Council Develops New Hazing Policies

At its last meeting prior to the General Convention this past summer the General Council developed a new statement regarding hazing and pre-initiation activities and directed that it be sent to all chapters. The entire statement follows.

1. The Active Chapters and Chapter Officers:

(a) At the beginning of each academic year G.H.Q. shall forward to the president and pledgemaster of each active chapter the following:

(i) a copy of Section 135 of the Code;

(ii) a copy of the Statement of Position of the Fraternity Executives Association—indicating that it has been approved by the Fraternity;

(iii) a copy of President Cary's message as printed in the Winter 1979-80 SCROLL (to be updated by incumbent presidents).

(b) The chapter president shall be required to read these three items aloud at the first chapter meeting of the year.

(c) The three items shall be posted on the chapter bulletin board for a period of two weeks following receipt.

(d) The pledgemaster shall be required to read these three items aloud at the first meeting of new pledges and to invite questions and discussion.

(e) Each active chapter is required to adopt as a part of their by-laws a rule approving the principles regarding hazing contained in the Code and the FEA position. A copy of this by-law shall be certified by the Province President and reported to General Headquarters.

(f) At the beginning of each academic year, General Headquarters shall forward to each active chapter a memorandum in the nature of a job description for all chapter officers as their duties and responsibilities relate to hazing. These shall be reviewed with the Province President on each of his visits.

(g) At the beginning of each academic year, General Headquarters shall forward to each active chapter a number of suggested model positive action programs as an alternative to non-productive hazing practices and pre-initiation activities.

(h) Each active chapter shall be encouraged to develop a written pledge program indicating in detail the activities planned, the responsibilities of pledges and actives, etc., during the time from pledging to initiation. This shall be reviewed at least once each year with the Province President.

2. The University or College:

(a) At the beginning of each academic year, the President of the General Council shall write a letter to the Dean of Men or the administration officer with similar title and responsibilities (in a standard format) enclosing the three items under (1(a) above.

(b) This letter shall invite the Dean of Men to correspond directly with the President of the General Council regarding any ideas to improve our programs and any criticisms of our chapter which become known to the administration.

3. The Chapter Consultants:

(a) It shall be standard practice for Chapter Consultants on each visit to a chapter to do the following:

(i) Review with the chapter as a whole and the officers individually or collectively the Fraternity position on hazing.

(ii) Review the chapter by-laws on hazing

(iii) Review the chapter pledge program as it relates to hazing.

(b) The Chapter Consultant should discuss with the Dean of Men any problems or suggestions.

(c) The Chapter Consultant should discuss any obvious problems with the active chapter and provide such information as to the nature of the problem, and the steps proposed by the chapter to correct it, as may be requested from time to time by the General Council.

4. The Province Presidents

(a) The Province Presidents shall carry out the same reviews as suggested in item 3 (a) above and should also try to meet with the Dean of Men and report any obvious problems to General Headquarters.

(b) The Province President, on the request of the Executive Vice President, shall act as the authorized investigator for General Council in the event an incident occurs in his Province. He shall promptly undertake a personal investigation and, if necessary, and, if authorized in advance by the Executive Vice President, should engage professional assistance including investigators, adjusters, lawyers, etc. He shall provide a prompt written report to General Headquarters of such incidents.

5. The C.O.A.C.

A standard agenda item for every Chapter Officer and Advisors Conference shall be a review of

The State of The Fraternity

By ROBERT J. MILLER
(New Mexico '50)
Executive Vice President

Phi Delta Theta's first convention was held in Cincinnati in 1851 and our historian's report on that event reads as follows:

"The general convention that now fills hotel ball and banquet rooms began in 1851 in Cincinnati. In the new five-story Woodruff House, at Third Street and Sycamore, seven delegates sat down together on the 30th of December. Six of them were from Ohio Alpha, one from Indiana Alpha; the chapters at Centre College and Wabash College were not represented. The hotel had a platform roof with a fine view of the steamboat landing and the hill-framed river. Between business sessions, the seven young Phis could look across to Kentucky and downstream toward the blue hills of Indiana — the states where their society began.

The convention was organized with I.S. Lane as president and Benjamin Harrison as secretary. Its chief business was the report of a committee on establishing new chapters "at such institutions as would not detract from the acquired reputation of Phi Delta Theta."

There was a proposal to organize alumni members into a "Higher Order" with annual reunions to be held at Old Miami. This plan never got off the ground, although in years to come alumni clubs would be established in various cities across the land.

