Brother Pistol Pete

As a true "Okie from Muskogee," it was indeed a treat to see Frank Lloyd Wright's Price Tower in Bartlesville gracing the front cover of the Spring 2006 issue of The Scroll. And it is always nice to see the chapter updates, especially one's own. The brothers at Oklahoma Beta continue to set the standard for campus excellence while enjoying a rich and varied campus-life experience. However, I would like to correct one statement in the Oklahoma Beta chapter news article. It mentioned that Brett Adkins is the first Phi at OSU in 82 years to serve as the official school mascot, Pistol Pete. Actually, one of my pledge brothers in the fall of 1971, and fellow "Okie from Muskogee," Will Beckman, '75, had the privilege of "suing up" in the Pistol Pete regalia during our 1973-74 school year.

Thank you for keeping all of us old Phis up to date with Fraternity and campus news.

Robert Miller
Oklahoma State '75

Editor's note: We also heard from Joseph Wells '99, that James Robert (Catfish) Neville '99, served as Pistol Pete in 1998 and 1999. And Will Beckman wrote that Bill Ransdall served before him in 1970-71.

Another Phi in Iraq

I am currently serving in the U.S. Army in Iraq, separated by distance from my brothers at Kansas Zeta chapter. I was in my senior year when my National Guard unit got deployed. I would like to hear from other Brothers serving over here with me. I can be reached at: tallon.mitchell@us.army.mil or high_runner94@hotmail.com.

Putting the big in band

As a big band buff, I was interested in reading in The Jazz State of Indiana, a reference to the piano at the Indiana Zeta chapter house in the 1930s. I recall the night in 1936 when Bob Crosby and the Bearcats jammed until the wee hours after his band played a prom at DePauw. Legendary jazz pianist Bob Zurke, accompanied by equally legendary big band drummer Ray Bauduc, sans drums, stroked his wire brushes on a floor lamp. As a freshman, I had to give up my bed to the 300 pound New Orleans clarinetist, Irving Fazola. The mattress was never quite the same.

I continue to feel honored that my membership card is signed, Arthur R. Priest, Executive Secretary.

Staff changes at GHQ

As the housing and insurance coordinator, Melanie Clayton handles a variety of issues for the GHQ staff. Her primary duties relate to chapter insurance, event planning, life safety and housing. After serving one year as a Leadership Consultant, one year as a management associate at Subaru of America in Cherry Hill, NJ and the past two years as director of expansion, Sean Wagner has been named director of alumni services. Sean's basic role is to support Alumni Clubs, Chapter Advisory Boards, and House Corporations.

"Our goal here is to add value to the overall alumni experience. We always say that we're the Fraternity for life; now from a programming and support standpoint, we will be!"

A native of Philadelphia and a current resident of Cincinnati, Sean is a 2002 graduate of Widener University, a member of our Pennsylvania Mu chapter and will also be pursuing a graduate degree in public administration and non-profit management this fall at Northern Kentucky University.

The Orange County, California Alumni Club celebrated Founders Day on March 16, with a dinner at the Pacific Club in Newport Beach. A record turnout of 66 men attended the dinner, which was somewhat unfortunate because the Club is under renovation, so our large crowd was forced into a room designed for 50. But this made for a fun and raucous event. Jim Harvey, UC Irvine '84, served as master of ceremonies. Chris Lapple, Northridge '80, Member-at-Large of the General Council, reported on the state of the Fraternity and on the resurrection of the local USC and UC Irvine chapters. He is currently the special gifts committee chair of the Greek 50th anniversary effort that is raising funds to construct the Circle of Excellence near Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

Jim Shelton '61, helped organize the May 6 Texas Zeta alumni party, held in Dallas at the Haggard Party Barn, owned by Rutledge and Owen Haggard, both alumni. There were 89 people present and 53 were Phis from the classes of 1958-1964. There was great fun in seeing Brothers not seen in over 40 years and telling old stories.

Texas Tech: In June, John Dorff, '01, became the Associate Director of the White House Management Office. Previously he served for three years in the U.S. Department of Agriculture Office of Congressional Relations. University of Texas at Arlington Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Professor Kent Lawrence, '59, has been selected as a Piper Professor of 2006. This award is given to identify and honor effective and dedicated teachers in Texas. The program, endowed by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation, recognizes 15 professors from nominations submitted by all colleges and universities in the state. He has taught at UT Arlington since 1961 and received his doctorate from Arizona State in 1965.

Union: Major David Sachar, '92, has recently returned from Afghanistan where he served as the Battalion Surgeon for the 1st/325th Airborne Infantry Regiment, 82nd Airborne Division in support of Operation Enduring Freedom (July 2005 – November 2005). He was awarded the Combat Medic Badge for engaging in direct contact with the enemy and the Bronze Star Medal for exceptionally meritorious service while serving as a member of the Combined/Joint Task Force 76 in Afghanistan. He is currently a staff gastroenterologist at Womack Army Medical Center, Fort Bragg, N.C.

