussion in the afternoon the officers heard from Glen Cary, public relations commissioner. Included in his report were brief presentations by Brian Dunn, philanthropic projects chairman; Cline Young, community service chairman; and Bill Dean, editor.

Reports were also given by Bruce Thompson, legal commissioner; Hal Minnich, finance commissioner; and Ed Whipple, scholarship commissioner.

Thompson also discussed the liability coverage problem and urged the fraternity to outlaw open bars inside fraternity houses or lodges.

Whipple discussed the development of the scholarship chairman's manual, a scholarship newsletter and increased communication with chapters concerning the development of scholarship programs in the chapter and with the pledge class.

Additional discussion on insurance liability and alcohol took place on Sunday morning.

Oliver Samuel, chairman of the search committee for the general council, reported that Stitt, Bray, Turner, Frank Abernathy, John Srofe and McGregor had consented to run for the council.

Biggs reported on the work of the Code Review Committee that will make recommendations to the General Convention on changes in the code.

Dinkel announced that a new award for community service had been added by the council. The new award will be the Stanley D. Brown Trophy, named for the man who initiated the community service day concept to the fraternity. That trophy will be given to the chapter with the best one-day community service project. The Paul C. Beam Trophy will now go to the chapter with the best philanthropic activity. The Lubbock Trophy will continue to be given to the chapter with the best year-long community service program.

Hal Minnich, finance commissioner, reported on the assets of the fraternity, which include the general fund, the Mitchell Fund, the Palmer Fund and the Educational Foundation.

The conference concluded at 11 a.m. on Feb. 23. ■

A DAY ON THE "HILL": Arizona Senator Dennis D. DeConcini (Arizona '58) visits with Robert J. Miller (New Mexico '50), executive vice president of the fraternity, during a visit in the Senator's office on Dec. 5. On that day Miller visited with Phi Congressman Berkley Bedell (Iowa '44), Iowa; D. Douglas Barnard (Mercer '43), Georgia; James C. Slattery (Washburn '70), Kansas; and Wyche Fowler (Davidson '62), Georgia. He also visited the legislative assistants in the offices of Senators Samuel A. Nunn (Georgia Tech '60), Georgia, and J. Bennett Johnston (Washington and Lee '54), Louisiana. The purpose of the one-day visit was to discuss with Phis in Congress proposed legislation affecting the fraternity system.

The 20th Edition of "The Baird's Manual" is scheduled for release in mid-1986. First published in 1879 by Wm. Raimond Baird of BOII, this valuable tool is full of vital information on every type of college fraternity.

Alcohol 'Pictures' Banned

A policy outlawing the use of photos that "appear to glorify the use of alcohol" in The Scroll was adopted at the General Council meeting on Feb. 20 in Atlanta.

Most of the items considered by the council were routine. They voted to suspend payments to the Mitchell Fund and named Dr. John D. Millett to chair the Code Review Committee for the General Convention this summer. They added Lothar Vasholz to that committee.

The Council approved the possible use of Visa or Master Card in the fraternity's solicitation program. Rusty Richardson, director of alumni affairs, discussed the insurance liability of the fraternity. The decision was made to notify any chapter refusing to participate in the program that the charter is subject to suspension.

The Council declined umbrella coverage for chapters and voted to place premium payments of $55,000 in a trust fund for the immediate future.

They spent time visiting with chapter consultants about their work and the problems they encounter. They voted to continue with five consultant positions for the next biennium.

Plans were then finalized for the General Officers Conference held Feb. 22 in Atlanta. The Council reviewed the work of province presidents and heard a report from Bob Biggs, director of chapter services, on the Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences.

The members removed the charter of Alabama Beta at Auburn from escrow and did the same for Florida Gamma at Florida State but left that chapter on probation.

NEWSFRONTS

Phi Delt at Dalhousie University were directly involved in aiding the province's campaign to get drunk drivers off the streets. The chapter paid for printing 1,000 window posters bearing the impaired driving prohibited logo of the Premiers Task Force Against Drunk Drivers—a stylized cocktail glass overprinted with the red circle and bar prohibition symbol common on highway signs—and the motto "I Report Impaired Drivers" in large red letters.

Members then canvassed south end homes and residences asking householders to display the signs in windows facing streets heavily frequented by the city's large university student population.

The fraternity also purchased a front page advertisement in the student newspaper inviting students to their chapter parties during this year's Winter Carnival and bearing the caution: "If you drive and intend to drink you are not welcome at our parties."

As he lumbers to class, it is obvious he's really BMOC at Wabash College in Crawfordsville, Ind.

Nobody actually salutes the General, but he does command respect.

On cold days, he's one of the happier things on campus.

"General" is the 200-pound, six foot long Phi Delta Theta fraternity St. Bernard, and his life began in the unlikelyst of places—Florida.

"The Phi Delt house underwent renovation four or five years ago and I made a contribution and was invited to the dedication," said retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Earl Johnson, a Phi Delt from the Wabash class of 1938, from his home in Orlando, Fla.

"When I went to the 'GENERAL' house, I looked around and saw no dog there. Our house had always had a St. Bernard, since I was a pledge in 1933. I asked where the dog was and one of the boys said, 'We don't have one.' I told him, 'You're going to get one.'"

And doggone if Johnson didn't keep his promise, somehow finding a St. Bernard breeder in the warmth of Florida. Johnson got the "pick of the litter" when General was five days old, and nine weeks later, in February of 1982, he delivered a 25-pound pup to his old fraternity house.

Four years later and 175 pounds more, General is one of the most popular "persons" on campus, regularly attending sporting and social events, even taking in a class occasionally and sure, his keepers have outfitted him with a little keg for his large neck.

"He's one of us," said Rob Fulkerson, a Wabash senior Phi Delt and General's spokesman. "He knows who belongs here and who doesn't, so he's pretty protective of us," he said.

HALLOWEEN: Phis at the University of Richmond staged a Halloween Party at St. Mary's Hospital for the children in the hospital.

Council Makes Province Changes

Three new province presidents have recently been added to the rolls of volunteer workers by the General Council. They include Rich Owens (Montana '75) in Tau Province, Jim Hizer (Indiana '83) in Chi North Province and Bob Heister (Pittsburgh '76), in Upsilon Province.

Tau Province covers Idaho, Montana and eastern Washington while Chi Province serves the chapters in South Alabama and North Florida. Upsilon Province includes western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

OWENS

Owens is in the hotel management business and has been present at past Phi Delt General Conventions. Hizer, a former chapter consultant, is with the Chamber of Commerce in Daytona Beach, FL.

Heister is the senior law clerk of The Honorable David W. Craig in the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania in Pittsburgh. He received a Juris Doctorate in June, 1984 from the Duquesne University School of Law. He is also a lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

agher, Dudley Phenix, Peter Pollock and Christopher Thorpe.

*Two Phis at the University of Richmond are representing the fraternity in fine fashion. Paul Murrury ('87) has been elected president of the 11-member body IFC and Paul Queally ('86) has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

*Florida Epsilon Brother Michael Fimiani has recently been elected treasurer of the IFC at the University of South Florida.

*Texas Tech Phi Delt Moody Alexander ('86) and Jim Bridgman ('86) were two of 37 students selected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. In addition, Scott Phelan ('87) is a 1986 recipient of the Texas Tech Dads Association Scholarship-Leadership-Service Award from the College of Engineering.

NEW IDEAS

*A unique fundraiser has been planned by the Phis at San Jose State University. Parents will be asked to contribute items to be sold by the chapter at a flea market held on campus.

*The Alabama Beta Chapter at Auburn hired a cab for a few of the social functions held by the chapter this year. The cab was made available for free to any brothers and guests for rides to or from the events.

*The California Eta chapter at UC Santa Barbara has developed an interesting fund raising idea. The chapter will offer oil changes to sorority members for one flat rate, including the oil. The chapter feels there will be good demand for the service.

IN THE COMMUNITY

*The Florida Zeta chapter at Jacksonville University once again held a successful Christmas Tree sale in December. The sale, which spanned the first two weeks of December, was held on school property and yielded a profit of over $5,000 for the chapter. Approximately 950 trees were sold.

*Once again, the Alabama Beta chapter at Auburn hosted a Christmas party for underprivileged children in conjunction with the local Head Start program. The party, which has been held for the past five years, was given for 30 children, and included candy, food, a small toy for each child, and a visit from Santa. The Brothers are planning an Easter Egg hunt for the children this spring.

SCHOLASTICALLY

Alabama Beta raised its grade point average requirement for initiation to a 2.25 this fall. This was enforced with the recent initiation and will continue to be a chapter policy in the future.

CHARIOT RACE: Indiana Gamma Phikeias were the victors in the 1985 Homecoming Phi Delta Theta-Sigma Chi Chariot Race. The race has been held annually for over 60 years.

William Frank McCall, Jr. (Auburn '38). THE ARCHITECTURE OF Wm. FRANK McCALL, JR., FAIA, 1985, 176 pp. Golden Coast Publishing Co., Savannah, Georgia. Given by author.

In the classical tradition, an architect is an artist, a complete designer who makes drawings from practically anything people need to build. Additionally, he is an eclectic whose designs reflect and adapt artistic precedents, especially those of the classical past. This Renaissance concept of design is the tradition in which, for almost 50 years, William Frank McCall, Jr., has practiced architecture.

Can You Dance, Sing, Entertain?

If you are attending the Phi Delt Convention in June, and you sing, dance, play an instrument or have some other specialty, here's a chance to have the pleasure of entertaining your brothers.

On Thursday, June 12, the Phi Frolics will be presented at the first meeting of the convention. All kinds of talent is needed, particularly a quartet who will not only sing at the Phi Frolics but will also be available to entertain before each session and at mealtimes.