Then, in 1856, the second convention was also held in Cincinnati, December 30-31, at the Walnut Street House. There were seven Phis in attendance from four chapters in existence at that time. If this was disappointing, the secretary did not quite say so. He said, "The enthusiasm and devotion of those present compensated in great measure for the absence of members."

Well, we didn't get very close to Cincinnati again until the 1870 convention was held in Oxford. And we went to Oxford again for the centennial in 1948, attended by approximately 1,200 Phis and members of their families. In June, 1980, we returned to Cincinnati for Phi Delta Theta's first convention in that city in 124 years.

As in the past, our brothers were again concerned about convention representation, the growth of undergraduate chapters, the development of alumni programs and the fellowship of the members. True, from "six at first we soon became a Grecian Clan of wondrous fame" now numbering 150,088 initiates. Our chapter roll has grown to 184, with 147 of this number actively functioning. Two chapters were lost through the merger of host institutions, 33 charters had been revoked and the chapters at the University of California-Berkeley and the University of New Mexico remain under suspension. At the close of the biennium on June 30, four colonies were in existence — at Berkeley, Ohio University, University of Central Florida and Southwest Texas State University.

During the past biennium, new chapters were installed at Louisiana State University-Shreveport and the University of Tampa, while our Fraternity reinstalled at the University of Kentucky and the

Chapter Services

Brother Robert A. Biggs, (Georgia Southern '76), ably served the Fraternity this past biennium as Director of Chapter Services. He was assisted during the first half of the biennium by Chapter Consultants Brian D. Dunn (Cornell '77), Pierre M. Menard (Michigan State '77), Timothy E. Shea (North Dakota '77) and Perry Glen Smith (Tennessee Tech '77). Dunn and Menard departed the staff at the end of the 1978-79 school year to be replaced by Troy Lee Puckett, Jr. (Indiana '79), Carl B. Melby (Indiana State '79), and Michael St. Marie (Idaho '79), who joined with Shea and Smith to visit the undergraduate chapters. These are the talented young brothers who made 490 visits to our chapters during the past biennium, visiting every chapter at least twice. Many chapters receive three, four and five visits, depending on need. While not visiting established chapters, the Consultants were busy working with colonies, attending alumni club luncheons, working on Chapter Officer and Adviser Conferences, editing various workbooks and, in general, working for the good of the order.

Volunteer Workers

During the past biennium and, of course, for years Phi Delta Theta has been blessed with outstanding volunteer leadership. I think we should never forget that. The General Council of this past biennium, in particular, worked very hard to do more than just face the day-to-day problems. It would be short-sighted not to recognize the 1978-80 Council under the leadership of your President, T. Glen Cary. Through his proposal and with their enthusiastic support—and I emphasize that they did all of this as a group—many new programs have been developed and are developing, which I believe will have a profound influence on this fraternity for years to come.

You will be hearing much more about the system of Action Plans in the months ahead which have been developed by this General Council during the past two years, and it is my understanding the incoming General Council will plan to carry on these activities. This plan may prove to be the single, most important program adopted by a General Council in several years.

One Province President, Brother David Runyon, has averaged $5\frac{1}{3}$ visits to each chapter in his province during 1979-80.

Another, Don Stewart, has averaged four visits per year to each chapter in his province. So, this is a testimonial to the dedication of all Province Presidents who have taken on their assignments and received no salary, and although these two men are at the top of the list in performance, it in no way lessens the contributions made by all the other Province Presidents.

Only two of the 33 Province Presidents in 1978-79, for example, failed to visit all the chapters in their provinces and this has sometimes been due to a late appointment to office or illness. So, in short, it has been a truly great effort.

We have had wonderful support again this past biennium by the other general officers — the Survey Commission, the newly formed Alumni Commission, which is really just now getting its feet wet and I think it is going to play a very major and important role in the fraternity in the years to come, the Scholarship Commissioner, the Finance Commissioner and Community Service Day Chairman.

The Trustees of the Educational Foundation, Mitchell, Palmer and Banta funds have all performed well.

We need another thank you to those unsung heroes, our Chapter Advisers. Why? For giving of their time to attend chapter and alumni club meetings, for counseling with various chapter officers, giving of their talent, oftentimes spending their money to do it.

And then there's that broad category of alumni in general. Aside from all our alumni, who have given freely of their time and talent, look what they have done just in money alone during 1980 up through June 30. Already 5,725 alumni have contributed a total of $168,000.

A total of $111,000 of this has gone to the Loyalty Funds of the United States and Canada while $57,000 has gone to the two Educational Foundations in the two countries.