Utah: In a newly established position, Doug Christiansen, '87, has been named associate provost for enrollment and dean of admissions at Vanderbilt University, where he will oversee the offices of Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid. Previously he was assistant vice president for enrollment management and dean of admissions at Purdue. Following graduation, Ron Dichter, '96, started Eliot Management Group (EMG) which has grown to be a multi-billion dollar credit card processing company with 20 offices throughout the United States, servicing over 20,000 customers. Welby Evangelista, '94, is executive vice president and there are 14 other Phis in management and numerous Phis in the sales rank. They truly welcome Phis into their ranks.

Scot Henley, '95, has been appointed executive director of the Mount Washington Observatory in New Hampshire. This is a private, non-profit organization which operates a permanently-staffed weather station atop 6,288-foot Mount Washington, the northeast's highest peak. Because of some of the most extreme weather conditions on the planet, it serves as an ideal site for scientific research in the fields of fog, icing, cold weather and air quality, as well as a test bed for outdoor products and mountaineering gear. For more information visit www.mountwashington.org.

Vanderbilt: Allan Hubbard, '69, is the Assistant to the President for Economic Policy and Director of the National Economic Council. He is also the White House's pitchman on the president's health-care proposals, including providing bigger tax breaks for health-savings accounts and making hospitals' and doctors' prices available to consumers.

Washburn: Chris Hill '94, was selected as the "Phi of the Year" by the Topeka Area Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club at the annual Founders Day banquet on May 4, 2006.

Washington – St. Louis: Bill Siedhoff, '64, Director of the Department of Human Services, City of St. Louis, received the 2006 Distinguished Alumni Award from Washington University for his outstanding achievements in the field of social work. In acknowledgement of this award, the Mayor of St. Louis, Francis G. Slay, proclaimed May 2, 2006 as "Bill Siedhoff Day."

West Virginia: George Farmer, '51, has received the Order of Vandalia, the highest award for service to the institution that is given by West Virginia University. He is counsel for the law firm of Jackson Kelly, and his reputation for being an able, fair and compassionate steward of justice led to his representation of two of Morgantown's most generous benefactors as trustee of the Ruby Foundation and chairman of the Hazel Ruby McQuain Charitable Trust board trustees. Under his leadership, the two organizations have provided millions of dollars for support of the university.

Western Kentucky: The Bowling Green, Ky. Area Chamber of Commerce has named David Chandler, '81, the 2006 Small Business Person of the Year. He is the owner of Chandler Real Estate, Inc. Over the past year he has developed the 40-acre Chandler Park, containing multi-family housing, office and retail space that includes a 320-unit apartment complex and the new Bowling Green Social Security Administration Office.

Whitman: Dr. Eric Johnson, '72, Spokane anesthesiologist, has recently returned from a tour of duty at Balad Air Force Base, located about 30 miles north of Baghdad where most of the soldiers injured in Iraq are initially treated. He was assigned to a critical care air transport team, with the goal of moving each critically injured soldier out of Iraq to Ramstein Air Force Base in Germany within 24 hours of the initial injury. He had no military experience, but following Sept 11, 2001, he spoke to a military recruiter and volunteered as an anesthesiologist.

Willamette: Daniel Holden, '68, has just written the book Cross Check! Barney Holden and the Birth of Professional Hockey in North America, about the hockey career of his grandfather, Barney Holden, who played in the National Hockey Association, the precursor to the NHL, from 1904 – 1915. His grandfather even scored the first goal, in the first game, of the first professional league.

Wisconsin: Doug Zell, '88, founder and CEO of Intelligentsia Coffee, a fast-growing privately owned retail and wholesale company in Chicago has found a unique way to bring the best coffee to consumers – "buy high and sell high." When he finds a good coffee, he builds a direct relationship with the grower and then pays at least 25 percent above the Fair Trade price. He offers farmers financial incentives for improving growing methods and producing superior beans.

Rudy Porchivina, San Jose State '89, was elected president of the General Council at Convention in June. Anyone who has been to a Phi Delta event recently knows Rudy as the witty and wry former Marine who has been a province president and General Council member for the past 10 years. Brother Porchivina is passionate about Phi Delta Theta's future, but he cautions there is much that needs to be done to make the Fraternity grow and prosper. The Scroll sat down with him to get a sense of what his plans for his two-year term are.

Scroll: You've seen Phi Delta Theta through a time of some significant changes, including alcohol-free housing and a renewed effort to combat hazing. What's next?