We already have Rick Stockstad, president of Pi Province and pianist extraordinary, who will accompany the acts in addition to George Notaras, member of the Survey Commission and accomplished magician, but now undergraduates are needed.

So write General Headquarters or Stan Brown, who is producing the show, and tell them if you're interested. Brown's address is 1890 Marsh Ave, Reno, NV 89509. Then show up for the audition at 1 p.m., June 12 at the York Hotel in Toronto.

The single performance will be at the conclusion of the afternoon session that day. A good time should be had by all!

This monograph spans the long and successful practice of a man whose career began in 1938 and continues to flourish today. Bill Mitchell, a fellow Georgian and an architectural historian with outstanding credentials and a thorough understanding of American decorative arts, has taken this unusual opportunity of documenting an ongoing practice, not only to explore the evidence of Frank McCall's existing work but also to illuminate the process of his design in the section "The Architect at Work."

In a fascinating introduction Mitchell discusses McCall's background and development as an architect and gives an illustrated analysis of his style. "Residential Design" features forty-nine representatives of the most beautiful McCall homes—with exteriors, interiors, details, and selected floor plans. "Preservation, Restoration, Renovation, and Non-Residential Design" explores additional facets of Frank McCall's work which exemplify the broad scope and influence of his practice. Each of these sections is lavishly illustrated with the color photography of Van Jones Martin.

Architects, historians, and students will appreciate the informative appendices: the list of jobs, The Archi- ecture of William Frank McCall, Jr., 1938-1985; McCall's reference books, The Library of William Frank McCall, Jr.; and, of course, the List of Sources. An index is also included for easy access to the more than one hundred illustrated jobs.

This monograph is about more than architecture—it is about an extraordinary man. As Mitchell says: "Frank McCall's practice is similar to that of a family doctor, a general practitioner in a small town, but with a specialty in domestic architecture—the design of family homes." The population of McCall's southwest Georgia home town of Moultrie is only seventeen thousand, but his practice reaches over Georgia and the Southeast, and his close-knit network of friends and satisfied clients is a remarkable extended family.

In 1916, when Elsie deWolfe wrote: "Select for your architect a man you'd like for a friend," she might have been describing the relationship Frank McCall has with his clients: he becomes a friend who understands their needs, and thus produces works of domestic architecture that are custom-made to fit a way of life.

Bill Mitchell writes: "Frank McCall and his architecture have style, taste, and manners in an age that is beginning to appreciate those traditional virtues again. He and his complete designs have always had those virtues—that they are appreciated again only adds to the popularity of the man and his architecture."

All-Phi Cage Team Dominated By Centre

This season marks the first time in over 40 years of All-Phi basketball teams that there is only one Division I player on the ballot. BY DR. JOHN DAVIS, JR.

The 1985-86 All-Phi basketball team is dominated by five Centre College starters who won the College Athletic Conference with a 10-0 record.

This season marks the first time in over 40 years of All-Phi basketball teams that there is only one major NCAA Division I Phi player on the ballot. It also marks the elimination of a first team and second team. This year the board selected a seven-man team.

Repeat selection Kevin Lavin (Centre '87) paces the team. He had a 19.2 average and 250 rebounds. His teammate, Coby DeVary (Centre '86), had a 12.6 average, 149 assists and his 85% from the free throw line. He was an All-CAC selection the past two years and was the team co-captain. He joins the Fraternity Honor Roll of over 1,000 points with his career total of 1,078 points. He was a

This year's Honorary All-Phi basketball team is dedicated to my Phi friend Terry McAdams (Washburn '47), who for 30 years from his wheelchair as a paraplegic was the Washburn University official scorekeeper. He retired this year.

During this time he was a member of the faculty in the math department and he was a valuable liaison for the Kansas Beta chapter to the university. My personal and the Scroll's best wishes to this dedicated Phi college basketball official on his retirement.

Newcomer Matt Minnis (TCU '86) helped his team to a three-way tie for the Southwest Conference title. His top game was 14 points with 10 rebounds and five blocked shots against McMurray. He also had 10 points, 8 rebounds and 2 blocked shots against Alabama-Birmingham.

A repeat selection from last year's first team is Dave Comber (Lawrence '86), who had a 12.1 scoring average, 147 rebounds and 66 assists. He was voted his team's "Most Valuable Player" and he started 83 consecutive games for the Vikings. His top game was 25 points but he scored 16 on four other occasions.

Jerry Cowens (Centre '86), team co-captain, had a 13.6 scoring average with 153 rebounds. He sat out last year with a broken elbow. Teammate Teel Bruner (Centre '86), a two-time Little All-American defensive back and last year's Harmon-Rice winner, is one of the few two-sport performers in college athletics today. He had a 7.1 scoring average with 110 rebounds and 85 assists. He was also a 3.91 grade average student.

Ted Malkowski (Lawrence '86), team captain with a 6.4 scoring average, rounds out the team. He was a second team choice last year.

For the future a pair of sophomores scored in the balloting. They were Kelly Miller (Centre '88), who started all 28 games for his team, and Tony Schnell (Westminster '88), whose top game for the Ozark Collegiate Co-Conference champions was 15 points against Lindenwood College.

Leadership For A Lifetime

ROBERT J. MILLER, President
Phi Delta Theta Foundation

Thousands of Phis from 171 chapters have answered the Fraternity's annual call for financial support for a variety of reasons. Whatever the reason, the result has been the maintenance of Phi Delta Theta's tradition of high standards and quality of membership.

For those Phis who learned that membership is more than a campus interlude; for those Phis who developed through leadership and participation opportunities; and, for those Phis who discovered that education in the classroom was richly supplemented by the chapter experience, the Educational Foundation was created.

The Foundation offers all Phis an opportunity to preserve the basic principles of friendship, sound learning and rectitude, upon which the Fraternity was founded. Gifts come in all sizes. In fact, the only gift too small is no gift at all. Gifts allow the Foundation to offer improved projects, including scholarships for outstanding students, funds for our vital chapter

There were 3,556 donors who made contributions to both the Loyalty Fund and the Education Foundation in 1985.

visitation program, funding of the David Damaree Banta Memorial Library and support for similar educational endeavors.

The 1985 Campaign

During the 1985 calendar year, 13,605 gifts were received from 9,492 donors. The campaign total exceeded $500,000 as indicated in the report accompanying this article. With the introduction of the Fraternity's cumulative giving program, the recognition clubs now reflect the lifetime financial support of each member. Credit is given for all contributions to both the Fraternity's Loyalty Fund and the Educational Foundation. It should be noted, however, that credit for gifts to individual chapters and alumni clubs is not reflected in this report.

The Founders Club

During 1985, two names were added to the Fraternity's prestigious Founders Club. James C. Holmes (Arizona '51) together with his son, Stephen W. Holmes (North Carolina

'79) joined the club concurrently. James C. Holmes serves as president of Sigma North Province and is chairman of Holmes & Layton, Inc., a real estate appraisal and counseling firm. He was initiated by the Ohio Beta chapter at Ohio Wesleyan University prior to his affiliation at the University of Arizona. While he completed his Master of Business Administration degree at the University of Michigan, he was associated with the chapter on that campus.

After completing his degree in Business Administration at the University of North Carolina, the younger Holmes obtained a law degree from the Detroit Law School and has since become a member of the State Bar of Michigan. He followed in his father's footsteps by obtaining a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Michigan. Stephen Holmes is currently employed by the Chemical Bank in their real estate division.

The gifts of this father-son combination were sufficient to establish a named scholarship in memory of Hiram P. Holmes, (Michigan '17) who was the father of James and the grandfather of Stephen. Hiram P. Holmes, better known as Perry, was active in the real estate business for over fifty years, until his death in 1977. In addition to active membership in the Detroit Alumni Club, he was financial adviser for the University of Michigan chapter over a period of thirty years.

Named Funds

Gifts of $25,000 or more are named as the donor requests, either for himself or some other person he designates. In addition to the Hiram P. Holmes Fund mentioned above, the Foundation was the recipient of a bequest from the Estate of Lloyd I. Volckening (Columbia '18). Even though the charter of his chapter of initiation had been suspended in 1935, Brother Volckening remained loyal to his Fraternity, participating in alumni activities as time permitted. The employees of the Ivers-Lee Company, which he served as president, honored him on his 71st birthday with a testimonial which included the statement, "The words student, Navy veteran, educator, lawyer, inventor, husband, father, community leader, adviser and friend, serve in a small way to sum up a lifetime of dedication to his personal principles, of being a complete American citizen." Brother Volckening was an early representative of the Naval Air Service in World War I, during which time he volunteered for the Free Balloon Service and earned his wings as a dirigible pilot. Following his graduation from Columbia, he studied in the Brooklyn Law School and successfully passed the New York State Law Boards.

Foundation Scholars

Over 350 scholarships with a total value in excess of $300,000 have been awarded. The Foundation scholars have become significant champions of the annual campaign, both in financial and moral support. During 1985, 29 percent of the Foundation scholars made gifts totaling almost $6,000 for an average per donor in excess of $56.00. With continued emphasis in this area, the loyal Foundation scholars are expected to increase their participation percentage to the 75 percent level.

Memorial Gifts

As in past years, memorial gifts played an important role in the fund-raising program. When such gifts are received, they are acknowledged to the donor and recognition of the gift is forwarded to the family of the deceased. A gift in memory of a member or close friend of the Fraternity serves as a lasting testimonial. During the past year, 62 memorial gifts, totaling over $27,000 were received by the Foundation. This figure is unusually large for 1985 due to the Holmes' contributions mentioned above.