House Corporations

Special attention needs to be called to our House Corporations. I believe that during the 1980s, we must find a way to communicate with the members of our chapter house corporations more effectively than in the past. I believe that currently this is the weakest link in our general officer chain and in our whole framework of operation in Phi Delta Theta. Often, the officers of these House Corporations are out there somewhere but, frankly, we don't know where they are.

We have undertaken a vigorous campaign in the past six months to locate these people. We need your assistance but regrettably, sometimes you don't know who they are. So we are going to pursue this matter because we need the input of these men for the obvious reasons of proper house maintenance, for relations between the Fraternity and the universities where our chapters are located, and for the very practical reason that we need adequate insurance coverage of our chapters and House Corporations.

I think the ramifications of some of the lawsuits that are developing in this country because of a good many incidents—some of them ones which should not have occurred in the first place, such as hazing, but others over which we have had no control—require us to become more involved in chapter housing.

We need House Corporation involvement to assist with the proper protection of the chapters and their property and the individual members.

We, the general fraternity, which includes, of course, the chapters and alumni clubs and all of us, will do well to find new and better ways to arouse and generate and retain the interest of our alumni at all levels, if we are to emerge from the '80s and into the '90s thereafter as a strong and viable organization. ■

Petran Chosen As Harmon-Rice Winner

Jim Petran (Lawrence '80), a four-year letterman in both football and baseball, has won the 1979-80 Harmon-Rice Trophy following a second vote from the selection committee.

The first vote found Petran tied with John Prittie (Butler '81), a swimmer, and David Wong (Willamette '82), a football and baseball performer. The second vote gave Petran a 52-50 vote edge over Prittie.

This year's winner, a three time All-Midwest Conference football selection, set a new fraternity total career offense record of 5,947 yards. He led Lawrence to a 9-1 record and the Midwest Conference title.

For the past three seasons he was first in conference total offense and passing. He finished ninth in the nation last year in total offense and rewrote 19 Lawrence gridiron records during his career.

In baseball he was All-Midwest Conference shortstop four consecutive years. In 97 collegiate games he had 16 career doubles, 13 home runs, 64 RBI's and a batting average of .296. With his eight varsity letters he received the Charles E. Pond Trophy as the "Outstanding Lawrence Athlete" based on athletic ability, sportsmanship and scholarship.

Petran was house manager in 1977-78 and supervised major house repairs. He was chapter treasurer in 1978-79 and successfully managed in internal house budget of $30,000. For three consecutive years he headed the Community Service Day project for Wisconsin. He graduated in June with a BA in economics.

Prittie, Butler swimming star, was president of Indiana Gamma, vice-president of the IFC and a member of the Dean's Honor Roll every semester for four years.

He was the conference champion and record holder in 1977-78 at 500 and 1650 yards. In 1978-79 he was the high point scorer and "Most Valuable Swimmer." This year he was again "Most Valuable Swimmer" and co-captain.

As a senior he volunteered to change from a distance free styler to strokes such as backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly and individual medley to help the team score as they were deficient in these events. Because of this he slipped in the conference championships to a pair of seconds and a third place.

In addition to serving as president he was also vice-president, secretary, alumni secretary, librarian, faculty relations chairman, Mom's Day Club chairman, Dad's Day chairman, little sister chairman and IFC representative.

He had a 3.7 gpa and was elected to Mortar Board and Sphinx. In 1979-80 he won the Butler "Outstanding Student" award, the chapter's "Outstanding Senior" award and was the chapter's Arthur R. Priest nominee.

Wong was All-Northwest Conference and All-NAIA district first team football choice his freshman, sophomore and junior years climaxed by First Team NAIA All-American. In baseball he was named All-Conference his first three years as well as All-NAIA district first team. This past year he was 4-0 on the mound and hit .500 with four home runs.

He served his chapter as rush chairman and intramural chairman. He had a 3.2 gpa with a double major in education and physical education. ■

Legacies — How Much Consideration?

BY ALBERT W. BATES
Oregon State '29

My grandson, Scott C. Bryan of Scott Valley, CA, is a 6'4", 17-year-old rancher. He is ruggedly handsome, athletic and so well endowed with leadership qualities and scholastic ability that he won nearly every honor in sight at his high school graduation. He has entered Oregon State University to major in physics.

Fraternity rush, already active in his case, evokes memories from 52 years ago when I was Rush Chairman of Oregon Beta. Those memories include the legacy "problem."