Porchivina: I'm not going to roll out a huge new initiative. Rather, I'm going to take what we've done and make sure it's working, whether it's alcohol-free housing, the insurance program or fighting hazing. I will tell you that I want to grow the Fraternity. We'll have 12 new chapters by the time I hand over the gavel in Scottsdale. There will be 540 new brothers in our midst. We'll increase our overall numbers by at least 10 percent, giving us more than 6500 undergraduate members.

Scroll: How do you plan to do that?

Porchivina: First, we're adding resources to the GHQ staff. We'll have more people who will be able to come to campus and help our undergraduates learn how to recruit new men to join us. Then, we'll continue to improve the marketing support offered to our members. The greatest service that the General Fraternity can provide to our undergraduates is powerful, compelling marketing support for our chapters' recruitment efforts. The headquarters can't show-up for rush and do the recruiting, but we can make sure that our members have the best tools available.

The young men that we are recruiting today don't make a move without Googling it first, but the vast majority of our chapter websites are out of date, poorly designed and generally neglected. It's the digital equivalent of throwing your trash on the front lawn...

The last General Council made marketing communications support for our chapters a priority by hiring a staff person to focus exclusively on how we present ourselves to the outside world. The next step in that effort will be to provide web design and hosting services that will enable our chapters to maintain their websites without having to recruit a computer science major in each pledge class.

Phi Delta Theta is the greatest college fraternity in the world, and we ARE going to look like it on the Web.

Scroll: What about our alumni?

Porchivina: Our alumni are clearly our greatest resource. We need to get them reconnected to each other and the undergraduate chapter. I want to see more robust Chapter Advisory Boards made up of alumni and friends. Chapters who have these kinds of boards already in place are, without exception, our finest groups. We've hired a full-time staff member to help cultivate alumni support from the Headquarters. I have a goal of establishing a dozen or more new alumni clubs this biennium. We're going to honor the Founder demand that Phi Delta Theta is more than a mere campus interlude. In two years we WILL be a stronger Fraternity for life.

Scroll: How can our members help you accomplish your objectives?

Porchivina: The work of the General Council, the GHQ staff and the General Officers is meaningless without the real power of Phi Delta Theta – the Brothers themselves. And so I charge each Brother reading this: Over the next two years, find your own way to honor those who came before us. That means:

If you are an undergraduate, honor the Founders by tackling the things that have kept your chapter from being the best it can be – hazing, substance abuse, apathy – go and remake your chapter into a place the Founders would be proud of...

If you are an alumnus, honor the founders by returning starting or revitalizing a local alumni club - you don't have to start with monthly luncheons - how about getting two friends to help you plan a Founders Day or a golf tournament?

Scroll: You often refer to the Immortal Six. What do you say to the member who asks if their messages are relevant today?

Porchivina: Make no mistake, the founders lived in different times. They were on a tiny campus with 100 male undergraduates. They learned by lecture and recitation. They had no TV. No electricity. No X-Box or i-pod. No toilet paper, even. Yet this is the very reason, I believe, that The Bond was so perfectly written. And, remember, that's all they left us. No GHQ building, no scholarship fund, no chapter house. They left us more questions than answers. And, I believe they are asking us:

What impact will we have on the young men in our chapters?

Will we cave-in to the pressures of popular culture and allow our Fraternity to be just another drinking club?

Or will we demand that all of us live-up to the principles outlined in The Bond?

We will answer those questions in the next two years, and beyond.

In my mind, Phi Delta Theta is exactly what it was 158 years ago: We are the spirit of six men - young, homesick, mischievous men, who understood the nature of men better than college administrators, better than Freud, better than they knew themselves individually.

FOURTY-THREE PHIS FROM 30 CHAPTERS SHARE NEARLY $100,000

FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS FLOURISH

By Carmalieta Dellinger Jenkins

The Educational Foundation's scholarship program continues to flourish. Forty-three undergraduate Phis from 30 chapters have been selected to share $99,900 in scholarship grants during the 2006-2007 academic year.

We owe very special thanks to the individuals who judged this year's undergraduate scholarship nominations. John J. Budack, Minnesota '58, and S. George Notaras, Lawrence '53, once again joined Scholarship Chairman T. William Estes, Vanderbilt '55, in the judging activities. This was a milestone year for it marked the 25th consecutive year that Bill Estes has judged the undergraduate scholarships. This year's recipients weren't even born when he began spending very long hours each spring judging Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation scholarship nominations!

When asked to comment about his years as a scholarship judge, Brother Estes focused not on himself nor his service to Phi Delta Theta but on the undergraduate Phis. "I have been grading the scholarship nominations for 25 years, and every year is a satisfying and rewarding experience.

I continually marvel at the accomplishments of our undergraduates in all phases of college life.

All of the nominees have high GPAs, and many have exceptionally high GPAs. They dedicate hours of service to their chapters and their campus activities, and they still have the time and the interest to be involved in their communities. These are truly outstanding young men, and Phi Delta Theta is fortunate to have them as members."