Matching gifts are added to individual contributions in determining gift level recognition. A partial list of corporate matching gifts programs is displayed with this article. Total money received in this category during 1985 approached the $6,000 figure. It is believed that this figure is far below the potential. Donors are encouraged to obtain information from their employers regarding participation in this program. ■

Hiram P. Holmes

Perry Holmes graduated from the University of Michigan (1917) and was a captain in the U.S. Army in World War I. He was active in the real estate business for over fifty years, being president of his own company, H. P. Holmes, Inc. until his death in 1977. He was also president of the Detroit Real Estate Board and national president of the Real Estate Counselors and the Institute of Real Estate Management.

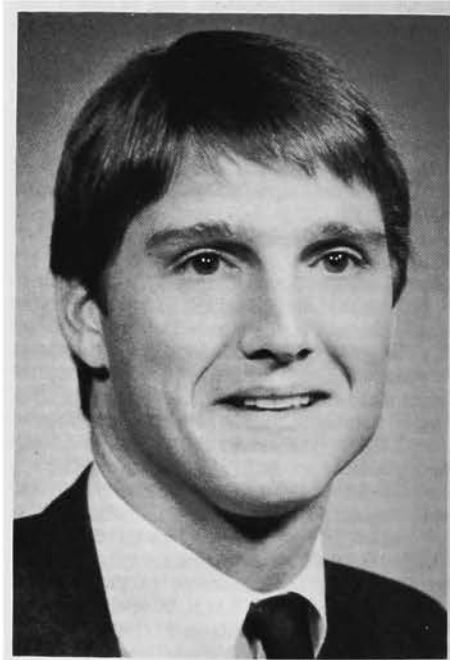

Phi Delta Theta was very special to him. He was extremely active in the fraternity during his on-campus days and was a loyal and active member of the Detroit Alumni Club when it was in existence. He was also financial adviser for Michigan Alpha over a period of thirty years. His son, James C. Holmes, credits his father's interest for his introduction to Phi Delta Theta (Arizona Alpha), and his interest, in turn, has been passed on to the third generation, as his son, Stephen W. Holmes (North Carolina Beta) was elected president of his chapter.

James C. Holmes

Jim Holmes graduated Magna Cum Laude from the University of Arizona in 1951 with a degree in Business Administration, then entered the University of Michigan and received an MBA with highest distinction in 1953. After serving as a 1st Lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War, he entered the real estate business and has spent the past thirty years in real estate investments and appraisals. He was also an Adjunct Professor of Real Estate at the University of Michigan for over ten years. He is currently chairman of Holmes & Layton, Inc., a real estate appraisal and counseling firm, and resides with his wife Helen in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

His Phi Delta Theta activities started with his initiation at Ohio Beta in 1947 and continued with his affiliation with Arizona Alpha (1948-1951). While in graduate school, he was also a social member of Michigan Alpha (1951-1953). He is currently Province President of Sigma North, which includes four Phi Delta Theta chapters in the state of Michigan.

Stephen W. Holmes

Stephen was a Cum Laude graduate of Cranbrook School (1975) in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, and attended the University of North Carolina as a Morehead Scholar finalist, where he was active in intramurals, was a resident advisor and was elected president of his fraternity, North Carolina Beta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta. He received a degree in Business Administration (1979), and subsequently completed graduate study at University of Detroit Law School (1982) and became a member of the State Bar of Michigan, followed by two years at University of Michigan where he received his MBA (1984). Stephen is currently living in Manhattan and working for Chemical Bank in their real estate division.

Let's Celebrate the Texas Sesquicentennial

Ned Bosnick (Dickinson '59), a Yankee of all things, has spent 16 months putting together a photographic exhibition of Texas.

BY NED BOSNICK

Thar a been many a cowboy ta ride the range around the great state a Texas, but the only one we ever heard of that rode herd over the intire state is Brother Ned Bosnick (Dickinson '59). That's nanteen and 59, pardners.

Down at ta domino game, they say thet Bosnick feller drove his ole car somethin lak 50,000 mals everywhere in Texas they's roads, takin pitchers. Now, ain't thet the craziest thang y'ever heard of?

Ya figger it would be a Yankee that done it! They don't have no sense noway. Even after they been here in Texas fer a few year. Why Bosnick hisself been livin down in Houston fer durn near 20 year. Thet thar Yankeeess is lak havin stinky breath. Ya git close enough and your darn sure gonna smell it!

He done all thet drivin and pitcher takin acause its Texas Sesk... Seskwi... Seskaku... Sexiques... Seskweesesteneal birthday party. We been a country fer 150 year now ever since Ole Sam Houston whupped up on Santey Annie down at San Jacinta. OOOHHHHHHWHEEEE!

The Eyes a Texas done a tv program about Bosnick, showed thet car he's a drivin? Why it's almost as old as Texas!!! He went 16 months a shootin them pitchers and another 6 months in gearages waitin fer his car ta get fixed! Ha!

Charlie down at ta Exxon Station sez that the show is gonna be et one o them fancy muuseumm places aht thar in Odessa. It got a name longer n a hippie's hair! (Art Institute for the Permian Basin)

Gonna be Sunday after church (2 p.m. June 1) and Ole Boz, we wuz fraterniddy brothers, him up in Yankeeland at Dickson and me fer sure et UT. HOOK EM HORNS!!! He called me up on tha tele-phone and ast would I come ta the show. Well, if y'all I come, ahl come. Course ah live in Midland and it ain't fer away.

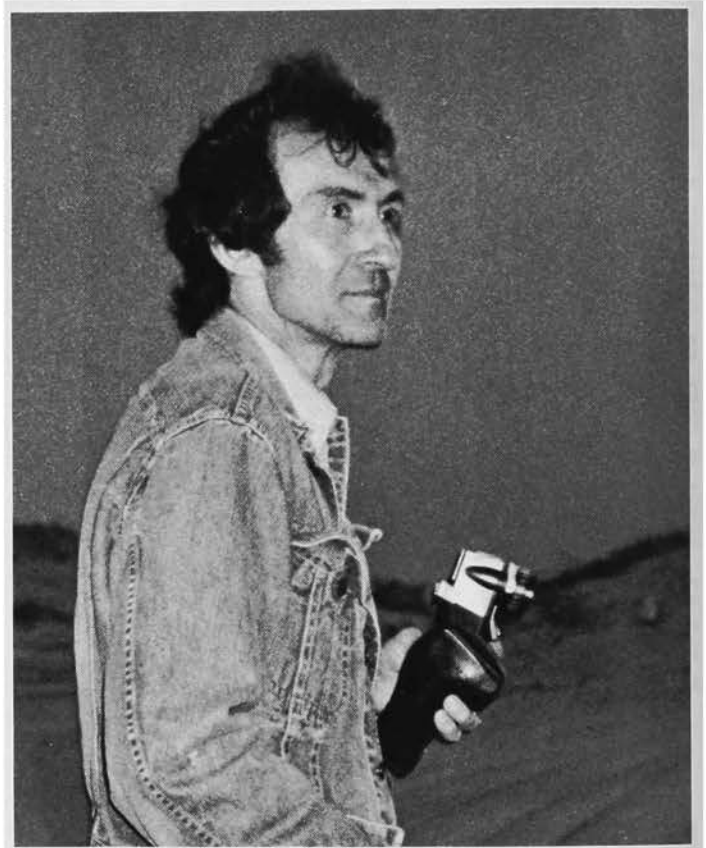

Wha don't y'all come on down. We kin surprise ole Brother Bosnick with the secret fraternity handshake. I'll betcha five dollar he don't remember it! Probably forgot the Phykyeia pome, too, about how low and ornery in the ocean he is.

Mebbe ahl git ta the muuseumm afore Bosnick does, lock the door and see if he remembers the secret fraternaty knock.

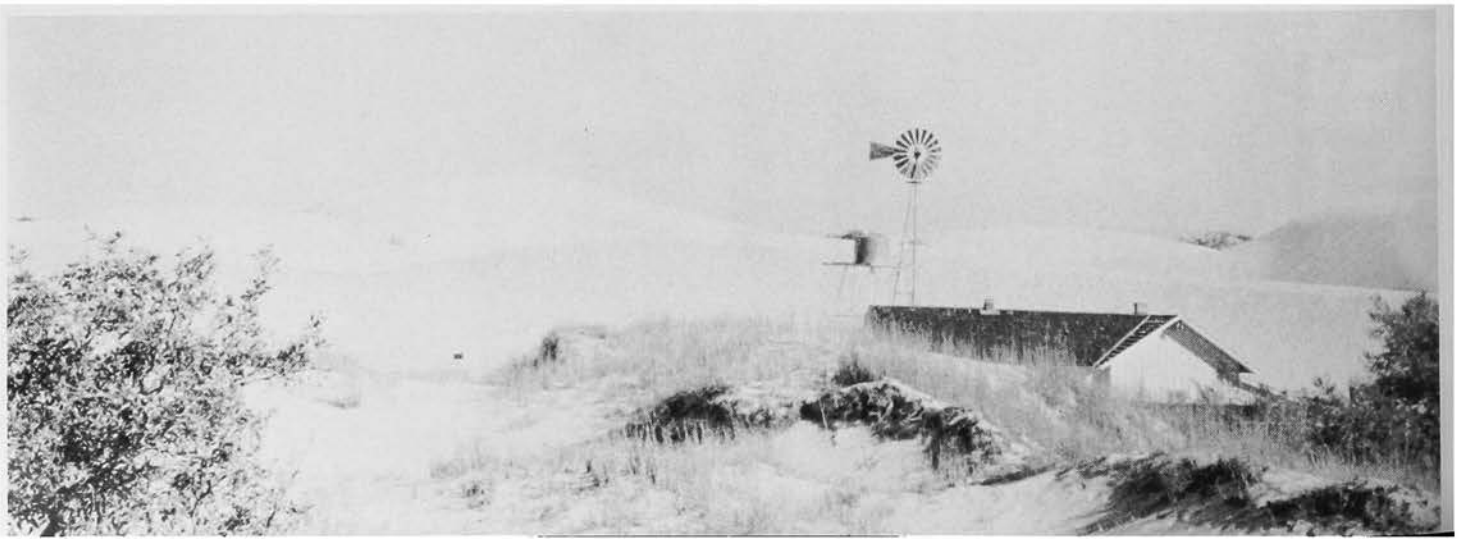

HA!!! Ahll be thar.