Scott's father and his other grandfather were members of Kappa Sigma at Oregon State, so he is a legacy of two fraternities there. As a result, Kappa Sig would appear to have a natural advantage in competition with Phi Delt, Beta and SAE, to name only three of the fraternities showing interest in him. But Scott's parents want him to be free to choose the group he finds most compatible among those which elect to bid him.

His parents and I wonder, however, about a peculiar psychological phenomenon we all experienced or observed in both fraternities and sororities in our time — and which we presume may continue today. That is the ambivalent attitude among some undergraduate Greeks toward legacies.

An example from my time came to mind. The son of the president of a major bank in Portland, Ore., arrived on campus. The banker was a Phi from a university east of the Rockies. His son had a fine scholastic record and was a personable young man. But strangely, we had a minority in the chapter which perversely held to the view that no freshman, no matter how well qualified, should be allowed to ride into Phikeia status "on the coattails of an ancestor." Another strong national happily snapped up the young man.

Decades later, in the 1960's, this attitude struck me personally. My son enrolled at Syracuse University. His heart was set on pledging Phi Delta Theta, his father's fraternity. Despite strong recommendations from a number of Phis, he was passed over. So, after a period of mourning, he pulled himself together and was pledged by Delta Kappa Epsilon, oldest, most prestigious fraternity on the Syracuse campus. He wound up president of the chapter. And he had every right to thumb his nose at his father's Phi Delta Theta! He is a lawyer today.

Ronald Broom, one of the Washington State University chapter's outstanding alumni as editorial page editor and humor columnist for the Spokane (WA) Chronicle, has told me of two anti-legacy cases at his chapter.

Ron's brother Larry was a "full-steam Phi" for years but he lost his steam when the WSU chapter did not pledge his son Jeff. (Jeff went Beta, which nominated his father for WSU Father of the Year and he won.) So the Phi Delt's lost some of the steam from Larry and eight other Phis in that family clan.

Another Washington State Phi, devoted to the Bond, was crushed when the chapter failed to bid his son. The son wound up happy and successful in Lambda Chi Alpha — but reportedly not as happy as he might have been as a Phi. His dad remains forever furious, Ron reports. And the father says maybe losing alumni support by this means was why the Pullman Phis went without dining room furniture for two years before scraping up enough money to buy chairs!

These are examples from only two chapters — hardly a scientific poll, but possibly representative of a pervasive and short-sighted attitude.

No Phi in his right mind would assert that legacies should be taken if they don't qualify under the measurements applied to other rushees. But I do assert that legacies should be given careful if not special consideration, at least as much as that applied to the non-legacy rushees. They represent one of the best means of stimulating and solidifying alumni support, locally and nationally.

Unfortunately, too many undergraduates aim a jaundiced eye at the legacy and make him an inferior instead of the superior rushee he should be if the chapter is thinking constructively about its long-range best interests. ■

Poetry Entertains Thousands

BY BILL GREER
(Arizona '31)

At an age when many men have retired to rocking chair memories, Sheldon White (Arizona '29), is writing poetry that entertains thousands.

A volume of his poems published this year by Vantage Press contains light verse that titillates with a touch of whimsy and wry, and serious poems that observe the human situation with beauty and melancholy.

The book selects its title, To End A Silence — Or Begin One, from a terse four-liner:

With my ready wit
I've always been one
To end a silence —
Or begin one.

White recalls the chill of a broken love thus:

Call me when the autumn
wind
Rises on the mountain
And clouds break up in fragments
like white ice on a blue pond.

Yet he woefully observes the toll taken by time in this quatrain:

One swears off rum and revelry
And pretty-girl-pursuing;
In vintage years one gets to be Too feeble for wrongdoing.

Now retired and living with his wife in Southern California, White graduated from the University of Arizona with an A.B. in English. While an undergraduate, he was editor of the college newspaper, The Wildcat, and contributed regularly to the humor magazine, The Kitty Kat.

He also captained the varsity swimming team, whose members included one Barry Goldwater, one-time presidential candidate and now the renowned senator from Arizona.

To this day White continues competitive swimming. In a recent Masters meet, he won the 50 yard freestyle in his age group, 75 to 80. He was unopposed. On that victory, he comments in a recent poem:

The old boy has just won
A blue ribbon 3 thumbs long
Worth 4 cents if purchased

In lots of 1,000 or more.

While Brother White was an active member of Arizona Alpha, his father, John E. White, was mayor of Tucson. Several years ago White was guest of honor at dedication ceremonies for eight years. Of his own claim to immortality, White sums it up in a two-liner titled Melancholy Relfections On Posthumous Fame

I'd rather be a wow
NOW!