Estes conjectured, "If we could track them after graduation, I'm sure we would find that they have been eminently successful in their chosen careers." We suspect he is absolutely right! Sincere thanks to Brother Budack, Brother Notaras and to Brother Estes!

We also enthusiastically thank our Foundation donors – alumni and undergraduate members, parents, and friends of Phi Delta Theta – for your gifts to the Foundation. You make our scholarship program and all of our other educational programs and initiatives possible.

We thank you!

An article about the 2006-2007 Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation fellowship recipients will appear in the Winter issue of The Scroll.

ARTHUR R. PRIEST
AWARD

LEADERSHIP AWARD

Ty Peck Receives 2006-2007
Arthur R. Priest Award

Ty A. Peck will be a senior this fall at Oklahoma State University where he is studying Finance. He joins two other members of Oklahoma Beta chapter who have been named recipients of Phi Delta Theta's prestigious Arthur R. Priest Scholarship. The Priest Award is given each year to the Fraternity's most outstanding undergraduate member in the U.S.A. In 1973 Oklahoma Beta's Clayton C. Taylor received the Priest Award, and in 2001 Patrick J. Lissonnet received the honor. This year the award is a grant of $4,000.

Ty, who has garnered a 3.602 cumulative GPA, is from Kingfisher, Oklahoma. He has been on the OSU Dean's Honor Roll since 2003. He is a member of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars, Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Honor Society and Order of Omega.

His service to Oklahoma Beta chapter is exemplary. He has been the chapter's vice-president, recruitment chairman, recruitment budget manager and philanthropy chairman. As Zeta Olympics chairman, he organized the chapter to participate in numerous sorority sponsored charity events. He was the chapter's delegate to Phi Delta Theta's 2005 Emerging Leaders Institute.

Homecoming at Oklahoma State is known as "America's Greatest Homecoming Celebration." Ty currently spends 20 to 35 hours a week in his role as executive director of the 2006 event. Some 50,000 individuals, 19 student organizations, 26 living groups and over 50 businesses will participate. Among Ty's many responsibilities is to develop and allocate a budget of $72,000.

Brother Peck is also a member of the University Student Conduct Committee and is a facilitator for the President's Leadership Council. He has volunteered for many community service activities including the Hurricane Katrina Red Cross Relief effort, Ronald McDonald House Charity Golf Tournament, the Special Olympics, the Y.M.C.A., Toys to the Game, and Habitat for Humanity.

Oklahoma Beta's Chapter Advisory Board Chairman, Derrick Corey, wrote us describing Ty. "He is one of those guys who always has, and I believe always will, set himself apart by his hard work, his honest and humble attitude, and a genuine interest in being successful at everything he does. He doesn't try to make people like him, but they do because they see these qualities in him – they see that he is a good person." Obviously our scholarship judges agreed. Ty Peck is, to say the very least, a good person.

Robert J. Miller Leadership Award
Won by Michael Suen

Michael Wing Hei Suen, British Columbia '07, has been honored with the 2006-2007 Robert J. Miller Leadership Award. The Miller Award goes each year to the undergraduate Phi who has demonstrated the most outstanding leadership in his chapter and on his campus. This year the scholarship is a grant of $3,500.

Brother Suen will be an honours physiology graduate of the University of British Columbia in the spring of 2007. He is from Delta, British Columbia. Mike's cumulative GPA is a 3.8. He is a member of Golden Key International Honour Society, Order of Omega, the UBC Pre-Medical Society, and he has been named to the Dean's Honour List each year. He is the recipient of several university scholarships. Mike is a leader with UBC Imagine, the University's orientation program for first-year students.

Jonathon Abourbih, British Columbia Alpha's Chapter Advisory Board Chairman, says Mike is "remarkably engrossed in his chapter." He is currently the chapter's vice-president and has also served as treasurer, house manager, philanthropist and scholarship chairman. He has served on the rush committee and has participated in intramural volleyball. He has been named both the chapter's Unsung Phi and its Scholar of the Year.

Brother Suen is very involved in community service. Since October of 2004 he has volunteered two hours each week in the UBC Hospital Admitting Department. He has also volunteered in the UBC Hospital's Emergency Room and in its Extended Care Unit. He volunteers each week at a soup kitchen and is also a regular volunteer at the Berwick Child Development Center Swim Program for children.

Brother Abourbih continued, "I have personally witnessed an incredible surge of cohesiveness, dedication and authentic interest in the future of BC Alpha and all of Phi Delta Theta. One brother stands out in my mind as an integral cog in BC Alpha's workings, Michael Suen. Michael has excelled in his studies, while still making large contributions to the chapter, to the community and to the campus. His 'A' average is an amazing triumph, considering he takes additional and harder courses than the average student in his B Sc. honours physiology."