Oh...a...I gotta tell ya thet MA pitcher is gonna be in thet 150 TEXAS show...n in the book when it comes out...So, when ya see the show, thet good lookin young man up thar on the wall is ME.

(Editor's note: In celebration of Texas Sesquicentennial, Ned Bosnick's 150 TEXAS TOWNS will open, with Bosnick present, on June 1 at 2 p.m. at the Art Institute for the Permian Basin in Odessa and we are invited. The show will run through June 22. Y'all come now, Ya hear!)

OF PHI DELTA THETA

Three Honored at Convention

Legion of Merit medals were awarded to Scott Crowley (Iowa State '40) and J. Fred Green (Toronto '30) while a Legion of Honor designation was bestowed on Bill Whitlow (Westminster '40) at the Grand Banquet of the Toronto Convention this summer.

The following introductory remarks were made by President Bob Dinkel prior to making the presentations to each Phi:

Scott E. Crowley

"The brother we are about to honor was initiated as Bond #310 of the Iowa Gamma chapter on April 10, 1938, and from this date has been a loyal and dedicated member of our Fraternity. The record will show that he has made himself available to serve Phi Delta Theta through the alumni club in his city of residence, through the development of a new chapter and then as their adviser and, finally, as president of his province.

"Listen to the reports of Phis and college administrators who are familiar with his work.

"He continues to do an excellent job and is highly respected by the brothers and is well liked."

"This adviser has devoted a great deal of time to this chapter and continues to do a wonderful job with these young Phis."

"This adviser is one of the best, if not the best I have met in my many visits to the chapters of Phi Delta Theta."

"His service as an adviser began with the development of the group of young men which later became the Iowa Delta chapter at Drake University. He served in this capacity until he was invited to become president of Phi Province, incorporating the chapters in the State of Iowa, in 1969.

"During his nearly 17 years of service as province president, he has consistently been found listed in the Axure and Argent category of province presidents, indicating a minimum of two visits to each of the chapters in his province during the academic year. For six years, he has made at least three visits to each of his chapters. In addition, his chapters have been among those which have received numerous awards and recognition from the general fraternity and their respective host institutions.

"This brother has served on several Convention committees, including Credentials & Procedure, Wardens, and a special committee on Pledging Practices.

"He has been in attendance at many conventions and regularly participates in the Chapter Officer and Adviser and General Officer Conferences.

"An active member of the Des Moines, Iowa, Alumni Club, he has served as officer in one area or another over the years and has performed the Golden Legion ceremony for many 50-year Phis in that area.

"This brother retired several years ago as Commanding Officer of the Vice Bureau of the City of Des Moines Police Department. After retirement, he was employed as Witness Coordinator for the Office of County Attorney in Polk County, Iowa.

"He and his lovely wife, Reva

Ann, who, incidentally, has attended most, if not all, the Conventions and General Officers Conferences with her husband, have three children, Scott Michael, Paula and Sue Ann. Among his Phi relatives are his father, an uncle, a cousin and a nephew.

"It is my pleasure to present the Legion of Merit to Brother Scott E. Crowley."

J. Fred Green

"This dedicated brother enrolled at the University of Toronto and was initiated into Phi Delta Theta on November 15, 1926, as Bond #182 of the Ontario Alpha chapter.

"He very quickly became one of the most popular members in the active chapter, with a keen interest in its wellbeing and the activities of his brothers.

"He is, without doubt, a 'typical Phi' in the best sense, maintaining a strong interest in the Fraternity and in his fellow Phis throughout the years. Indicative of this is his work with the Host Committee for this fine Convention.

"In addition, he was active in the development and installation of the Ontario Beta chapter at the University of Western Ontario some 25 years ago and in its re-activation some five years ago.

Officer's Meeting

A general officer's meeting just prior to the opening of the Convention featured updates and outlined important items to be brought up during the Convention.

GC President Bob Dinkel (Alberta '53) chaired the meeting which featured reports from the survey commission, the treasurer, the code review chairman, the director of chapter services, the reporter and the award's committee chairman.

John Poole, (North Carolina '65), chairman of the Survey Commission, highlighted the work of the commission during the biennium. The fraternity has 161 active chapters with 2 suspended chapters and 4 colonies.

Bray, treasurer of the GC, outlined the proposed pledge fee and initiation fee increases and fielded numerous questions related to those proposals.

Lothar Vasholz (Colorado '52), chairman of the Code Review Committee, passed out the proposed Code changes and discussed each one.

Continued . . .

Following a Convention update by Bob Miller (New Mexico '50), Bob Biggs (Georgia Southern '70) discussed the education program for delegates. Stitt then distributed reports on the Chapter Adviser's Workshop planned during the meetings and on General Council activity during the Convention.

Dinkel urged province presidents to give their delegates a good orientation into the workings of the Convention so that they could fully participate.

Jim Holmes (Arizona '51), chairman of the awards committee, briefly reported on the work of his group and their efforts to fully recognize all chapters who were finalists and award winners.

The last item of business was a review of the GC's "Statement of Standards of Responsibility" by Fr. Turner.

Opening Session

The opening session featured a brief address from President Dinkel. He urged the delegates to participate fully in the Convention. "We will delegate, elect and learn," he said. "We will also debate and disagree. This is a natural process. When we leave we should leave with a resolve to support what we have agreed to do."

He thanked the staff, general officers, province presidents and fellow council members for their help and support during his time on the council. Recalling the founding of the fraternity Dinkel said: "That is why we are here tonight. The founders set the way, we have but to follow it."

In conclusion he said that "Phi Delta Theta is and must always be a shining star in the crown of the Greek world. It is up to you to add to the luster of that star."

At the beginning of the session past presidents of the GC were introduced. They included Emmett J. Junge (Nebraska '26), 1948-50; Howard E. Young (Southwestern-Texas '46), 1968-70; Judge Wade S. Weatherford, Jr. (North Carolina '44), 1970-72; Dr. John D. Millett (DePauw '33), 1972-74; Lothar A.

Free Enterprise Luncheon

Pat Foley (Washington State '55), chairman of the Hyatt Hotel Corp., was presented the Nance-Millett Award by Dr. John D. Millett at the Free Enterprise Luncheon Friday at noon.

Continued . . .

The award, given by Dr. Millett and the late James J. Nance (Ohio Wesleyan '23) recognizes an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the free enterprise system.

In his remarks, Foley emphasized the difference between management and leadership. He even suggested that the MBA degree, which emphasizes management, be changed to an MBL with the focus on leadership.

"We have a lack of leadership in business today," he said. "Our output is declining and today's chief executive officer serves an average of five years, which is fifty per cent what it used to be."

Foley presented the following reasons for the lack of leadership:

1. We are too focused on short-term results
2. We have become too litigation conscious as a society
3. We have an acute lack of confidence in leaders generally.

"We must focus more attention on our employees and drop traditional incentives that do not work," he said. "A successful leader is one who (1) builds trust, (2) is obsessed with excellence, (3) is people oriented, (4) is entrepreneurial, (5) is results, not activities, oriented, (6) has the ability to develop a strong team and (7) can communicate the company's mission."

He urged potential leaders to (1) inventory your assets and weaknesses, (2) take stock of your values and principles as a leader, (3) evaluate honestly the perception of those around you and (4) make a personal plan for improvement.

"A leader today praises, persuades and promotes," he said. "It is a process that happens naturally."

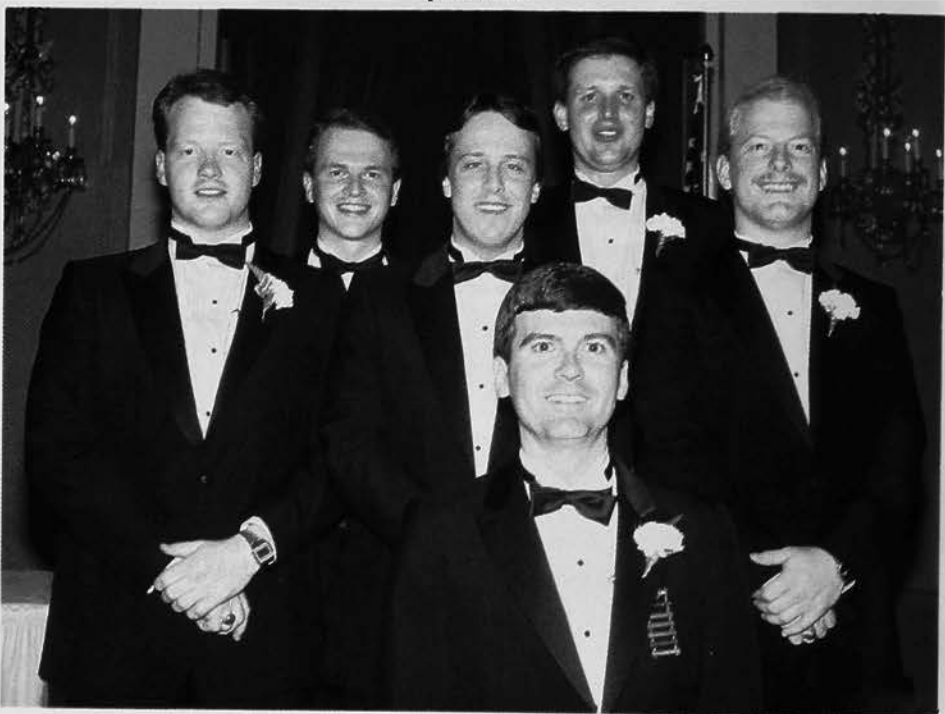

Following Foley's remarks several awards were presented. Dr. Charles Wicks honored three Phis in the audience who qualified for the fraternity's Silver Legion Award, a

The dinner was concluded with a slide presentation "The Memories" which highlighted activities of the Convention.