Floberg Heads Portland Insurance Firm

BY ROY TATE
Whitman '21

Ralph D. Floberg (Oregon State University '40) is president of Jewett, Barton, Leavy & Kern, the largest independently owned insurance firm in Portland. It was founded in 1870.

This is a fitting climax to 32 years of devoted service to this company. Ralph's leadership qualities emerged while at college where he was president of the Phi Delt House in his junior year and president of the Student Body his senior year.

His interest in collegiate affairs has been kept alive by his three sons who are all Phis and one daughter who belongs to Kappa Kappa Gamma. All three sons, Bill, Chuck and Jon, are alumni of Oregon Beta. Ralph has been president of the OSU Alumni Association, the Dads' Club and the Oregon State University Foundation. He is now on the Board of the Foundation. While in college he was a member of two honorary societies, Scabbard and Blade and Blue Key.

In addition to college related activities Brother Floberg has served as president of the Easter Seal Society and is currently a member of that Board. He is also a member of the Advisory Board and treasurer of the Salvation Army. He is past vice-president and Board member of the Multnomah Athletic Club and is immediate past president of the Columbia-Edgewater Country Club.

When he graduated from college he also qualified for his commission of lieutenant in the army. He spent five years of active service in the army including World War II. He was discharged with the rank of major and had received ed a Silver Star, a Bronze Star and a Presidential Unit Citation for his outstanding service. At the close of his army service he joined Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. in San Francisco. In 1947 he came to Portland to be with Jewett, Barton, Leavy & Kern.

In 1942 he married Judy Siegrist who, like Ralph, was born in La Grande, Oregon. She attended the University of Oregon and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. In addition to their three Phi Delt sons their daughter, Tina, married a Phi from Washington State University, Doug Grim.

Associated with Brother Floberg and treasurer of the firm is Brother Samuel Melrose, (Washington '44.) ■

Life on earth, Mrs. Borgese reminds us, began in the sea; and, as Seafarm: The Story of Aquaculture convincingly demonstrates, it is on the sea that life may ultimately depend. It is to the sea that mankind is returning in time of need to find new sources of food and energy. The land, which yields 96 percent of the world's food, is over-exploited. By contrast, the sea, which covers three-fourths of the world's surface, is rich in untapped potential.

Kinnaird, William M. (Washington & Lee '50). Joy Comes With the Morning. Waco: Word Books Publisher, 1979. 128 pp. Given by author.

Joy Comes With the Morning is a uniquely personal book — a message of love and encouragement from Bill Kinnaird to his readers. It offers the comfort and hope of knowing another who has suffered, and survived, his own "dark night of the soul." It avoids pat answers and pious clichés to offer the help and understanding of a friend who cares. And it challenges us all to become sources of encouragement and affirmation to those around us.

Bill Kinnaird writes brief, pithy chapters, each based on a single aspect of Christian affirmation and encouragement.

Bill Kinnaird has been an active layman and teacher in some of the most exciting churches in America, including Garden Grove Community Church, First Presbyterian/Berkeley, and Hope Presbyterian in Minneapolis.

Kersten, Robert D. (Oklahoma State '49). Engineering Differential Systems. New York: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1969. 236 pp. Given by author.

The author has assembled in one volume the basic facts required in solving engineering differential systems, namely, origins of partial differential equations, interpretation of boundary and initial conditions, rudiments of classical analysis (built on separation of variables and orthogonal expansions), nondimensional techniques, and fundamentals of finite difference methods. All of this helps the student to proceed to more complicated levels of understanding.

Robert D. Kersten is presently Dean, College of Engineering and Technology, Florida Technological University.

Ketchum, Robert Glenn (UCLA '70). Photographic Directions: Los Angeles, 1979. Presented by Security Pacific Bank. Outerbridge. Los Angeles Center for Photographic Studies, 1976. Robert Ketchum was principal project director for these two books.

Nacogdoches Jaycees. The Bicentennial Commemorative History of Nacogdoches. 1976. 297 pp. Given in memory of John E. Fondren, Bond no. 3, Texas Eta.

Events recorded (and not recorded) in Nacogdoches history have been crucial to at least the history of Texas, the United States and Mexico, and, to a lesser degree, to the history of Spain and France. Although now a relatively small city, Nacogdoches was a homesite of Indian civilization when the Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto wintered here in the sixteenth century, and when the French explorer Robert Cavelier, sieur de La Salle, recuperated here in the seventeenth century.