Outstanding member, honours student, amazingly devoted campus and community volunteer – Michael Suen does it all. For these many reasons, he has been named recipient of the 2006-2007 Robert J. Miller Leadership Award.

FRANCIS D. LYON SCHOLARSHIP

FRANCIS D. LYON SCHOLARSHIPS GO TO TWO GRADUATE SCHOOL FILM STUDENTS

Chishan Lin

Gregg Helvey

The judges for the Francis D. Lyon Scholarships for students of film making have again this year selected two graduate students to receive the awards. Chishan Lin is a graduate student seeking an M.F.A. in Film Directing at the UCLA School of Film and Television. Miss Lin has earned a 3.94 GPA. She received the first place award of $3,000. Gregg F. Helvey received the $1,500 second place award. He has earned a 3.82 GPA working toward an M.F.A. in Film Production at The University of Southern California.

We are pleased to report that we had more applicants this year – 50 – than we have had in any single year since 1997, the year we presented the first Lyon Scholarship. For the first time this year, we gave applicants the opportunity to include a sample of their work in their application packet. Many of the 50 sent videos, DVDs, still photographs and writing samples. The samples were copied and distributed to each judge.

Chishan Lin graduated with Honors in 1998 from the University of California Berkeley with a degree in American Studies. She writes about studying the arts at Berkeley. "Although I was immersed in the world of art, I did not know if it was something that I could commit to. It seemed both impractical and idealistic, a terrible combination for making a living." After a personal transformation in her way of thinking about the arts and then doing graduate work in film making, her views have changed. "I find filmmaking motivational and inspirational. It makes me feel like a greater human being... Ultimately, my goal in filmmaking is simple – to create something greater than myself, something closer to the truth."

Gregg Helvey graduated from the University of Virginia in 2001 with a double major – English language and literature and French language and literature. Now in his third year of graduate school, he states, "I want to make films that matter... I am passionate about telling stories that are pertinent... Whether it is documentary or fiction, the power of story, music and photography synergistically unite to do amazing things in film. I chose USC's graduate program so I could become the strongest writer and director possible." Speaking of his financial situation, he wrote, "For me, like many students, going to school means going into debt. Six figures are a huge incentive to get the most out of my education and quickly repay my debts through quality work." This year's Lyon Scholarships were judged by a panel of four. The four were David S. Hartstein, Emory '00, William R. "Rusty" Richardson, Tampa '80, Dr. Scott D. Goldsleger, Emory '98, and Carmalieta Dellinger Jenkins who served as chairman. Many thanks for their service to the Educational Foundation.

Francis D. "Pete" Lyon, UCLA '28, was a distinguished director, producer and editor of motion pictures and television. He won 1947's Academy Award for Best Film Editing for Body and Soul. Just weeks before his death in 1996, Brother Lyon endowed the scholarships in his name for students of film. At his direction, they are available to Phi and to non Phi, to men and to women, to undergraduates and to graduate students. The recipients must be talented, and they must share Pete's passion for making films.

Phi Delta Theta SPORTS REVIEW

By: Jay Langhammer, Sports Editor

Basketball

Phi Delta Theta 76th Biennial Convention

Searing heat greeted Phi Delta Theta as the 76th Biennial Convention convened in Kansas City, Mo., but inside the halls of the Hyatt Regency Crown Center, delegates debated the issues of Phi Delta Theta in air-conditioned comfort.

KC Kickoff

Alumni and friends gathered Wednesday night before Convention to visit the Steamship Arabia Museum. The ship was a paddle-wheeler that sank into the Missouri River. A local family found the wreckage, dug it out and salvaged cargo, some of which can be seen at the museum.

On Thursday evening, Convention opened in its traditional grand fashion. Past presidents of the General Council were introduced and current GC President Michael Scarlatelli presented his "farewell address" to the Convention. Delegates and guests heard from University of Nebraska President (and Phi) J.B. Milliken who discussed higher education in the new "flat" world described by author and columnist Thomas L. Friedman.

The Convention also heard a very encouraging report from the Educational Foundation, which reported that its new campaign is off to an impressive start, having raised $3.5 million.

For those coming to Kansas City with a taste for the city's famous barbeque, famous Phi Dr. Richard E. Davis, Washburn '47, was on hand to be honored as the Nance-Millett Free Enterprise Award winner. Davis was a child psychologist in the late '70s when he tinkered with and introduced his sauce, originally called "K.C. Soul Style Barbeque Sauce." The sauce, which originally started with only five ingredients, sold more than 3,000 cases. Davis renamed it to KC Masterpiece (at the same time he also test marketed Muschup (a combination of ketchup and mustard). He sold the company in 1986, but retained the right to use the sauce at KC-Area restaurants he owned. Currently, it's the No. 1 selling premium barbeque sauce in the country.