Sunday Morning

The final session was opened with a memorial service conducted by Dr. Wicks and Fr. Turner honoring those Phis who had served the fraternity and who had passed away during the biennium.

Those remembered included Edward Alden Knowles (Virginia '39), Alpha South province president, 1942-48; Sam Phillips McKenzie (Georgia '45), Epsilon Province president, 1949-56, member of the General Council, 1956-66, president of the GC, 1962-64; James John Nance (Ohio Wesleyan '23), donor of the Nance-Millett award, 1980; Robert Ferris Prince (Pittsburgh '38), Trautman Award committee, 1964-85; George Kurtz Shaffer (Chicago '16), historian, 1958-60; and Francis Michael Wistert (Michigan '34), All-Phi football board, 1948-85.

The resolutions committee expressed thanks to all who had worked to make the Convention a success. That included the headquarters staff, the host committee, the Royal York Hotel, the committee in charge of the women's program, the out-going General Council, the wives, those who handled the leadership workshops and the chapters who performed the model initiation.

The final items of business were the remaining proposed changes to the General Statutes. Dr. Millett moved that the Convention adopt a change to Section 54 that would require province presidents to visit each chapter at least twice a year instead of once. It passed.

George Montesantos (Southern California '87) moved that changes be made to Section 27 that would add the Legal Commissioner, the Public Relations Commissioner, and the Housing Commissioner to the list of official Convention delegates. It passed.

The most debated proposal involved the dues change. Dr. Millett proposed that change to Section 103 that would have raised the initiation fee from $100 to $120 and the pledge fee from $20 to $25.

Bray presented the Council's reasons for wanting the change. He indicated the need to spend more money on increased chapter and alumni programming and also cited the increasing cost of liability and house insurance. Finally, he disclosed the need to re-endow the Palmer Fund. It is estimated that by 1990 there will be the need to fund 70 loans at $48,000 each for a total of $3.36 million. The current fund balance is $2.33 million.

Hobson moved to amend the motion to change the initiation increase from $100 to $110 and the pledge fee from $20 to $35. The amendment passed.

After considerable debate the motion did not receive the necessary three-fourths vote to pass. The tally was 117 to 46. ■

CENTRAL FLORIDA

The Brothers of the newly-formed Central Florida Alumni Club wish to announce our presence to fellow Phis. Organized at the beginning of 1986, we solidified ourselves as an alumni club on March 13, during our Founder's Day Banquet. At this banquet, we had the opportunity of honoring three Golden Legionnaires. They are Dr. Everette Johnson and Glen Seidel, both of Minnesota Alpha, and James Jordan of Georgia Gamma. We are very proud to have these gentlemen among us.

As a newly-formed club, our potential seems excellent. The attendance at our first two functions was very good, and we are already receiving the necessary dues we need to survive and thrive as a club. We have sent over 800 letters out to local alums and are expecting a membership over 200 strong. Our newly-elected officers are off and running and are working on various duties to help make us a strong contribution to the Phi Delta Theta fraternal system.

As any organization, we are establishing our current and future goals. We will have quarterly luncheons, as well as numerous, other functions to stay active and in touch with each other. These include a golf tournament, a Winter formal, and also a rush party for college-bound, high school graduates.

We have made every effort to see that all Central Florida Alums have been contacted. However, changes in addresses and the possibility of headquarters not having the necessary information will, no doubt, cause a few to be overlooked. We apologize for anyone who has not seen correspondence, but please feel free to contact Bobby Duncan at 423-8687 to express any interest you may have.

Finally, we would like to express our thanks to those who have worked hard so far and also to headquarters for their support and assistance.

Although we have been separated by distance, we are committed to bringing the Central Florida Alumni Club to once again regain that feeling of "Proud to be a Phi."—Bill Southwick and Whit Duncan

FORT LAUDERDALE

The Ft. Lauderdale Area Alumni Club celebrated Valentine's Day (Feb. 14 1986) in a special way. The Day fell on the same day as our regularly scheduled luncheon meeting, so we decided to team up with the Sigma Chi Alumni and have a full blown lingerie show compliments of a local boutique.

Fifty three Phis were in attendance... a new regular luncheon record.

The Phis and the Sigs picked up a few tips on what to buy their spouses and/or girlfriends for Valentine's Day, etc.

Then on March 15, the club had a party with the local Sigma Chi alumni. In the Miami Triad tradition, the Betas were also invited but none showed. Ninety eight Phis, wives and girlfriends were in attendance... the Sigs only had 39!

The party was held at the historic Stranahan House—the oldest existing structure in Broward County dating back to the turn of the Century. During the party, escorted tours of the house were given to the attendees.

The party was a tremendous success and we plan on making it an annual event.

PENNSYLVANIA

The Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta at the University of Pennsylvania held their Founders' Day Dinner on Saturday March 22, 1986, in their Chapter House on Locust Walk.

In addition to inviting Pennsylvania Zeta alumni, the chapter also extended invitations to two members of the Philadelphia Alumni Club and the new chapter at Widener College. Alumni Bill Mead and Spencer Owen, both of the class of '28, donated two University of Pennsylvania yearbooks from 1927 to 1928 to the Chapter just prior to the dinner.

The pictures in the yearbooks brought back many memories and sparked interesting conversations during the course of the evening.

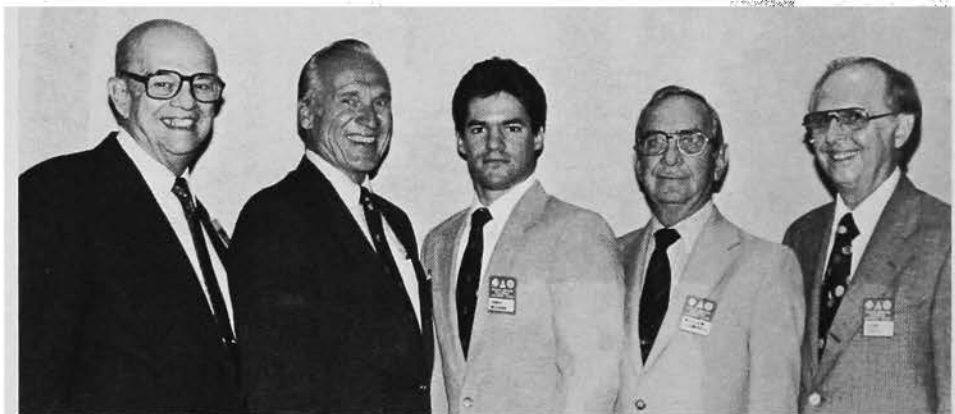

Immediately following the dinner, the chapter announced its newly established Distinguished Phi Award which will be given annually to a Phi from the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter or any other chapter who has made outstanding contributions to his community. This year, the first award was given to Dr. Ivar Berg, a Phi Delt from New York Zeta at Colgate University, who is presently the Dean of Undergraduate Studies of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania. In addition, Dr. Berg is the chapter's faculty adviser and was a professor at Columbia and Vanderbilt Universities. Just prior to becoming Dean, Dr. Berg was the Chairman of the Sociology Department at the University.

This year's Founders Day was a special one for the Chapter and was enjoyed by both active members and alumni more particularly, because of the communication and interaction between the active members and the alumni which Founders Day provides. With increasing alumni attendance, this annual event will continue to be a most successful one for the Chapter.

PENN ZETA: Dr. Ivar Berg addresses the Pennsylvania Zeta chapter members and guests at their annual Founders Day dinner.

PALM BEACH COUNTY: Past Presidents of the Palm Beach County Alumni Club who attended Founders Day were SITTING—George Frost, Harry Massey, William Cummings and H. Richard Walker; STANDING—Don Brooks, Dick Prendergast, Dave Van Vleet, Ron Rountree, Hank Massey and Dale Hedrick.

PALM BEACH COUNTY: Newly elected club officers include Paul H. Bennett, president; H. Richard Walker, past president; Jamie R. Meeham, secretary; William R. Campbell, vice president; and E. Lane Exley, treasurer.

PALM BEACH COUNTY: Frank and Eleanor Wright are regulars at Palm Beach County alumni gatherings. Wright is a former member of the General Council.

SANTA CLARA VALLEY

The Santa Clara Valley Alumni Association is proud to announce its officers for 1986. They include Paul Parent (San Jose '80), president; Michael Tognotti (San Jose '84), vice president; and Craig Chaney (San Jose '86), treasurer.

The association has a full line-up of activities in the next few months which we feel will boost participation and provide greater support for the active chapter. On April 18 we hosted a golf tournament for all alumni. The tournament was at the Riverside Golf and Country Club in San Jose.

The second annual Santa Clara Valley Alumni Association picnic was held Aug. 16. Last, but not least, special thanks should go to outgoing president, Mike Paoletti, who did a fine job during the past year.—Terry Collins

SARASOTA

Founders Day was celebrated by the Sarasota Alumni Club with a dinner at the Crown House on Friday, March 7, 1986. A fine turnout of some 80 Phis and their ladies enjoyed the comradery of a cocktail hour and a most delectable dinner.

Guest of honor and speaker for the event was Brother Bob Miller, executive vice-president of the fraternity. Bob brought us an update on the view from Oxford, and hinted that Florida might figure in his eventual retirement plans.