In the eighteenth century the earliest missions in the state were established here. In the nineteenth century it was the capital of the Department of Nacogdoches, one of the three original subdivisions of the area now called Texas. It was the birthplace of the Texas revolution against Mexico.

It is because the Nacogdoches Jaycees are proud of the major influences our citizens and their friends have had on the development of this great country that we have chosen the production of this book as our contribution to the celebration of the bicentennial anniversary of the United State of America.

Nuttle, David A. (Kansas State University '58). The Universal Survival Handbook. Latham: The David A. Nuttle Survival Association, 1979. 304 pp. Given by author.

Survival in this increasingly dangerous world is the business of staying alive through muggings, car crashes, flood, fire, famine, earthquake, civil disorders, desolating sickness, economic disaster, war, radiation, and the other calamities of man or earth.

Various hazardous incidents and major disasters occur on a daily basis and create the need for the employment of simple survival techniques. In the United States alone, there is an average of more than 38 natural disasters per day. The problem is that most people have not been exposed to basic emergency preparedness. If we are to survive any life endangering situation, we must have such knowledge to make the right choice of action on an immediate basis. Without it, a great many people are killed by their own ignorance.

This Universal Survival Handbook is designed as an emergency preparedness primer. It does what no other survival book has been able to do. In a single brief reference, it provides the basic advance knowledge needed to survive nearly all frequent and major calamities as well as natural disasters. The problems and solutions are explained in the simplest form so they can be taught to your children — and so they can be quickly recalled when you are involved in a survival predicament.

The author, David A. Nuttle, is a former Operations Officer for the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). During years of hazardous duty in Asia, Africa, and Latin America, he has overcome (or helped others to overcome) most of the incidents discussed herein. The broad experience is underwritten in these same skills. Added to this experience is the author's knowledge gained in attempting to find solutions to emergencies caused by inflation, energy shortages, and other recent problems of our society.

This practical handbook could help save your life, as well as the lives of those you love.

Perkins, Rodney C. (Butler University '30). Reunion In A Great City. Given by author.

A novel about the memories of a now retired automobile garage owner. Reminiscences about the people in his life and things that have happened to him during his younger years.

Slappey, Sterling G. (Auburn '41). The Future of Business — Annual Review 1980/81. New York: Pergamon Press, 1980. 113 pp. Given by Editor, Sterling G. Slappey.

The essays in this book are hard headed, they deal in actualities, they give way in theories to make room for facts that are, we hope, interestingly presented.

Where The Future of Business: Global Issues in the 80s and 90s dealt with broad concepts and writings on subjects of great profundity, this book — with equal scholarship — considers more practical problems that concern, or will soon concern, business executives.

This new volume is unlike its predecessor in still another way. It often looks into the past in order to read the future.

Sterling G. Slappey, Director, "Future of Business" program, veteran newspaperman and magazine writer, has been stationed in the U.S., Britain, Germany, and the Soviet Union for the AP, Los Angeles Times, Atlanta Constitution, and U.S. News & World Report. As senior editor of Nation's Business, his duties familiarized him with political and economic affairs of scores of countries. Mr. Slappey is the author of two books, one of them exploring reasons why some companies are successful and other failures. The book is widely used in graduate business schools.

Sobey, Edwin J.C. (Virginia '69). The Complete Circuit Training Guide. Mountain View: Anderson World, Inc., 1980. 142 pp. Given by author.

Circuit training offers the most nearly perfect fitness system available. Not only do participants get the cardiovascular benefits of running the circuit, the stations along the trail provide an opportunity for stretching, strengthening the upper body, and monitoring pulse rates. Complete fitness and very enjoyable!

Many people are familiar with Parcourse® fitness circuits, or other fitness trails. The instruction board at each exercise station shows the proper way to perform each exercise, and the different number of repetitions — beginning, intermediate, and advanced — make the activity suitable for all ages and all levels of fitness. Even World Class athletes endorse the circuit training system for improving speed, strength, and flexibility.

Complete Circuit Training Guide tells you how much to make use of exercise circuits, indoor or out, no matter what your present level of fitness. With the thorough explanations of design, construction, use and benefits, everyone can now enjoy the challenge of circuit training.

Edwin J.C. Sobey is Manager of Marine and Terrestrial Environmental Sciences at Science Applications of Boulder, Colorado. Work for his Doctorate from Oregon State University in physical oceanography included research in the Antarctic. His lifelong interest in sports and fitness is reflected in his hobbies: canoeing, weight training, skiing — both alpine and cross country, ocean sailing, and Kayaking. He has often been a fitness instructor and is the founder and director of the Visually Impaired Sports Program, and he recently began the Complete Exercise Program Company to install circuit training facilities and consult on fitness throughout the country.