Legislative matters

The Convention voted on several Code changes, including a provision to change the province president duties to include more cultivation of alumni volunteers, allow for a voice vote for General Council president if there is only one candidate and voted to raise active member dues from $75 to $90. This increase was offset by a recent drop in insurance dues.

The General Council election was unusual this year in that there were four candidates for four open seats. So, the election results did not contain the excitement of the multiple ballots cast in California. Elected to the Council were Mark Oschenbein, Scott Mietchen, Chris Lapple and, new member Rich Fabritius, Kent State '94.

Award winners

Throughout Convention, many chapters, alumni and individuals were recognized for awards. At the close of the weekend, two brothers were specifically recognized for their lifelong commitment to Phi Delta Theta by receiving the Legion of Honor award. The first honoree was former General Council President Dr. Robert B. Deloian. During Deloian's tenure, the Fraternity decided to move toward alcohol-free housing. Although a controversial move to some at the time, Deloian's tireless efforts speaking to Phi Deltas and other fraternities and sororities helped pave the way for Phi Delta Theta to be a leader among the Greek community. Deloian, who emceed the closing banquet, was completely surprised by the honor. Earlier in the evening, he entertained the crowd by showing slides of baby photos of former GC presidents.

Also honored was Executive Vice President Robert A. Biggs. Brother Biggs has worked for Phi Delta Theta since graduation and has served as a traveling consultant and director of chapter services. During his tenure as EVP, he has organized countless conventions, conferences and meetings. He's worked with scores of staff members and volunteers and continues to shepherd the Fraternity and its volunteers. To quote one of the honorees, "at-a-boy" to both Bob Deloian and Bob Biggs.

Alberta Alpha

Alberta Alpha University of Alberta

After pressure from the house corporation to fill the chapter house last year, Alberta Alpha came up with a unique solution – placing a “Females Preferred” ad on the campus housing registry. We were able to attract three women, primarily because of the amenities, the great rate, location and their desperation to find housing. There were certainly downsides for both sexes (maintaining secrecy, setting cleanliness standards, and vacating the house during initiation weekend). But the upsides made the experience very worthwhile. Jen Ritchie, sister of member AJ Ritchie, learned that the men were like her brother and that the concept of a fraternity and brotherhood is real. Kim Thompson’s brother joined our chapter after visiting Kim and getting to know us. Katie Bibbs learned to trust the Greek system and its purpose in producing good men. Because of the increase in our membership, we will not have women living in the house this coming year, but we will miss seeing them around, and we are better men because of the experience.

David Yuen, '07, has been selected as a member of the Alma Mater Society as the Vice President of Administration and one of five student executives for the university. The Alma Mater Society is the student society of the university representing 43,000 students. His responsibilities include overseeing all the undergraduate societies and student clubs and all reservations in the Union, chairing the committee that decides on renovations to the student union building, chairing the committee that helps implement student society policy regarding environmental responsibility, and sitting on the committee that plans business operations for the Union (food vendors, merchandise, etc.).

Georgia Gamma Mercer University

Phi Delta Theta for Aye was truly the spirit of Georgia Gamma at Mercer’s Homecoming in March. The Phi Deltas abandoned the university-chosen theme of “Mercerpalooza,” instead opting to dress and act like pirates for the week. We participated in all the week’s contests, ultimately winning the first place award for points accumulated.

Sadly, in April esteemed Brother Phil Walden entered the Chapter Grand. Brother Walden was the founder of Capricorn Records. In coelo quies rock.

Chapter president Daniel Turner, '06, was honored at commencement by receiving the Algeron Sydney Sullivan medallion, which recognizes his commitment to community service. He was cited for his leadership in the Honors Program, his social activism regarding educational and economic inequality and his summer work with disabled children in an impoverished town outside Lima, Peru.

This spring the chapter was honored to have their house selected for the Ann Arbor annual AAWCC Home Tour. It was a treat to see the visitors’ surprise, and to be able to work with the neighbors and sponsors on the tour. The “nothing less than zero tolerance will suffice” philosophy impressed everyone.

Our chapter is proud to announce that members Lee Weiskopf and T.C. Rollins have been elected to campus-wide Student Association executive positions for the 2006-2007 school year. Their terms began at the end of April. We are excited to have two of our own serve in these important campus-wide positions. John David Cole, outgoing SA president and also a Phi Delta Theta member, just ended his term. Also, Bryan Brown, Alex Burton and John Thompson have recently been selected as MSU Roadrunners.

Mississippi Beta

Roadrunners work closely with the Office of Admissions to actively recruit potential students for the university. Selection to this all-volunteer group is a great honor. They join Jarrod Harney and Philip Parker who were selected last year.