Inducted into the Golden Legion were brothers Robert E. Nelson (Iowa St. '38), R. Hoyt Kelley (Miami-Ohio '38), Sam W. Arnett (Butler '33), Everett Cox (North Dakota '34), Robert Witty (Miami-Ohio '38) and Theodore White, (Ohio '39), each of whom related some particularly important memory of his life as an undergraduate Phi.

The members present heeded the admonishment "If it ain't broke, don't fix it", and re-elected the club's current officers for another year. They are: Paul Stannard (Brown '29), president, Dick Creps (Ohio '44), vice-president, and Jim Endriss (Amherst '55), secretary-treasurer.

President Paul announced that a delegation from the Palm Beach Phi Delt Club is expected at our regular May meeting, at noon on May 12, at the University Club.

This will be a return engagement, as a group from our club attended one of Palm Beach's luncheons last year, and we hope to have a fine turnout to welcome them.

SARASOTA: Robert J. Miller, executive vice president; Lee Ridgeway (Wabash '22), the club's oldest member; and Gregg Taussig (Florida '85), the youngest member, visit at the Sarasota Founders Day Dinner.

MISSISSIPPI ALPHA: (Above) Robert Khayat ('61), Vice Chancellor at Ole Miss, receives the "Phi of the Year" award from Greg Portera ('87), president of Mississippi Alpha. (Below) The featured speaker for Mississippi Alpha's Founders Day was T. Glen Cary (Texas Tech '56), (far right), former president of the General Council. Visiting with Cary were J.W. "Bill" Stitt (Mississippi '54), Helen Stitt, John Stitt (Mississippi '88) and Shelley Cary, Glen's daughter who attends Ole Miss.

RENO: Don Horning is congratulated by Stan Brown following his induction into the Golden Legion at the Founders Day Banquet of the Reno Alumni Club.

His home town is Zionsville, IN.

NEWSFRONTS

Paul Delmas Scruggs (Tennessee '87) was lucky enough to get to participate in the discovery of the treasure-laden wreck of the Spanish galleon, the Nuestra Senora de Atocha. The wreck, which was discovered off the coast of Key West, Florida, July 20, 1985, is estimated to have $400 million in treasure scattered around its rotting remains.

Scruggs was visiting a museum operated by Treasure Salvors, the salvage company which found the wreck, and he became interested in their operations.

"Since I was in geography in school, I had an interest in the ocean and the research that Treasure Salvors was doing interested me too," he said. His visit was during spring break in 1985 and he asked for a job and got it. He has not had time to return to school but definitely plans to finish his education.

THE PHI CRIER

ON CAMPUS

*Jeff MacLean ('87), a member of the Washington Alpha chapter at the University of Washington, has been elected president of the Associated Students of UW. Jeff, who defeated three other candidates with a 600 vote margin, was previously on the ASUW Board of Control, as well as the finance and budget committees.

*The brothers of Indiana Epsilon at Hanover College are going to be film stars. Phil Reed ('87) was awarded a campus Richter grant to film his screen-play, "The One-Eyed Sheriff." A western comedy, the 30 minute-movie will be filmed at Hanover and will star Rich Schultz ('87) and Keith Kramer ('88). All the members of Indiana Epsilon will appear in the movie as extras.

*Phi Deltas are well represented on the Interfraternity Council at Ohio Wesleyan. John R. Smitson ('87) has been elected president and Rob Scharges ('88) will serve the next year as scholarship chairman.

*Involvement in the Whitman College student government has traditionally been a strong point for Washington Beta, and this year has been no exception. John Sheeran ('86) serves as vice president-activities and, in recent elections, Jacob Singer ('88) was elected vice president-committees while Jack Horner ('88) won the office of secretary.

IN THE CHAPTER HOUSE

*As a method of encouraging the brothers to return to the chapter house before fall rush, Montana Alpha at the University of Montana plans to hold its room selection process on the first day everyone is required to be back. This will encourage all members to return on time, so that preparations for rush can be made.

NEW IDEAS

*To insure that the minutes are maintained and kept in good shape, the secretary at Pennsylvania Iota at the University of Pittsburgh, has placed all executive committee and chapter meeting minutes on a micro-computer floppy disk. The minutes can then be maintained using a personal computer.

IN SPORTS

*Kentucky Theta Phikeia Chris Melton ('89) broke three state records in the recent Kentucky Teenage Power Lifting championships in Fort Knox. Competing in the 123-lb weight class, he set records in bench press, squat and total poundage. He also held these records in the men's division until recently, and will try to win them back in the Region 4 Powerlifting championships on June 28.

NEWSFRONTS

James P. Gratehouse (Miami-Ohio '86), a finance senior from Naperville, IL, participated in the School of International Training's College Semester Abroad to Ireland last spring. The source materials are lectures and books, of course, but also the street corner, the host family, the local student center, and festivals—living and learning with people who have different ways of viewing the United States. He will receive 16 semester credits for this experience.

GRATEHOUSE

J. Don Mason (Miami-Ohio '35) was honored for 10 years of service as one of seven trustees of the Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation at the General Officers Conference in Atlanta in February. Mason has served in several capacities for the foundation during his ten-year period of service.

* * *

Clay Hays (Mississippi '87) organized a 50-hour basketball game with the help of other Ole Miss Phi Deltas to raise funds to contribute to research of Lou Gehrig's disease. The fraternity raised nearly $1,300 in the project which was sent to the Lou Gehrig Foundation in honor of Butch Lamber, the Mississippi state tax commissioner, who died of the disease last year.

* * *

The Scroll Speaks

BY DR. MELBORNE WILLIAMS
(Western Kentucky '67)

The Scroll Speaks is a new section devoted to the publication of articles, letters, and fraternity news as they have appeared in our Journal over the past 111 years. Editorial comment and abridgment will be kept to a minimum. 'Let the Scroll speak for itself, so Phi's of the past may speak to Phi's of today!'

The General Convention, held at Crawfordsville, Indiana, in 1874, commissioned a quarterly paper for the fraternity at large. The original purpose of the Scroll as outlined by Brothers Thrasher, Tomlinson and Bates, was to promote the welfare and unity of the fraternity and provide news and literary offerings to the membership. In January 1875 the first volume began:

"The Phi Delta Scroll now speaks its cheery 'good morning' to the members of the fraternity and their friends."

Unfortunately, the Scroll lost its voice after two years—stricken by financial woes. Then lying dormant for only a year, the Scroll was revived by George Banta in the Fall of 1878 and the following editorial from Vol. III No. 2 October 1878 of the Scroll will still warm the heart of any editor:

The object of the chapter reports we conceive to be at least three-fold.—First, to effect a general diffusion of knowledge among the chapters and alumni members of the prosperity or adversity, success or failure of our order in its multifold branches. Secondly, to take the place of, but not entirely to displace, the system of laborious personal correspondence that must necessarily be maintained in order to afford any adequate general conception of the progress and workings of the fraternity. Thirdly, to strengthen the weak, to steady the faltering, to raise up and reassure the downfallen; to instruct the newly initiated; to enliven, quicken and animate our beloved order in all its mystical ramifications, and cement it into one grand, harmonious whole—an organization bound in sacred compact by the grandest principles of true fraternity—one which places the cultivation of the intellect second in importance only to the Divine power which creates and directs intellect.

This threefold object should be kept in view in writing reports. The chapters generally will be more or less interested in what concerns the individual chapter. The character and frequency of meetings; the nature of literary exercises (if any);

the weight and nature of opposition from sister fraternities; the victories gained; the losses sustained; the honors won; the attitude of the college authorities to fraternities in general and to ours in particular; these, and perhaps many other subjects, should be treated in a chapter report. And then if a correspondent is bubbling up and boiling over with Phi Delta enthusiasm let him unburden himself on a short sail, on aquiline pinions, across the oratorical sky. He may be sure he will awaken active response in many true Phi Delta breasts.

Suggestions for the general good of the fraternity should be incorporated in the report. A hint dropped in this way might develop into one of the most important features of the organization. Ideas are the germs from which spring our most flourishing institutions. The most gigantic enterprises once lay couched in embryo in some active brain. But unapplied thought avails nothing, and the thinker is little better for having entertained it. The practical part of life is executed thought. If you have ideas, then, upon fraternal extension, or upon development of feature for the good of the order at large, give them an airing through the Scroll. It will do you good and will set the entire fraternity to thinking on the subject, and with all at work for the best interests of Phi Delta Theta we will soon make her the emulation of all similar organizations, a fraternity without a peer in harmony, strength and intelligence.

WHAT OF THE SCROLL?

The Scroll, as our fraternity organ, has a great work to do, for it is through it mainly that we may hope to work up an interest in the Phi Delta Theta such as has never been known before. Without the Scroll we know but very little of even our neighboring chapters, and vastly less of distant ones. The only way we can know of them without the Scroll is by private correspondence, and this is carried on by such a few that it might be counted nothing. But through the instrumentality of the Scroll we are able to know of the prosperity of the fraternity in all parts of the country; and nothing can stimulate individual chapters more than to know that we are prosperous everywhere. We feel warranted in saying that every Phi in existence is anxious to get hold of the Scroll, and to see how the fraternity is prospering. And again, by means of the Scroll, we hope to arouse to action the Alumni Phis. This undoubtedly can be accomplished only in this way. No doubt that many men that were good frat men when they were in college have apparently lost interest in fraternity matters, but this is only because they have nothing to keep them in remembrance of it, nothing to tell them whether it is alive or dead.