White, Sheldon (Arizona '29). To End A Silence — Or Begin One. New York: Vantage Press, Inc., 1979. 72 pp. Given by author.

Here is a collection of verse and poetry by Sheldon White, a writer who has spent one half of his life in a world of in-laws, debts, and traffic tickets and the other half in a land of nostalgia and romantic dreams.

In such short verse as: "If a Kid Answers, Hang Up," "Ode to a Fried Egg," "Melancholy Reflections on Posthumous Fame," and others, Mr. White muses on life and the human condition. In the last line of the verse about the tailor's dummy in the window, he tells us, morosely, "My suit looked good on him."

In his serious poems, the poet shows his affection for the desert and the sea, his reverence for the past, and his awareness of time and his own mortality.

Now living in Glendale with Katherine, his wife of 35 years, Sheldon originally joined Sunland-Tujunga Telephone in 1954. He retired from General Telephone's supply department in 1970.

Since retirement, Sheldon continues to write. But that's not all. A former captain on the University of Arizona's swim team, he still swims five times weekly. Even competitively.

Yarmey, A. Daniel (Western Ontario '62). The Psychology of Eyewitness Testimony. New York: The Free Press, A Division of MacMillan Publishing Co., Inc., 1979. 285 pp. Given by author.

In recent years, the courtroom has become a frequent setting for the study of human behavior, particularly in the area of eyewitness testimony, where the psychological principles of perception, attention, memory, thought, and language have been increasingly brought to bear on the court's decision-making process.

With this in mind, A. Daniel Yarmey has written an introduction to the psychological and legal aspects of eyewitness identification and testimony. He has done so with the latest material on eyewitness testimony from such normally diverse areas as experimental psychology, social psychology, and justice administration, and throughout the book shows the relevance of the scientific literature to the workings of the criminal justice system.

The Psychology of Eyewitness Testimony highlights various aspects of the ways in which the eyewitness perceives, remembers, and reconstructs his or her experiences.

A. Daniel Yarmey has authored numerous journal articles that apply psychological research to the field of law, and is on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Mental Imagery.

CORRECTIONS ON CONVENTION COVERAGE

In the coverage of the 63rd Biennial Convention that appeared in the last issue there were several errors that should be noted. First of all, in the photo that appears to the right Bill Williams (Akron '49), who is accepting the Legion of Honor award from GC President T. Glen Cary on behalf of Hal Minnich, was incorrectly identified as Bill Edwards. The original photo appeared on the inside front cover.

In a photo that appeared on page 105 of that issue Leon Hanel (Columbia '20) was incorrectly identified as Leon Hance. Finally, in a photo that appeared on page 101 of Dr. John D. Millett and James J. Nance the trophy that Nance has donated to the fraternity was called the Millett-Nance Trophy. It is to be called the Nance-Millett Trophy.

"The sources influencing the positive characteristics are unclear. The study was entitled "Attitudinal and Value Characteristics of Greek-Letter Organizations."

PHIS IN SPORTS

Scovell Named Bowl President

John Field Scovell (Texas Tech '68), former All-Phi quarterback and now a Dallas businessman, has been named president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association.

At the age of 33, he is the youngest president in Cotton Bowl history. He is the president of the Woodbine Development Corporation and vice president of the Hunt Investment Corporation.

In addition to being a three-year letterman, captain of the 1967 Red Raider football team and an All-Phi quarterback he also served as his chapter's president. He graduated from Texas Tech ranking first the School of Business Administration and then received a Masters Degree from the Harvard School of Business in 1970.

Scovell's father, Field Scovell, was president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association from 1972 to 1974.

SPORTS SHORTS

JIGGS DAHLBERG (Montana '24) has had the University of Montana Fieldhouse Arena named in his honor. It will now be known as the Dahlberg Arena. He celebrated his 80th birthday last April 21. . .

BILL SCHAMMEL (Arizona State '65) is leaving Phoenix after 34 years to move to Midland, Texas, to become general manager of that city's Class AA baseball team. He is leaving a position with A&M Associates, an advertising firm, to pursue a long-sought goal. "I think a lot can be done with promotions," he said. "The public-address announcer sounds like he's half dead and the organist plays with one finger. We can do a lot to jazz up the product." Midland is a farm club of the Chicago Cubs. . .