Real men really do wear pink. During our fundraising event

"Bench Press for Breast Cancer", we earned over $2,000 and had a good time. The event, taking place directly in front of the main academic building, was a weightlifting challenge taken on by the Brothers. Students and faculty were asked to sponsor individual Brothers on a per-rep basis. Local businesses giving donations had their logo placed on all advertisements and T-shirts (with the slogan "Real Men Wear Pink"). We had fun doing it, and the event brought praise from the campus community for bringing community laughter and pride "the likes of which only big men in pink shirts and spandex can."

Our goal this year has been to raise $1,000 for ALS, and as of April 6 we have raised $800 and feel confident we will exceed our goal. To accomplish this, we planned several different events. The first was a concert we sponsored by Disengaged, a band from Mount Joy with Brother Dan Rider as the bass guitarist. Later in the semester we held the Quarter Mile for Quarters. In this fundraiser, people gave however much they wanted in exchange for an ALS band. We raised well over $300 in a period of three hours.

Our third event, during this spring semester, was a date auction in which other students bid on the Brothers. The highest bidder received a gift certificate to take the Brother they bid on out to dinner. We will have one last fundraiser to reach to $1,000.

The Return of the Alphas

Our newest colony, Missouri Beta Prime at Central Methodist University

As the 2006-2007 school year approaches, Phi Delta Theta's expansion program is gearing up for the return efforts to three of the Fraternity's Alpha chapters.

- Indiana Alpha – Indiana University
- Ohio Alpha – Miami University
- Tennessee Alpha – Vanderbilt University

Indiana Alpha

After a two year absence, Phi Delta Theta makes its return to Indiana Alpha this fall. Phi Delta Theta's expansion team will be in Bloomington from August 21 – September 20 recruiting qualified students to become Re-Founding Fathers of the Fraternity's second chapter. Currently, the chapter house is being occupied by Phi Sigma Kappa, but will once again be filled with Phis in the fall semester of 2007.

Ohio Alpha

Phi Delta Theta returns to its birthplace this fall after a two-year absence from campus. Initial recruitment efforts will begin September 21 and conclude on October 18, highlighting Phi Delta Theta's rich history and structural presence on campus. The chapter house has remained vacant for the past two years, but will be available to the chapter in the fall semester of 2007. The local House Corporation is planning to make house improvements in order to make it the premiere chapter house on campus.

Tennessee Alpha

The early months of the spring semester are allocated for Phi Delta Theta's return to Vanderbilt University. The Fraternity, founded at Vandy in 1876, will once again fill the halls with brotherhood in its University-owned house in the fall of 2007. The fall months will be used to assemble a chapter advisory board while working with the University to solidify our recruitment strategy.

A key component to successful expansion efforts has always been alumni involvement. There are many ways you can support the Fraternity's expansion efforts:

- Recommend a student who attends or will be attending one of these schools.

- Volunteer to serve on the Chapter Advisory Board or House Corporation Board.
- Recommend an alumnus or qualified individual who would be a positive adviser for the colony. (Male or Female, Phi or Non-Phi)
- Attend the alumni reception during the expansion team's time on campus and give your testimonial to potential colony members.
- Volunteer to be a mentor to one of Phi Delta Theta's newest colony members.
- Pledge your support to the local capital campaign to renovate the house (if applicable), help subsidize the cost to replenish or replace the chapter's Ritual equipment, or spearhead efforts to endow a scholarship for the chapter through Phi Delta Theta's Educational Foundation.

If you would like to get involved at one of these expansion projects or are looking for a detailed synopsis of our plans to reestablish the chapter, please visit www.aryoualeader.com and click on the Indiana, Miami, or Vanderbilt logo. A comprehensive look at Phi Delta Theta's expansion program can also be found here. Please direct any thoughts and/or questions to Director of Expansion, Steve Good at sgood@phideltatheta.org.

Alumni-Driven Recruitment Efforts

Our alumni-driven recruitment protocol will be "test-driven" this fall at the University of Texas - Arlington. The prerequisites for this model include: 1) Phi Delta Theta has been on campus before, 2) A group of at least 20 alumni are willing to form a "Phi Development Team" (which transitions into a House Corporation and Chapter Advisory Board, 3) The chapter has been closed for four or more years (unless the University has agreed upon an earlier return), 4) The University supports our return, and 5) The General Council and Survey Commission approves the campus. The Phi Development team is trained by the expansion team to perform similar actions taken on a staff-driven "cold start" project. This protocol allows those closed chapters with outstanding alumni support to work hand in hand to bring their chapter back sooner.

THOMAS BARNUM MIAMI, '61

Former president of Sara Lee Corporation's food business and chairman of the board of Citicorp Services Tom Barnum died April 27 in Chicago. He was 66.