Now, how is the Scroll to be supported? The Convention says that "Each member shall be taxed one dollar per capita each year for the Scroll." Now if the different chapters will respond promptly there will be no difficulty in running our paper. We have men hold of it now that are energetic, and money is all we need, and we can only hope that our brothers will see to it that all remittances are sent in promptly. We can not as a fraternity afford to do without the Scroll. If we want life, harmony and prosperity we must have the Scroll.

Here's another excerpt from the 1882 Scroll. Be on guard Chapter reporters, some things never change.
Vol. VI March 1882 No. 6

We must urge a little more promptness and regularity on the part of chapter Reporters. They have much to do with making the Scroll interesting, and we trust that they appreciate this responsibility. The goodly number of reports and the promptness of Reporters have been the two things of which we have modestly boasted for a year and more. We trust there will be no cause to retract our complimentary words.

In 1886 funds were still needed to finish construction of the Statue of Liberty and the Scroll was doing its part long before Lee Iacocca.

Vol. X January 1886 No. 4

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in height,—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel-silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nicked, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with plush stand, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuettes, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee has received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amounts.

Address with remittance.

RICHARD BUTLER, Secretary,
American Committee of the Statue of Liberty,
33 Mercer Street, New York.

Some things do change. We hope you have a better fall than Mississippi Alpha in 1878.

Vol. III October 1878 No. 2

Mississippi University has not yet opened, owing to the yellow fever. The Secretary of Mississippi Alpha has fallen a victim to the plague, and chapters are requested to address all communications for Mississippi Alpha to Monroe McClurg, Vaiden, Miss., for the present.

Educational Foundation Scholarship Winners

The Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation awarded 36 scholarships worth $58,125 in 1986.

Clifton R. Spargo, Jr. (Illinois '87) won the $2,200 Arthur R. Priest Award. (see related story on page of this issue.) Thirty-two scholarships worth $1,700 each were awarded to Phis across the country. Two $700 scholarships and a $125 scholarship were also awarded.

Four of these scholarships are "named" scholarships. They have been endowed by gifts of $25,000 or more from Phis or in memory of deceased Phis. These include John L. Ott (Rollins '35) (deceased), Herbert C. Lovejoy (Washington-Seattle '14) (deceased), W. H. Streg O'Dell (Iowa '40) and Lloyd I. Volckening (Columbia '18) (deceased).

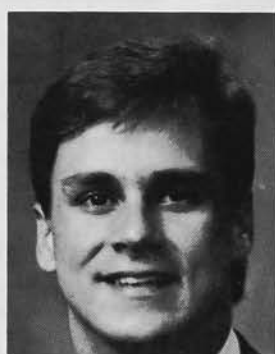

Four more are endowed scholarships. These are from Jack S. Kitchen (Missouri '39), Albert J. Gavlak (Case '22) (deceased), Donald E. Demkee (Akron '60) and Robert H. Horn (Ohio '25).

It is the goal of the Educational Foundation trustees to increase the worth of the Foundation to better than three million dollars so that various educational programs, currently underwritten by the general fraternity (with the help of the Loyalty Fund), may be sponsored by the Foundation. ■

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE DAVID D. BANTA LIBRARY

Stephen A. Smith, (Arkansas '71). Myth, Media, and the Southern Mind, 1985, 207 pp. The University of Arkansas Press, Fayetteville, Arkansas.

This is the first book in a decade to examine the changing nature of the South and the first ever to do so through a scholarly analysis of the symbols of popular culture in the mass media environment.

NEWSFRONTS

Jason Shumate ('86), Jai Gibson ('87) and Steve Dodd ('87) have received recognition at the annual Mercer University Honors Convocation.

Shumate was recognized as a recipient of the Jesse Mercer Scholarship, being a member of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, and as a senior member of the Mercer Cluster, the student newspaper. He is a senior majoring in computer science and Spanish. He is a former scholarship chairman and chapter vice president.

SHUMATE

Gibson was recognized for also being on the Cluster staff. He has served the past three years and was editor-in-chief this past year. He has also received the Georgia College Press Association Award for "Best Sports Article." He is a junior majoring in communications and is currently serving the chapter as secretary and chaplain.

GIBSON

Dodd was recognized for his service as chairman of the College Bowl committee of the Student Union Activities Board, the primary programming organization on campus. He is a junior English major and is past president of the chapter. He has also served as warden, secretary and treasurer.

* * *

A "Statement on Standards of Responsibility" has been developed by the General Council and will be distributed early next fall to chapters, advisers and university officials. It was distributed to the general officers at the Toronto Convention.

Stephen Smith explores the mind and mythology underlying the most recent of the New South phenomena.

"The Myth of the South" has been a recurrent concern in both the southern and national minds since 1820. Smith traces the development of that concern and chronicles the sweeping reconstruction of reality which began in the wake of the Civil Rights and Voting Rights Acts of the mid-1960s. He brings into perspective a new vision of the New South which is more egalitarian, interracial and distinctive than the old myths. A more liberating vision, it is reshaping southern political and social behavior.

Robert L. Steed, (Mercer '58). Money, Power and Sex, (A Self-Help Guide for All Ages), 1985, 139 pp. Mercer University Press, Macon, Georgia. Given by author.

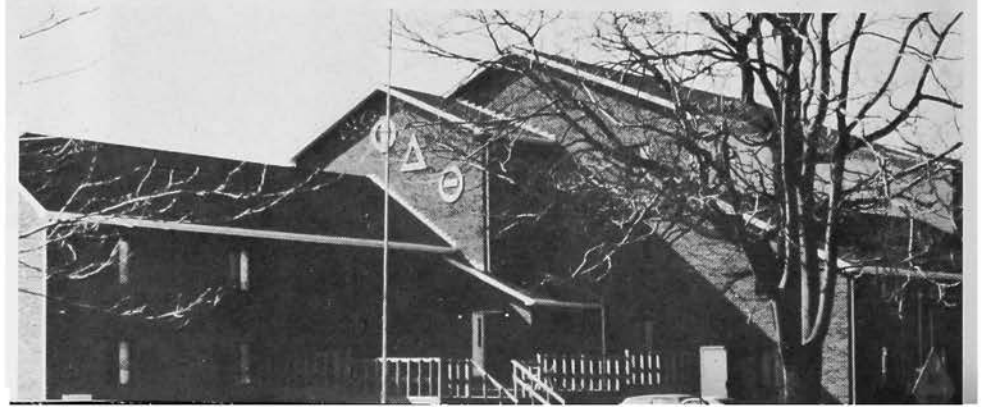

Oscar Wilde once described second marriages as "A triumph of hope over experience." It is in this spirit that Mercer University Press—which in May 1983 inflicted Lucid Intervals by Robert L. Steed, on an unsuspecting public—now makes so bold as to try again with Money, Power and Sex (A Self-Help Guide for All Ages). Abraham Lincoln once said, "You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time," and, as State Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc of Louisiana and inventor of the 1950s patent medicine Hadacol said, "When you think about it, them ain't bad odds."

In Steed's curmudgeonly collection, already acclaimed by some critics as "the literary equivalent of bait and switch," he never quite slaughters the various sacred cows he hems up in his zany corral, but all of them get rigorously goosed from time to time.

Throughout this latest collection of humor columns, we find Steed courageously administering philosophical hammerlocks to piercing questions of the day such as: (1) Is Boy George living proof of the rumor that Phyllis Diller and Tiny Tim were more than "just friends"? (2) What do women really want? (3) Should the Democrats have nominated Fred McMurray in 1984? (4) How can the White House staff tell when President Reagan is sleeping? (5) Whatever became of Troy Donahue? Snooky Lanson? Gaston Chevrolet? Lash Larue? (6) Will Phil Donahue get a brain transplant? (7) What was really going on between Broderick Crawford and Wallis Simpson?

OHIO KAPPA: The two photos show the progress of reconstructing an old grain elevator into a new chapter house for Ohio Kappa.

"He has been supportive of the local alumni and has a near-perfect attendance record at the annual Founders Day commemoration, as well as General Officers Conferences.

"He has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Scholarship Foundation since its incorporation and serves on the Scholarship Committee which selects Phis from the chapters in Canada who are deserving of a financial award.

"He has been highly successful in his professional life. Having established himself as an architect, he rapidly became the senior architect in his city, designing and supervising the construction of numerous industrial and civic buildings, as well as private homes—not only locally, but throughout eastern Canada.

"In his youth, this brother developed a deep interest in classical music, as well as in the literary classics and poetry, which he can quote at length.

"He and his lively wife, Katherine, are in attendance this evening and it is with a great deal of pleasure that I present the Legion of Merit to my fellow Canadian brother, J. Fred Green."

Bill Whitlow

"Westminster College and Phi Delta Theta have been a part of this brother's life for many years. During the summer of 1918, his father and mother were house-sitting at the Phi Delta chapter house at Westminster College when he was born. Following his pledgeship in 1936, he was initiated on February 26, 1937 as Bond #560 at Missouri Beta.

"Love of his community, Westminster and Phi Delta Theta are legacies passed on to him from a family dedicated to the preservation and improvement of these institutions. The present chapter house at Westminster was built by his grandfather and, carrying on in his father's footsteps, this brother has been a tireless and devoted participant and guardian of the activities of the Fraternity and the lives of the men who have passed through its doors. The time and energy he has dedicated to the college community and to Phi Delta Theta in particular were not products of duty or obligation, though he has felt both, but rather came as naturally to him as any other integral part of his life. The welfare of Phi Delta Theta is a fulltime commitment of the heart and a part of his being.

"For a period of 25 years, this Phi met at 500 Westminster Avenue, Fulton, Missouri, at or around 6:30 p.m. every Monday evening to offer his guidance and assistance to the brothers of his chapter, having inherited the chapter adviser position which had been held by his father for the previous 24 years.