DAVE SCHELLER (Ball State), All-Phi defensive tackle last year through six games, has logged 63 tackles plus six sacks. . . DENNIS GUNDEN (Ball State), All-Phi linebacker in 1978 who sat out the '79 season with injuries, is back this year with 65 tackles and five sacks through the initial six games. . . TODD SHEETS (Northwestern), an All-Phi end last year, caught a 17-yd touchdown pass in a loss to Syracuse and had four receptions for 56 yards in a loss to Iowa, plus two receptions for 25 yds in a narrow 17-10 loss to Michigan.

CORRECTION

In the Fall issue on page 127 under "Phis In Sports" we carried a story about Carl James (Duke '51) who had been named the fourth commissioner in the history of the Big Eight Conference. James formerly had been athletic director at Maryland. The headline incorrectly stated "James Named AD At Maryland," an obvious error. We apologize.

Phi Serves As NFL Chaplain

Dr. Clem Bining (Centre '31), former president of the General Council, has been serving for several years as the chaplain of the National Football League Alumni.

He is now in his 22nd year as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where he leads a staff of four ministers, two ministers of music and three lay assistants, and still has had time to serve on the boards of directors of eleven institutions of higher learning in five states.

Since 1958 he has been a "founding trustee" and vice-chairman of the board of Eckerd College in St. Petersburg.

As an end at Centre, he was cited in Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary All-America football team. Instead of football, Dr. Bining went on to honors and graduate degrees at Princeton, Waynesburg College and Miami of Ohio.

Fraternity policy on hazing. The Province Presidents, the Chapter Consultants and the General Council representative in attendance should be prepared to participate in this part of the meeting. The Chapter Consultant shall report to General Headquarters in writing with respect to any important matters thus arising at the C.O.A.C.

6. The G.O.C.

A standard agenda item for every General Officers Conference shall be a review of policy and a discussion of problems. This should be limited to Province Presidents, Chapter Consultants, General Council, the Executive Vice President and the Director of Chapter Services. The Executive Vice President should note any items of importance for the next agenda and meeting of the General Council.

7. The General Convention

Consideration will be given to establishment of a special standing committee or discussion group on hazing which will meet at each General Convention. The Committee or discussion group shall report in writing to the Convention and, after discussion, any recommendations shall go forward to the General Council for appropriate action.

8. The Chapter Adviser

It is recognized that the Chapter Adviser carries a heavy responsibility for communicating the law and the policy of the Fraternity (regarding hazing) to the active chapter.

In order to carry out this responsibility, the Chapter Adviser shall:

(a) At the beginning of each academic term or semester, review with the active chapter and the pledges the three items described in item 1(a) above.

(b) Review and approve the chapter's by-laws regarding hazing.

(c) Review and approve the chapter's written pledge program described in item 1(h) above.

(d) Immediately following their review with all chapter officers their duties regarding hazing.

(g) Meet with representatives of the university or college administration whenever necessary to discuss and resolve any incidents involving the chapter.

(h) Accept a special responsibility for the education of the pledges in the Fraternity law and policy regarding hazing.

(j) Be aware of Sections 131 and 132 of the Code as they relate to Chapter Advisers.

9. General Headquarters

General Headquarters shall act as the gathering agency for information on hazing. This information will be retained in an ongoing way and circulated as considered appropriate to the officers of the Fraternity.

10. The Executive Vice President

The Executive Vice President is authorized, after consultation with the President, to act on behalf of the Fraternity in the event of an emergency involving hazing. This would involve protection of the image of the Fraternity and its legal responsibility.

11. The General Council will promptly review each instance of possible breach of the Fraternity policy on hazing. It should encourage written reports of incidents and wherever practical, seek to personally meet with the Province President and the chapter officers involved.

The responsibility of the General Council in this area carries with it a concurrent duty and power. The General Council should exercise its power to suspend or revoke a chapter's charter where there is clear evidence of a continuing or flagrant breach of the Code and the policies of the General Fraternity. The General Council should also exercise its general powers to impose conditions on chapter operations which, if not met in both word and spirit, could cause General Council to act to suspend or revoke.

12. The Scroll

(a) One edition each year should automatically carry:

(i) an article relating to hazing, and

(ii) a statement of the Fraternity position.

(b) To the extent that other articles and material regarding hazing become available from other sources — fraternities, university administration, news media, etc. — they should be considered for reprinting in THE SCROLL.

13. General

This Further Plan of Action shall be circulated to all General Officers, Chapter Consultants and Chapter Advisors and shall be included in the permanent printed material which is provided to them where it is relevant to their duties and responsibilities.