ROBERT LOUIS ELORTEGUI JACKSONVILLE, 2001

On the night of Saturday, September 25, 2005 at 2250hrs the brothers of Phi Delta Theta Florida Zeta Chapter, a family, friends and a nation lost a brother, son, friend and fiancé. Lt. Robert Luis Elortegui was a pilot for HSL-44, the "Swamp Foxes", a helicopter squadron tasked with Anti-Submarine Warfare. He was based at NS Mayport in Jacksonville Florida.

He was conducting deck landing qualifications off the coast of North Carolina as part of the Nassau Expeditionary Strike Group when all communication was lost with his SH-60 Seahawk helicopter. Rob was a high intensity, motivated, charismatic man with a big heart. He loved his country, his fraternity, his family and his job as a naval aviator.

Rob lived by a quote that has inspired others including brothers that never met him. "Adversity causes some men to break....others to break records." Rob, like his best friend Nate Hemphill, wanted to be a SEAL. When he wasn't accepted into the program he didn't get down on himself, he knew he was a part of a bigger plan. Following the quote he lived by, he decided if he wasn't going to be a SEAL, he was going to be the best damn pilot in the Navy. That is how he lived.

When he died, we celebrated his life as well as mourned his death, but the way he lived every second of his life has inspired many of us to live our lives better. At Founder's Day this year, the brothers of Phi Delta Theta, FL Zeta created a new award. The Robert Luis Elortegui Adversity Award is an annual award that goes to the brother who slapped adversity and hardship in the face, refused to go down, and has strived in all ways, to be better.

H. WILLIAM KIRSCHNER WASHINGTON, '39

The founder of K2 Skis, one of the largest ski manufacturers in the country, died April 22nd in Seattle, Washington. He was 87.

He started the business in a metal shed and grew it into a national icon. K2 skis, the first commercially viable fiberglass skis, were ridden to victory by ski champions and Olympic athletes. He began work with fiberglass in his grandfather's garage making animal cages out of plastic. This gave him the idea to develop a fiberglass ski, although early models "peeled like bananas" as soon as they hit the cold. He developed a way to form the fiberglass to allow it to run in the cold. The company was sold in 1970, but Kirschner and a group of investors bought it back in 1976. He served as chairman until retirement in 1982.

He was a man who did business with a smile and a handshake, yet known for his honesty and warmth, reported the Seattle Times in his obituary. Barbara, his wife of 66 years (they met at the chapter house) said the secret to their long marriage was that she "bossed him a lot and he turned a deaf ear, and we got along fine."

He was inducted into the U.S. National Ski Hall of Fame.

PHIL WALDEN MERCER '62

If you've ever enjoyed listening to the Allman Brothers or Otis Redding, you have famous Phi Phil Walden to thank. The Mercer graduate and founder of Capricorn Records died of cancer April 23.

Walden was a visionary in the music industry, and known as the father of "Southern rock." During the 1970s, he helped boost the campaign of upstart Democrat presidential candidate Jimmy Carter with financial backing and benefit shows by Capricorn artists. His music career started at Mercer, booking bands for high school and Fraternity events.

"He was one of the cats. Loose and fun, not stiff like the few other record company people I had met." Chuck Leavell, a keyboardist with the Rolling Stones, wrote about Walden in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

He addressed the Atlanta Alumni Club on several occasions, often giving a compelling talk about battling alcohol and other personal demons. He was a big supporter of Phi Delta Theta's move to alcohol-free housing in 2000.

"I will remember a true and loyal friend I will miss beyond words. He was an inspirer, a motivator, a leader, a man of imagination and a man with an ear for music," wrote Leavell. "He was a resilient man who never gave up, he was a fighter to the end."

Receive the Benefits –Take Advantage of This Opportunity Now!

If you are 70 ½ or older, recent legislation benefits YOU! Under the Pension Protection Act of 2006, you can make a gift to a qualified charitable organization using funds transferred from your individual retirement account—without paying taxes on your distributions. Your gift can be accomplished simply and will result in your ability to maximize the benefit of your IRA dollars. Plus, making a gift now enables you to jump-start your legacy and witness the benefits of your generosity to your favorite charities, including the Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation. However, this opportunity only lasts until December 31, 2007.

The Benefits of the Pension Protection Act of 2006:

- The charitable distribution counts toward minimum required distributions.
- The transfer generates neither taxable income nor a tax deduction, so even those who do not itemize their tax deductions receive the benefit.
- The transfer may be made in addition to any other charitable giving you have planned.
- You may transfer up to $100,000 per year directly from your IRA or Rollover IRA.

Making a Gift:

Contact your IRA custodian to transfer your desired gift amount to the charitable organizations of your choice. It is also important to consult tax professionals if you are contemplating a gift under the new law.