"In conjunction with the chapter adviser responsibility, he was also secretary-treasurer of the house corporation and under his guidance, many improvements and additions were made to the chapter house.

"The highest tribute that can be paid to a chapter, and in return to its adviser, are those awards presented by Phi Delta Theta. During this brother's tenure, his chapter enjoyed much recognition for chapter excellence.

"In addition to his leadership at the local level, this brother has been involved in numerous General Fraternity activities. He served as Province President from 1960-1977, participated on the Survey Commission 1977-1980 and, until it was merged with the Educational Foundation, served as a trustee of the David D. Banta Memorial Library Endowment Fund. Consistency and excellence are his distinct trademarks.

"Fraternity is a way of life for this brother. A large portion of his vast energy has been directed not only to Phi Delta Theta, but to the fraternity system as a whole. His college has undergone several changes, including expansion and, more recently, contraction within the Greek system. Through its struggle, he has been a staunch supporter and innovator enacting measures which ensure the survival of the Greek system at the college. He has worked diligently in promoting the prosperity of all fraternities on the campus.

"It has been said that this brother's first love is education. Other than the fact that he is always educating himself, he spends many hours of his time in the pursuit of quality education for others.

"In recognition of his unselfish dedication to his alma mater, he served on the board of trustees of his college, and has been presented numerous awards in recognition of his service.

"An attorney by profession, he is a member of the Missouri Bar Association, American Bar Association, American Judicial Society, Callaway County Bar Association and the St. Louis Municipal Bar Association.

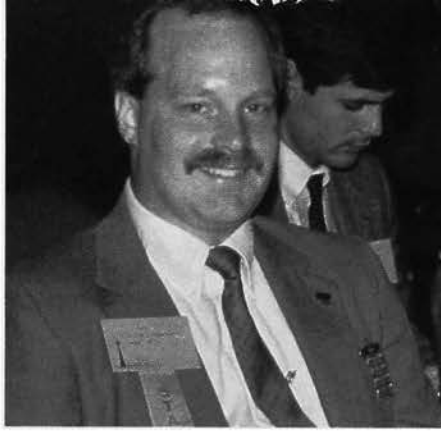

"He has served as Fulton City attorney, Fulton city prosecutor, a city counselor, on the planning commission, the Missouri State Guard, the State Cancer Commission, president of the Cancer Research Center Board, and on the Regional Advisory Group of the Missouri Regional Medical Program.

"He is an active member and elder of the First Presbyterian Church in his city.

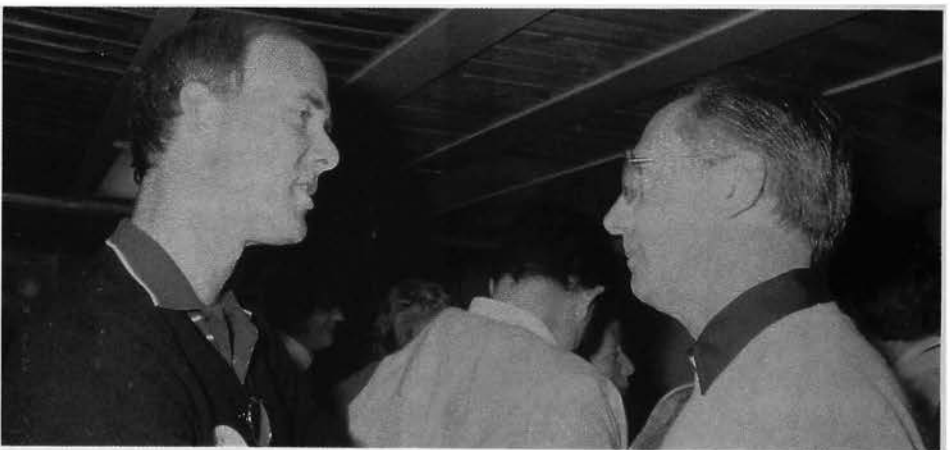

"This Phi's hobbies include collecting stamps, Wedgwood china, refinishing antiques, owning and driving red sports cars and gardening.

"He and his lovely wife, Mary, are the parents of a Phi son, William D. Whitlow (Westminster '69). Other Phi relatives include his father, William B. Whitlow, plus many uncles, cousins and nephews.

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that we present to William C. Whitlow Phi Delta Theta's Legion of Honor."

FACES OF THE CONVENTION: The Toronto Convention was a working convention with numerous sessions, province meetings, leadership workshops, adviser workshops, alumni club workshops and committee meetings. # Clifton Spargo Wins Priest Award

R. Clifton Spargo (Illinois '87) is the 1986 Arthur R. Priest winner.

R. Clifton Spargo (Illinois '87), an English major from Arlington Heights, IL., is the winner of the 1986 Arthur R. Priest Award.

He was presented with the award at the General Convention this summer in Toronto and will also receive a check for $2,200 to be sent to Illinois for his tuition and fees.

He has a 4.96 grade average on a 5 pt. scale and is the winner of several scholastic honors. He was given the Cohn Scholar award for outstanding students in the humanities and has been named a James Scholar (student must take an honor course each semester and get a 4.5) five times.

The '86 Priest winner also has been on the Dean's List five times.

In his chapter he has served as athletic chairman, assistant rush chairman, alumni secretary, secretary, philanthropy chairman and president. He also participates in intramural basketball, softball, football and water polo.

On campus he is very active. He was head of a special event committee for Students Against Multiple Sclerosis and served as the Greek representative to the Illinois Committee for Oxfam America, a program for famine relief in Latin America, South Africa, and other poverty stricken countries. He was a member of the Byzantium Literary magazine staff and was a candidate for the Student Government Association General Assembly.

Spargo is a member of Phi Eta

Sigma honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, Golden Key honorary and Order of Omega. He has served as a minister of the Eucharist at St. John's Catholic Chapel as well as a lector.

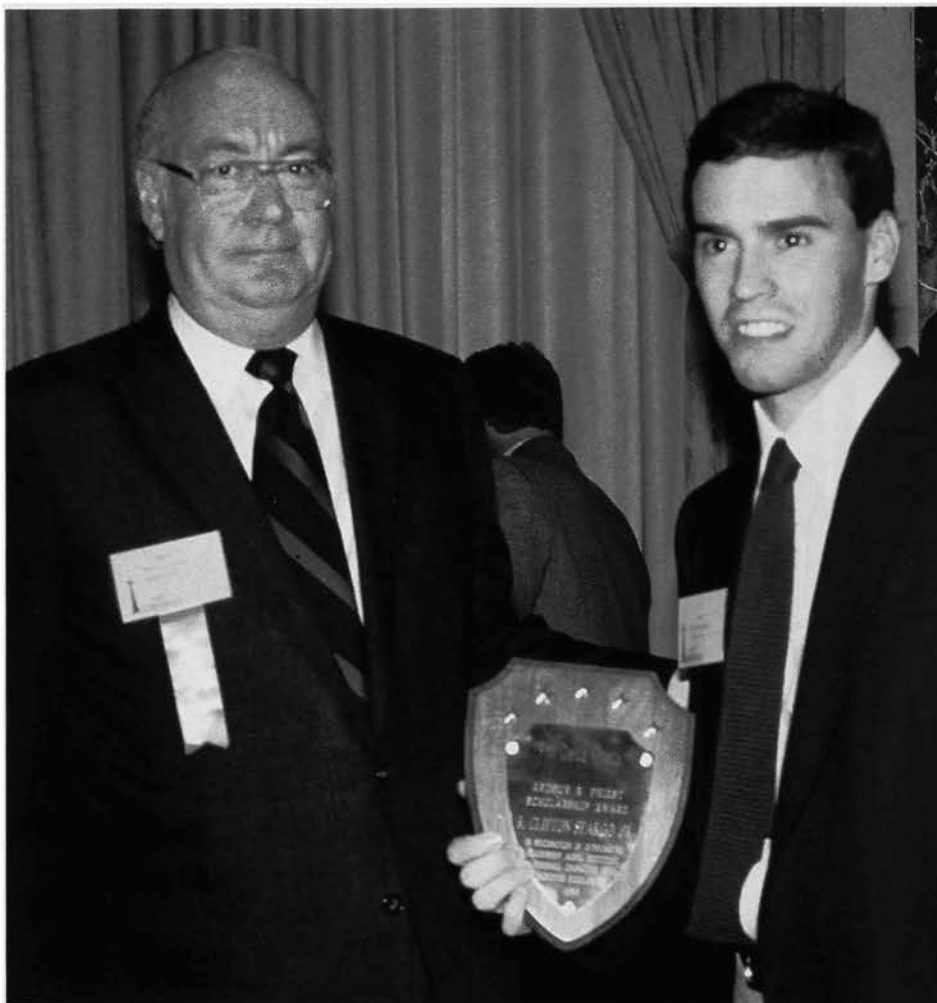

Fr. David Turner, a member of the General Council, describes him as a "person with exceptional analytical ability in the academic area... He goes far deeper than simple mastery of facts. His papers show him to be very precise in identifying the essence of that material, and showing also an ability at identifying the essentials which can be applied in other areas. He is a highly creative individual, coming up with original kinds of analyses, doing more than memorizing and spitting back facts. He is truly one of the most original thinkers I have experienced in my 25 years of college teaching."

According to John Marshall, treasurer, and Bob Ramanovsky, scholarship chairman, Spargo "embodies all dimensions of character required for a Priest Award recipient: scholarship, leadership, community and campus involvement and moral rectitude."

Edward H. Rawles, chapter adviser, credits him with making "significant" leadership contributions. "Immediately after his election as chapter president, Brother Spargo inherited responsibility for a situation that should have been remedied years ago: full compliance with the pledge training and initiation requirements of the fraternity... His leadership and response to the requirements of his office led to acceptance and changes which had been long overdue." ■
